A GOVERNMENT BY THE TRADES UNIONS FOR THE ENGLISH SPEAKING WORLD

This is John C. Kenworthy's Ideal of Utopia --- Interesting English Radical Who Says John Burns is an Incompetent and Impostor---Scathing Denunciation of the Jews.

To have all English speaking countries ruled by the trades unions and the public ownership of all railways and industrial plants is the policy advocated by John C. Kenworthy, Ph. D., an Englishman who is a guest at the Victoria Hotel. Mr. Kenworthy arrived here a day or two ago from St. Louis and some of the Upper Canadian cities and will sail for his home "The Grey House," Purleigh, Essex, England, on the C. P. R. steamer Lake Champlain, on Saturday.

A Times man called on Mr. Kenworthy at the "Victoria" yesterday afternoon and had a very pleasant talk with him.

He at once impresses one as a highly educated gentleman with a very pleasing manner. He is of medium height, rather slight, fair and wears a Vandyke beard of sandy hue.

Asked by the Times man to tell something of his work among the trades unions and his views as to their future in the political field he readily complied.

"I am committed to this view in politics," he said, "that the only way to prevent political and financial ruin for the country, and when I speak of country I mean the whole English-speaking world, is to develop trade unionism.

"The day of trusts and trust magnates is over. In the United States the trusts have shown their unfitness to govern the country and the legal profession is looking about for something to take their place and I am satisfied the trades unions will do this. I think the body of trades unionists is vastly improving in tone and such capable and honest officers that it has are proving that it is able to fulfil the duties.

"It is now about twenty years since I advocated in England the idea of trades unions and the peculiar form of corporation that pays no interest on capital. I think now the trades unions are prepared to enter the political field as the dominant body in politics. I must say that so far as any expert knowledge I may have of affairs in the U. S. goes, the prospects of the trades unions not entering into politics is appalling. They have about seven or eight millions of shockingly badly paid and utterly disarganized unskilled labor from which any sort of disruption might spring. I think that the next five years will see the complete disappearance of the trusts in the states, as they are utterly incompetent to manage its affairs. The solving of the problem rests with the legal profession and the trades unions. If the lawyers succeed in organizing the trades unions so that the unions can take the shareholders' place and become the owners and operators of the railways and industrial plants, then the crisis of the time. I think, can be happily solved.

"As an Englishman I have been extremely puzzled to know why in the face of the existence of the government's Intercolonial railway and its apparent success, the Grand Trunk and C. P. R. systems and others should have been allowed to remain matters of private enterprise. Sooner or later to ensure the continuance of railway traffic and the safety of human lite, governments everywhere must take the railways over and it seems to me a misfortune that monetary influences of a mistaken and corrupt kind should be allowed to rule in a country like Canada. I think one might usefully point to the demoralization of the marriage and sex relations generally, in the states especially, which is in the greater part the result of bad and inhuman economic conditions."

Mr. Kenworthy was asked what part he would play if his scheme of trades union domination in the government came to pass in England.

"As soon as the party is in power," he said, "I will probably be asked to take a seat in parliament. I have advocated this policy for twenty or twenty-five years and I think the unions would recognize the efforts I have made.

"Before a large, healthy democratic party standing for the public ownership of public utilities can become effective the present so-called bodies of socialism must be swept out of the way, they are talkers only, and only hamper matters." This was in answer to a question as to the present labor party in the British house of parliament and its effect on unionism. "What may be expected to happen in England is that the liberal party will become the party of trade unionism, and the general trading people are opposed to monopolies. What is true and earnest in socialism will also join the party and this will be the regenerated liberal party in England."

Concerning the London County Council elections, which are to be held next week, Mr. Kenworthy said: "The people are likely to pull down and completely discredit John Burns and all his party. These men are a striking example of dishonest street corner socialism. They profess to go beyond the politics of even John Ruskin and Thomas Carlisle, and when put in power have simply sold London to the Jews. Instead of a reformed finance, which might have given London all the improvements needed without any increase to her debt, they have made her debt £160,000,000, which means that London as a city is about bankrupt, except that it has the government behind it.

"I have frankly denounced John Burns as incompetent and an impostor. It is not desirable that his downfall should be a conservative triumph, that is the danger, but what is wanted is that a party should come into office for London and the whole country that will give us a genuine democratic financial and industrial organization, and on this point I would further say frankly that the Jews must be swept out of the way. There are Jews that are good citizens, but the great body of them are simply an alien financial conspiracy which acts from the synagogue.

"Before long the story of the Rothschilds and the Berlin, Paris and New York Jews will be told and will exhibit a world conspiracy which has the South African war, the Russo-Japanese war, the strain between Germany and England and the financial struggle in the States for some of its incidents. The press, from such papers as the London Daily Telegraph, downwards, politics, governments and armies, have been pieces with which the Jews have played a game of murder which is now culminating."

Mr. Kenworthy thinks that ultimately the Jews should be sent to some place, such as South Africa, by themselves, as ruin follows wherever they go. "I have read it in history," he said, but to see it with my own eyes is simply astounding."

He thinks that municipal ownership, so far as London is concerned, is not a practica. proposition until London is bankrupt, and then it would have no other recourse but to accept it.

"Jewish corruptionism and vested interests are the only things to keep it from happening. The Jewish policy is to pile up huge financial debts, government and otherwise."

Regarding his views of Canada, he said he feels that Canada is better than the United States. There is a better tone to it. He sees a great future for the dominion. He was pleased, he said ,to see that the tide of English immigration was setting toward Canada.

Touching upon the question of agriculture, both in Canada and the United States, he said there was need of a system whereby the sewage of the cities could be turned into the land to enrich the soil. In England, cities like London and Liverpool, are sending their sewage into the sea and sending to South America for guano and nitrates for the soil.

He referred to the fact that particularly in the United States the railway tracks are overburdened with railway coaches tnat are too wide and heavy for the rails, and thus resulted in terrible accidents. "Some of these accidents," he said, "are not accidents, but are done by the men out of discontent."

Returning again to the question of the trades unions, Mr. Kenworthy was asked if there was any affiliation between the bodies in the United States and those in England.

"There is potentially an affiliation of unions," he said, "in England and the United States, but the type of men is altogether different. Without meaning any disrespect to the men across the border, they should get the English type which would enable them to act in unison."

SUSPECTED SMALLPOX

Board of Health Fumigates the Schr. John G. Walters

A SAILOR'S STORY

Told to a Nova Scotia Doctor Raised Some Alarm and Resulted in the Sailor Being Quarantined at River Hebert ---Board of Health Satisfied There is No Danger Now.

A few days ago a letter was received at the local office of the board of health from Dr. Rockwell, of River Hebert, Cumberland Co. N. S., stating that a man had arrived there from this city where he left the schooner John G Walters, and it was believed he had had smallpox.

The local authorities immediately made inquiries and had the matter thoroughly looked into.

It appears that the schooner arrived here on Saturday last from New London, Conn., and is now lying at the McAvity wharf.

On arrival here, the captain, John G. Walters, went to his home in Amherst on a visit to his family and two of the crew went to River Hebert. On arriving there, they told of having suffered from a rash which broke out on their bodies about three or four weeks previous and from their description the doctor there, concluded they had had smallpox and put them in quarantine, at the same time notifying the authorities here.

The local board of health sent a physician on board the vessel to examine the two men remaining here, but as it was some time since they were afflicted, he was unable to state positively from their description whether they had had the disease or not.

As an extra precaution, however, the board decided to vaccinate the men and also to fumigate their clothes and the vessel, and this was done yesterday.

SCHR. BLUENOSE AT SEAL COVE

Life Saving Crew Brought Her In Leaking and Badly Iced Up--Members of Crew Frost Bitten.

Further particulars of the Parrsboro schooner Bluenose in distress at Seal Cove, Grand Manaan, were received this morning from Captain Frank Benson, of the life saving station at Seal Cove, who states that the disabled schooner Bluenose from New York bound to St. John, got into Seal Cove with the aid of the life saving crew and the gasoline boat.

The schooner is covered with ice, some of the crew are badly frost bitten, and the vessel is leaking badly. The life crew will stay by the Bluenose until the tug arrives from St. John.

The tug Lord Wolseley went down to the schooner yesterday afternoon. She is expected back with her tow tonight.

The West India steamer Orinoco, Captain Bale, arrived in port this morning from Bermuda, Windward Islands and Demerara with 19 passengers and a large cargo for this port and Halifax, including 471 packages of molasses, which she will land here.

The steamer had a very rough trip up from Bermuda, with high seas and heavy gales of wind, and after crossing the Gulf Stream she ran into very cold weather. The first day from Bermuda was very boisterous and there was a westerly and northwesterly gale.

The following is a list of her passengers: First cabin—D. Diarmid, Mrs. Betts, Miss Hancock, from Demerara; Dr. Stewart and two daughters, Mrs. Harper, Harry C. Leane, F. B. Locker and wife, and Miss Muriel Locker, from Bermuda.

Second cabin—Ellen Millard, Ada Bridgewater, from St. Kitts; G. H. Broadhurst and five children from Bermuda.

After discharging her St. John cargo the steamer will sail for Halifax tomorrow.

THAW'S OWN STATEMENT HANDED OUT YESTERDAY MAY PROVE HIM INSANE

Board of Works 3rdec06

Against the Advice of His Lawyers He Gave Newspaper Men a Certificate of Character for Mrs. Thaw---Jerome May Now Use This to Show That Thaw is Still Mentally Wrong

NEW YORK, March 1—What effect will the statement issued by Harry K. Thaw yesterday have upon his trial? This question is calling forth much speculation. it is said his lawyers did their best to convince him it was bad policy to issue the statement and they consented when he insisted that he be allowed to do so.

Thaw created a sensation in court yesterday when he handed a written statement to a newspaper friend and asked him to publish it. The statement, copies of which were suplied to the other reporters in court, was as follows:

"With chances millions to one against her after the catastrophe in 1901, it is wonderful that Mrs. H. K. Thaw prevailed in the cross-examination against the prosecution backed by blacklegs.

"Her testimony was absolute truth.

"Our evidence was of conversations. The cross-examination has proved the exact facts under oath.

Mr. Jerome, finding his informants in certain lines falsifiers, concluded by more usual methods, which is to his credit.

"However, from some of his questions and some of his unprofessional remarks, it appeared clearly that the natural and real goodness of the witness is above his comprehension."

It is rumored that Mr. Jerome will endeavor to put this statement in evidence in an attempt to show that Thaw is still insane. Indications are, however, that Jerome will overlook no chance to influence the jury to send Thaw to an asylum for the criminal insane. Today will probably be another day of expert tesimony. Dr. B. D. Evans, of Morris Plains, N. J., will, according to the statement yesterday made by District Attorney Jerome, remain on the witness stand all day. Mr. Jerome will begin his continued cross-examination with questions based on the hypothetical question asked Dr. Evans by Mr. Delmas and which he answered by saying he believed Thaw was insane when he fired the shot that killed Stanford White. A copy of the question was given to Dr. Evans yesterday and he was asked to study it carefully that he might be ready to answer such questions as Mr. Jerome may have for him. That the defence can close its case this week is out of the question. There is little probability that the court will sit on Saturday. If Mr. Jerome requires all day to finish his cross-examination of Dr. Evans, it will probably be the middle of next week before the defence will be ready to close its case and allow Mr. Jerome to present his testimony in rebuttal.

Just what Mr. Jerome is prepared to do in the matter of asking for a commission in lunacy is a matter of doubt. It has been thought many times that he is preparing for such a move, but he has given no indication of it beyond the statement that if he is convinced that Thaw was insane when he committed the deed he is insane today. This, it is believed, he hopes to show by Dr. Allan McLane Hamilton, who was employed by the defence and then allowed to go because, it is said, he believes Thaw is now insane.

When the trial opened, District Attorney Jerome announced that there had been received a second package of letters from J. D. Lyon, who, until Nov. last had custody of Thaw's will. The letters received today were written to Mr. Lyon by Thaw while in the Tombs and all bear dates subsequent to June 25 last. Dr. D. Britton Evans was recalled as soon as the letters had been examined by counsel. Mr. Jerome continued his cross-examination.

"Taking everything that you have testified to into consideration, what in your opinion was the mental condition of the defendant when he wrote these letters?" asked Mr. Jerome.

"He was in a state of mental instability."

"Do you mean he was insane?"

"Not necessarily."

Mr. Jerome handed the witness a copy of the letter Thaw wrote to Anthony Comstock complaining of the "dens of vice" maintained by Stanford White and "other rich scoundrels" for the ruin of young girls.

"It shows," said Dr. Evans, after examining the letter, "that his mind seemed to be running about young women and their supposed wrongs. It indicates a delusive state in the writer's mind."

OTTAWA SAYS 'TIS TWEEDIE

Practically Settled That Premier Tweedie Will Be Next Governor.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 1 (Special)—Premier Tweedie and Attorney General Pugsley, of New Brunswick, are expected to arrive in the city this afternoon. It is understood that they are coming in connection with the vacant governorship of the province. The name of Premier Tweedie has been mentioned prominently for the position. If he accepts, and it is said he will, he can have the office.

Among the street rumors discussed this morning in connection with the changes in the local house in consequence of the death of Lieut. Governor Snowball, and the appointment of his successor, was that Hon. A. R. McClelan would be appointed to fill the gubernatorial chair temporarily and that Premier Tweedie would receive the appointment at the close of the present session of the legislature. It is said that this was the poposal suggested by Mr. Tweedie. Attorney General Pugsley, it is said, will oppose Geo. W. Fowler in Kings and Albert counties for the federal house and Hon. C. W. Robinson, speaker of the house, is spoken of as premier.

DISGRACEFUL CONDITIONS

Sma'lpox Widespread in Bruce, Ontario, and No Attempt at Effective Quarantine.

WIARTON, Ont., March 1 (Special)—The Wiarton Echo says that, although smallpox is widespread in the upper townships of Bruce Peninsula, a prominent resident states there has practically been very little quarantine. Children from the infected houses have attended the district school. Men stricken with this loathsome disease have kept on with their work, and others from houses where the disease has been, have gone into public places of every kind. "If these things are true," declares the Echo, "the sooner the provincial health officer is on the ground the better for the peninsula and for this town."

THE IRON HAND

(New Glasgow Chronicle)

It is rather curious tactics for the Y. M. C. A. managers to send statements printed by jobbers to newspaper men. It is also curious that they give their printing to jobbers who stand round the rooms for what is in them, and then expect the newspapers to publish their reports and notices gratis. They hand out free luncheon to the jobbers and the iron hand to the newspaper men.

The ladies of the Charlotte street (west end) Baptist Missionary Society met at the home of Mrs. E. Fletcher, Dufferin Row, this afternoon. After the usual exercises conducted by Mrs. A. C. ST. PETERSBURG, March 1—The following details of the murder Wednesday at Karsnoyarsk, Siberia, of General Koslevsky, the commandant of that town, have been received here.

The general was walking on the street at 5 o'clock in the afternoon with some friends and he referred jokingly to a threatening letter he had received that day, saying he would be killed at 5 o'clock that afternoon. Drawing his watch from his pocket the general remarked laughingly to his friends: "You see I am still alive." At about 6 o'clock when General Koslevsky was returning home alone a man suddenly called upon him to halt and then fired three revolver shots at him. The general dropped dead.

The former Miss Ball says she has no marriage certificate and does not remember the name of the Justice who performed the ceremony, but says she will secure those proofs.

The Brotherhood of America, the society in which Whittaker was insured, will give the $1,500 to the Surrogate and let the Court pay it to the one entitled to it. Since his suicide there have been reports of a widow in England and another in Philadelphia.

TWO VAGRANTS IN HARD LUCK

They Asked Alms From Policemen and Were at Once Arrested.

Two prisoners in the police court this morning would in all probability not have been before Judge Ritchie had they not had the misfortune to seek alms at the residence of two policemen.

John Kane, aged 50, was the first name called and he pleaded not guilty to the charge of vagrancy. He claimed that he was selling pencils and paper from door to door, but admitted that he had been arrested before. He denied that he had assaulted people on Elliott Row while peddling turnips. The judge, however, said that he distinctly remembered the case.

Officer Greer said that he was in his home last night, when Kane came to the door and asked for some turnips and something to eat. The officer enquired his name and asked him if he lived in St. John. Kane said that he had come from New Hampshire. He could not recollect having said that, as he had been drinking, he said, and everyone knew that he was from Kings County.

"Oh, your a K. C.," said the judge, and subsequently gave him three months in jail with hard labor. On second consideration he was allowed to go back to Kings Co.

Charles Humphrey, aged 20 years, bent and haggard, looked more than 40 when he faced the judge charged with vagrancy. He had been begging on Paradise Row, and said that he was guilty. It was immediately apparent that the prisoner was not sane, and the judge asked him if he realized that for the offence he was liable to six months in jail with hard labor.

"What's that you say about six?" asked the prisoner, but his honor did not reply.

Officer Semple said that Humphrey went to his house last night and asked for something to eat.

"Isn't that all right?" asked the prisoner?"

"Did you have a clergyman's certificate?" asked the judge.

"What clergyman?" asked the prisoner.

On being questioned he said that his father and mother lived in Fairville and that he had been born in Fredericton.

Fred Rutherford and "Bobby" Dixon were fined $4 and $8 respectively for drunkenness.

But one of those reported for not shovelling the snow from the sidewalk appeared. The sexton of St. John the Baptist church said that the snow had been removed from in front of the church and was excused.

Walter Godsoe has been reported by Sergt Ross for acting in a disorderly manner on the Ludlow last night between 6 and 7 o'clock, by wanting to fight and shouting and using profane language. John Devlin and Wm. Amos are named as witnesses.

EQUITY COURT

In the equity court this morning, the matter of Albert Sharp v. Helen J. Sharp and Isaac Sharp, was heard. This was an application for an injunction. The plaintiff claimed that in 1903 he made an agreement with the defendant, Helen Sharp, to purchase certain mill property and had entered and possessed the property since then under the said agreement, and in December last Helen Sharp conveyed the property to Isaac, by deed duly registered. The plaintiff claimed that Isaac Sharp bought with notice of this agreement, and brought suit to set aside the conveyance to Isaac Sharp, and asked for an injunction to restrain defendant from cutting lumber on said property.

The application was dismissed with costs on the ground that though the deed was registered, it was not shown that Isaac Sharp bought with notice. Only constructive notice was shown.

W. B. Jonah for plaintiff; A. S. White for defendants.

A NOVA SCOTIAN'S HEROISM

Thursday's Boston Post says that Cecil Cromwell, a Nova Scotian sailor, who is on the fishing schooner Frances Whelen, made a gallant rescue of a shipmate 25 miles off Cape Cod on the way in from the Eastern Georges. An accident threw William White into the sea and there he lay unconscious. Inconvenienced greatly by heavy clothing, Cromwell jumped into the sea and had to dive to get his friend. The schooner had left them some distance but a dory was sent out and the unconscious man was held in the arms of Cromwell for 15 minutes in the water, until both were rescued. That is the fourth life Cromwell has saved.

Blom says that Johnson gave him the coat to sell. He will probably be brought before the magistrate this afternoon.

THE TIMES NEW REPORTER

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

The lovely Miss Birdie McWhat desires to state that, though she would not desire in any way to interfere with the work of professional modistes, yet, her artistic sense is so often shocked by the dowdy costumes of ladies she meets on the streets and in public places, that she would willingly give personal instructions in matters of style to any who cared to call upon her at a time to be arranged. She has thought of giving short lectures at meetings of the Women's Council or at Mother's Meetings or Women's Missionary meetings, but as her remarks might be tinged by asperity as a result of gazing upon the horrid violations of true style always in evidence at such meetings, she feels that individual work would be most satisfactory. There can be no doubt that Birdie's generous and timely offer will be received with great pleasure in select social circles.
