A Bride's Strange Freak.

SHAMING DEATH THAT SHE MIGHT ELOPE WITH HER MUSIC TEACHER.

A very peculiar proceeding is related affecting a gallant officer of the army, brother of a lieutenant at Fort Meade, Dakota, and out of which an interesting romance might be woven. The gentleman is the nephew of a prominent Union general of the rebellion period and ex-member of Congress. A year or so ago he became enamored with a handsome and accomplished Eastern lady, wooed and won her. Their honeymoon was all that loving hearts could make it, and their future gave promise of great and continued happiness. The lady was blessed with more than ordinary musical talent but uncultivated, and to perfect the divine art, she was sent abroad by her husband. She visited the various conservatories of the continent and Paris, located in Paris for two years' sojourn. While there she was regarded very sick, and soon afterward the terrible announcement of her death reached her husband by cable.

He at once decided that the remains be embalmed and sent to America for burial, which order was complied with; but as the grief-stricken husband was unable to go East, he requested a friend in New York to receive the casket and cause its interment in Greenwood. This was done. Subsequently certain intelligence reached the widower of a character that aroused his suspicions, and caused him to hasten to the beautiful cemetery overlooking the harbor of New York, where the remains were exhumed, the casket opened and found to contain the creaking body of a man. An investigation was at once instituted, and resulted in establishing the fact that the wife had eloped with her music teacher, first causing a report of her sickness and death to be sent to her far away home, and in collaboration of it had secured a corpse from the morgue, which was sent as her own, with the result above stated.

Put Yourself in His Place.—The Hon.
W. J. Hendricks, of Frankfort, Kentucky, tells the following: "He was sitting in his office in Petersburg one day, when colored office boy came shuffling in with his hat on and singing, 'Daddy's one morther to e's.' He was impressed by the boy's want of politeness, and said to him, 'Look here, sir, that's no way to enter my office. You need a lesson in behavior.' Now you take a seat in my chair and act just as if you were protecting just as I do and I will go out and come in just as you should do," whereupon he laid down his cigar and went out the door. In a moment he returned and the seat Jim with his feet pitched upon the table, a copy of the Revised Statutes open in his lap, and the half-smoked cigar in his mouth, and his hat cocked down over one eye. The aesthetic teacher entered quietly with his hat in his hand, but he did not fully gotten in his room before Jim looked up and said, 'Jack, you don't rascal pick up that spittoon clean quick and dead come in here, sah, and kick my boots, do you hear?' Jim was fled out, but very shortly afterwards re-entered.

A Wise Horse That Knew His Fodder.

An amusing incident occurred on St.
Louis avenue, near Broadway, recently.
A large bay horse in a swill wagon fellow in the street. A crowd of people soon collected, the animal was stopped of harness, water thrown over him, and head diligently rubbed with a large lump of ice obtained from a neighbouring saloon by a sympathizing on-looker. Time passed, and the driver, after placing a lot of losses lay around the prostrate animal, obtained another horse, and took his load home. The ministrations of the bystanders ceased somewhat after the departure of the driver. Much to their surprise, a moment after, the animal suddenly recovered, and began eating the hay. In a few minutes he was upon his feet enjoying his meal with a relish. It was afterwards learned that the man, to whom the horse belonged had but recently put chased the animal from one who had parted with him solely because he had the trick of lying down whenever he became hungry.

Mrs. Swisshelm says if she were managing the world she would give no man a dollar until he had earned it. Jane is far behind the times. There are lots of men in the world who have got far ahead of her. They not only give no man a dollar until he has earned it, but they also give no man a dollar after he has earned it.
