of carefully invested funds we are giving our depositors a security from which the element of risk is eliminated. That this is appreciated is evidenced by the fact that during 1905 the funds placed with the Corporation for investment increased from

J. S. BACHE & CO. LETTER

NEW YORK, July 20.—Although security prices show indications of recovery from the declines of the past fortnight, speculative commission business does not reflect any increase in outside interest. The public is indifferent. In fact, there has rarely been a time when the markets of the world have displayed such apathetic conditions. In Europe the shadow of the Russian Revolution is the specter haunting the Bourses in thrall. We on this side of the water may have bumper harvests this fall, our increased exports may create enormous credits abroad, but notwithstanding these factors, the still, small voice of the Russian peasant crying for freedom and liberty will have a greater influence on security prices in this market and all the world over. The assumption of Russia from despotism will no doubt be attended with more bloodshed and violence, and the large foreign debt of the Russian nation be in constant danger from repudiation. This is the menace against European and American security values, and this is what the speculative and investment holder has to fear at the present time. Aside from this fact, the situation has not changed. Speculative dullness is proceeding hand in hand with industrial activity.

The declaration of the July dividend on copper on Thursday did much to clear the speculative atmosphere, inasmuch as it removed an uncertainty hanging over the market. We are inclined to believe that it also makes clear the speculative attitude toward the stock market on the part of the Standard Oil party. Heretofore it has been felt in many quarters that this party has been against the market and were perfectly willing to see prices considerably lower. It seems to us that in the declaration of the regular dividend on copper that they see nothing unfavorable in the immediate future to warrant the lowering of the present dividend.

The market has had a fair proportion of an advance since the break of last week. This advance in a way has been due to the covering of light-weighted shorts. Undoubtedly there was good support on the declines on the part of the banking interests, but we know such support is more or less temporary and the stocks as bought are usually for sale on any slight advance.

The government crop report indicates splendid conditions and every favorable prospect for an abundant harvest. This means heavy withdrawals of currency in the fall for crop moving purposes.

These counter current influences cause a variable market, with sharp rallies followed by equally sharp declines. The speculator and investor should exercise caution about making commitments at the present time.

Yours truly,
J. S. BACHE & CO.

AT THE OPERA HOUSE

The music of "The Harvard Girl," the side splitting college musical comedy, is simply bewitching and all the songs and choruses have been composed especially for this original production. The play is a genuine comedy in the race of humor, by a company of the wittiest artists ever collected in one company, every song is a gem by the best song writers, and the melodies cling to us with a pleasant remembrance than any other songs for years. The audience is figuratively buried in an avalanche of wit and beautiful melody, such as has never been heard from the stage before. No expense has been spared to make this play the perfection of artistic work for others to copy. The scenery is a gem that can be produced by our best scenic artists and the fun and music loving public is promised an entertainment unequalled by any other company this season. The play introduces a host of pretty and shapely young women in fetching costumes, funny comedians and is full of novelties. The play will be seen at the Opera House tonight.

A RUDE AWAKENING

Samuel Woods and Family
Aroused From Sleep to Find Home Afire.

Samuel Woods' boot and shoe establishment at 37 Paradise Row was badly damaged by fire and water a little before midnight on Saturday.

The family had retired, when the ringing of the door-bell awakened them to the fact that smoke was pouring from the shop, which is directly underneath the flat in which they live.

The north end fire department responded, and when the flames were extinguished it was found that considerable damage had been done to the shop and its effects.

The building is owned by George Brown of Hampton, who has enough insurance to meet the loss.

OAK HALL SCOVIL BROS. Ltd.

St. John, N. B.

Many young persons, after leaving the high school or 8th grade are willing to take positions with the hope of advancement at a salary of two dollars per week—others enter the Currie Business University, Ltd., purchase a course of six to ninety dollars, entitling them to the unlimited benefits of the employment bureau, with no limit placed on time for completing, and in six to nine months are placed in positions paying from $300 to $600 per year.

Question—Would it not pay to borrow the money at 12 per cent interest in order to secure the training and benefits above mentioned? remembering that only one-half the tuition fee is required in advance and balance not payable until position is secured. Take last week's happenings as an example—One young man, after spending six months at the combined course, secured a city position at $400 per year. Another after nine months' training is offered over $600 salary. A young lady with six months' training secured position at $300 per year. Another, after one year's training, takes a position at $500 per year. Many positions are secured through the Currie Business University employment bureau by its experienced pupils at salaries of a thousand to fifteen hundred per year, allowing that the efforts of this institution for the advancement of its pupils, old and new, never relax.
