O'REGAN'S DEATH DUE TO COMPRESSION OF BRAIN

This the Opinion of Doctors Who Performed Autopsy on Boy Killed in Queen's Rink Boxing Bout---Last Night's Inquest.

"In my opinion death was caused by compression of the brain, due to the effusion of blood."

This was Dr. J. W. Daniel's statement last night after making an autopsy on the body of Chas. O'Regan, who died at the sparring exhibition in Queen's Rink Monday night. The statement of the doctor was made in the witness stand at the opening session of the inquest being held by Coroner D. E. Berryman and jury in the court house.

Dr. Daniel said that such an injury would be the result of violence. A blow on the chin might produce the effusion of blood. It was possible to inflict a heavy blow with a padded surface, and there be no external evidence that the blow had been given. The heart of deceased was found to be perfectly healthy.

The other witnesses examined were Chief Clark, William O'Keefe, and Dr. Bentley, who assisted Dr. Daniel in the post mortem, and whose evidence was corroborative.

Coroner Berryman presided. The jurymen are S. L. Gorbell, foreman; D. Watson, R. T. Worden, R. H. B. Tennant, F. McBriarty, Geo. Collinson and W. R. Small.

The interest in the proceedings was well shown by the very large attendance. Occupying a place in front of the coroner's desk was Fred Northrup, who is held on charge of manslaughter in connection with O'Regan's death. All eyes were turned upon him. He showed evidences of feeling his position keenly and several times he wept. Near him sat his counsel, A. W. MacRae.

Chief of Police Clark, the first witness, swore that it had been customary for sparring exhibitions to take place in St. John, and went on to describe the steps he took to guard against a breach of the peace.

"I found out that a license for a sparring exhibition to be held on Monday night had been granted to Wm. O'Keefe. I was present at the match and can say that it was conducted under perfectly legitimate circumstances. There is a difference between a sparring match and a prize fight. The gloves used by O'Regan and Northrup were not the kind of gloves used in a prize fight. There was nothing about the match on Monday night that caused me to think that the exhibition was merging from a sparring match into a prize fight. I did not observe anything unusual in the sixth round until I saw O'Regan stagger about, when he was carried into the hockey room. I noticed that his breathing was very irregular and he did not gain consciousness once, according to my knowledge."

The witness here described the physician's efforts to resuscitate O'Regan.

"As far as I know O'Regan did not receive a blow on the head or chin or under the ear, and I saw the whole match to the time of O'Regan's collapse. There was nothing a such a nature as to cause me to think that the match had best be interrupted."

To Mr. MacRae—"I examined the gloves and approved of them. I watched the contest all through, and it was of an amateur character. Nothing occurred to justify me in stopping it."

To the coroner, the witness expressed the opinion that Northrup was better physically than his opponent.

Dr. J. W. Daniel, who made the post mortem examination, said in part:

"I found the body of a young man—well nourished; and with good muscular development. There were several small bruises about the arms. There was another abrasion over the left chest and small abrasions at the bottom of the left ear, which was somewhat swollen. There was a slight abrasion about the mouth. That appeared to be all the evidence of external injury. There were also several abrasions below the left knee.

The outside covering of the brain bulged up considerably, and when it was divided about eight ounces of fluid venus blood escaped. We examined the brain, but could find no other evidence of injury or disease. The heart and lungs we found both quite healthy. There was a small soft clot in the right ventricle of the heart. It is common to find such when sudden death occurs.

"I believe the cause of death was compression of the brain caused by the effusion of the brain, through violence. It might have been caused by a blow on the chin. A blow behind or about the ear is more liable to result in laceration of the brain than a blow given in any other region. The reason deceased staggered was the gradual effusion of blood, the gradual taking away of power, the pressure on the brain rendered him comatose, and eventually stopping the heart from performing its functions. It would have been impossible for the man to have entered the ring and fought, suffering from such a compression."

The witness examined the gloves used in the fatal contest.

tail the rules governing a sparring match.

"Mr. Northrup might have been eight or nine pounds heavier than the other boy, and one and a quarter inches taller. Northrup didn't have a longer reach. In a prize fight, the gloves are either very light or the contestants use their bare hands. With the kind of gloves used on Monday night, I don't think any serious damage could be done. I did not see any heavy hitting, and did not see O'Regan receive blows on the head, face or neck. In the sixth round the men clinched, and I separated them. I saw O'Regan stagger toward the ropes, but didn't see him fall to his knees. Previous to the sixth round I noticed nothing wrong with O'Regan's physical condition."

To Mr. MacRae—"I noticed Northrup slip down in the second round."

Dr. John Bentley, who was called to attend O'Regan in the rink, said he found him unconscious, with pupils slightly dilated. The effect of light on them resulted in but slight reaction.

His breathing was very shallow, and the pulse was slow and weak. I injected brandy, and gave other treatment, including artificial respiration. I concluded that the probable cause of death was concussion of the brain.

Here the witness read a statement describing the post-mortem examination, which corresponded with Dr. Daniels' testimony.

"I should say," said the witness, "that the deceased died from compression of the brain."

To Mr. MacRae—"The concussion resulted from either a blow or shock."

To Coroner Berryman—"The chances are that the rupture of the venus vein was caused by a blow on the head. There was the possibility of there being external violence without much external evidence."

The inquiry was here adjourned till Thursday evening next at 7 o'clock.

NOBODY IS EXEMPT

A New Preparation Which Everyone Will Need Sooner or Later.

Almost everybody's digestion is disordered more or less, and the commonest thing they do for it is to take some one of the many so-called blood purifiers, which, in many cases, are merely strong cathartics. Such things are not needed. If the organs are in a clogged condition, they need only a little help and they will right themselves. Cathartics irritate the sensitive linings of the stomach and bowels and often do more harm than good.

Purging is not what is needed. The thing to do is to put the food in condition to be readily digested and assimilated. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do this perfectly. They partly digest what is eaten and give the stomach just the help it needs. They stimulate the secretion and excretion of the digestive fluids and relieve the congested condition of the glands and membranes. They put the whole digestive system in condition to do its work. When that is done you need take no more tablets, unless you eat what does not agree with you. Then take one or two tablets—give them needed help, and you will have no trouble.

It's a common-sense medicine and a common-sense treatment, and it will cure every time. Not only cure the disease but cure the cause. Goes about it in a perfectly sensible and scientific way.

We have testimonials enough to fill a book, but we don't publish many of them. However—Mrs. E. M. Faith, of Byrd's Creek, Wis., says:

"I have taken all the Tablets I got of you and they have done their work well in my case, for I feel like a different person altogether. I don't doubt if I had not got them I should have been at rest by this time."

H. E. Willard, Onslow, Ia., says: "Mr. White, of Canton, was telling me of your Dyspepsia Tablets curing him of Dyspepsia, from which he suffered for eight years. As I am a sufferer myself I wish you to send me a package by return mail." me a package by return mail."

Phil. Brooks, Detroit, Mich., says: "Your Dyspepsia cure has worked wonders in my case. I suffered for years from dyspepsia, but am now entirely cured and enjoy life as I never have before. I gladly recommend them."

It will cost 50c. to find out just how much Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will help you. Try them—that's the best way to decide.

TORONTO COMING UP

It Is Gaining Upon Montreal in a Fashion That Raises the Question of Supremacy.

Robert S. White, collector of customs at the port of Montreal, who visited Toronto some time ago to look into the reason for the large increases in duty collected at the port of Toronto, as compared with Montreal, has made up his mind that Montreal needs to be stirred up if it is to maintain its commercial supremacy. He thinks it may be lost to Montreal's old-time rival, Toronto, before another ten years have passed away. The situation is thus summarized:—

Population—In thirty years Montreal's gain, 199,308; Toronto's, 155,131.

Real estate values—In 34 years, Montreal's gain, $93,644,000; Toronto's gain, $89,783,000.

Street railway earnings—In nine years Montreal's gain, $1,361,000; Toronto's gain, $1,451,000.

Customs revenue—In ten years Montreal's gain, $5,608,000; Toronto's gain, $5,-805,000.

Bank clearings—In nine years Montreal's gain, $496,000,000; Toronto's gain, $412,000,000.

Manufactures—In twenty years Montreal's gain, $32,712,000; Toronto's gain, $10,803,000.

MONTREAL LICENSE FEES

Montreal may be regarded as a city of licenses, and this year for the first time in the city's history the collections from this source will exceed the two hundred thousand dollar mark. Already all previous records have been easily beaten, and the collectors of one hundred and thirty different classes of licenses are busily engaged persuading refractory business men to pay up and issuing summonses against those who do not. Up to this morning the city had received no less than $195,940, as compared with $168,514 during the same period of last year and $181,663 during the whole of the last fiscal year. As there are yet two full months to run, and the license fees are coming in quite freely, the officials are quite confident that before the 31st of December they will have to their credit well over two hundred thousand dollars, which will be about $20,000 more than ever before. Increase in population is given as one of the causes.

GREAT ADVANCE IN COAL

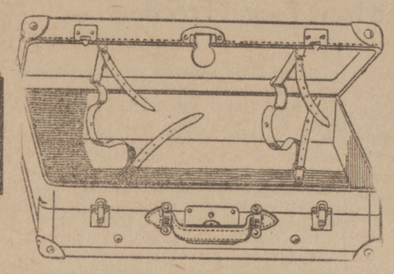

PITTSBURG, Pa. Oct. 30—The Pittsburg Coal Company has advanced prices of unsold coal on its docks 20 cents per ton, for both run of mine and screened coal, the advance to go into effect Nov. 1. It follows an advance of 15 cents per ton in September and 10 cents per ton more in October, and makes a total advance of 45 cents in the price of coal this fall.

The shortage of cars and the great industrial activity all over the country are the causes. The demand has been growing steadily and has been very large. This is the greatest advance ever made at one time.
