Food for Starving Crew; Unusual Incident in Mid-Atlantic

From The Graphic

A correspondent of the London Graphic on board H. M. S. Cumberland writes: "While we were cruising by ourselves during the recent manoeuvres, we came across a sailing vessel, which we made out to be Portugese, and as we approached she signaled to us that she had no food left on board, and asked for immediate assistance. We stopped when we got quite close to her, and she lowered her little cockleshell of a boat with four men in her, who, after some difficulty, managed to row her to our sea gangway. The man in the stern sheets came on board and explained in broken English that the ship had left St. Thomas Island, in the West Indies, seventy-two days ago, with a cargo of beans and sugar for Lisbon. They had been driven south by adverse winds, and he said that for the last month they had been in practically the same place we found them, which was quite out of the regular track of ships of any sort. They had run out of their provisions for weeks, and had to live on the beans. One of the crew had died from scurvy. The port they eventually hoped to arrive at was Lisbon. The boat's crew certainly looked very emaciated and none too hearty, but they revived considerably when we lowered all kinds of provisions into their boat. Flour, potatoes, biscuits, preserved meats and other things were rapidly stowed, and they pushed off midst showers of tobacco cigarettes and oranges from the sympathetic sailors, who were crowding at the gangway. The ship signalled her best thanks, and we proceeded.

FUND IN ST. JOHN GROWS WELL; CALL FROM TELEGRAPHERS

The fund being subscribed in this city for the relief of the San Francisco sufferers continues to grow with gratifying rapidity. The Telegraph and Times fund now amounts to more than $4,200. Contributions outside of this will swell the amount subscribed here to date to about $4,500.

The following letter received last night by The Telegraph is self-explanatory:—

To the Daily Telegraph, St. John:
In the Methodist church, Gibson, on Sunday evening, Rev. James Crisp preached a sermon on the San Francisco earthquake and fire, and made an appeal in behalf of the sufferers. Mr. Crisp said many thousands were without a house of prayer and without homes and many without a shelter.
The collection, which amounted to $10, was forwarded to The Telegraph Company to be published in The Telegraph subscription list.
Enclosed please find P. O. order for $10 for San Francisco sufferers, and publish said amount in Telegraph. Methodist church, Gibson, collection, $10."
Gibson, April 23, 1906.

W. J. Mahoney, territorial deputy, Knights of Columbus, received last night from Supreme Knight Ed. L. Hearn, New Haven, a telegram instructing him to notify the grand knights of councils in his jurisdiction of a general call upon members of the order for aid for the San Francisco sufferers. There are 1,600 Knights of Columbus in the stricken city. St. John Council has already subscribed $100 to the fund. Supreme Knight Hearn asks that contributions be sent to the national headquarters of the order, New Haven.

Oakland, Cal., April 20, 1906.
Will C. Long, Editor Commercial Telegraphers' Journal, Chicago:—

Thirty per cent. Postal force accounted for. Others may be safe, can't say yet. Can't write, working day and night. Nothing exaggerated, veritable hell. San Francisco wiped out. Address everything Postal, Oakland. With few exceptions everyone of us lost everything. Thanks for assurance. Will write when can.

HARRY TOMPKINS.

The foregoing telegram would indicate that the telegraphers of San Francisco were among the most unfortunate of the sufferers in the recent catastrophe. Remaining at their desks, in a vain endeavor to get tidings of the calamity that had befallen their city, to the outside world, these heroic knights of the key were driven from their office only to find their homes ruined and families and friends scattered.

Many are undoubtedly killed or injured, and there will be much need of aid. In cooperation with the telegraphers throughout Canada and the United States, the C. P. R. operators of this city have started a subscription in aid of the sufferers.

This is a case that calls for immediate and heroic action, and they trust they shall have the help and co-operation of their fellow telegraphers throughout the province.

Subscriptions addressed to F. C. Colborne, C. P. R. Telegraph Office, St. John (N. B.) will be gratefully received and forwarded to the needy ones in San Francisco.

Judge Willrich, the United States consul, received yesterday $25 from Waterbury & Rising for the San Francisco sufferers.

HAPPY CELEBRATION OF ST. GEORGE'S DAY

St. George's Society celebrated the festival of their patron saint by a conversazione in York Theatre last evening. A large and fashionable company were assembled and after speeches appropriate to the occasion, dancing and supper brought a most successful gathering to a close.

The assembly rooms were gaily and tastefully festooned with Union Jacks and bunting, and the supper room, under the direction of Mrs. J. R. Armstrong and the members of the managing committee, presented a very pretty appearance, the tables being brightly decorated with red and white flowers. A well balanced orchestra, under the leadership of C. F. Jones, were responsible for the music. Several well known singers added to the enjoyment of those present.

Several Addresses.

When the company had assembled in the large dancing room, Col. J. Russell Armstrong, the president of the society, addressed a few words of hearty welcome and referred briefly to the history of the local branch of the society, which was celebrating, he said, its 105th year. He spoke also of the charitable work by means of which many Englishmen in need had been assisted, and instanced the last three months during which fifty people, mostly strangers, had been helped on their way. In conclusion he referred to the love the members of the society felt for the institution and the pride they felt in the years they had lived under the banner —the emblem of the English race crushing under foot the dragon of superstition. Having in a few well chosen words expressed regret that B. R. Macaulay, the president of St. Andrew's Society, was unavoidably absent, Colonel Armstrong called on the vice-president, Dr. McIntosh.

Dr. McIntosh referred to the amicable relations which had always existed between the societies, and in speaking of the amount of assistance extended, said if ever there were a time when charity should go forth it was at the present when so many were coming among them seeking a new country. He wished the president a prosperous year, and for the society the best it had ever had.

H. Russell Sturdee read telegrams of greeting from St. George's Societies in Toronto, Quebec, Montreal, Halifax, New York and London. The last named ran: "Good wishes from the old home," and was greeted with applause.

Miss Sutherland then sang Sweet Thoughts of Home, and responded to a hearty encore.

George V. McInerney, in an eloquent address, spoke of the occasion as one on which some ideal might be evolved. It seemed that the St. George's Society of St. John, as well as those the world over, would do well on such an anniversary to tell the story of the wonderful evolution in the nation's history. Scenes such as the signing of the great charter at Runnymede, down to the great Valhalla and Pantheon, where lay the immortal great ones of the nation, might be introduced to show the ideal to which he referred. Much good, the speaker said, was accomplished by such gatherings as the present; it brought them together to see important things in one light. The different nationalities which went to make up their young country must be welded into one people and be imbued with the idea of its upbuilding. In conclusion, Mr. McInerney spoke of his pleasure at being present and referred to the society's splendid record of charity and good deeds well done, and his conviction that St. George's Society would always do credit to itself and the country.

D. B. Pidgeon sang In Days of Old, from Iolanthe, and in response to an encore added a verse about "King Edward's days," which was heartily applauded.

Judge Willrich Thanks St. John People.

The president then called upon Judge Willrich, the United States consul, who spoke feelingly of the terrible calamity in San Francisco. He had been busy himself, he said, in his humble way in raising funds to assist the sufferers, and was delighted with the sympathy shown. He was glad to take the first opportunity to thank the people of St. John for their open-handed liberality on behalf of the stricken people. During the week several entertainments were being organized for the good cause, and he hoped that a large amount would be realized. For himself, he felt he need not say how he appreciated the welcome that had been extended to him. He seemed doubly welcome because on his arrival as a stranger five months before, he received his first welcome from St. George's Society, and the impression would long remain with him. The judge's suggestion that although he did not claim to be much of a singer, he would do the best he knew how, was received with laughter and applause, and he gave, with much artistic feeling, O Sublime Sweet Evening Star, from Tannhauser.

H. M. Blight, of Toronto, who was in excellent voice, sang The Young Brigade, and as an encore This New Land of Ours.

Canon Richardson, the chaplain of the society, gave a witty address, containing several stories which convulsed his audience. He said that as he was an Englishman, although his hearers might not know it, he claimed he was better qualified to speak than a Scotchman, Irishman, or Canadian. He briefly referred to three points in an Englishman's character: First, strongmindedness or what an Irishman might term his obstinacy (laughter) was one of the strongest factors in an Englishman's make up. If he made up his mind to get a thing he got it unless a Scotchman was there first (renewed laughter). The second point was an Englishman's dislike of taking chances. He was fond of a sure thing, and in this respect was unlike his brother in the States who was never so happy as when taking chances in Wall street or elsewhere.

The Englishman was also open-handed. It was hard to make an Englishman grow rich. Unlike the Scotchman, he did not take a grasp of the material side of life. Canon Richardson concluded his remarks with a story which was an apt illustration of the last point, and amid much laughter resumed his seat.

Miss Sutherland sang The Sweetest Flower That Blows, and was followed by G. S. Mayes, who gave, with fine effect, The Death of Nelson. Mr. Blight also sang The Powder Monkey, and the Armorer's Song, from Robin Hood.

A Happy Dance.

The large hall was then cleared and dancing was resorted to. The following programme of dances and music was carried out: Valse, Zeona; lancers, Good Old Times; two step, College Life; valse, Will-o'-the-Wisp; militaire, Spider's Web; valse, Alberta; two step, Man Behind the Guns; valse, No Place Like Home; valse, Loveland; two step, Where the Old Flag Waves; valse, In the Valley Where the Blue Bird Sings; valse, Home Sweet Home.

An informal but recherche supper was provided and was partaken of in the intervals of dancing, which was kept up until about 1 a. m., when a most enjoyable social function was brought to a close.

Sons of England Celebrate.

The St. George's day entertainment given last night in Foresters' hall by Marlborough Lodge, No. 207, Sons of England, was a great success from every point of view. The hall was completely filled and the large audience showed much appreciation of the programme which had been provided for their entertainment. All of the performers had to respond to hearty encores. J. T. Pipes was in the chair.

Rule Brittania was sung by the audience, after which the following took part in the entertainment of the evening: M. F. Fliffe, R. E. Coupe, George Homer, F. J. Bayfield, Miss Nellie Jackson, Miss Jellicoe, Henry Homer, Mrs. George C. Metcalfe, Alfred Homer, C. Ledford and Thomas Bennett. J. H. Walker delivered a brief speech on St. George's Day. The serving of coffee, cake and fruit, and singing of the national anthem brought a very enjoyable evening to a close.

DIED IN NEW YORK

Henry Cullinan and His Sister, Formerly of St. John, Have Passed Away.

Within the past four weeks two former St. John residents, brother and sister, died in New York. Henry Cullinan passed away on April 10, dying of pneumonia, while on March 24, his sister, Miss Anne Cullinan, died after a stroke of paralysis.

Mr. and Miss Cullinan were well along in years, the former being about 70 and the latter 80 years of age. They leave one sister, Miss Elizabeth Cullinan, Stanley street. Their parents were the late Lauwrence and Ellen Cullinan.

Mr. Cullinan left this city in 1849, going first to Liverpool in the sailing ship Brant. He was there but a short time and went to New York where he has since resided, his sister joining him a few years after his arrival there. Rev. F. L. Carney, of Fredericton, and James L. Carney, banker and broker of New York, are nephews of deceased. The late Mr. Cullinan was a superintendent of the Western Union Telegraph Company in New York.

The steamer Majestic returned to Indiantown Monday, having gone up river as far as Upper Sheffield, about twenty miles below Fredericton. The river, down as far as John O. Vanwart's is reported to be full of logs, and there is much activity in securing them. Near Vanwart's there is a crew of about fifty at work. The recent heavy rain, it is said, will have the effect of loosening up the last of the ice along the river and tributaries.

Geo. F. Hawkhurst and family are at present in Winnipeg. It is understood that they intend to permanetly settle in the west. Mr. Hawkhurst was formerly in the blacksmith business in Main street here.

The Question of Nourishment

to be derived from bread is most important, and should not be overlooked by any breadeater.

There is, however, a vast difference in the nourishing properties of bread, which varies according to the flour from which it is made. It is admitted that the Manitoba Hard Wheat from which "FIVE ROSES" FLOUR is made contains more gluten and phosphates than any grain grown on this continent; and as "FIVE ROSES" is made only from the pick of the harvest, by a process which retains the nutritive properties of the grain unimpaired, bread made from it consequently contains more nutriment in more easily digestible form than that made with ordinary brands.

A STRONG HEART AND STEADY NERVES

Very important it is in this age of competition to have a clear cool head, a strong heart and steady nerves.

Too much rush and bustle, work and worry, fall to the lot of the average business man—his heart and nerve system will not stand it—he gives them too much work to do. Women also are doing the same thing attending to their household duties and looking after their social obligations. The constant strain under which they have to continue day in and day out, the irregularities of habits and loss of rest will soon shatter the strongest system. Before long you become nervous, starting at the least sudden sound, the heart flutters and palpitates, specks float before the eyes, the pulse becomes weak and irregular, you have faint and dizzy spells, lack of self-confidence, rush of blood to the head, irritability of temper, shortness of breath, starting in sleep, sensation of pins and needles, sleeplessness, restlessness and finally physical breakdown or nervous prostration.

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

are the remedy you require to restore your strength and health. Their extraordinary curative power manifests itself immediately they are taken. Through the medium of the nervous system they impart a strengthening and restorative influence to every organ and tissue of the body. Many have been cured, among them being Mr. Ray V. Coomier, Wellington, P.E.I., Mrs. E. Kilmer, Humberstone, Ont., Mrs. C. McDonald, Portage la Prairie, Man., Mr. Walter Cleveland, Bayswater, N.S., Mrs. Owen Martin, Alma, N.B. and thousands of others.

The price of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills is 50 cts. per box or 3 boxes for $1.25. Can be procured at all drug and general stores, or will be sent on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Bird, of Sydney, were registered at the Royal yesterday.
