THIS YEAR'S MARITIME

Y. M. C. A. BOYS' CAMP

The Largest Ever Held in the Maritime Provinces --- The Boys Had a Great and Healthful Outing at Sutherland's River, N. S.

The Maritime Boys' Camp, which was held at Sutherland's River, N. S., during the last two weeks of July, was the largest single boys' camp ever held in the maritime provinces. There were 147 boys and 26 leaders present, coming from the following places: Amherst 11, Annapolis 1, Charlottetown 21, Chipman 1, Dorchester 7, Fredericton 7, Glace Bay 1, Halifax 20, Lunenburg 1, Moncton 1, Moncton 1, New Glasgow 10, New York 1, North Sydney 1, Parrsboro 1, Picton 3, Rockingham 1, Springhill 3, Shubenacadie 2, Stellarton 14, St. John 1, St. Stephen 2, Summerside 1, Sussex 2, Sydney 9, Toronto 2, Truro 16, Sydney Mines 1, Yarmouth 10. The boys ranged in ages from 10 to 19, the majority being from 13 to 16.

The camp was organized in 1894 by E. M. Robinson of St. Stephen, N. B., and for three years was held in New Brunswick after which each year a section was held in Cape Breton. This year the camps combined, with the result that the three provinces were well represented.

The camp was beautifully situated on a promontory at a junction between Sutherland's River and Big Cove, about seven miles east of New Glasgow, and the boys had the run of a one hundred acre farm, affording ample room for games of many kinds, which were freely indulged in. Baseball, basketball, football, paper chases, candy hunts, were all enjoyed. Boating was very popular, and the three boats of the camp were constantly in use. Excursions were made to Indian Island, to visit the Indians who spend their summers there, and to an island where gristmills are manufactured.

The days seemed all too short. The rising whistle blew at 7 o'clock and a grand rush was made to the shore for the morning dip. Breakfast was served at 7.30, after which a fifteen minute Bible class was conducted by Rev. P. O. Erb of Glace Bay for those who desired to attend. The subject considered was "Jesus among the mountains." The morning was devoted to games, except that at 10.30 the boys were given half an hour for swimming. The camp boats were always in attendance during the swimming, in case of accident, but were never needed. A feature of the swimming was the "Shoot the Chutes," erected by L. W. Archibald, secretary of the Charlottetown Y. M. C. A. The chute was built down a steep bank and extended into the water. A number of toboggans or sleds on rollers carried from one to four boys swiftly down the chute and precipitated them into the water, much to the delight of the boys. Not a few of the campers learned to swim and float during the two weeks of camp. Dinner was served at noon, and all afternoon was devoted to games or sports of various kinds, with another half hour of swimming at four o'clock, then came tea at six o'clock. The leaders usually met shortly after tea, and when it began to grow dark the boys were gathered together in one of the tents, in the hall, or sometimes on the hillside, and entertainments, illustrated lectures, or services of

MONCTON BOARD OF TRADE

WILL SEE MR. EMMERSON

And Ask That Their Town be Placed on a Par With St. John --- Minister Will Have Busy Time --- Great Need of Rain.

MONCTON, Aug. 8.—The Moncton Board of Trade will make a determined effort to have Moncton placed on a favorable footing as St. John in the matter of freight rates for wholesale houses. The question of Moncton's position as a terminus for the transportation standpoint is to be taken up with Mr. Emmerson here in the near future.

On his return from his inspection trip over the I. C. R. in Nova Scotia, Mr. Emmerson will return to Moncton and lay the corner stone in connection with the new I. C. R. shops and will leave immediately after for Quebec. On his return from Quebec he will discuss the transportation question with the Moncton Board of Trade, and will also hold a conference with I. C. R. officials and employees from all over the road.

The I. C. R. police have another liquor stealing case to solve. About ten days ago two cases of whiskey mysteriously disappeared from an I. C. R. box car between Sussex and St. John, and the police are following up a clue which they believe will lead to the capture of the guilty party.

Contractor Wallberg has completed the work of excavating for the new I. C. R. planing shop, but will not commence putting in the concrete foundation until the car shop is ready for the frame work. The concrete work in connection with the car shop is now about half finished. About forty men are employed about the works.

A protest was made by a Hamilton firm of lawyers to the minister of railways against granting the application in connection with the proposed railway.

WEDDINGS

Fleming-Doherty.

A pretty wedding was celebrated in the Cathedral yesterday morning at 6 o'clock when Rev. A. W. Meahan united in marriage Miss Margaret J. Doherty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Doherty, of Mill street, to T. F. Fleming, son of J. P. Fleming, of Halifax. The bride was given away by her father. Miss Katherine Fleming, sister of the groom, and John F. Doherty, brother of the bride, were the attendants. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Fleming drove to the residence of the bride's parents, Mill street, where breakfast was partaken of. After a trip to Halifax the newly married couple will reside at 12 Wall street. They received many pretty presents.

Robinson-Humphrey.

A quiet wedding took place last night at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Humphrey, 103 Gilbert's lane, when her daughter, Georgia, was united in marriage to Wm. H. Robinson. Rev. W. O. Raymond performed the ceremony, and the groom was supported by Harry B. Warwick, while Miss Mamie Robinson, sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaid. They will reside at 103 Gilbert's lane.

H. P. Pickett, of Summerside, and F. S. White, of St. Stephen, were among the late arrivals at the Dufferin last night.

tion with the Brantford and Manitoba railway. D. I. Welch, barrister, of this city, received a telegram from the Hamilton legal firm yesterday asking him to appear for them before Mr. Emmerson in connection with the proposed railway. The minister's reply, however, was to the effect that the plans had already been approved, and the matter disposed of.

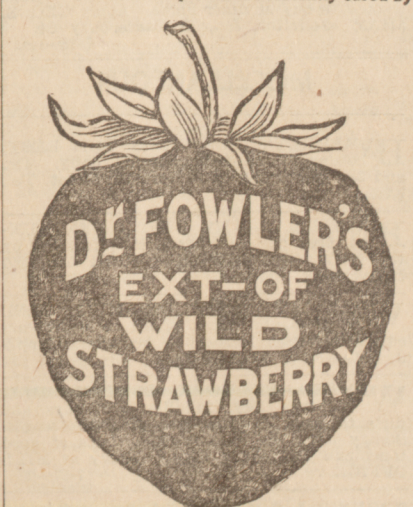

The Board of Trade intends sending a delegation before Mr. Emmerson before his return to Ottawa to urge upon him the importance of granting a subsidy for the proposed branch of the Salisbury and Harvey Railway into Moncton. The minister has already promised favorable consideration of assistance to this project.

The country in the vicinity of Moncton is suffering greatly from the long drought, and unless rain comes within the next few days grains will not be half a crop. The root crops will also be almost a failure. New potatoes have been a scarce article in Moncton market, and the price has been consequently kept up to fifty cents a peck. A local merchant who received a consignment of potatoes from St. John this morning was able to undersell local dealers by ten cents a peck.

A former well known bank clerk in the Royal Bank here, but who is now in business in Nova Scotia, is to wed one of Sheldie's popular young ladies in the near future.

Rev. R. W. Fisher, pastor of the Baptist church at Advocate, N. S., is spending a week in Moncton. Rev. Percy Christopher, of New York, is also visiting friends in Moncton.

IMPRESSIONS OF THE TOWN OF THREE RIVERS

passed through Three Rivers a few days ago, on my bound bread and sardines in a neighboring store, and sat upon the aforementioned coal piles while they ate their improvised lunch. When they had finished, they threw the empty sardine tins at the hotel windows. People don't talk much about this incident here, for they realize now that a mistake was made in the treatment accorded to the Glidden tourists. Some day another party of tourists with money to spend may visit Canada, and if they do they will avoid the most Frenchified town in Quebec as they would a plague spot.

One would think that in a town such as this, where the inhabitants have the money making instinct so keenly developed, they would have a tourist association or some kindred organization to attract visitors who have money to spend from the American republic to the south of us. But no, they do not seem to encourage tourist travel, but they are very anxious for new industries and manufactures.

A Live Mayor

Hon. F. S. Tourigny, mayor of Three Rivers, in conversation, gave me some interesting facts about the town, its growth, and prospects. By the way, this mayor is an interesting study to a St. John man. He speaks English fairly well, but with a pronounced accent. He is a lawyer by profession, and his law office and his office as chief magistrate of the city are located in the back parlor of his house. There is an official mayor's office at city hall, but I believe it is seldom used, except on days when the council meets. Mayor Tourigny, however, impresses me as a live man, and when I called on him and explained that I was a humble seeker after information, he placed himself at my disposal, answered innumerable questions, offered to introduce me to other men who could help me, and in every way exerted himself to be of service to me.

Mayor Tourigny is a natural optimist. He believes in the future of his town, and his province, and he holds you proudly that Three Rivers is a centre of the lumber industry and that the nine large mills are running night and day shifts and employing some of them as many as 400 men each, while the smallest of the nine produces work for 150.

Rapid Growth

Last year's customs collections from July 1st were but $126,700 'tis true, but the past month has shown an increase of 35 per cent over the best previous month on record, and Mayor Tourigny says this increase is not the result of any particular conditions existing that month over any other, but is due entirely to the growth of business. However, it is not the purpose of this article to deal with the trade or growth of Three Rivers, but to record the wandering impressions of a casual visitor from the maritime provinces to what may be correctly termed the very heart and core of French Quebec.

One never has an opportunity to forget that the dominant influence of this town and of the surrounding country is French. The very houses and stores have a foreign appearance, the nomenclature of the streets is French, saints' names are as thick as flies, and in this respect, judging from the signs on the street corners, the French-Canadian has an immense advantage over his English cousin. He has more saints, and every saint has a day in the year set apart for his especial glorification. The importance of this fact will be easily realized when it is known that in this particular corner of Canada every saint's day is a holiday, and generally observed as such. That is one reason why the French-Canadian, take him generally, is not as well advanced as his English cousin—he has too many holidays.

The Worst Street

The streets and roads of Three Rivers would be a revelation to St. John people if they could be transported by sections as a feature for the exhibition. A caustic scribe with the Glidden party said they were the worst in the world, and he was just about right. In the first place the popular sidewalk is composed of three planks, side by side, and raised on transverse stringers several inches above the street. They are seldom matted down, and are very narrow, so the unwary pedestrian has the option of batting his head off by a swiftly uprising plank or breaking his neck by a mis-step and a consequent sudden descent into the street. Accident insurance companies ceased to do business here while the world was still young.

It is said that when a man wanted an easy living he loaded up on accident insurance first, then went out for an afternoon walk on one of these three plank sidewalks, and lived all winter on his indemnity.

The streets are narrow, very narrow and dirty. There is a watering cart here, but it costs $2 a year to get your horse on its visiting list, so one can always tell a frugal minded Frenchman by the condition of the street in front of his house.
