SALVATION ARMY CONGRESS

Great Preparations for Commissioner Coombes' Visit---Programme of Councils and Meetings.

COMMISSIONER COOMBES.

The twenty-third annual congress of the Salvation Army in this city will commence today and conclude Nov. 1. Commissioner and Mrs. Coombes will be in command, and they will be assisted by Col. Kyle, Col. Pugmire, Brigadier Smelton, and a number of prominent staff officers.

The following is the full programme of the councils and meetings which will be held in the city during his stay:—

Saturday evening there will be a united council of officers, bandsmen and soldiers at 7.45.

Sunday morning a knee drill will take place at the quarters of the various corps, and the following officers will have charge: St. John 1, Ensign Carter; 2, Ensign Bowering; 3, Ensign Allan; 5, Adjutant Wiggins.

In the Opera House the Glace Bay band will play selections from 10.30 to 11 o'clock, after which a holiness meeting will be conducted by the commissioner.

Three gigantic open air meetings will be held at 12.15. At the foot of King street, Ensign Carter in charge, assisted by the Glace Bay band and soldiers from No. 2 and 5 corps; also officers and soldiers from Glace Bay and North Sydney districts who have not been appointed to other duties.

At the head of King street, Ensign Lorimer in charge, assisted by Springhill band and soldiers from No. 1 and Carleton corps; also officers and soldiers from Yarmouth and Fredericton districts who have not been appointed to other duties.

At the corner of Union and Brussels streets, Ensign Bowering in charge, assisted by No. 1 and New Glasgow bands united, with soldiers from No. 3 corps; also officers and soldiers from Moncton, Halifax, Springhill and New Glasgow districts, who have not been appointed to other work.

These will be followed by a meeting in the Opera House, and at 6.30 by three other open air meetings held at the same places, but under charge of Adjts. Wiggins, Cooper and Crichton.

At 7.30 in the Opera House there will be a great battle for souls led by the commissioner.

On Monday, in the Charlotte street barracks, ther will be knee drill at 10.15 led by Adjt. Wiggins, and a united council at 10.30. At 3 p. m. the evolution of the army will be rehearsed. The rest of the afternoon will be taken up with marchouts, and at 8 o'clock the great spectacular demonstration showing what has been the progress of the Salvation Army in forty years will be put on, Commissioner Coombes in command. The following is a list of the tableaux:—

1. The army in its early days when it was called the Christian Mission.
2. The army when it changed its name to the Salvation Army; a representation of one of the earliest corps in existence.
3. An up-to-date corps with a brass band of twenty pieces playing the latest army music.
4. The past, present and future of the army represented by three generations of soldiers. The commissioner will give a short address on this subject.
5. Detachment of locals headed by one of the visiting bands. The Maple Leaf orchestra will play some selections at this point.
6. Musical drill by eighteen children, under the direction of Capt. Brace, of Indiantown.
7. Social, immigration and inquiry departments.
8. Life boat, acting the song Rescue the Perishing.
9. Prison gate work, presented by Col. Pugmire and a number of assistants.
10. Trades union demonstration in which twenty trades will be represented by army workers.
11. League of mercy and maternity and slum work, by Adjt. and Mrs. Rayne, of the Evangeline Home.
12. Officers of the army representing sixteen ranks.
13. Grand finale, representatives of twenty-four countries dressed in their native costumes; grand rally round the army flag.

Tuesday and Wednesday will be taken up with knee drills and councils.

What Sulphur Does

For the Human Body in Health and Disease.

The mention of sulphur will recall to many of us the early days when our mothers and grandmothers gave us our daily dose of sulphur and molasses every spring and fall.

It was the universal spring and fall "blood purifier," tonic and cure-all, and mind you, this old-fashioned remedy was not without merit.

The idea was good, but the remedy was crude and unpalatable, and a large quantity had to be taken to get any effect.

Nowadays we get all the beneficial effects of sulphur in a palatable concentrated form, so that a single grain is far more effective than a tablespoonful of the crude sulphur.

In recent years, research and experiment have proven that the best sulphur for medicinal use is that obtained from Calcium (Calcium Sulphide) and sold in drug stores under the name of Stuart's Calcium Wafers. They are small chocolate-coated pellets and contain the active medicinal principle of sulphur in a highly concentrated, effective form.

Few people are aware of the value of this form of sulphur in restoring and maintaining bodily vigor and health: sulphur acts directly on the liver, and excretory organs and purifies and enriches the blood by the prompt elimination of waste material.

dosed us with sulphur and molasses every spring and fall, but the crudity and impurity of ordinary flowers of sulphur were often worse than the disease, and cannot compare with the modern concentrated preparations of sulphur, of which Stuart's Calcium Wafers is undoubtedly the best and most widely known.

They are the natural antidote for liver and kidney troubles and cure constipation and purify the blood in a way that often surprises patient and physician alike.

Dr. R. M. Wilkins while experimenting with sulphur remedies soon found that the sulphur from Calcium was superior to any other form. He says: "For liver, kidney and blood troubles, especially when resulting from constipation or malaria, I have been surprised at the results obtained from Stuart's Calcium Wafers. In patients suffering from boils and pimples and even deep-seated carbuncles, I have repeatedly seen them dry up and disappear in four or five days, leaving the skin clear and smooth. Although Stuart's Calcium Wafers is a proprietary article, and sold by druggists, and for that reason tabooed by many physicians, yet I know of nothing so safe and reliable for constipation, liver and kidney troubles and especially in all forms of skin disease as this remedy."

At any rate people who are tired of pills, cathartics and so-called blood "purifiers," will find in Stuart's Calcium Wafers a far safer, more palatable and effective preparation.

upon us, who serve in the navy, to uphold as far as in us lies, the noble traditions which reached their culminating point in the glorious death of our greatest admiral, just one hundred years ago.

It will be our earnest endeavor when the hour comes to show ourselves worthy of the great trust imposed upon us.

The mayor then presented the following gentlemen, who were grouped around the stage, to the prince: Senator Thompson, O. S. Crockett, M. P., W. T. Whitehead, M. P. P., Judge Wilson, Judge Gregory, County Councillor M. B. McNally, J. F. Timmins, F. Pond, C. Forbes, J. McKeen, W. L. McFarlane, Wadren Wilmot, of Sunbury county; Dr. Inch, Rev. Dean Partridge, Rev. Dr. Rogers, Rev. J. H. McDonald, Rev. S. Sykes, Rev. A. A. Rideout, Rev. Willard MacDonald, ex-City Clerk Beckwith, Police Magistrate Col. Marsh, Water Superintendent Burchill, City Engineer Gillmor Brown, C. E. The members of the local government and the mayor of St. John were also present.

Afternoon tea was partaken of on the invitation of Mrs. T. Carleton Allen at her residence, Cathedral square, where a number of young people were assembled to welcome the prince and his officers. Those present besides the hostess were Mrs. Holden, Miss McLean, St. John; the Misses Snowball, Miss Hutchison, Miss Pearce, Miss O'Brien (India), the Misses Thompson and J. A. and J. J. F. Winslow and C. H. Allen.

On returning to the Queen, dinner was served in private in the gentlemen's parlor.

The grand ball in the parliament buildings in the evening was one of the most brilliant affairs ever given in this province. More than 4,000 invitations were issued and it is estimated that 800 people were present.

The task of providing the supper was placed in the experienced hands of J. J. McCaffrey, and the library was set apart for that purpose. The long table down the centre was loaded with delicacies and large clusters of chrysanthemums at intervals made a handsome decoration.

Soon after 9 o'clock the guests began to arrive and for more than an hour afterwards there was a constant stream of carriages at the main entrance. A prolonged burst of cheering announced the arrival of Prince Louis and his suite and a few minutes after 9.30 the guest of the evening, accompanied by Prince Alexander, took his place in front of the speaker's chair and the reception commenced. Mrs. Snowball was on the right of the prince and the guests' names were given to R. S. Barker, the private secretary of the lieutenant-governor, and announced as each approached to shake hands.

The prince led off the first dance having Mrs. J. B. Gillespie, of St. John, as his partner.

FREDERICTON GAVE PRINCE VERY CORDIAL RECEPTION

Fredericton, N. B., Oct. 27—(Special)—The Celestial City has given her illustrious visitor and guest—H. S. H. Prince Louis of Battenberg—a right royal welcome. The local government and the civic authorities here combined to mark the day as a red letter one in the calendar of noteable events, and to give to the prince a lasting impression of the city and its people.

The prince was received by the mayor and aldermen, and after the government luncheon, adjournment was made to the Opera House, which had been handsomely decorated. The address of welcome, as published in yesterday's Times, was then read by Mayor McNally.

Before reading the formal reply, Prince Louis stepped to the front of the stage and, facing the sea of faces in front of him, said: "Before I reply to the address in words which are perhaps couched in rather fine language, I would like to tell you from my heart how much I appreciate being here today, and to see that you have come in such numbers to give me a hearty welcome, particularly as I see so many children present. I have been much pleased to see your charming city, and I only wish my ships were not so big that I might have steamed up your river and anchored them opposite your town."

The little speech was greeted with loud applause.

The prince then read the reply as follows:

Mr. Mayor, Gentlemen:

I am truly pleased to find myself for the first time in the capital of the province of New Brunswick, and I thank you and through you the citizens all for the friendly welcome expressed alike in your eloquent address and in the dimeanor of those outside the building.

You say that the loyalty of the Canadians is as sure as the empire itself. It has been my good fortune to visit the chief cities of Canada (including the dominion capital) within reach of the Atlantic shores during the last few months, and I am carrying away with me the feeling that exactly corresponds with the terse phrase I have quoted from your address. I also know that the king, our great and wise ruler, to whom we all owe so much, implicitly trusts to the loyalty of his Canadian subjects, no matter what origin, race or religion. I feel also sure that his majesty will recognize that the splendid reception which every city visited by me has accorded his humble kinsman, is merely a measure of the depth of the loyalty of its citizens towards his revered person.

However, the fact of my being connected with the royal house is merely a happy incident. It is in the proud position of one of the king's admirals that I find myself on the shores of Canada and in your midst today. By the terms of your address I gladly see that you fully appreciat what a tremendous factor in the continued existence of our great empire, the navy of Great Brittain is. What the free circulation of the blood through its veins and arteries means to the live human body, the safe transit of British ships both of war and of commerce along the ocean highways means to the United Kingdom and its oversea dependencies. It is the sacred duty of the king's ships to safeguard these open highways should they ever be threatened. For, once the control of these waterways passes from the king's ships to those of the king's enemies, the beating of the king's heart will gradually get weaker and it must eventually stop beating altogether as sure as the human heart ceases beating when its life's blood has flown away. But so long as the king's ships do command the seas, the life-giving trade of the empire will continue, and its shores cannot be violated. Every citizen of the empire has therefore a direct interest in seeing that the British navy is kept up in sufficient strength to enable it to fulfil its task in the face of any probable hostile combination, whilst it develops

Vice-President McNicol Says C. P. R. Will Not Use L'Etang as a Winter Port.

Montreal, Oct. 27—(Special)—Vice-President McNicol, of the C. P. R., in reply to inquiries today gave an emphatic contradiction to the rumor that the company intended to make L'Etang their winter port in preference to St. John, New Brunswick.

"The rumor is merely the result of local talk," said Mr. McNicol this morning. "As far as the C. P. R. is concerned there is nothing whatever in it."

DISASTROUSLY HIGH PRICES

The Crusade Against Them Has Reached the Iron Ore Industry.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 27.—The Iron Trade Review says: The crusade against the disastrously high prices now threatening has reached the ore industry. Two leading producers of Cleveland have declared themselves as positively opposed to any advance in 1906 ore prices of more than 25 cents per ton, and as there is no longer an association for the control of ore prices these conservative interests will probably establish the market, and prevent a repetition of the trying times of 1900 following a heavy advance. Coke for the first half of next year is quoted at $3 for furnace and $3.50 for foundry, but contracting at these figures is light. The market is feverish and buyers are complaining bitterly of what they term unreasonable prices. Some relief will be secured through the marked renewal of activity in The Toledo Furnace Company, which is to erect a second stack at once and will add a 400-oven by-products plant.

Pig iron is firm with fewer actual transactions, but with advancing prices. Bessemer is established at $16, Valley furnace and No. 2 Foundry commands from $16.00 to $16.50, while furnace men are predicting $18 Valley furnace, and even higher if coke prices are not headed. To accommodate its enormous railway equipment orders, the Pressed Steel Car Company has contracted with the Carnegie Steel Company for about 65,000 tons each month of rolled steel products, delivery to begin with January. Other car building orders show the extent to which that business figures in the present prosperity.
