REBELS CONFIDENT AND WELL SUPPLIED

Colonel Asbert, Cuban Rebel Leader, is Sanguine of Victory---Prefers American Intervention to Continuance of the Administration by Palma's Government.

HAVANA, Sept. 6.—A report that Gen. Menocal, who is using his influence to establish peace between the government and the insurgents, has an eye on the presidency, is vigorously denied by the leader of the Cuban veterans. Menocal adds that he does not seek the overthrow of President Palma or the moderate administration, but desires solely to see the republic at peace. Personal ambitions, political and otherwise should be set aside for the good of all.

The Telegraph prints the following over the signature of Colonel Asbert, the rebel leader in the province of Havana: "The revolution stipulates for the annulment of the election of the president, vice-president, senators and representatives and for the removal of the governors, but so as not to leave the country ungoverned one half of the senators and representatives shall choose a temporary president by a majority vote, who, with them, shall constitute a provisional government, supported by the rebels and the whole country, to hold new elections and restore the law. Better American intervention than the present administration's government, the rebels having full confidence in President Roosevelt's justice.

"An uprising in Santiago depends upon certain contingencies that I am not at liberty to divulge, but when it comes it will be big and rapid. It is not necessary to destroy property to defeat the government. The rebels are amply armed and have plenty of munitions. All the rebels are perfectly confident of success."

HAVANA, Sept. 6.—The shipping and importing house of Bridal, Montrose & Co., agents of the French trans-Atlantic steamship line, failed today with liabilities of $600,000. The banks are heavy losers on account of alleged over issues of the firm's commercial paper.

FLAUNTED FLAG
IN THEIR FACES

Southern Officer Waves Confederate Flag at Meeting of Ohio Veterans---Nearly Caused Riot.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 6.—Col. Horace Welsh of Jefferson, Tex., who travelled 2,000 miles to attend the reunion of the Fourth Ohio Volunteer Regiment, nearly created a riot at the Memorial Hall yesterday by waving a Confederate flag in the face of 50 Union veterans present. Some treated the matter jokingly, but there were cries of "Shoot it," "Fire on the flag," as the emblem of the cause they had fought against fluttered before their eyes. Welsh displayed the flag after he had presented resolutions adopted by General Dick Taylor Camp, United Confederate Veterans of Jefferson, Tex., expressing friendship for the northern veterans and asking them to visit Texas. No action was taken on the resolutions.

THE RIVER STEAMERS

The river steamers are bringing down a large quantity of potatoes, which are selling at $1.80. Up river farmers report that the crop this year is very light and predict that potatoes, which are very small, will also be very scarce. A large number of passengers are being brought by the river steamers daily, and it is expected that the season of the season this autumn.

REMARKABLE PROCEEDINGS IN CONNECTION WITH THE MONARCH LIFE COMPANY

TORONTO, Ont., Sept. 6 (special).—It was disclosed at yesterday's session of the insurance commission by Vice-President Graham, of the Monarch, that, only yesterday morning before most people breakfasted, had he signed share certificates that made Manager Ostrom's holdings 1,400 shares in the Monarch Life. A messenger left the bank and a voice over the telephone told him to sign them. He did and the messenger took them away. This block was 1,400 shares, valued at $40,000, that the provisional directors agreed to give Ostrom for his copyrighted policies, but that the Western shareholders cried to block.

While president Gordon told the shareholders in Winnipeg that Ostrom had not the shares, the manager did have many of them. The company is doing business here, while Hon. Robert Rogers, of Winnipeg, said that the last resolution places the beginning of business at the time when the head office shall be located in Winnipeg. Then, Hon. Robert Rogers thinks he is first vice-president, and so does Thos. H. Graham. The executive committee has met and transacted business, although the company has no right to an executive committee by its charter. The headquarters, fixed by legal resolution in Winnipeg, and by another resolution in Toronto, is today actually in Toronto. Mr. Ostrom told Mr. Tilley that Mr. Gordon started to sign the 1,400 shares that he was to be allotted to him, a portion in exchange for his copyrighted policies.

In the midst of this engagement train time came along and the president desisted. Mr. Ostrom took the unsigned certificates and left them with the hotel clerk

PENSIONS FOR ALL AT SIXTY

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 6.—Pensions for everybody at the age of 60 was among the proposals adopted at today's session of the trades union congress. The advocates of the resolution contended that the pension necessary for the pensioners could easily be raised from among the wealthy by taxing land values.

A resolution in favor of arbitration coupled with an emphatic protest against the increase of armaments of insidious attempts to introduce conscription in Great Britain, was also carried. The congress also instructed the labor members of parliament to insist on trade union rates of wages being inserted in all government contracts and the establishment of a national minimum wage to protect working people against the evil of "sweating."

Friday	10,365.	10,365.
Saturday	3,618.	3,618.
	70,290.

Today, the fifth of the exhibition days, would in all probability have eclipsed yesterday so far as attendance goes, had the weather been more favorable, but the overcast sky and the apparent indications of a storm made people feel dubious about venturing down to the grounds. During the mornings, however, there are seldom many visitors, but at noon the rush was commencing again and quite a crowd of men, women and children were wending their way to the big fair buildings. The attendance of out-of-town people bids fair to be up to the mark, as all the trains were again crowded this morning, and on the streets many hundreds of strangers could be seen, so that while the number to pass through the turnstiles may not be as large as last year's big day, which was the one corresponding to today, it will probably be such as to keep the big buildings thronged.

The horse races at Monmouth will, no doubt, attract a large number this afternoon, and tonight they will likely go to the fair grounds. Tonight's programme includes a grand fireworks display, shows in both amusement halls, the attractions on the Pike, a concert by the Bostonia Ladies' Orchestra and all the attractive features of the industrial building.

Judging of Horses and Stock

The judging of live stock continued this morning and was watched by an interested crowd of onlookers. In the cattle classes the Jerseys were awarded prizes and the judging will continue this afternoon. The swine were judged this morning and the No. 7 class for carriage horses in harness, the class 9 for saddle horses and class 11 for heavy draught horses were disposed of.

The draught competition for the team moving the heaviest load on a stone boat, and class 15 for single carriage horses, owned in the city or county of St. John, will be held on Saturday afternoon, and is expected to bring out all the finest horses in this section of the province. The cream of the stock and other dairy animals were also subjected to a rigid inspection. About the sheds where the live stock are quartered, there was a continual throng of people all during the day, and until late at night.

The Farm and Stock Yard

Great interest seemed to centre yesterday in the judging of cattle and horses, and at the rear of Agricultural Hall, where the former were being examined, and around the prize ring where the latter were being put through their paces, there was a never-ending throng.

In the Agricultural Hall, too, where the various roots and vegetables of every kind were shown, as well as grains, and fruits, both green and var-colored, the people seemed to linger and take in all that was to be seen.

In Class 18 for pair, matched horses, owned in city or county of St. John, Dr. W. W. White took first prize, a piece of silver plate.

Agricultural Classes

The judging in the agricultural classes was continued this morning, the grains and vegetables being awarded prizes.

The exhibit of vegetables is not quite as good as usual this year, owing to the lateness of the season, as many varieties are not developed. Squash, for instance, are almost too green at the present time to be touched and many other varieties are likewise not up to the mark. The exhibit of grains is not as large as usual, but the quality is very good.

The same state of affairs applies to fruits, which are not as far advanced as they should be for a good showing.

The Farm and Stock Yard

Mayors Cannot Come

The mayor has received messages from the following mayors, to whom he sent complimentary tickets to the St. John exhibition: Mayor Fleming of Brandon, Man.; Mayor Dyke of Port Arthur, Ont.; and Mayor Sharp of Winnipeg. They expressed regret at their inability to come and see the show and Mayor Dyke enclosed a ticket to the New Ontario exposition at Port Arthur, next week.

Notes

Merchant tailors should see the exhibit of the Hewson Woolen Mills.

R. E. Armstrong of the St. Andrews Beacon, was a visitor at the press room this morning. He was a satisfied smile last night, for business was rushing. When the fireworks are over Mr. Cohen gets the people jammed right into his big tent. They can't escape.

The Bostonia Ladies' Band continues to draw the crowd and it is almost impossible at times to pass through that part of the building on account of the mass of people.

WILL PUT RAND MINES TO SHAME

Great Gold Strike Reported From Peace River Country in Western Canada--Discovery Was Made by a Government Survey Party--Samples Brought out Assay Well.

EDMONTON, Alberta, Sept. 6.—(Special).—A McDonald Dominion government survey party, which arrived in the city yesterday, brings a story of gold discovered in the Peace River country which, if it answers to surface indications, will put the Rand to shame.

Samples of the rock brought down, by the crudest kind of an assay made by a mortar and mercury, gives values of $7 to $32 to the ton, but these tests are certainly unreliable and no mining man familiar with gold values would accept them as indicating anything like the real value of the rock. The discoveries were made thirty miles below Fort St. John and seventeen miles from the Alberta-British Columbia line.

The gold bearing rock is a bed of shale, 200 to 300 feet of rock projecting out of the bank and overhanging the river. Above it is a gravel bed, then three hundred or four hundred feet below it another gravel bed. The shale is the intermediate deposit. It is located in the Big Horse Shoe bend in the hills, forming an escarpment along the river. The party located seventeen claims, one for every member, and one for each of several mounted police officers who were in the neighborhood at the time the discovery was made.

SALAY WAS ACQUITTED

After Forty Minutes Deliberation Jury Found Him Not Guilty.

Elai Salay is a free man, having been acquitted today.

The case was resumed in county court chambers at 10 o'clock this morning, and after the taking of further testimony the arguments of counsel were heard, and his honor, after a brief address, handed the case over to the jury, who began deliberations at 12.15 o'clock.

A deposition was taken from Miss Florence McCallum, which was along the line of the evidence given by witnesses for the defence.

J. D. Hazen, counsel for the defence, in reviewing the case to the jury, still contended that the amendment to the indictment should not have been allowed, and in the course of his address pointed out that if an assault had been committed it was clear that Elai Salay had not committed it.

Mr. McKeown, in reviewing the evidence for the prosecution, told the jurors that much rested upon the question of the credibility between the evidence of the prosecution and defence and it was certain that one side or the other was telling what was untrue. He placed more credence in the evidence of Officer White than in some of the prisoner's fellow countrymen, who were trying to acquit him.

The judge charged in favor of the accused.

The jury returned at 12.55 with a verdict of not guilty. His honor, in acquitting the prisoner, told him that if he had any tendencies of an unfavorable nature to be careful in the choice of companions. He also advised the Assurances to endeavor to live in harmony with one another and not bring their troubles into court, thus avoiding both expense and publicity.

The funeral of the late Dennis Donohue took place this afternoon from his late residence, 37 St. Paul St.

The body was taken to Holy Trinity church where the burial services were conducted by Rev. J. J. Walsh. Interment was made in Fernhill.

WANTED—A GIRL FOR LIGHT HOUSE work and to assist with the care of children. MRS. T. M. BURNS, 9 Exchange street. 9-6-4.

SHE WANTED TO MARRY CHINAMAN BECAUSE HE HAD BEEN KIND TO HER

BOSTON, Sept. 6.—"I want to marry Wong Goe. He has been good to me ever since I knew him, and that is more than the rest of the world has been. I have been forced to make my way since I was a child and have done my best. Wong Goe offered to make me his wife and I have consented. I see no reason why I should not be allowed to marry the man I wish."

"Wong Goe may be a Chinaman, but he has a white heart and knows when one needs sympathy and not to be kicked around from place to place. He has been my best friend and I love him."

This statement was made by Miss Grace Black at her home on Green street, Cambridge, when she was seen by a reporter relative to her intention to marry a Chinese laundryman, Wong Goe, of 1,106 Massachusetts avenue.

The pair went to the office of City Clerk Edward J. Brandon and asked for a license to marry. This was denied them by the city clerk, who was not satisfied absolutely as to the truth of certain statements that were made to him. He notified the police and Patrolman Griffiths escorted Miss Black to the station.

There she was questioned by Captain

James E. Murray concerning her intention to marry Wong Goe. She adhered to her former intention of getting a license. She said that she would go again to the city clerk for a license.

Mr. Brandon received another call from the young woman early in the afternoon. He again declined to grant the license.

He was aware of the fact that Miss Black and Wong Goe were held under bonds for the grand jury on a serious charge. He knew that two weeks ago they had been arrested in the shop of the Chinaman and held under $400 and $800 respectively. He therefore asked the girl to wait a few days, as the grand jury is now in session.

Miss Black appeared greatly disappointed, but left the office. She was much wrought up when seen later, and could not understand why she could not get her license.

Wong Goe was non-committal when he was seen by a reporter. He said that he was ready to marry Miss Black whenever a license could be procured. He said that he liked her very much, and felt that they would be happy together. He has put the entire matter into the hands of Lawyer W. J. Greene for him to look into.

THE TIMES NEW REPORTER

HIRAM AT THE FAIR.

Mr. Hiram Hornbeam leaned against a post on the Pike this morning and reflected. Hiram is of a mathematical turn, and as a boy at school could trim the whole class in mental arithmetic. The teacher used to say that Hiram ought to be a professor or a rich man when he grew up. It would depend, the teacher said, on whether Hiram figured for other people's benefit or his own. Hiram, however, was not much taken with the idea of being a professor, and wearing stiff collars, and being of an open-handed disposition he did not accumulate riches. But he has retained his calculating faculty; and, when the district school examinations are held in Hornbeam Settlement, Hiram is there, with a few arithmetical notes for the boys and girls to crack.

This morning, leaning against a post on the Pike, with a wayward breeze in his whiskers, he was making some rapid calculations.
