SHIPPING MEN UP IN ARMS

Over British Board of Trade Ruling That Trades Union Officials May Interfere in Wages Dispute.

The new British board of trade instructions permitting the interference of an official of a trades union in wages disputes between a master and his seamen, which in the past have been arbitrated upon by the superintendent of the mercantile marine office alone, have excited widespread indignation in shipping circles. The Merchant Service Guild, as representing over 10,000 captains and officers of merchant ships, have protested most strongly against this proposal, holding that there is the less necessity for such a step owing to the fact that in the past the superintendents of mercantile marine offices have usually been undully biased in favor of the seamen.

It now appears that the local marine board of Aberdeen have adopted a resolution declining, under the authority given to them under the Merchant Shipping Act, to authorise its being carried out at that port.

The London local marine board have also resolved to acquaint the president of the board of trade that the matter is within the statutory jurisdiction of the local marine boards and not of the board of trade.

In forwarding a copy of the resolution of the Aberdeen local marine board to the other local marine boards in the United Kingdom, urging them to take similar action, the guild regard the proposal of the board of trade as a most mischievous and dangerous one. They state that there is already a woeful amount of insubordination in the merchant service, which is not only inimical to the interests of the merchant service, but to the safety of life at sea. Unless some very firm action is taken by the different authorities the guild is of opinion that more deplorable results are certain to arise. They trust that they may have the invaluable cooperation of the other local marine boards in checkmating what they characterise as another step in the direction of stopping any semblance of discipline at sea, without which it will be impossible to run our ships in the future.

It may be added that the local marine boards of Cardiff and Newcastle-on-Tyne have adopted resolutions similar to that of the Aberdeen board.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE MEETINGS

The local government agricultural department has issued a list of farmers' institute meetings to be held from Sept. 21 to Nov. 6. The speakers are Dr. J. Standish, of Walkerton (Ont.); C. M. MacRae, Ottawa; Duncan Anderson, Orillia (Ont.); L. C. Daigle, Moncton; C. F. Avard, Havelock, and F. E. Sharp, of Midland, Kings county. These meetings will be held at various points all over the province and the subjects treated of will be such as must interest the agriculturist.

They will include the proper care and cultivation of the soil, the raising and care of live stock, the care of dairy cows, and the preparation of milk for the creamery and cheese factory, the bacon industry and raising poultry for profit. A meeting will be held in the school house at Silver Falls on Oct. 3, at which the speakers will be Duncan Anderson and C. F. Alward.

Deceased was a very promising theological student of Wolfville College and was sent to the above named place to preach during the summer vacation and was just ready to leave for college when he was stricken with fever. Arrested on Suspicion

Toronto, Sept. 24.—The Bank of Commerce at Kinistino (Sask.), was robbed of $3,000 the other day under sensational circumstances. Accountant Hickman told of coming down stairs and being fired on by the thief who was working in the bank and who got away with the money. Had $10,000 on Life

Ottawa, Sept. 24—The Equitable Life, in which Mrs. A. Beckett, supposed to be a victim of the Gilmour Hotel fire, carried $10,000 assurance, is waiting for the result of the inquest before paying the amount of the policy. Messrs. Caverhill & Kissock, of Montreal, wholesale milliners, are part beneficiaries and Charles W. Mitchell, of Ottawa, now on his way to England, is the other beneficiary.

Thomas Gorman took his seat for the first time yesterday afternoon as chairman of the St. John board of health. There was a full attendance of the members and each of them warmly welcomed their new chief. Only routine matters were dealt with. The new regulations governing the sale of milk in the city will be discussed at the next meeting.

Arthur C. MacNeill is spending a two weeks' vacation at his home, Cliff street.
