GANS AND TWIN MATCHED

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 13.—Champion Joe Gans and Mike (Twin) Sullivan signed articles last night to box twenty rounds next month at Woodward's Pavilion. They will weigh in at 142 pounds. The fight will probably take place on January 19. The men will divide 50 per cent of the gross receipts, the winner to take 60 per cent, and the loser 40.

O'BRIEN'S COLORS

Jack O'Brien will wear a silk belt made up in national colors with the American and Irish flags worked in on the buckle. His sister, who is a fashionable dressmaker, is the designer of the centre piece. The material cost $20 alone. Jack will don a new pair of green silk tights when he shakes hands with the Cornishman. A party of Philadelphia sporting men have started for the coast to see the battle.

AUSTRALIAN CHAMPS

Australian athletes state that the Victorian sculling championship, under the auspices of the Victorian Rowing Association, was decided on Saturday, Oct. 14, on the lower Yarra River, the course being 2½ miles. There were only two competitors, both members of the same club—the Mercantile Rowing Club—Ivens, the holder, and Adam. The water was a little rough in the early part of the race, and again during the last mile. It was a fairly close contest right through, there being at the end of the first mile and a half about a length and a half between the scullers, Ivens having the advantage, but Adam thereafter improved his position, and in the end was only beaten by three-quarters of a length, in 20 minutes, 35 seconds.

SWIMMING RECORDS BROKEN

CHICAGO, Dec. 13.—In the monthly handicap meet of the Central Y. M. C. A. swimming club, held in the association tank last night, H. J. Handy bettered two American records. The new marks were made in the 660 yard swim and records lowered were the 550 yard, from 8:21.15 to 7:31.35, and the 660 yard from 9:41 to 9:40.25. Neither of these will stand as records, as they were made in a closed meet. Six new Y. M. C. A. records were also made in the same race. The medal for the highest number of points also was won by Handy with a total of ten.

HOCKEY MEETING TO NIGHT

Formation of an intermediate league will be the business of a meeting to be held at 8 o'clock this evening in the Y. M. C. A. rooms. All teams interested in intermediate hockey are requested to send representatives to the meeting and it is desired that the North End be represented.

CONNELLY LOST ON FOUL

Portland, Me., Dec. 13.—W. L. Crowley, of Hartford, referee of a bout between Harry Edels and Larry Connelly, gave the decision to Edels in the ninth round on a foul. Connelly hit five times in the breakaway, and once a poped, held out his hand, and as Edels extended his hand to him a savage blow in the face. Connelly was cautioned between the eighth and ninth rounds to change his style of fighting, but he persisted and lost the bout.

NELSON-McGOVERN

Philadelphia, Dec. 13.—It became known this afternoon that the fight between Terry McGovern and "Battling" Nelson has fallen through. The trouble has been caused by a split in the division of the prize money. It can be stated positively that the boys will be matched and may fight near this city in a twenty-round battle.

DECISION FOR MARTIN

LAWRENCE, Mass., Dec. 14.—At the end of a 12-round bout before the West End Athletic Club tonight Terry Martin, of Philadelphia, gained the decision over Harry Senter, of Chicago. Martin had the better of the bout all the way, forcing the fight from the start.

PRESIDENT GORMAN ADVISES STRICT AMATEURISM

The Halifax Recorder, in its account of the conference held in Halifax on Wednesday, between President Gorman, of the Canadian Athletic Union, and M. P. A. A. officials, with reference to the amalgamation of the two associations, says in part: "President Gorman explained the object of his visit, the main object of which was to fight the semi-professionalism which was making its inroads throughout the country. At present there were many who seemed anxious of escaping the amateur laws, and to make the C. A. A. U. thoroughly Canadian their board of governors had met and had delegated him, if necessary, to go from the Atlantic to the Pacific to have the associations combined all in one, just as they were throughout the United States to join together under one head. They did not wish to interfere for a moment with the association, or their rules; they simply wished them to become affiliated with them so as to assist them in endeavoring to keep sport clean. It would cost them nothing to join, and if they were not satisfied with their bargain they could withdraw within 30 days.

He was asked in reference to questions such as at present dominate the Maritime Provinces in regard to hockey troubles. He said they had similar questions, but the difficulty was in proving claims which were made against players and which, on investigation, so often resulted in street talk. The difficulty was in obtaining evidence; if people who knew the facts and who went out to see the game, would come forward and substantiate what they said something could be done, otherwise they were powerless. From what he heard before he came here, and what he had heard since, there was no place in Canada where more effort was made to keep sport truly amateur than in the provinces. He gave one word of advice to all amateur clubs—to keep strictly amateur, it would pay better in the end. As to men who looked for a few dollars to play a game, could you trust them? They knew as amateurs they were doing wrong to accept even a dollar to play in the game, and could they be depended upon if somebody else offered them a few dollars more to sell a game? He said this present talk of paying players would come to an end; it would kill itself in time, as clubs or individuals could not afford it. Their great desire was to have the suspension of professionalism of athletes recognized by athletic clubs in all parts of Canada.

There was a general feeling among all present that benefits would derive to athletic sport hereabouts to affiliate with the C. A. A. U.; there was first the fact that in unity there is strength; that in being members, the complaint of many years that the Maritime Provinces were not recognized by the Upper Provinces in sport would be obviated, that in cases where such happened the Lower Provinces would be able to make themselves felt through the Canadian body, and that where there were organized athletic clubs in the Maritime Provinces who felt that the M. P. A. A. were not doing them justice, they could have recourse to the Canadian Union, and thus have matters satisfactorily explained.

A FINE MARE

(Amateur News.)

D. R. Sutherland, of Picton, has purchased the handsome bay mare Duchess from J. R. Lamy. Duchess is by Phalaris, the handsome stallion whose sire was Phalaris, 2181 at one time the World's champion trotter, and Daisy Hartshorn by Aberdeen, 2244, as a four year old to high wheels, and whose dam was Emmeline, one of the three greatest brood mares imported by Todd of St. Stephen, and afterwards owned by Mr. Lamy. Mr. Sutherland is to be congratulated on securing the fine mare.

A musical and literary entertainment was given before a large and enthusiastic audience in the Orange Hall, Fairville, last evening. An unusually attractive programme was provided. The ladies' mandolin club composed of Mrs. Bowden, Mrs. J. M. Barnes, Miss O'Regan, Miss Bailey, Miss McIntyre, Miss McGaffigan and Miss Frazer played a number of high class selections under the leadership of Prof. Bowden, who also contributed solos on the violin. Vocal selections by Mrs. L. M. Curran, Mrs. Tufts and Miss Lenoit, and recitations by Miss Clara Grey were also much enjoyed and encores were numerous. Dr. L. M. Curran acted as chairman.

A THRILLING RESCUE

OF SHIPWRECKED MEN

British Sailors Showed Great Gallantry in Saving Members of Crew of Greek Steamer.

One of the bravest rescues at sea ever performed by a British merchant ship was that which took place some months ago, when the British liner Augustine effected the rescue of the greater part of the crew of the Greek steamer Clementine. According to a communication—the statements in which were subsequently fully verified—which was addressed to the Merchant Service Guild by several passengers on board, the Augustine, during a heavy storm off Ushant, fell in with the Clementine, flying signals of distress. The wind, at this time, was blowing with hurricane force, and there was a tremendous sea running. The Augustine was manoeuvred as close as safely would permit to the sinking ship, and, in the face of almost insuperable difficulties, a boat was launched in charge of the chief officer, J. W. Harris, with a volunteer crew and put off to the rescue. This boat service was of a most dangerous character—in fact, none of the passengers expected to see her return. When she got close to the sinking ship, all she was compelled to keep away a little to avoid being smashed to pieces against the Clementine's side, and the crew were appealed to jump into the sea so that they might be picked up by the rescuing boat. This, however, they would not do, and the boat eventually had to return. Shortly afterwards the Greek ship sank, Captain Forbes, of the Augustine, called for another volunteer crew, which consisted of the same officer and men as previously, and with desperate efforts they succeeded in saving from amongst the wreckage four lives. The boat having returned, Captain Forbes adjusted his ship so as to drift towards others of the Greek crew who were clinging to the wreckage and floating away to leeward. Four more were saved, but they were in fact too exhausted a condition to help themselves in the way of clinging to life-lines, which were thrown to them. These men, according to the passengers, would inevitably have been drowned had it not been for the gallantry of the chief, second and third officers, and the Augustine, who themselves plunged into the water and tied life-lines round the men who were then hauled on board.

Through the kindness of the Greek consul in Liverpool, B. A. Malandrinos, the Merchant Service Guild were able to place the whole of the circumstances before the Greek government. As a result of this, Mr. Malandrinos has now informed the Guild that the King of Greece, as a mark of his high admiration of the bravery and humanity displayed by those on the Augustine, has signed a decree at Athens conferring on Captain Forbes and J. W. Harris, his chief officer, the Gold Decoration of the Order of the Redeemer, whilst Messrs. J. Fanning, W. T. Watson and Buck, second, third and fourth officers respectively, have had the Silver Decoration of the same order conferred upon them. The Guild are hoping to make the presentation of these decorations in public form in due time. The Decoration conferred on Captain Forbes and Mr. Harris is one class lower only than that conferred recently upon the Lord Mayor of London by the King of Greece.

No less an amount than $1,900,000 has been transferred to real account, bringing the rest up to $1,500,000, while the paid up capital of the bank amounts to $10,000,000. The deposits of the bank, including $9,425,688.54 in bearing interest, amount to $74,373,000.96. The notes of the bank in circulation total $3,738,670.68. SUSSEX

SUSSEX, Dec. 14.—The election of officers of Sussex Council, No. 472, Royal Arcanum, took place this evening, result as follows:—Regent, C. H. Perry; vice-regent, Walter Neilly; orator, E. W. Stockton; secretary, E. A. Charters; collector, Walter A. Keirstead; treasurer, C. H. Fairweather; chaplain, John Rose; guide, Thos. S. King; warden, Robert Perry; sentry, H. W. Friars; S. past regent, H. W. Polkins; trustees, S. Killen, Jr., N. D. Black, W. B. McKay; representatives to Grand Council, H. W. Polkins; alternate, C. H. Perry. Notwithstanding the recent changes in rates which have materially advanced the assessments of the members, very few of the members of Sussex Council have left the order, and the council aids fair to add to its membership during the ensuing year.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Curry, who died at her home here Tuesday night, takes place to-morrow morning, 12 o'clock, at Kirk Hill, Rev. W. Camp will conduct the services. Deceased had been in delicate health for some time past. A husband and one little child, about two years old, survive.

CHEESE WILL BE SCARCE

To Provide for Future Requirements Dealers May Have to Curtail Business Now.

MONTREAL, Dec. 13.—A local dealer is reported to have said that he would not sell his holdings of cheese at less than 13½c, and indications today are that such a figure is not at all beyond the bounds of possibility. The latest cables bid 62c, 63c and 64c for half-milk white and colored, and this is equal to 12½c to 12c here, and orders are coming in freely at these figures. It is said that 66c, Liverpool, has been offered for choice colored, but this lacks confirmation and is hardly credited. Unlike last year when cheese was scarce in various shades, this time a large number of dealers, the stock of which are held in only a very few hands, some large operators who were satisfied to get clear with a small margin, having sold out recently, are out of the market at this early date. It is the opinion of some people who have been watching the market closely, that stocks in both country and city warehouses, are very light, and that if any cheese is going to be held for the winter trade, business will have to be refused now. This is actually being put into effect at the present time by the advanced prices that holders are asking for their stock. On the local market 12½c to 13c is asked for Ontario colored, and 12½c to 12½c for white.

THE FIRST ASSEMBLY

The first of a series of young people's assemblies was held in the assembly rooms of York Theatre last evening. The rooms were very prettily arranged. The ball room, which has been lately renovated by the proprietor, Mr. Armstrong, looked beautiful in its new colors of a delicate red and white, while the hallway has been prettily covered with a soft green paper. The dining room was especially beautiful in its decorations. The centre table had a large imitation snow ball with a miniature Santa Claus on top, holding by bright red ribbon four small reindeer. The result of this novelty in decorations was to give the room a most pleasing and seasonable effect.
