ONE CENT

BAD BOYS BROUGHT BEFORE THE COURTPolice Magistrate Fines One Youth $8 for Disorderly Conduct---He Will Make an Example of All Boys Caught Corner Loafing at Night.

One of a crowd of St. Patrick street boys was held up today as a public example, when Wm. McArthur, whom Police Magistrate Crawford arrested last night was sentenced to a fine of $8 or two months with hard labor for using obscene and abusive language to Walter Winters.

A lad from Union alley was also before the magistrate at the instance of Wm. Bell, of Union street, but in the absence of direct testimony against him was given his liberty.

Several other youthful offenders have been reported and the next few days promise interesting developments.

The McArthur lad when asked to answer to the charges against him, pleaded not guilty, and Walter Winters of St. Patrick street, and Policeman Robert Crawford were placed on the stand.

Winters swore that on reaching his home on St. Patrick street, last night, he heard a crowd of boys making a racket and using bad language. At first he paid little or no attention to it, but finally was obliged to take measures to restore quietness. Going to the window he saw a number of boys sitting on the doorstep below his window. He went down and ordered them away and McArthur, who was among them, turned and swore at him and also used abusive and insulting language.

Policeman Crawford told of visiting the locality referred to, between 10 and 11 o'clock last night and found a crowd of about thirty boys, some of them half drunk. Winters was on his doorstep and the people were afraid to go to bed. The officer stated also that he had warned McArthur, but was finally obliged to arrest him.

In response to a question as to what he was doing there between ten and eleven o'clock at night, McArthur said there was a party.

"Were you invited?" asked his honor.

"No," replied McArthur.

"Was there liquor at the party?"

McArthur did not seem to know.

Chief Henderson remarked that the youthful prisoner had figured in court before, in a case of stealing.

"You'll be fined eight dollars," said his honor, addressing McArthur, "or in default of distress of payment, two months in jail with hard labor."

His honor also observed that the boys had no right whatever to be on the door step under such circumstances.

THE LATE GEORGE E. PAUL

The parents and friends of George E. Paul, the little boy who was drowned at Pleasant Point on Sunday night, are grieved and indignant because of the article published in the Globe relative to the fatality. The boy was in the first place described as an "Indian boy," which is not true, and in the second place it was stated that the parents were not anxious, as he had more than once been missing for a day or so. His mother states that he was never absent from his meals at home, and was always in the house at dark. The boy's father has been a single man since the death of his wife, who died in the Jordan mill for twenty-five years, and the family are highly respected, as was shown by the large attendance at the funeral yesterday, when the little boy's school mates walked in the procession.

LOUIS TOMMY BURNS WON

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 3.—Tommy Burns, champion of the heavyweight championship, scored a decisive victory over Jim Flynn of Pueblo, last night before the Pacific A. C. knocking Flynn out for ten minutes in the 15th round. The battle was hard from the start.

RACE RIOT THREATENED
FOR A TIME IN MOBILE

MOBILE, Ala., Oct. 2.—Roy Hoyt, a special officer of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad, one of the most widely known men in the vicinity, was fatally shot and Al. Derman Sidney Lyon, a chairman of the city council of Mobile, was slightly wounded tonight during a fight at the county jail between deputy sheriffs and a crowd of men, determined to capture Dick Robinson, a young negro. The mob is still hunting the negro and will lynch him if he is caught. The negro, who is only 17 years of age, today attacked Ruth, the 12 year old daughter of Blount Sosman, who lives about three miles from here.

The girl was passing a secluded spot not far from her home, when she was attacked. Later she was found unconscious by the roadside. Detectives captured the negro within three hours. The Sosman family at once identified him. Deputy Sheriff Hutch, as a precautionary measure, sent him to a station several miles up the Mobile and Ohio Railroad. He was not taken to the jail at all and was at least eight miles from the city when the mob approached the county jail.

There have been several assaults upon white women within the last few weeks and the news of this latest outrage caused intense excitement. Crowds gathered in the down town streets. The crowd was addressed by several speakers, who urged them to take the life of the negro if he could be found. Sheriff Powers met the leader of the mob at the jail and informed him that the man they were seeking was not there. He offered to let anybody whom he personally knew through the jail to satisfy the crowd of the truth of his statement. About forty men walked through the corridors and some of them returned and assured the mob that the negro was not there. While several men, including Hoyt and Lyon, were still in the

ST. JOHN DELEGATION HAS VISITED CARTWRIGHT AND THE SHIPPING FEDERATION

MONTREAL, Oct. 3.—Special.—Mayor Sears of St. John, and H. B. Schofield, president of the board of trade of that city, left Montreal today for Ottawa, after interviewing Mr. Cartwright and the Shipping Federation regarding improving Halifax and St. John harbors. These cities are desirous of enlarging of berths and deepening of harbors and the Federal Government will be asked for assistance. The Federal Shipping Association has given the delegation assurance of support.

OTTAWA, Oct. 3.—(Special).—The St. John delegation was advised by telegram on Monday last before leaving St. John that Mr. Hyman, the minister of public works would not be here before tomorrow.

That probably was the reason for Mayor Sears going to Kingston to see Sir Rich. Cartwright and Mr. Schofield coming to Ottawa by the evening train and staying with the manager of the Bank of British North America, an old St. John man. In Montreal the delegation had an interview with the Shipping Federation who is interested in the situation at St. John. An effort will likely be made to get one of the St. Lawrence dredges to go to St. John, but nothing can be done until Mr. Hyman is seen. He may and he may not be here tomorrow.

At any rate, Mayor Sears is expected this afternoon or evening to reach Ottawa from Kingston, where he will have laid the whole matter before the minister of trade and commerce. The delegation hopes to be able to meet Mr. Hyman tomorrow. Mr. Schofield called at the railway department this morning, but Mr. Emmerson is away. The premier is also in Quebec, and the delegates chose a rather unfortunate time to come to Ottawa. Mr. Brodeur, the minister of marine, who takes an interest in dredging and who has charge of the St. Lawrence River route, and who of the St. Lawrence River route, and who is now here, will no doubt give a hearing to the delegation until Mr. Hyman returns.

FIRST CRIB FOR NEW WEST SIDE WHARF WAS PLACED THIS MORNING

The first crib of the new wharf on the west side was successfully placed in position between 12.30 and 1 o'clock today. Despite the fears that have been expressed that the crib could not be successfully lifted and moved into its proper place, Mr. Clark has accomplished what he said he would, and a start has now been made in the real building of the wharf.

Anticipating, perhaps, a spectacular exhibition when the five screws which had been placed on the crib started to lift the structure, there were several hundred people on the Sand Point wharves, long Union street and on Rodney wharf. There was, however, nothing spectacular in the process. It was feared, for a time by nearly everyone who was watching, that perhaps the exception of Mr. Clark, that the crib would be hung up on the mud pile between the Sand Point wharf where it had been resting, and the new crib site.

It remained stationary for some few minutes but finally on different tugs being pursued by the tugs it was safely taken over. The tugs attempted first to tow it over broadside on, but abandoned that plan on striking the slope, and wheeled it around, towing it head first and then shoving it into position.

During the entire operations Mr. Clark sat in his office at a window overlooking the scene and directed his men with the assistance of a megaphone and a field glass. Throughout the proceedings he was apparently as cool as the proverbial cucumber, and he did not seem half as interested as many of his men. Among the spectators were a number of the aldermen who evinced a lively interest in the proceedings and congratulated Mr. Clark on the success of his operations.

The crib started lifting about ten o'clock and shortly after word was passed that all was clear. While the heavy straining was going on the lines on the northern side of the crib parted on two of the screws and for a time it was feared that that end of the crib would not be lifted. It, however, came up all right, the centre screw holding, and bearing most of the weight. The two screws on the inner end, near Union street floated evenly, the centre one was very low on the northern side and the two outer ones were resting on the mud pile.

Two of the workmen, George Cobham and Ed. Woodworth, were given a double while the crib was in process of removal. They were in a small boat and in passing under the stern of the Wolsley the boat was upset and they were thrown into the water. The accident created a little disturbance for a few minutes but both men could swim and they paddled around until picked up by one of the other small boats. Except for a ducking they were all right and Mr. Clark sent them home to change their wet garments.

PRESBYTERIAN
LADIES' COLLEGESubject of Discussion at This Morning's Session of Presbyterian Synod.

MONTREAL, Oct. 3.—(Special).—The maritime synod got down to business this morning. The clerk drew attention to the presence of Rev. Dr. Falconer, moderator of the general assembly, and he was called to the platform. Rev. G. S. Cameron, president of the synod, presented the claims of the denominational paper on the Presbyterians of the provinces and after discussion a resolution passed recognizing the service the Witness is doing for the church in the provinces and commending to it the whole membership.

The funeral of the late Edward C. Palmer, who was killed by falling from the third story of his residence, took place this morning at 10 o'clock, from his late residence, 21 Delhi street.

The Halifax Ladies' College was the next matter for the attention of Dr. Smith, of Musquodoboit, submitted a report from the visitors to the college. The committee made two visits and heartily endorsed the sentiment of affirmation in the valuable services of the institution throughout its past history. The committee looked into the general character of the work done by the college and recommended that a strong committee be appointed by the synod to carry on a further conference with the board of governors regarding the management of the college.

The report said: "We are glad to say we were led to believe that the general moral tone of the college is good. Certain forms of amusement which were considered objectionable last year, were in fact, are not now sanctioned by the college authorities. Rev. Dr. Robert Jones, president of the Ladies' College submitted the report of the institution. The report re-

PLEASSED WITH THEIR CHOICEOpinion of Anglicans is That Canon Richardson is Right Man for Co-Adjutor Bishop.

FREDERICTON, N. B., Oct. 3.—Special.—Rev. Canon Richardson, who is still here, is receiving many congratulations on his election to the office of Co-adjutor Bishop. His election has been well received here and the opinion of church members is that the right man has been chosen. It was three o'clock this morning when the synod adjourned. Before the last ballot was taken both Canon Richardson and Archdeacon Neales made short addresses urging their supporters to transfer their votes.

The Co-adjutor elect talking to the Times this morning said no date had been fixed for his consecration. He thought it only right that he should remain rector of Trinity for two or three months yet.

The nuptials of John T. Jennings, one of the city's most popular young men, and Miss Isabella McPeake, daughter of the late Patrick McPeake, was celebrated at St. Dunstan's church at 7.30 this morning by Rev. Father Carey. The wedding was a quiet one, the guests including only relatives and intimate friends. Miss McPeake was bridesmaid and James A. McPeake best man. After a wedding breakfast the happy couple left for St. John en route to Boston on a honeymoon trip.

The body of the late John Clinton, who died recently at Boston, arrived here by the noon train and was interred at the Hermitage.

MONTREAL, Oct. 3.—(Special).—Cheese: Quebec, 12 3/4 to 13; Townships, 13 to 13 1/8; Ontario, 13 1/8 to 14. Butter, strong, from 23 1/2 to 24 1/2 for creameries.

Battle liner Pydna sailed today from Barrow, G. B., for Baltimore with a cargo of pig iron.

THE TIMES NEW REPORTER

BAOKLAND CREEK, Oct. 3.—Hooping cough and measles is quite prevalent here at present. Some distasteful person stole four squabs from Pete Smith's patch last night. Such vile thieves should be made an example of by the Squire. Folks are wondering what takes Joe Joyce down to the Corner so often these nights. Guess Joe knows. Maybe Annie does too. Say nothing boys.

THOSE DIFFICULTIES.
"I observe," said Mr. Peter Binks this morning, "that there are some difficulties in the way of union of the two Carleton churches which are now pastors."

"So it is stated in the papers," replied the Times new reporter.

"I hope," said Mr. Binks, "that they are well advanced in years."

"Who?" queried the new reporter.

"The difficulties," replied Mr. Binks.

"How?" again queried the new reporter.

"The difficulties," repeated Mr. Binks.

"The older they are the sooner they will be gathered to their fathers, and the more the union enabled to accomplish that much desired end."

"You think, then," said the new reporter, "that the difficulties in the case are persons?"

"I'll give you a new hat if you can point out any principle that stand in the way."

As the new reporter's hat has been considered a service, he would be glad if some person of spiritual discernment would put him in the way of calling on Mr. Binks for a new one. He is himself unable to discover the principles in question.

AT OTTAWA.

OTTAWA, Oct. 3.—(Special).—Mayor Sears arrived today and was cordially received by the backmen at the depot. One of them shouted: "Here's another St. John delegation!" Then they all gave a cheer, and forming a procession escorted the mayor to his hotel. A delegation of reporters immediately waited on him to ask if he would make a statement relative to the Shewen incident and the explosion in the board of works. His worship declined to be interviewed on that subject, but intimated that on his return to St. John he would look into the matter and wire them an exclusive story. The weather is fine.

A BUSINESS MAN
HANGED HIMSELFShocking Suicide of Wallace Trask, of Little River, Digby County---Hanged
Himself to a Beam in His Barn---He Was Well Known Here.

DIGBY, N. S., Oct. 3.—(Special).—Wallace Trask, general merchant, of Little River, Digby Co., and one of the prominent citizens in that village, committed suicide at 6.30 o'clock this morning by hanging himself to a beam in his barn near his store and residence. He got up as usual and seemed in the best of spirits. After going to the store and waiting on a customer, he returned to the house for his milk pail. As another customer was waiting to get in the store Mrs. Trask went to the barn to call her husband. She found the door fastened on the inside. She entered from the rear of the building and found her husband hanging by a rope from a beam with his feet just clearing the floor. Assistance was immediately summoned but he soon expired. The affair had been carefully arranged with a banana case which he kicked aside after he placed the rope on his neck. An inquest is now being held but the verdict can be nothing else but suicide. A notice can be learned as the fact of his taking his own life. He was comfortably fixed financially and had no business or family troubles. He is survived by a widow, but no family, his daughter having died several years ago. He was of cheerful disposition and well liked by everybody, was a careful business man and very honest in his dealings. He was well known among the wholesale merchants of St. John and his credit was excellent. The whole village is thrown in a state of excitement this morning and the facts of the sad affair are learned with difficulty. He leaves four brothers, Capt. Manning, Wentworth, Kilbey and Burwell, of Little River, and four sisters, Mrs. George Denton and Mrs. James Denton, of Little River and Mrs. McAlpine, of Little River and Mrs. Haines, of Louisburg, C. B., and also a large family connection in Massachusetts and elsewhere. The deceased was 55 years of age.

PORTRAIT GOLD
BRICK AGAINSt. John Lady Victimized by Smooth Portrait Fakirs.

A few months ago a smooth gentleman called at the residence of a citizen and persuaded the housewife that it was necessary to her future peace and happiness to possess one of the marvellous reproductions (from any old portrait or tinsy) of the celebrated Toronto Portrait Co. The gentleman did not appear to hide any of the mysteries of his profession and the magic effect of the word carbon mental in securing from the housewife a promise to pay $10.50 on delivery of a portrait and a rich and gorgeous frame.

A few days ago another gentleman arrived in fine raiment and bedecked with a portrait in a gold frame which he balanced gracefully on one knee as he pointed out the many exclusive features of his work of art.

It so happened that the good lady was short of money this day and so informed the man, who without permitting a careful or close examination of the treasure picture, succeeded in extracting $5 from the lady and promised to generously devote $1 of his commission if the portrait was taken on his next visit and $4.50 more paid into the treasury of the company.

The slick gentleman called again today, holding the portrait carefully in one hand and with his thumb concealing a serious defect in the frame, he quickly accepted the unsuspecting lady and then quickly turned and disappeared.

When the agent had gone the lady after the first glance at the purchase discovered that she had secured a picture that ceremony was performed in the Queen square Methodist church by Rev. G. M. Campbell, after which the happy couple left on a short honeymoon trip through Nova Scotia.

LEONARD BEVERLY, foreman of F. E. Sayre & Co., was married this morning to Miss Ethel Emma Gardner, of this city. The ceremony was performed in the Queen square Methodist church by Rev. G. M. Campbell, after which the happy couple left on a short honeymoon trip through Nova Scotia.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary L. Hutchinson was held from Fairville station this morning on the arrival of the Montreal express. The body was taken to Cedar Hill cemetery, where interment was made. The pall-bearers were the four sons-in-law of the deceased, viz., John Leary, Smith Dingle, James R. Andrews and David Hipwell, of Woodstock.

ALDERMAN JOHN MCGLODRICK went to Fredericton Junction this morning to see his sister, Miss Elizabeth McGlodrick, who was on her way home from Boston on account of ill health. They arrived on the Boston train this morning.

OLD FAITH IS PASSING,
SAYS DR. LYMAN ABBOTT

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—Bishop Potter of New York criticized the foresight of the Puritans and the democracy of the institutions they helped to establish.

"There is something extremely pathetic," said the bishop, in his sermon at the Emmanuel church, La Grange, "in the utterances of our ancestors, who hoped to produce in this country a population having the same characters as they had themselves."

"Caste exists in America today just as truly as it ever did in India, though in different forms. If you have investigated the principles of the world's different religions you have been struck by the fact that unless you come to Christianity you find no religion which does not involve this principle of caste. And yet the caste spirit is with us just as truly as with the peoples of the non-Christian religion."

"A certain class I know of is occupied chiefly not in talking of people whom they know and won't visit. They emphasize their social distinction, not by telling of their distinguished friends, but by making it clear that they will have nothing to do with any but a few. Now it is your office and mine to batter down this social distinction. There are, or were, two kinds of Christians. I believe we have almost succeeded in destroying the older type. I remember seeing a bishop once in England riding down in a coach and four, with outriders. Later I heard him preach, and he preached with lavender gloves on. Bishops nowadays must take their gloves off and go barehanded if they are going to handle the social problems of the day."

ATHACIA, N. Y., Oct. 3.—Dr. Lyman Abbott delivered the opening sermon in Sage chapel, declaring that the present tendency was to believe in a kingdom of heaven on earth.

"Men are turning from the celestial sphere to the terrestrial things," he said. "The world remedies are those who are working to establish good in the world. Such work is being done by Secretary Taft in Cuba. No one is asking what their creed is."

"The question is not, am I prepared to die, but am I prepared to live. The vivid imagination of a celestial home is fading away. We are gaining in faith in a present immortality. We have been the faith of our fathers in Jehovah and Mount Sinai, but we have gained a faith in present goodness and love."
