Of Interest to Prospective Investors of Building Lots Situated in Vancouver, Saskatoon, Lloydminster and Prince Albert.

Having had considerable demand for Vancouver, Lloydminster and Prince Albert building lot proposition, The North-Western Land & Investment Company has secured a number of choice locations in Vancouver (B. C.), Lloydminster and Prince Albert (Sask.), and are offering them for sale at their different offices throughout Canada for a short time.

The brisk demand for Saskatoon east side building lots, has not abated, as the enterprising city is receiving attention from shrewd investors all over Canada and the United States, who realize that Saskatoon will become one of the largest and most prosperous cities of western Canada in a few years.

This company has a few choice locations left, which can be secured at $150.00 each.

In speaking of Vancouver recently, Earl Grey, governor-general of Canada, in a speech at the Canadian Club said: "It requires no inspired prophet to foretell the greatness of Vancouver. Vancouver is now the recognized gateway between the east and the west, the gateway through which the double stream of intercontinental commerce between the Orient and the West, and between Britain and the self-governing nations of New Zealand and Australia, will flow in ever-increasing volume until Vancouver shall become, perhaps, the first and most important port of all the world." (Loud applause.)

Vancouver is Canada's Pacific outlet, and has twelve steamship lines, also three transcontinental railways, and more coming as fast as they can build, is noted for its lumbering, fishing and mining, and is the pivot on which all foreign trade hinges. The Yukon, Saskatchewan and Alberta all contribute in the making of a wonderful city. The Liverpool of the Pacific and the illimitable city of western Canada. The property that this company are offering belongs to the Eastern Land Company, city, who have personally selected it after a thorough investigation. It lies in close proximity to a very large number of the leading industries of the city, general hospital, normal and high schools, and consequently is admirably situated for building purposes, and ere long will be worth several times its present selling price. Investing investors can get full particulars and examine maps, etc., by applying at the company's office.

Regarding Lloydminster, Saskatchewan, investments, perhaps extracts from a letter received from this town will be of interest: "At the present time there is a lot of railway talk here of the branch line into this town, through our property from the G. T. P. south of here, as a consequence the sales of real estate locally have been heavy. A party of G. T. P. engineers are in town at present and have been here for some days in connection with the proposed line. The lots we are selling in Lloydminster are quoted very low, and if the developments that are expected take place, an immediate advance of probably fifty per cent. will be in order. This property is within four hundred yards of the Bank of Commerce building, and within three blocks of a $10,000 school building, also several buildings have already been erected on this particular property." As the allotment we have for sale is small, it will be well for intending investors to get in touch with us at once.

Lloydminster is surrounded by an excellent agricultural country, and for that reason is bound to increase in population and general prosperity.

The Prince Albert lots that the North-Western Land & Investment Company are offering are very centrally situated, being but 550 yards from the centre of the city, and near land recently purchased by the provincial government. This city has already a number of railways entering it, and a number more are coming in a short time. A street car line is about to be built by the city, who believe in municipal ownership.

Prince Albert is destined to become a very large and important city, being situated on a direct line to Hudson Bay, the natural and cheapest outlet for grain in Canada. It is estimated that the saving is fifty per cent cheaper in favor of Hudson Bay than any other rival routes. Parliament has granted charters for eight different railroads, which include the Great Northern, "Jim Hill's" road, which when completed will be the most extensive throughout western Canada. All of these roads will enter Prince Albert, which means much for the prosperity of this enterprising city.

If you wish to share in the general prosperity of the great Northwest, the last West, get in touch with The North-Western Land & Investment Company, St. John (N. B.), Halifax (N. S.), Winnipeg (Can.).

HARRY HARRY, "DO" DOROTHY DEAN AND THEIR DOG SPOTS YORK

THE SMALL PICTURES REPEAT VARIOUS THINGS THEY SAY WHILE IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK CITY.

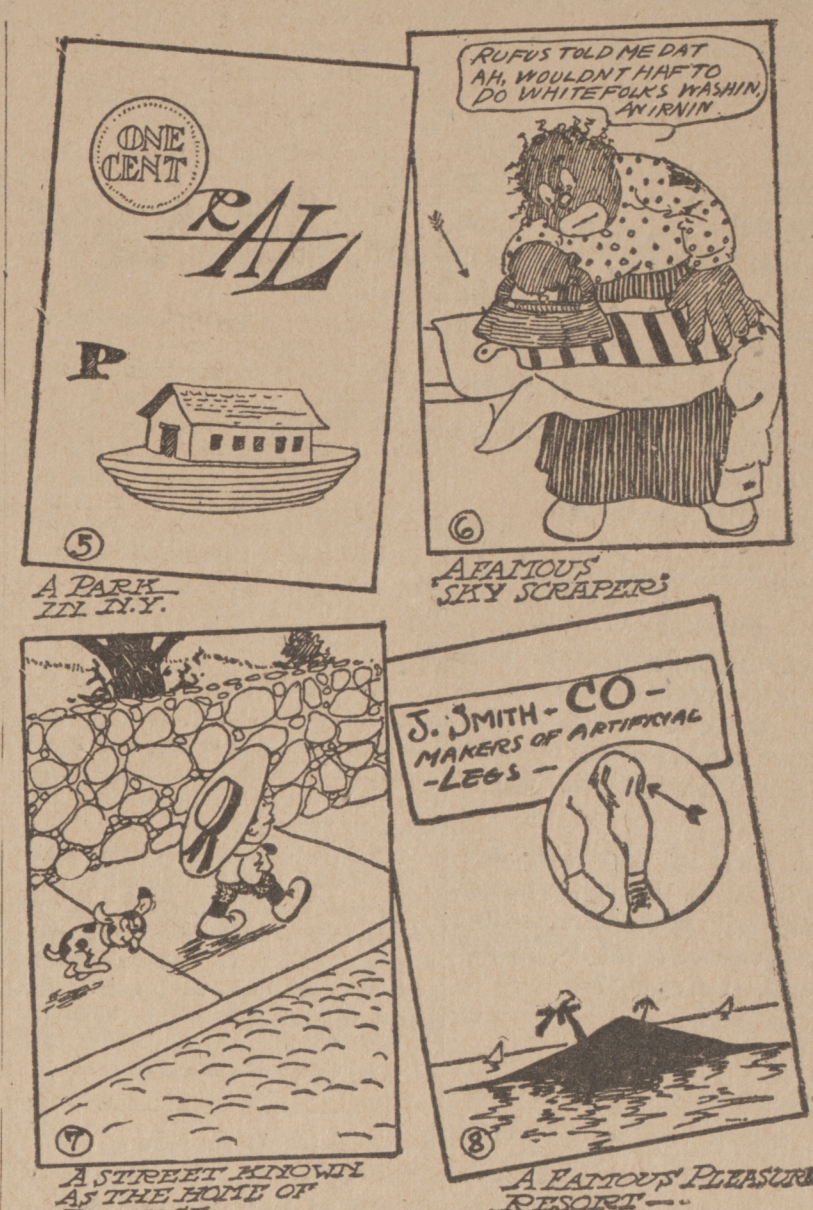

Dear Cousin Charley:

New York is a dandy place to have fun, but it certainly costs a lot of money to live here.

You never saw such tall buildings in your life. Why? The steeple of our church at home wouldn't reach a third of the way up some of them. One of the highest is called the "Flat-Iron" Building, because its foundation is shaped like a flat-iron. It is so narrow and high that it looks like a tall chimney. But the worst part about it is the wind that always blows around that corner. Gee! It's something fierce. One old fellow started to cross Fifth Avenue when a big wind hit him. He made a grab for his hat, but he wasn't soon enough, for off it went and his wig with it, both sailing down the street before the wind, with him after them. A messenger boy and a big fat policeman joined the chase, and Dorothy and I and Spots fell in behind. Pretty soon there was quite a crowd chasing that hat and wig. Some fellow said it reminded him of "Hair and Hounds." The messenger boy finally stopped the hat and Spots caught the hair—you know he's used to chasing rabbits.

We went out to Bronx Park to the "zoo," also to Central Park, where they have lots of animals and a big picture gallery. We also went out to the Statue of Liberty, which stands out in the harbor and is 200 or 300 feet high. I think it may be a thousand, though. We went clear up in the tower, and the statue, which is a woman, holds in her hand, I like the Hippodrome the best, though. It's just like a great big circus in an opera house. We went to one awfully scary place called the Eden Musee, where they have all the famous men—except Jim Jeffries, made up in wax, and down in the basement they have more scary things—just scare you green. We saw lots of other things that I won't have time to tell you about now, as I must close and help pack, as we sail for Europe tomorrow.

Your cousin,
HARRY LAFAWAY.

TENNYSON SMITH

His Meetings This Evening and Tomorrow—The Great Trial of Alcohol.

Tennyson Smith is to lecture again tonight in the York Theatre and will deal with some of the arguments against prohibition. The lecturer must be heard to be appreciated. The reports of his utterances can give no idea of the vivid pictures which he presents to his hearers and the dramatic representations of incidents which have occurred in the course of his lengthy experience in his native land and the world. On every occasion he has moved his audiences to tears by some incident, story, and the next moment has had them convulsed with laughter by relating some humorous story. At other times they have been held spell bound by his vivid description of some tragic occurrence, and anon moved to the greatest enthusiasm by one of his brilliant flights of eloquence. It is expected that the York Theatre will be packed to its utmost capacity as it has been on previous occasions.

Tomorrow, Sunday, in the afternoon, he will give an address to men only in the York Theatre at 3.45 and in the evening at 8.30 a general meeting will be held. The lecturer's subject being "The War between Heaven and Hell." Monday will be the last of the free meetings, and the campaign will be brought to a close on Tuesday, the 27th, inst., by "The Trial of Alcohol," which is considered the climax of the whole series. The proceedings take the form of a court of justice, with judge, counsel for prosecution and defence, witnesses, jury, etc. Tennyson Smith will, of course, take the position of prosecuting counsel, and the other parts will be taken by local gentlemen. The committee who have the arrangements in hand have already secured well known people to take part, but as the whole of the officials are not yet appointed, they will not be named until Monday. The tickets for the trial have already been selling rapidly and there is no doubt but that a great many people will attend the trial who do not attend the ordinary temperance lectures, and a crowded house may be expected.
