Rev. Canon Book continued his sermons on the Gospel of the Larger Hope at St. John's (Stone) church last night, taking as his subject the belief in the certainty but not in the endlessness of future punishment of sin. He based his discourse on Gen. xviii, 25: "Shall not the Judge of all the earth do right?"

Duguay to the sub-deaconate. At 8 o'clock of the same evening, under the auspices of St. Patrick's Literary and Dramatic Society, The Shamrock and Rose will be presented in Lefebvre hall.

Owing to the visit to St. John of Dr. Grenfell of the Labrador mission, and it having been arranged that he should preach in Trinity church last evening the usual Loyalist memorial service was postponed until Sunday evening next. The annual service will therefore be held in Trinity church on Sunday evening, May 28th, upon which occasion seats will be reserved for descendants of the Loyalists, and to all of whom a hearty invitation is given to attend the service.

A sacred cantata entitled The Ruler's Daughter (the daughter of Jairus) will be given in Germain street Baptist church on Wednesday evening, May 31st, by a chorus of about eighty voices with piano, organ and orchestral accompaniment. This cantata is by E. Cympon, an English composer, and is of a character suitable for choral societies who require something in advance of the ordinary service of song. The soloists will be Mrs. Ives, Miss Annie Cathers, Miss Blanche Thomson, Frol. Titus, Mr. G. S. Mayes, and Mrs. H. J. Roberts, elocutionist.

FREIGHT RATES AND THE I. C. R.*An Interesting Talk in Parliament Last Week.

In parliament at Ottawa one day last week the minister of railways referred to a charge made in the house recently by Mr. Taylor, the conservative whip, that shipments between Brockville and Nova Scotia by the Intercolonial cost more than shipments from Pittsburgh, and that the rates over the Canadian government road, therefore, were disproportionately high. Mr. Emmerson read a lengthy statement prepared by Traffic Manager Tiffin denying that the Intercolonial was guilty of imposing any excessive charges. Mr. Taylor said that the government should see that the Railway Commission gave a closer scrutiny to freight schedules. Such a scrutiny would serve the purpose of bringing about uniformity and reducing the existing undue discrimination against the short haul. Mr. Taylor complained that since the government had taken over the Canada Eastern railway the rate on shipments to Fredericton had been increased. Mr. Emmerson replied that the rate on shipments to Fredericton from the West had been increased by an agreement between the Canadian Pacific and the Grand Trunk before the acquisition of the Canada Eastern by the Intercolonial.

Mr. Borden remarked that the rates had been increased by the Canada Eastern just prior to its transference to the government. The result was that shippers by the Canada Eastern were obliged to pay higher rates now than before the acquisition of the road.

Mr. Campbell agreed with the opposition so far as to admit that in Ontario at least freight rates were too high, and he believed that now that the railway commission was in proper working order the matter would be rectified.

Mr. Haggart remarked that all tariffs and all joint tariffs or changes in those tariffs must be submitted to the railway commission. The government, therefore, should be in a position to tell the house why the increases complained of had been made.

PREACHED ON JOHN KNOX

Rev. David Lang, of St. Andrew's church, preached yesterday morning on the life of John Knox. He took as his text, Isaiah 82nd chapter, 2nd verse, "And a man shall be as an hiding place from the wind, as a covert from the tempest, as rivers of water in a dry place, as the shadow of a great rock in a weary land."

John Knox was the shadow of a great rock in the weary land, and his sincerity made the Scottish people believe in him. Mary, his wife, said: "I am more afraid of the prayers of John Knox than of an army of ten thousand." John Knox would ever stand before the church as a lesson to its people, showing what can be accomplished by true earnestness and by sincerity.

LARGEST IN WORLD

The Peterboro, Ont., works of the Canadian General Electric Company have turned out the largest electrical generator ever constructed in the world. It is of 12,000 horse-power, the first of a series being constructed for the plant of the Ontario Electrical Development Company. The previous largest generator was of 10,000 horse-power, built by the Westinghouse Co. of Pittsburgh. The local works have been enlarged and extended, so that they can now turn out the largest and heaviest generators which have up to the present been obtainable only in England or the United States.

HE VISITED ST. JOHN

Joseph Elkinton, one of the best known ministers of the Society of Friends in America, died in Philadelphia last week, aged 75 years. He did much preaching in England and Wales. In recent years his interest in the east, known as the Doughty-borers, who settled in Canada, brought him into particular prominence.

THE SPELL OF THE NORTH

Dr. Grenfell Charmed St. John Audiences by This Address.

The addresses of Dr. W. T. Grenfell on Saturday evening and Sunday drew large audiences, who listened with rapt attention to his simple description of medical missionary work along the Labrador coast. His lecture at the York Theatre Saturday night was listened to with keen interest, the building being packed to the doors.

Mayor White occupied the chair and introduced the speaker, who was received with applause. He gave a short introductory address, and then, by the aid of stereoscopic views, gave his audience a comprehensive idea of the many sides of life in the north land.

Dr. Grenfell is establishing hospitals along the Labrador coast, and his work is largely among the fishermen. In this work he employs a hospital steamer, which has proved most valuable. This, however, is laid up during the winter months, and the doctor performs his journeys by means of a sled drawn by fifteen dogs. By means of a map Dr. Grenfell showed the extent of the territory and the location of the two hospitals he has erected on the coast.

He then threw upon the screen a great number of photographs of the northern country taken by himself and his fellow workers. Some of these were beautifully colored and were excellent specimens of the photographer's art.

Of the three hospitals already erected, one is situated on the point of land opposite Bellisle Strait, and the other over 200 miles distant. A third is to be erected.

The sympathy of the audience was strongly expressed in several parts of Dr. Grenfell's address, and admiration was repeatedly evoked by the beautiful views of his northern parish as depicted upon the limelight screen.

Of the lady nurses who are so nobly assisting in the hospital work Dr. Grenfell could not say too much. "They are angels," said he, "with very little disguise."

An effort has been made to establish a circulating library. Twenty-three chests of books are in use. A chest is left at a certain village and when the vessel calls again it is taken away and another left in its place. Mr. Carnegie was asked by Dr. Grenfell to aid this library, and sent a check for a thousand dollars.

Dr. Grenfell dealt with all phases of his work in the north, but was of course able to touch but hardly on each point. The address was a treat, a surprise to many, and was listened to with the closest attention.

In conclusion, Dr. Grenfell thanked the people of St. John for the interest and kindness displayed by the citizens. His appeal for supplies to his mission resulted in a public donation of bales containing 1,060 garments, and included a large amount of literature. This will be forwarded today to Halifax and will be sent along from Halifax with the supplies raised in New York and other American cities.

The proceeds from the lecture in the York Theatre totalled $112 net profits. This at Dr. Grenfell's suggestion will be devoted to the general expenses. The doctor expressed himself as being very pleased with the reception tendered him in this city. He was glad to see such evidence of earnestness in the people. Crowds throng to his shows and operas, but they do not display the same interest in such philanthropic work. Several generous donations have been made by St. John citizens, but Dr. Grenfell did not feel at liberty to mention amounts or names.

Yesterday afternoon was devoted to a visit to the Rotherway Collegiate School. The boys were addressed by Dr. Grenfell, who told of his life among seafaring men. The students were much impressed with Dr. Grenfell's words, and accorded him a hearty welcome.

This morning Dr. Grenfell left on the early train for Halifax. On Tuesday he will leave that port for Newfoundland, and will then return to his labors. His tour in the States is said to have netted $15,000 for the Labrador work.

FUNERALS

The funeral of James Leonard took place yesterday afternoon at 2.30, from his late residence, Pokok road, to St. Peter's church. Rev. Father Souley, C. S. S. R., conducted the service, and burial was made in the new Catholic cemetery.

The funeral of John Condon took place yesterday afternoon from his late residence, 182 Britain street, to St. John Baptist church. Rev. Father Gwynne conducted the service, and interment was in the new Catholic cemetery. A. O. H. Division No. 1 attended in a body, and members of the association were pallbearers. The funeral was largely attended.

Mrs. Charles Gill, of Jamaica Plains, was among the passengers from Boston on Saturday morning's express. Mrs. Gill was accompanying the body of her mother, Mrs. Cuthbert, whose death took place at Jamaica Plains. The deceased lady was buried at Loch Lomond yesterday afternoon.

POST OFFICE CHANGE

An order has been issued from Ottawa stating that in future T. B. Hanington, post master of this city, will have charge of all branch and sub-offices within the city limits. The offices are to be inspected by the post-master instead of Dr. Colter. This will no doubt increase the duties of Post-master Hanington.

The following are the offices to be inspected by him:—Portland, Indian town, Millville, Carleton, Sandy Point road and Marsh road; also sub-offices at Union street, Haymarket square and Garden street.

CHILDREN'S CONCERT

The children's concert given in St. Paul's church school house on Saturday afternoon was a grand success. A large audience was present in spite of the bad weather. During an intermission of twenty minutes, afternoon tea was served.

Mrs. Andrew Jack and Mrs. Roy Campbell, under whose management the concert was, were deeply gratified for the way in which the little performers went through their parts. Those who took part were: Miss V. Fontenay, and Masters Starr, McLaughlin, Ross, Campbell, Charles and Chester Bourne. Every piece on the programme was enthusiastically enjoyed.

BURIED AT SEA

The Death of Arthur G. Notte, Formerly of St. John.

The many friends of the late Arthur G. Notte, of Staten Island, New York, will hear with regret of his sudden death, which took place recently while on his way to Colon, South America from New York.

Mr. Notte was for eighteen years in the employ of a steamship line plying between New York and South America, and at the time of his death held the position of purser, and was highly respected by everyone who had the pleasure of his acquaintance.

He was the son of the late A. Notte and was 38 years of age. The deceased young man led a Christian life, and his loss will be keenly felt by a large circle of friends. He married the youngest daughter of E. J. Proud, formerly of this city, but now of Staten Island, New York.

One sad feature in connection with Mr. Notte's death was the fact that his wife was in South America for her health, and he was making his last trip having been appointed to a higher position on shore. When at sea two days he took suddenly ill, and died of heart failure, and was buried at sea. While the steamer was making for port Mrs. Notte was on the wharf waving her handkerchief, but just as soon as the vessel was docked the captain and the ship's doctor broke the sad news to her. Much sympathy is being expressed for the sorrowing widow in her sad bereavement.

THE WINDSOR STRIKE

St. John Mills Have Not Offered Work to All Comers.

A Windsor, N. S., special to the Halifax Chronicle of Saturday says:—

"It is said that one of the strikers wrote to the superintendent of the cotton mill in St. John, and that today a letter was received from that superintendent that he would give employment to all the weavers and ring frame spinners that would come, and if they had no money he would pay their travelling expenses. The weavers assert that if this matter is not settled before Monday, the most of them and of the spinners, will accept this offer and go to St. John."

Enquiry at the St. John mills does not confirm this story. There is always a small movement of operatives back and forth between the mills in St. John, Moncton, Windsor and Milltown, and when one mill is short there may be correspondence. Possibly there has been some correspondence between St. John and Windsor, but the mills at St. John could not give work to all the people mentioned in the above despatch, even if they came to St. John.

OBITUARY*Judge A. W. Tourgee

Bordeaux, May 21—Judge Albion Winegar Tourgee, of Mayville (N. Y.), American consul here, died this morning of acute uraemia, which resulted from an old wound.

Washington, May 21—A cablegram was received at the state department today announcing Judge Tourgee's death. He was formerly consul general at Halifax (N. S.), and was well known as a lawyer, writer and lecturer.

Arthur Harrison

General regret was expressed on Saturday when it was learned, about noon, that Arthur Harrison, I. C. R. baggage master, had passed away.

Just one week previous he had gone to his home complaining of a severe cold, and for the first few days nothing serious was anticipated, but his illness developed into pneumonia.

His father, who died in South Africa, was the son of Rev. Canon Harrison, of the North End. Deceased was forty-two years of age, and for eighteen years had been in the employ of the I. C. R. He first served as a brakeman in Moncton, then in the baggage department there, and subsequently was removed to this city to act in a similar capacity.

His wife and six small children survive. Mrs. Harrison was Miss Melinda Logan, of Goudville Point. Interment will take place today at Rotherway, the body being conveyed from 63 Myers street to the railway station at 10 o'clock.

There are few men in the employ of the I. C. R. here who enjoyed the good will of the public to such an extent as did Mr. Harrison. His duties as baggage master were exacting and strenuous, but he was never too busy to be courteous. Punctual, and uniformly affable and obliging, it was a pleasure to meet him.

He was a prominent member of the St. John Rifle Association, and on occasions distinguished himself on the range.

Mrs. Sarah Ready

At 75 Simonds street, Saturday morning Mrs. Sarah Ready, widow of Hugh Ready, died, aged eighty-six. She had been ill for some time. She is survived by three daughters and one son. One of the daughters is unmarried, and resides with her mother. The others are Mrs. Burns, of St. Mary's, and Mrs. Frank Walsh, of this city. The son is Michael Ready.

Rev. J. C. Steadman

Dorchester, N. B., May 21—(Special)—Rev. J. C. Steadman, one of the oldest Baptist ministers in the maritime provinces, died this morning at his son's residence, St. John, after an illness lasting many months. The deceased was well and favorably known, having spent the major part of his life in the ministry, in his native province of New Brunswick. He was ordained in 1863 at Salisbury (N. B.). His most successful pastorates were in Albert county. He leaves a large circle of relatives. He was related to Judge Steadman.

Gertrude Reynolds

HALIFAX, N. S., May 22—(Special)—The death occurred suddenly this morning of Gertrude, second daughter of Claude Reynolds, I. C. R. ticket agent at North Street station. Deceased was at church last evening, apparently well, but awoke about five this morning and complained of feeling ill. A doctor was sent for and found her suffering from cerebral affection and beyond medical aid. She passed away at 7 a.m.

Rev. Dr. J. A. Gordon, pastor of the First Baptist church, Montreal, formerly of St. John, will attend the congress of Baptists in London in July; Rev. J. H. Jenner, of Halifax; Rev. H. F. Adams, and Robert J. Caldwell are also going.
