THE STOCK MARKET

New York Firm do not Believe Depression Will be Permanent

(Watson & Alpers, New York)

There is little doubt that the speculative situation has at last become sensible of the several adverse factors that have compelled notice in the last few of our letters. By increasing the attitude of conservatism there has been a lessening of the buying power and more dribbling of long stock on the market thereby giving the bear element better opportunity to succeed in drives at prices. Apprehension of tighter money, keener appreciation of the possibilities of trouble resulting from a labor contest in the coal regions, dissatisfaction with some recent price reductions in the metal lines, the influence of the first period of crop uncertainty (that relating to winter wheat) impressive at the paucity of "deal" announcements compared with the number of "deal" rumors, the closing out of speculative accounts by many rich men about to take their mid-winter vacations, political agitations and "investigation" talk, dislike of so many new flotations of capital issues and a foreign position held in check by questions as to the Moroccan negotiations—these were the factors, some real and some exaggerated, which have put Wall Street temporarily in a reactionary mood. There has been a perceptible oozing away of bull enthusiasm, and many critics of the market are seriously considering whether "the bull campaign is over," so that we are in danger of running into a state of pessimism as unwise as would be too reckless confidence.

We commend to consideration the full significance of the underlying strength of high prices, namely, the persistence and the growth of values indicated in the broad facts of railroad and industrial earnings. The present fabric of prices is the outgrowth of actual accumulation of securities by the strongest capitalistic interests, which have witnessed the real evidences of prosperity and have had faith in the country's future. We have yet failed to see any wide speculative furore, eager to absorb securities so held at any quotations that could be created for them. Consequently we must conclude that there has been no extensive distribution that would place stocks in weaker hands and render the lenders of the money world indifferent to the future course of the market besides which, so long as the returns on investments already made continue on the present scale, with every prospect of an increase, certainly for some time to come, there has been no inducement to a large liquidation of strong holdings. Temporary irregularity and weakness may characterize the market until some of the situation's uncertainties are cleared away, but we see no reason to believe that sound properties will remain permanently depressed.

Canadian Pacific Railway Company's traffic earnings:

Week Feb. 14 1906	$1,088,000
Week Feb. 14, 1905	706,000
Increase	$ 302,000

Grand Trunk Railway System's earnings from Feb. 8 to 14:

1906	$628,018
1905	530,321
Increase	$ 97,697

Sales for last week.

(Montreal Star)

The week has witnessed a lull in the pronounced activity that prevailed on the local stock market, the stock transactions aggregating only 46,576 shares, as compared with 91,579 shares last week. The bond transactions, however, were much heavier, amounting to $537,000, as against $238,000 last week. The bond transactions were swelled by the heavy buying of Dominion Iron bonds, of which no less than $456,000 were placed.

BOOM IN COTTON INDUSTRY

The boom in the Canadian cotton industry continues, and the Montreal Cotton Company is applying all over the world for weavers, it being stated on Monday that it was now trying Denmark.

The company is now said to have about 6,000 looms in operation.

THE MARKET REACTION

Decline Proceeded far Enough?--Some Reasons for This View---Is There a Bear Campaign?

(From the New York Sun.)

The fall in stock market values that has taken place in the course of barely thirty days past has been conducted so gradually, up to last week, as to blind many observers of the market to the very considerable extent of the decline. The average price of stocks is now, according to various methods of computation—these largely depending on the securities taken as representative stocks in the market—from seven to ten points lower than it was at the beginning of the period; and in certain stocks such as Reading, Colorado Fuel and Iron and others, in which speculation has been lively, declines running from fifteen to thirty points have been recorded. This, it must be recognized, is a very severe fall, and while it justifies the words of caution regarding the market generally spoken since the beginning of the year by the great majority of experienced observers, it at least suggests that values have fallen to a point where speculative "bearishness," if now indulged in, may very likely be overdone.

The names of several great professional speculators are now referred to in the financial district as those who are leaders of a vigorous campaign for lower prices. In long acquaintance with Wall street has proved anything it is that it is often unsafe for the rank and file of the outside public to follow speculative captains of this sort, and it is perhaps worth remembering that all these gentlemen expressed themselves as profoundly confident a month ago that there was "no top" to the market. It certainly seems that unless there is greater structural weakness in the market than has been suspected even by those who have for some time been inclined to consider buying of stocks as an hazardous operation, the present decline in the market has proceeded about as far as it logically should.

It is certain, for one thing, that holdings of stocks by the general public in Wall street are now materially reduced, that conservatism has been the rule lately with all the leading Wall street commission firms, and that the great majority of these houses appear to have laid in such a supply of time money as to pretty well fortify them against the temporary period of monetary stringency that often prevails about the first of April. Save for the slight let up in the volume of new orders placed in manufacturing and wholesale establishments, as is almost invariably noticeable at this time of the year and is hence a wholy normal occurrence, there has been absolutely nothing to prove that business throughout the country is in any less healthy and flourishing state than it has been for a year back; and that the brilliant record of our foreign trade in recent months is not being impaired was shown in Saturday's statement issued by the Bureau of Statistics of an increase in our excess of exports for January of $64,072,712, the largest figures of the kind exhibited since 1901. The country's foreign trade in January was, indeed, the largest for the first month of the year ever seen. This being the case, it would be very surprising if events of the near future should not attest that it is possible for the stock market to become over-sold as well as over-bought.

TRADITIONAL SPRING BOOM

Sanguine commentators are now looking forward to the traditional spring boom.

A very prominent Stock Exchange house writes a Montreal client:

"In so far as the volume of speculation is concerned, we are not likely for some time to have a recurrence of the recent heavy operating on the part of leading manipulators or pool managers. The January boom having culminated, the public will wait for what is known as the spring rise, and dullness, if not lethargy, will obtain for some time to come."

THE TURF

LEXINGTON, Ky. Sunday.—John E. Madden has purchased of F. M. Whitaker of Cincinnati, the young trotting stallion Prince Selma, 2.10 3-4, by Bow Bells, dam Cora F., by Kentucky Prince. Besides his thoroughbred interests Madden also maintains a few trotting brood mares, and the young stallion will head the stud. He was purchased to replaced the stallion Abbell, 2.23, that broke a leg and had to be destroyed. Madden paid $10,000 at auction for Adbell, and he headed the list of winning sires on the trotting turf last year.

HOCKEY

Tonight the U. N. B. and Mount Allison intercollegiate will play the deciding game in this city at the Queen's Rink. The teams are evenly matched and the game should be a swift one. The winners of tonight's game will challenge the intercollegiate champions of Nova Scotia.

Yesterday afternoon on the open air rink, West End, the C. P. R. officials and wharf staffs played a grand game of hockey which was hot from start to finish. The checking of the wharf team was simply immense, but the pencil pushers from the offices made them hustle to win. The score stood at the end of the game 3 to 2 in favor of the wharf staff. The game was very interesting for the spectators who turned out in large numbers to witness the fun. Less than a million dollars changed hands. The office staff will ask for reveng--e!

Fredericton, 5; St. Stephen, 1.

Fredericton, N. B., Feb. 20—(Special)—The St. Stephen hockey team was badly beaten by Fredericton in a league match at Arctic rink this evening, the score standing: Fredericton, 5; St. Stephen, 1. The game was not a fast one and Fredericton had clearly the best of it all through. The visitors were blanked in the first half, while Staples, Morrison and Malloy ran in four goals for Fredericton. Each team scored one in the second half, McGarritty shooting St. Stephen's only goal. For the home team, Staples played a rattling good game, while Lindsay and Reed did good work for the visitors, the latter putting up an exceptionally strong game for St. Stephen. James Tibbitts refereed in an efficient manner. The line up was as follows:

St. Stephen.	Fredericton.

Wanderers, 4; Windsor, 2.

Halifax, N. S., Feb. 20—(Special)—In a league hockey match in Halifax tonight the Wanderers defeated Windsor by a score of 4 to 2.

New Glasgow, 3; Amherst, 2.

Truro, Feb. 20—(Special)—The second play off game tonight between the Amherst Ramblers and the New Glasgow hockey team was won by the New Glasgow players after an exceedingly close finish by a score of 3 to 2.

Moncton, 7; Sackville, 0.

Moncton, N. B., Feb. 20—(Special)—The Moncton hockey team's record to date is nine games with no score against them. The champions of last year tried hard to mar Moncton's clean sheet but they were as far from it as any team playing here this winter. The net result of the game was Moncton seven and Saskville nothing. Sackville was weaker than usual, Laidlaw being ill and unable to play, his place at cover point being taken by Capt. Norman. For five or ten minutes after play started Sackville made a good showing and the crowd looked for a close contest. It took Moncton fifteen minutes to score the first goal and after that Sackville resorted to defence tactics. Before the first half ended Moncton had scored three goals, all being shot by Crockett. The second half started slow, both teams taking things easy. Moncton shot four goals in rapid succession and the Sackville team was demoralized. Cushing had two goals and Lahey two. Fred Delahunt was referee. The line up:

Moncton.	Sackville.

Mr. Holland, who died after a short illness, was 73 years of age. He was among the first of those selected under the Dominion Pilotage Act of 1875, but had been a pilot by occupation long before that time, his term of service in this capacity having extended over a period of fifty years. The deceased was a prominent figure in local acquatic life of thirty years ago. He was the trainer of the crew which rowed in Philadelphia at the time of the Centennial exhibition, and the crew which took part in the great acquatic carnival in Halifax, when English, American and other crews were competitors. Mr. Holland is survived by his wife, three sons and two daughters.—Halifax Mail, Feb. 20.

CURED HIS WIFE OF LA GRIPPE

Quebec Man tells how the Great Consumptive Preventative Was an all-round Benefit

"My wife took La Grippe when she was in Ottawa," says R. N. Dafoe, of Northfield Farm, Que., in an interview. "She got a bottle of Psychine and after using it for a few days she was quite well. I took a cold and am using it and am getting all right. I think Psychine is one of the best tonics on the market today."

There you have the whole matter in a nutshell. La Grippe and colds are among the forerunners of consumption.

This man had one, his wife had the other. Psychine not only cured both, but it built them up so that their bodies are strong enough to resist disease. All seeds of consumption are killed by

THE cost of living is an important thing in most homes. You may have to figure closely in these matters. A little extra on a barrel of flour may look big to you.

But there is a difference between spending money wisely and spending it foolishly.

Sometimes it is economy to spend instead of to save. It is in the case of Royal Household Flour.

Those few extra cents a week, that give you

An Avalanche of Bargains

For the rest of the week, buyers at the Robertson & Trites Bankrupt Sale of Dry Goods will get some great bargains. ANOTHER CUT HAS BEEN MADE IN THE PRICES. Every article must be sold, and as the time of closing up the business draws near, the goods must be disposed of. No housekeeper should allow this chance to slip by without procuring a goodly share of every day necessities at prices that can never be duplicated again. Ribbons, Laces, Hamburgs, Satins, Velvets, Gloves, Stockings, etc. Who does not need such articles, especially when they can be had for a fraction of what they are worth.
