London Opens Year More Auspiciously than N. Y.---First Fruits of 1907 Very Satisfactory.

It cannot be said theat New York's stock market has opened the year auspiciously. Professionals, it is true, have caused ostensible activity, but the public has done little or nothing. Not so in London. The Economist remarks:

"If the new year should continue in the same manner as it has started, the stock exchange will have small cause for complaint when it comes to balance its books. The mid-January account is now practically over, and, taking its length into due consideration, it has provided the stock exchange with an amount of business as unexpected as it is welcome. Naturally the members spoke with hopefulness at the end of the old year. They predicted, confidently enough, that the bank rate would come down, if not in the first week, at all events in the second week of January. This was the chief thread in the bullish argument, but its promise has not been fulfilled, and yet business has been satisfactorily active during the nineteen days now drawing to their settlement conclusion. Most of the markets participate in the better state of affairs. It may be that Capel Court has a grudge against the tide of trade for not running more strongly in its direction, but still consols rose for a short time to nearly a point above the price at which the stock made up for the January account. And a movement like this in the funds implies business at the back of it. Then the Home Railway dealers admit they have enjoyed several days' good trading. It came 'patchily,' perhaps, not so evenly good as the jobbers might desire, yet there has been a lot more doing than usual, and the approach of dividend time is rendered brighter by the more animated aspect of affairs in this section.

"Americans have felt the burden of money throughout the account, and the uncertainty respecting the lawsuit over the Union Pacific caused orders to flow slowly, the Kaffir Circus, too, coming into active competition as a speculation area. In the foreign market the lively movements of Peruvian Corporation stocks and of Rio Tintos proved as useful for the attraction of business as the steadier improvement in Brazilian, Argentine and Japanese issues. Textiles have been a very considerable aid to active dealing in the miscellaneous market, and the declaration of banking dividends, with amounts carried forward, stimulated orders in the bank division. So instances might be multiplied of the re-awakened activity in the 'Old' House before ever we touch upon Kaffir Circus, with its recrudescence of buoyancy, bred by professionalism truly, but not without efficacy in drawing more public attention than has lately visited the market in South Africans—diamonds, Rhodesians, outcrops, deep levels, land and finance undertakings and the rest. Glancing over the last fortnight, the stock exchange cannot but be well satisfied with the first fruits of 1907, and it looks forward to easier monetary conditions as likely to give the new revival and added fillip of animation before long."

MR. BLAIR'S DEATH

into the Intercolonial railway, which was extended westward to the head of ocean navigation at Montreal, and the work of enlarging and deepening the St. Lawrence canals was urged forward to an early completion. With these great undertakings his name will always be honorably associated.

"During the session of 1903, his last in the dominion parliament, he gave a fine exhibition of his formative powers and parliamentary skill in drawing up the sections of the railway act, which created the board of railway commissioners, defined its powers and prescribed its procedure.

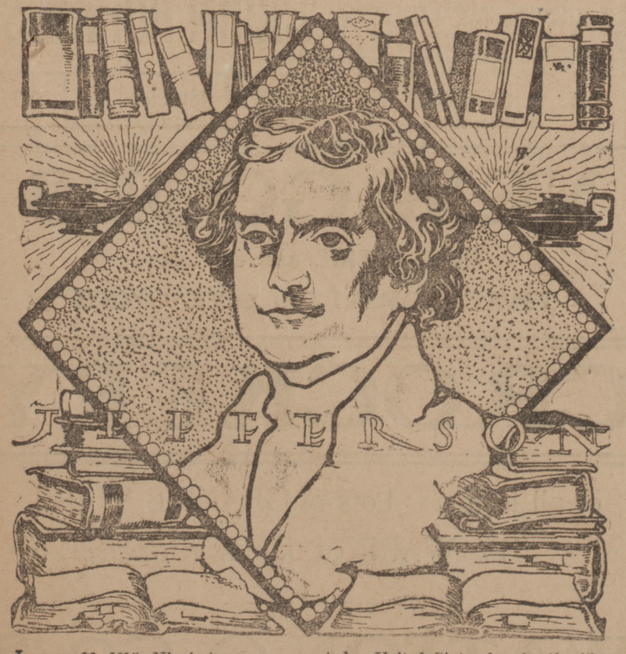

"He accepted the position of chairman of the board and for some months he and his colleagues administered the new law with so much energy and ability that during the interval they laid a strong foundation on which to erect a future superstructure of quasi-judicial precedents."

Man of Great Force

OTTAWA Jan. 26—(Special)—Dr. Stockton being interviewed said: "I was greatly shocked to hear of Mr. Blair's sudden death. I had seen him only a few days previously apparently in health and strength. He and I for years were in the legislature of New Brunswick and while we were opposed to each other politically, yet, our personal relations were always of a friendly character. Mr. Blair was a man of great intellectual force; an able lawyer and in politics a great organizer. I regret exceedingly to hear of his death.

"One of our ablest men has suddenly been taken from us."

AT KEITH'S THEATRE

Special Features and Amateur Night Tonight --- Next Week's Bill.

The management of Keeth's have arranged to include in tonight's bill these clever artists: Monsula and Russel and Kammeren and Foley, who have made such a hit all this week. In addition there will be a new series of animated pictures, illustrated songs and amateur specialties.

When the Keith management undertook to give vaudeville to St. John, a good, clean, and first-class entertainment was promised. That this promise has been fulfilled in every detail is abundantly evidenced, as each week comes around. Next week's programme is advertised to be well up to the standard. There will be Collin and Crowley, Irish comedians; Marr and Evans, equilibrists and comedy acrobats; a first-rate comedy sketch by the Barringtons; clever singing and dancing by the Brockway and Bertina sisters. The well known English coster singer, Dan. Malundy, is also on the programme. In a feature act by Nibbe and Marie Bordouex, a genuine treat in comedy is promised. These clever artists have been engaged to produce their unique and original comedy sketch Joe and Mariuccia. The couple appear in character changes, and conclude with an Italian comedy that is witty, and affords the young woman and her partner an opportunity to sing and joke in Italian, in a very catchy manner. There will be the usual complete change of pictures on the stereopticon and the bioscope.

MISSION CHURCH S. JOHN BAPTIST

Will Celebrate Its 28th Anniversary on Monday Evening Next.

This church celebrates its 28th anniversary on Monday next, the first service having been held Jan. 28th, 1882, with nineteen members. Founded by the gift of a lady of this city, who gave $10,000 for the purpose, the Mission church was the exponent in St. John of the Catholic Revival begun in England many years before, and which movement made rapid headway, with musical, bright services, surpliced choir, incense, etc., and did very much for the Church of England in this province; ancient services were revived, more attention paid to the Holy Sacrament and services of the altar, and much information on church history and practices was preached.

The first priest was Rev. J. M. Davenport, who is still well remembered in the city for his many acts of charity and kindness, and under his charge the Mission church progressed rapidly; its services, which at first were attended from curiosity, grew on those attending, who soon became regular members. The first trustees were H. W. Frith, George A. Schofield, Alban Thomas, I. Allen Jack and J. P. Hanington, the latter being now the only one living. Father Davenport was succeeded in 1891 by Rev. J. H. Geare, then by Rev. Dr. Williams, after which he returned to St. John till 1900, when he left for Toronto to take charge of S. Thomas church, when Rev. C. B. Kenrick took charge until the present occupant was appointed, Rev. J. Owen-Jones. The church is entirely free and is kept up by the offerings of the congregation entirely. They have a splendid organ, a good choir, and in 1899 completed a new school house at a cost of over $7,000. In connection with the church are the Guilds of S. Monica, Holy Cross and S. Laurence, and also a men's association.

To celebrate the anniversary next Monday, there will be a plain celebration of the Holy Eucharist at 9.30 a. m. and choral Evensong at 8, when the Rev. A. W. Smithers will preach. After the service the congregation are invited to meet in the school room, where refreshments will be served and music and addresses will be given.

THE TWO VAGABONDS

Robinson Opera Co. in Pleasing Bill at the Opera House Tonight.

There was another highly pleased audience at the Opera House last night to see the Robinson Opera Co in The Telephone Girl. Everybody is loud in their praises of this excellent organization and its excellent performances, and theatre patrons regret that next week will positively be their last here this season. Tonight and this afternoon The Two Vagabonds will be played. Manager Macadam has received a petition signed by Mayor Sears and many influential citizens, asking for a performance of Fra Diavolo. In compliance with this request this beautiful opera will be presented on Monday evening. Frank Nelson will play the title role, and Mabel Day the English prima donna, will sing the role of Zerlina. This is a performance that no one should miss and patrons are advised to purchase tickets at once, as the rush Monday evening will likely be great.

MORE BUSINESS THAN EVER.

Ungar's Laundry, which has been pretty nearly a fortnight in its own building again, is now doing work for more people than ever before; it is enjoying a genuine boom. This is largely attributable to the reputation of the concern for its scrupulous laundering, and also to the fact that the new and thoroughly modern machinery lately installed is doing away with those petty annoyances that make exceptionally fussy people invariably complain.

A DISTINCT DIFFERENCE.

Business Colleges are all about alike, with but one exception. The Currie Business University, Ltd., will not accept pupils for a three or six months course. This institution enrolls its students at a very moderate fee—prepares and places them in positions of responsibility in from four to twelve months time, with the understanding that the student shall continue, at nights, under the unlimited progress plan, training for promotion and increased salary. No extra tuition fee is charged for this privilege.

In all this school's work you will find the distinct differences which stamp the personality of expert minds.

PIG IRON WEAKER

The Iron Age says: "There is distinct evidence, notably in the New York market, of eagerness on the part of some sellers of pig iron to secure business for spot and for early delivery and the market is weaker with lower prices accepted for what little business there is. Unless weather conditions prove adverse there is a prospect that the famine is over. It appears, too, as though shipments from the Birmingham district are improving, at least to the tide-water markets. To points north of the Ohio the floods have checked the movement. Considerable foreign iron is still coming forward, but there has been no buying of round lots abroad for some time, and it looks as though the end of the import movement is pretty well in sight. Buying for delivery during the second half has continued on quite a good scale, particularly in the territory west of the Allegheny mountains, but a feeling of conservatism is spreading among founders and steel makers who are now partly covered and are inclined to await developments before committing themselves further. The market for Ferromanganese has been rather irregular lately, and sales for forward shipments have been at close to $70 delivered Pittsburg.
