NICE FAMILY ROW
IN SOUTH AMERICA

Salvador and Guatemala Have Already Had Hard Battles---So Far About 3,500 Men Have Been Killed and 5,000 Wounded --- Gen. Regalado Has Been Assassinated.

MEXICO CITY, July 17.—News was received yesterday that a rumor was current in Salvador that General Regalado was assassinated by two men who formed part of his escort, and that these men were Guatemalans employed for the purpose. Col. Pinedo's forces, which entered Guatemala via British Honduras, are now said to be in the mountains south of the Mexican state of Tabasco.

The following dispatch was received yesterday from San Salvador:

"Never before in the history of Central America has there been such hard fighting. Salvador, as a government, was not prepared and Guatemala had about three men to one. Notwithstanding the great odds, Salvador won every battle. The loss on both sides was great, Salvador losing about 700 killed and 1,100 wounded and Guatemala about 2,800 killed and 3,900 wounded. General Regalado when killed, was over a mile in advance. He had fifty faked officers and men with him. Every one was killed, and after the rear troops came up and drove the Guatemalan troops forward, they found over 600 dead Guatemalan soldiers, including several officers. In that battle, Salvador captured the enemy's artillery. Then Guatemala asked for peace. Salvador refused, but twelve hours later a telegram from President Roosevelt changed conditions."

When this dispatch was filed, the two armies were facing each other and resting on their arms awaiting the result of President Roosevelt's telegram.

PARIS, July 17.—The consul of Salvador has communicated a note to the press confirming the announcement of the death of General Regalado, leader of the revolutionary forces which invaded Guatemala from Salvador and adding that peace is on the point of being arranged through the intervention of President Roosevelt and President Diaz.

STANDARD OIL
CO. CORNERED

Attorney General of Ohio
Thinks He Can At Last
Bring Company to its Knees

CLEVELAND, O., July 17.—The Plain Dealer today says:

"Having his opinion upon the testimony already submitted to the federal grand jury in this district, Attorney General Moody believes that the government has at last secured the evidence which will lead to bringing the Standard Oil to its knees."

"The return of District Attorney Sullivan this morning from an all day conference with the attorney general yesterday at New York, will mark a complete change in the plans of the government in connection with the fight to stamp out trade discrimination by the gigantic corporation."

"The changes in plans include a complete reversal regarding M. J. Grammer, vice-president of the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Railroad. Grammer will not be indicted in this or any other federal district. Instead he will be asked to assist the government in forging a chain of evidence about the necks of some of the biggest Standard Oil Company officials in the country."

"Acting upon the orders of District Attorney Sullivan, Assistant District Attorney Garry late yesterday afternoon issued another subpoena for the appearance of Grammer before the grand jury this morning. Grammer, who happened to be in the city yesterday, was immediately served with the subpoena by Deputy District Marshal Fanning. He seemed pleased with the turn of events, which makes it certain that he is not to be made the scapegoat for violations of the law on the part of others."

"The switch on the part of the government in finally deciding to summon Grammer as a witness is explained by the statement made yesterday that the single desire of the department of justice at present was to get at the Standard Oil Company."

"A telegram from District Attorney Sullivan said that nothing was to be left undone to accomplish their purpose. The Attorney General is firmly of the opinion that indictments can be secured here and District Attorney Sullivan will resume work with the grand jury today with this end in view."

HERRMANN VISITS THE COUNTRY MARKET AND MAKES FUN FOR CROWD

Herrmann the Great, the magician who is showing at the Opera House, paid a visit to the country market this morning and astonished the natives.

For a time all went well and coins were produced from the eggs, flower boxes and the pockets of the merchants, and the people in the big building were enjoying the show immensely when suddenly the "arm of the law" in the shape of Clerk Dunham swooped down upon the magician and promptly ordered him to move on. Naturally Herrmann resented the interference as he was not engaged in any wrong-doing and he remonstrated with the irate clerk, but to no effect. Clerk Dunham's orders were to "skidoo."

The magician was nettled to account for the "market boss'" attitude, unless it was on account of the large following that were anxious to see the clever sleight-of-hand feat he performed, but he politely acquiesced to the clerk's orders as far as moving on was concerned but he completed his tour of the building. Some of the onlookers expressed themselves about the interference in no uncertain terms.

Herrmann on entering the market marked that it looked a likely place in which to find money, he approached a group of outcasts and extracted a number of silver half dollars from the pocket of one of them. A pack of cards was removed from another's inside pocket, greatly to the wonderment of the crowd, and while one fellow was looking on with wide open eyes, the magician reached out quickly and extracted an egg from his nose, then breaking it with his cane he extracted a silver quarter.

A well-known stall owner who was standing by was telling a friend who had just arrived on the scene what was going on when Herrmann reached out and seizing his straw hat he turned it upside down disclosing a number of silver coins; another handful of coins was taken from the surprised dealer's bald head and he went away kicking himself that he had not discovered them there himself.

One old man from across the street extracted a number of half dollars, objected to the magician taking them, contending that as they had been found on him they were his property. He was pacified, however, and all was well. Altogether Herrmann's visit to the market aroused much comment and almost caused a temporary suspension of business.

THEIR OWN CLOTHES
WHILE IN THE JAIL

Municipal Council Finance Committee Recommends that Jail Prisoners Should Manufacture Their Own Clothing--- Would Buy Sewing Machine for this Purpose.

Among the matters to be discussed at the regular quarterly meeting of the county council this afternoon, is a recommendation by the finance committee that the sheriff be authorized to furnish material for clothing for the jail prisoners to be manufactured in the jail by the inmates, and that a sewing machine be procured for that purpose. This is a new departure in jail matters, but it is said to be favorably looked upon by the majority of the council.

The committee on finance and accounts recommended the payment of the following amounts:

The committee further recommended that a discount of five per cent be allowed on all taxes for the present year if paid on or before the fifteenth day of October. The committee had considered the advisability of having the indexes in the registry office codified and rewritten from Vol. 1 to Vol. 76 both inclusive, and they recommended that at present they be authorized to have the indexes of Vols. 27 to 52 both inclusive, consolidated and revised, such work not to be paid for until next year and that the arrangements for same be made under the direction of a committee of the council.

The committee also recommended that the payment of the fees to the registrar of births, marriages and deaths be made a standing order upon the certificate of the auditor general and the chairman of the committee on finance and accounts and that hospital improvement expenditures to the amount of four thousand five hundred dollars be transferred to the sinking fund investment account.

They also advised that the sheriff with the approval of the chairman of the committee on finance and accounts be authorized to furnish material for clothing for the jail prisoners to be manufactured in the jail by the inmates, and that a sewing machine be procured for that purpose, also that an appeal be taken to the governor general in council from the judgment of the board of railway commissioners for Canada, ordering the municipality to pay one third of the cost of the watchmen at the Fairville railway crossing, such appeal to be under the direction of the warden, chairman of the committee on finance and accounts, and Councilors Lowell, Lockhart, Bullock and the mayor.

N. B. MEDICAL SOCIETY

FREDERICTON, N. B., July 17 (Special).—The twenty-sixth annual meeting of the New Brunswick Medical Society opened in the city council chambers at ten o'clock this morning with the president, Dr. E. T. Gaudet, of St. Joseph, in the chair. Among the others present were Dr. Vanwart, Bridges, McGrath, G. J. McNally, H. H. McNally, MacNeill, Irvine and Weaver, of Fredericton; J. P. McInerney, Stewart, Skinner, W. B. McVey, St. John; A. Murray, Deer Island; J. M. Devan, Milltown; L. R. Murray, Sussex; C. T. Purdy, Moncton; G. M. Dunham, Bathurst; Sprague, Woodstock; Buller, McAdam; G. R. Camp, Sheffield; J. G. Nugent, Briggs Corner; J. A. Caswell, Gagetown. The minutes of the last meeting were read by Secretary Murray and referred to a committee.

President Gaudet, in his annual address, chose for his subject "The Ethics of the Profession," and dealt with it in a very able and interesting manner. In conclusion he referred feelingly to the death during the year of Dr. Christie, Dr. Holden and Dr. Reid.

Dr. McInerney warmly complimented the president on his address and on his motion it was referred to a committee.

Dr. McInerney announced that it was proposed to form a branch of the British Medical Society in St. John and he hoped members would unite with it. He invited those also who were proposing to attend the British Medical Society meeting in Toronto next month to communicate with Dr. McLaren.

In the absence of Dr. Murray of Fredericton Junction, the paper which he prepared on Pleurisy Praevia was read by Dr. Vanwart. Dr. Vanwart also described the method he had pursued in treating a Fredericton man who was kicked in the abdomen by a horse.

The reports of the council of physicians and surgeons will be considered this afternoon.

Dr. Walker's report shows receipts for the year amounting to $1,018.65 and expenditures of $610.38, leaving a balance of $1,308.27.

This afternoon at four o'clock the members of the society will enjoy a sail on the river and a luncheon at Camp Idlewild.

A meeting of the council of physicians and surgeons will be held this evening. At this morning's session of the society Dr. McVey read a paper on "Food adulteration." He had on exhibition specimens of adulterated foods such as coffee, mustard, pepper and spices, also the adulterants and preservatives commonly used. The paper which was a very interesting one was as follows:

I desire to call the attention of our profession to a serious matter that concerns the public health, namely, the adulteration of food products.

If time would permit, I would like to take up the chemical and physiological effects produced on the human system by these adulterants, but will instead confine my remarks to these substances used, and show you the clever way this system of fraud and deception is carried on.

The articles exhibited before you in the "Artificial Groceries" are, as you can see, perfect imitations of the genuine substances in color, weight, etc. These I collected while pursuing a course of research work on food products in the State Laboratory at Boston, Mass.

These articles before you are a series of very carefully prepared microscopic photos also taken at the Lab., showing the appearance of the unadulterated substances, also the appearance of the adulterated, side by side, which were bought on the open market by the official inspectors and brought to the Lab. for examination.

The adulteration of food products has reached such a state that it has become necessary to enact severe legislation relative thereto. We in Canada as guardians of the public health should be on the alert, because as state after state across the border takes action relative to this contemptible form of fraud and deception, their market will be restricted, and it is only natural to expect these operations will, if all w-d, take advantage of the rapid growth and development of Canada and endeavor to seek a market here.

Imagine a concern going to the expense of getting a plant made whereby wheat is damaged and pressed into pellets as substitutes for coffee beans, after drying they are then burnt to darken and also give them a flavor. Yet such is the case.

The list of these artificial substances embraces nutmegs, cinnamon, cloves, ginger, mustard, allspice, mace, cayenne and coffee, which you can see as far as appearances are concerned are perfect, but are absolutely devoid of taste and virtue, save that of disturbing and overtaxing the digestive apparatus.

We can hardly glance over a periodical, and in some cases the medical journals, whose pages are not largely taken up with some wonderfully prepared health or infants' food.

How many times have we observed when a child requires to be placed on a so-called infants' food, how restless and fretful it becomes which is due to a deficient nutritive value (see record of cases). These health and infants' foods are usually represented to be free from starch, and sold as pure gluten. A test of a number of them revealed the fact, that their statements on the label did not agree with their composition, as analysis showed they contained from 10 per cent, to 65 per cent, of pure starch. A good slice of bread and butter, is worth in nutritive value

CZAR APPROVES
FAMINE RELIEF

He Supports Both Houses of Russian Parliament Against His Own Ministers in Approving $7,500,000 for Starving Peasants---More Outrages and Disorders Reported Today

ST. PETERSBURG, July 17.—The emperor last night approved the bill of the lower house of parliament, which was adopted by the upper house appropriating $7,500,000 for famine relief, thus supporting the contention of both houses of parliament against his own ministers. This law is the first enactment of the Russian parliament, and represents the net legal result of a session of over two months.

The papers today say that the authorities at Peterhof are again asking M. Shipoff, former president of the Zemstvo Council, and M. Yermoloff, leader of the conservative centre party, to renew their attempts to induce the constitutional democrats to enter a coalition cabinet.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 17.—The daily budget of revolutionary outrages and agrarian disorders is larger than usual today. In many places the peasants are wantonly applying the torch to estates belonging to the crown and to private forests.

At Nalbatkino, in Simbirsk province, the town hall was set on fire yesterday and the entire village consisting of three hundred houses, was consumed.

Throughout Poland systematic pillaging of the government spirit shops is in progress. The central police office at Warsaw was robbed yesterday and a gendarme was killed.

At Lublin, Russian Poland, revolutionaries yesterday executed a workman who was suspected of being a spy, and at Nizhni Nergorod and Vassiky the cashiers of the spirit monopoly were robbed and killed. The bank at Sosnitsa, province of Soudzies, was robbed yesterday and at Tiflis an Armenian locomotive engineer was shot in his cab by an assassin concealed in the neighboring woods.

Workmen at Rostoff, province of Yaroslavl, killed an alleged government provocateur, at Piliagonsk a Tartar woman who was baptized in the orthodox church was murdered, and at Yaroslavl bombs were exploded at the residence of the chief of police and an officer of the gendarmes.

KOSTROMA, July 17.—In the village of Kunkoff two hundred houses have been burned in disturbances incident to the agrarian movement. The crown forest lands have been set on fire in sixteen different places.

LUDLOW IS OUT
WUN LUNG IS IN

One Patient Released from Rodney Hospital and Two More Go In.

Again have old Wun Lung and Oung-gondy been relegated to the Rodney Hospital, and the steady Ludlow, looking spick and span after her rest of the past few weeks in various infirmaries, as at her work placing the billows between the east and west sides of the harbor.

The "pride of the fleet" was put on the route again this morning and she seemed quite marvellous. Extensive repairs and changes have been made, involving about two or three thousand dollars, and it is generally thought that the erratic craft will behave herself for as much as a week or more.

Meantime Wun Lung and the Oung-gondy will be made ready for any emergency.

The Scotch company Boys' Brigade will meet in St. Stephen's church schoolroom for drill at 7.30 tonight.

Ernest A. Topley, of the employ of the Alex. Gibson Co. is in the city and says that in the past month Mr. Gibson paid out $50,000 in wages, which is a record breaker in his operations since he began business.

DRUNKEN WOMAN STABS
OFFICER LUCAS WITH A
HAT PIN AND IS FINED

The old burial ground is at present claiming the attention of the police for it has for some time been the evening resort of men, women, boys and girls whose actions have been annoying to citizens, who have occasion to pass through the resting place of the loyalists at night.

Julia Clayburne and John McDonald were discovered there last night by Officer Lucas, and the blows that they exchanged caused them to appear before Judge Ritchie in the police court this morning.

Officer Lucas stated today that last night about 10.25 he was passing through the burial ground and he saw the Clayburne woman speak to a lady who was passing along the main walk, McDonald was in the company of the prisoner, and when she spoke he said to her "shut up." The Clayburne woman promptly struck him in the face and he retaliated. They mixed it up and clinched and the officer attempted to separate them and send them to their corners. Being unsuccessful in his efforts, he caught hold of the pair and attempted to take them to the central station. McDonald escaped and when the officer devoted his attention to the female combatant she delivered an uppercut to the policeman's jaw and jabbed him and kicked several times. He bravely hauled her along and finally her hat became somewhat disarranged, and she requested permission to readjust it. Her demand being granted she took a hat pin from her chapeau and jabbed it in the officer's thigh and made several attempts to injure him. Officer Lucas finally obtained the aid of Policeman Scott, and they carried her to her corner in central station. Officer Lucas stated this morning that the female scrapper was drunk, and fought McDonald like a man. This morning he went to Ham's stable and arrested McDonald, who is employed and arrested.

The prisoners pleaded not guilty, and when Officer Lucas said that they were fighting Julia interjected with the remark "I was fighting with my tongue." When the officer said that she stuck a hat-pin in him she said "and you kicked me."

McDonald said that he had left work last night when he met the female prisoner on Carmarthen street. She asked him to go with her and he said that he intended to walk to her home on Waterloo street. He denied striking her and said that he had never struck a woman in his life.

The Clayburne woman stated that she had been living on Sheffield street, but had left there two weeks ago, and was now employed as a domestic in a house on Waterloo street.

The judge said that Sheffield street people had no right to sit in the burial ground, and he ordered McDonald guilty of fighting and fined him $20 or two months in jail. Julia Clayburne was fined $20 or two months for fighting; and $40 or four months for interfering with the police in the discharge of their duty, and for sticking a hat-pin in Officer Lucas and otherwise attempting to injure him. His honor said that who she had served her sentence she would have to leave the city.

Patrick O'Brien, Vincent Robideau, Joseph Lovell and Hosen Wilson were fined $4 each for drunkenness and Emma Lesser $8 or two months. Walter Fowler was also charged with drunkenness and pleaded not guilty. Officer James Ross said that about 9.45 last night they found Fowler on Sheffield street. He had heard that he had been drunk about Carmarthen street all afternoon and he ordered him off Sheffield street. He replied that he would go when he was good and ready and told the officer and the accompanying officer that they were too fresh. The prisoner then had a conversation with Amelia Francis and the officers again ordered him home. He did not go and used profane language. He was under the influence of liquor and they arrested him. Fowler was fined $8 or two months in jail.

Two well-known painters had a squabble about joining the union and one scolded the other with the result that there was a complaint in the police court this morning. The judge told the offender that it cost $20 to commit an assault nowadays and allowed the fine to stand against him. The case did not take longer than two minutes.

Michael Garfield and Louis Goodrich have been reported for working in the city without licenses.

WANTS THE G. T. P.
FOR STRATHCONA

OTTAWA, Ont., July 17.—(Special).—Mr. McIntyre, M. P. for Strathcona, returned here today from Toronto to see the government as to the crossing of the Grand Trunk Pacific over the Saskatchewan near Edmonton. The doctor, of course, favored and crossing from there to Strathcona. The Grand Trunk Pacific wants to cross at Clover Bar, a few miles east of Edmonton, and in this way will give Strathcona the go-by. The matter has not yet been decided by the government, although the weight of evidence favors Clover Bar, still Mr. McIntyre is putting up a good fight for his own town and this constituency.

Mr. Webb's many friends in St. John will wish him every success in his new field of labor.

THE STRAWBERRY MARKET

The strawberry market was rather custer this morning. A number of crates arrived by the Elfrine and sold briskly at from 7 to 12 cents. It is expected that quite a large quantity will arrive by the Fredericton steamer. An Indian merchant said today that if tomorrow's arrivals are very heavy prices will likely decline.
