MAGISTRATE FINDS WHITE NOT GUILTY

Of Charge of Resisting When Officer Crawford Tried to Arrest Him--Police Officer Severely Criticized by Judge Ritchie in Court Today.

The Crawford-White case was finally disposed of in the police court this morning when Judge Ritchie, after reviewing the evidence at some length, declared that Crawford was not justified in striking White on the head with the baton when he was down, and while he declared the prisoner guilty of drunkenness, for which he imposed a fine of $8 or two months in jail, he pronounced him innocent of resistance.

His honor, in going over the evidence of the various witnesses, referred to the arrest and the circumstances surrounding it, and pointed out that Crawford may have been kicked by some persons in the crowd and that if they could be found they would be liable to a heavy penalty. Ryan, who came to court reluctantly, had told of hearing the blow when the officer struck White on the head with the baton and was some distance away when he heard it. His honor went on to say that liquor affected different people differently--some it made very good natured, others were inclined to go to sleep, and some, after drinking, wanted to fight with everybody, even their best friends. In any case liquor never had a good effect on anybody. If a man was drunk enough to be arrested, any attempt to hold back, such as bracing the feet on the sidewalk--the unwillingness to go could hardly be regarded as resistance. The officer could charge resistance if he wanted to, but the decision as to whether it was actual resistance should be left to him (Judge Ritchie). He was capable of judging and was quite willing to take the responsibility of the case, but he refused to put it on him. While the man in this case was pretty drunk and the arrest justifiable as the man wouldn't go home. But what was done from the time White was arrested down to the time he was

MISS MOLLIE LINGLEY WINS TRUEMAN MEDAL AT ENTRANCE EXAMS.

List of Scholars Who Passed for Entrance to High School--Best Marks are Much Higher Than Last Year.

The list of scholars who have successfully passed the examinations for entrance to the High school was made public today. Out of 339 who took the examinations, 204 were passed with the requisite percentage. This 36 were plucked, of which number five did not enter for various reasons. Some had measles and one was prevented from going with the examinations on account of a death in the family. The leader of those taking the examinations is Miss Mollie Lingley, who made a percentage of 92.4. This means that Miss Lingley will be awarded the Trueman Medal. She is a daughter of D. G. Lingley and has been a pupil at the Alexandra school. This is the first time that a pupil from this school has had the distinction of winning the coveted medal. The honor of second place goes to Miss Bridget Gosnell of St. Peter's school, who had a percentage 91.3. Third place was secured by Miss Hazel Myles of the Albert school. The highest percentage in last year's examination was 91.8.

Owing to the very large number of pupils who have passed this year, Dr. Bridges said it was altogether likely that the top floor of the Victoria school would not hold them all. There is only room for six classes, while there are pupils enough for seven at least. About forty of those who passed will go to the St. Vincent school, but the balance will have to be accommodated at the High school or elsewhere in the city school buildings.

The lieutenant-governor's silver medals which are given for the best marks made in each county of the province will be awarded after the papers have been examined at Fredericton. The list of those who made the necessary percentage of 50 or over, is as follows: Bessie Marcus, 73; Minnie Hill, 70; Lydia Bolton, 71; Beryl Bland, 72; Kathleen Sturdee, 69; Christine Crawford, 78; Alice Melvin, 78; Jennie Doherty, 65; Hazel Slocum, 71; Rae Wilson, 63; Mary Cully, 64; Marion Robinson, 70; Mabel Humphrey, 68; Alice Green, 58; George Melvin, 63; Lydia Dykeman, 62; Vera Granlund, 74; Dorothy Blizard, 56; Marjorie Lane, 62; Gladys Baxter, 62; Sarah Collins, 61; Ida Rathburn, 57; Mabel Staples, 62; Mabel Williams, 52; Phyllis Purchas, 58; Hazel Sewell, Louise Simpson, 56; Lilian McLeod, 62; Greta Finley, 59; Nan Watson, 57; Kathleen Trueman, 50; Mitchell McQuarrie, 62; Bessie Woodley, 53; Helen Chesley, 58;

MINISTER TALKS ABOUT MR. BORDEN

Rev. W. Walsh of Brampton, Ont., Says Leader of Conservative Party Has Insulted Every Protestant Clergyman in the Dominion of Canada.

WINNIPEG, July 17--(Special)--Rev. W. Walsh, grand chaplain of the Orange order and rector of Christ church, Brampton, Ont., is in the city from Vancouver where he attended the annual meeting of the supreme grand lodge of the order. Mr. Walsh was reported as having made a severe attack during this meeting on R. L. Borden leader of the opposition in the Dominion house and interviewed on the subject said: "What I said at the meeting at Vancouver was in answer to statements made in the house at Ottawa by Mr. Borden. When I criticize Mr. Borden as I do you will remember that I am an out and out party man. I was born Tory. I have always been Tory, and I expect to remain Tory. I am not a hide-bound Conservative but I am a strong party man. Now in party there are all ways diverse elements and it is essential that concessions should be made to all these elements. You have Jews, Catholics, Protestants, British born and Canadian born, in both parties, and you must make allowance for all these. Mr. Borden made statements which were not true in fact which were not pertinent and which were an insult to every Protestant clergyman in the Dominion. Mr. Borden would have been perfectly justified under the circumstances in saying all kinds of things which he could say in reference to the Catholic church. But if what Mr. Borden, leader of the Conservative party in the house said were true, then every Protestant clergyman in the world has been talking falsely since the Reformation. Of statements of this class made by the recognized leader of the party in the house it appeared to me that we were bound to take cognizance."

MRS. SPALDING'S NARROW ESCAPE

Boarder at Lansdowne House Almost Asphyxiated While She Slept.

Mrs. H. L. Spalding of Pittsfield, Maine, narrowly escaped death from asphyxiation, in her room at the Lansdowne House last night. A Times representative called on Mrs. Spalding this morning and was told by her that she retired about twelve o'clock last night, and before getting into bed shut off the light, turning the tap on the chandelier until it stopped, thinking that she had stopped the passage of the gas through the burner. Several times after lying down she thought she smelt gas, but came to the conclusion that the odor proceeded from the grate. She noticed that a strange, powerless feeling came over her, and thought she would get up and apply a match to the burner, but seemed unable to arouse herself until about 3.30 o'clock, when she awoke for some matches, when she was near at hand. On striking one of them she noticed that it flared up with unusual brightness, and then she realized that something was wrong. The window was slightly open and she thought she noticed a difference in the air. Getting out of bed, she staggered to the door and managed to make her way to the room across the hall, occupied by Mrs. Hackett. The moment she left her room she knew from the difference in the air that the gas had been escaping. Her own chandelier she applied a match to her own chandelier the gas ignited at once. Dr. Mary McLeod attended the case. Mrs. Spalding was a little nervous this morning, but apparently none the worse otherwise of her experience.

WEDDINGS

Montague-McCarthy

St. Peter's church was the scene of a pretty wedding at seven o'clock this morning when Miss Annie Gertrude, eldest daughter of Daniel McCarthy, of Harrison street, became the bride of John G. Montague, of this city. Miss Teresa Canning, of Boston, was bridesmaid and P. J. O'Rourke supported the groom. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Charles McCarthy, was attired in a princess gown of white silk voile de soie, with veil and wreath of orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of white carnations. The bridesmaid was gowned in Nile green silk voile de soie and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The organist, Mr. D'Allbert, rendered the wedding march and organ solo was sung by Rev. Father Scully, C. S. R. The groom's present to the bride was a substantial check, and to the bridesmaid an engraved lock and chain. Numerous beautiful gifts attested the popularity of the happy couple, who will reside at Green Point, St. John River, prior to taking up their residence in the city. Among the outside guests were Miss Teresa Canning, of Boston, and Miss Kathleen McCarthy and Master Jack Ryan of Cambridge.

HARRY LEWIS WON

NEW YORK, July 17--Jack Goldswain of England, was defeated by Harry Lewis in a six round bout before the National A. C. of Philadelphia last night, the bout being stopped in the fifth round to save Goldswain from a knockout. Lewis had the better of the bout from beginning to end. The quaker fighter was far too clever for the Englishman, and in the fifth round Lewis put Goldswain down for the count three times. Then the bout was stopped. In most of the other rounds Lewis outclassed Goldswain.

A "NECKTIE" PARTY

OKLAHOMA, Okla., July 17--Frank Bailey, a Negro, was hanged by a mob at a small town 75 miles northeast of here last night for assaulting a married woman. The preliminary examination of Tom David on a charge of murdering his wife will commence today in the police court tomorrow morning. As the evidence is to be taken by stenographer the examination will probably be finished this week. George Christie, son of R. A. Christie, of River Hebert, was badly crushed while loading a vessel with timber at Amherst on Monday.

ARTHUR CASSIDY'S FAMILY HAVE HAS YET RECEIVED NO WORD OF HIS WHEREABOUTS

He Left St. John on April 16th for the Canadian Northwest Was Traced to Field, B. C., and Then Vanished.

Nothing further has been learned of the whereabouts of Arthur Cassidy, the young St. John man who so mysteriously disappeared in the West several weeks ago, and his father J. Wesley Cassidy, accountant for Hutchings & Co. has not yet decided whether or not he will go west in search of his son. Mr. Cassidy when seen this morning, said he had heard nothing whatever that would give any idea as to the whereabouts of the missing man, although inquiries were still being instituted.

Asked as to whether he would go west in an endeavor to locate his son, he replied that he did not know as yet. As stated in the Times several weeks ago Arthur Cassidy left St. John in March last with the intention of disposing of some property he had in the Canadian west and locating at Vernon, B. C. The last communication received from him was April 16 and subsequently he was heard of at Field. Needless to say, his wife and parents are very anxious and can form no definite idea as to what has become of him.

MENELIK ON THE WAR PATH

TURIN, Italy, July 17--Despatches from the Italian colony of Erythrea in Africa, state that it is feared that King Menelik, of Abyssinia, is preparing to make war on Italy. He is organizing an army of 20,000 men, ostensibly for the purpose of restoring order in that part of Abyssinia close to the Italian border, but as his instalment of $2,000,000 to the king for the care of Italian prisoners of the last war, has been paid, Menelik has nothing to expect from Italy, and the pacificatory expedition is regarded as the merest pretext. James H. Crockett of the Fredericton Gleaser is in the city today.

ROUND THE WORLD SHIP RACE STARTS

Crowds Cheer Rival Freighters Leaving New York for Australian Port.

(New York American, Monday.) Loaded to their plimsol marks and trailing behind them heavy columns of black smoke, two tramp freighters started yesterday for a race around the world. They were the Elbing, of the Tysar Line, a German freighter, and the star boat of the rival United States and Australian Steamship Line, the Coliviana, bound for Fremantle, Australia. They are racing to get a heavy cargo of wool, and the first one there gets the prize. Both were due to leave yesterday and each line knew of the preparations made by the other, so the work of hustling aboard the cargo was rushed with all possible speed. The German, Elbing, was the first to batten down her hatches and swing out into the stream, but the Coliviana pressed her hard, and the pair of smoke-belching hulls rushed almost together for the Butternut Channel. St. Vincent, Cape Verde Islands, will be the first and only stop the two ships will make during the run around the Cape of Good Hope to Keruelzen, and so to Fremantle. Cape Town will be sighted, or rather the flat, cloud-capped top of Table Mountain, and then no land for the remainder of the run, nearly four thousand miles. Word is expected from them from St. Vincent, but it will be all fifty-five or sixty days before the cable brings tidings of the winner of the around the world race. Once in Fremantle, it will be load and repeat the performance homeward bound for New York. At Pier 38, Atlantic Dock, Brooklyn,

HARRY THAW IN THE TOMBS

Dr. McGuire, Tombs Physician, Talks About His Prisoner's Health.

NEW YORK, July 17--The Times today says: "So many varying reports have been printed concerning the physical condition of Harry K. Thaw, that Dr. Frank McGuire, the Tombs physician, felt called upon to make an official statement yesterday. Dr. McGuire said Thaw's condition did not differ from that of any man confined as Thaw is, who lives on rich food and spends much time smoking a black briar pipe. Dr. McGuire added: "I have advised Thaw to cut down the amount of smoking and to regulate his diet. I intend to inspect the food sent to him from outside the prison and will advise what portions of it to eat and what portions to reject." "I have written a prescription for him which, if he takes it, ought to regulate his stomach. I have also prescribed a mild tonic stimulant for him. I have advised Thaw not to take any stimulants, such as when he is out of doors in the afternoon." Thaw now wears green goggles, while in the prison yard. He complained that when out of doors, the strong light hurt his eyes. Doctor McGuire ordered the glasses.

HAYASHI GETS INTO THE GAME

He is Trying to Untangle the Knot of Difficulty Between Japan and Corea.

SEOUL, via Tokio, July 17--The crisis in Korean affairs and the consequent panic in court circles is gaining acute since it has been learned that Viscount Hayashi, foreign minister of Japan, has come to Seoul to untangle the knot caused by the sending of a deputation to the Hague to protest against Japan's attitude toward Korea. This latest intrigue, following a year's hostile obstruction to the work of Marquis Ito, the Japanese resident general, has weakened the Korean throne more than anything that has occurred since the murder of the queen. Silence of Marquis Ito, pending the action of the Hague government, has demoralized and caused a panic in the court and cabinet. The latter thought that the emperor would send representatives to Tokio for the purpose of denying the emperor's responsibility for the deputation at the Hague, but on July 5 the emperor stopped all communications to himself and retired to a secluded country palace. There he remains quiet and unaware of the nation's predicament. Besides Prince Pak Yun Ho, who was brought back to Corea from exile, Prince Yi Cheung Yong, another exile, who has been waiting at Fusan, is a pretender to the throne, which has now four candidates. The accession to the Korean throne is described here as a hidden bomb. The crown prince is regarded as incompetent, while Prince Ewa is considered to be a protegee of the Chinese.

THE TIMES NEW REPORTER

Now that All. Baxter is signing "Best Be the Tie That Binds," the other Aldermen are asking the price of wedding presents. The lovely Miss Birdie McWhat smiled mysteriously this morning when the Times new reporter asked her her match-making campaign was progressing. It is no secret that Birdie has decided to extend the field of her operations and weave a matrimonial web around the sheriff, whose obduracy has caused the Woman's Council no little worry and disappointment.

The members of the water board received a delightful surprise yesterday, when the recorder introduced their old friend--the Boyd field sewer. The Boyd field sewer is still in the Boyd field, and appears to have sinned up its situation.

It has been suggested that the Three Lamps at Reed's Point should be painted. Mr. James Jones says he expects that somebody will be proposing next to cut down all the trees in Queen Square.

THEY WALKED RIGHT OUT AND TURNED AROUND AND WALKED RIGHT IN AGAIN

P. R. Messenger Boys Went Out on Strike This Morning But Came Back at Noon--They Claimed They Had a Grievance.

"We won't work if one of de bunch don't get rat guy's job, an' dat's a cinch! see!" Thwarted ambition tells in two words the story of the latest strike St. John has had to contend with--a strike which went into effect today and which while it affects directly only some eight or nine small boys, had while it lasted an indirect bearing upon the very vitals of St. John's business life. For the C. P. R. Telegraph Company's messenger boys quit work this morning because a rank outsider was taken in as a desk clerk, while the sturdy lads who carry the messages claim they did not get even a look in for the position. Consequently they quit. This is the boys' side of the argument. Manager Snider of the C. P. R. claims on the other hand that the company has the right to run its own business in its own way; that the selection for the desk position was made in the most suitable quarter and that the boys were not consulted about it. At any rate--the boys went out this morning and the messages were being "totaled" today by clerks in the office who were pressed into service as emergency carriers. The messenger boys have no organization and may be a little shy on the ethics of unionism. Strikes, lockouts or walkouts are all the same to them, but when their rights were infringed upon they were quick to act. After they quit, not a boy was to be seen in the vicinity of the office, but it is said they had pickets out and were prepared to make it lively for any strike breaker. One little lad stuck to his guns and refused to go out with the rest. His name is Steed and he is an English lad. When approached to join the strike he refused on the ground that he could not afford to and in this he told the simple truth. This lad's mother has been ill in the hospital for months, his father is dead and the little fellow is the sole support of his family. Along about 9.30 young Steed had his first adventure. It was freely whispered that the strikers were encamped in force on Water street but when a message for Wm. Thomson & Co. came over the wires this wee messenger accepted it without a word. On Water street he encountered the enemy. They took his bicycle from him and threatened to knock his head off if he continued to work. This argument was sufficient and he delivered his messages and then joined the strikers. Thus the situation stood up to noon when one of the office clerks visited the messengers at their headquarters and told them to get back to work or they would lose their jobs and this ended it. They all trooped back and this afternoon are logging messages as merrily as ever.
