VOMITING TORRENTS OF RED HOT LAVA

Volcano in Chile is in Violent Eruption---Fifty Killed and Three Hundred Injured in Mexican Earthquake---Great Cathedral Split in Twain.

NEW YORK, April 18--A despatch from Valparaiso, Chile, says Puyenha, a volcano adjacent to the large lake of the same name in the province of Valdivia, is in violent eruption. The phenomenon is accompanied by subterranean tremblings, earthquakes, intense darkness, noisy electrical display, ashes and boiling water. Torrents of lava have set fire to the surrounding forests and people and cattle are fleeing in terror.

CITY OF MEXICO, April 18—Owing to the great difficulty in establishing communication with the cities situated in the region of the greatest devastation wrought by the recent earthquake, details are coming slowly. Each succeeding intelligence magnifies the extent of the disaster. From the latest reports it is learned that the earth is now quiet in the region which was seriously affected, but the last shock occurred as late as noon yesterday. In the list of known dead, which now totals fifty, and injured, which approximates 300, are many names of Mexicans prominent in the official and social life of the region.

It has been discovered that the cathedral of Mexico City, one of the most famous churches in the world, was cracked from top to bottom by the recent earthquake. The fissure is an eighth of an inch wide. An engineer has been appointed to examine the building. The cathedral is centuries old. It is built on the old site of the Aztec temple.

News of the death of Inez Bonilla, the first American killed in the recent earthquake, has reached the office of the Associated Press. Senora Inez Bonilla, of Chilhancingo, was the wife of the former secretary to the governor of the state of Guerrera.

SIX NEW CARDINALS GET THE RED HAT AT PUBLIC CONSISTORY IN ROME

ROME, April 18—A public consistory was held at the Vatican this morning with great ceremony. This being the season in which Rome is crowded with tourists, the demand for tickets was phenomenal. At an early hour all the streets leading to St. Peter's were black with sable clad figures hurrying to get good places at the Vatican, and soon the hall of beatification and the corridors through which the papal processions passed were crowded with priests, monks, men in evening dress, and ladies in black veils, while the tribunes erected for the occasion contained the family of the Pope, the Roman hierarchy and the members of the diplomatic corps.

The procession was long and interesting, being composed of many and various nationalities, each monk, priest, layman or papal official having a different costume, and while black predominated, color was not wanting.

The Swiss guard headed the procession, and the noble guard surrounded the person of the pontiff, who was dressed in white. He was preceded by the cardinals in full red robes, and followed by the bishops and archbishops. When the Pontiff was seated on the throne, six of the seven new cardinals advanced one by one to receive the red hat. Each prelate knelt at the feet of the Pope, while the master of ceremonies held a magnificent red hat over the cardinal's head and the Pope saying "accipe galerum rubrum," etc, arose and gave the papal embrace. The new cardinals then passed from cardinal to cardinal to receive the kiss of brotherhood, while the choir sang the softest music. The only cardinal created at the secret consistory April 15, who was not present was Mgr. Rinaldin, the papal nuncio at Madrid, who will receive his red hat at the next public consistory. The Pope then imparted the apostolic blessing and withdrew, surrounded by his court and guards, to preside later at a supplementary secret consistory, the new cardinals in the meanwhile returning thanks before the altar of the Sistine chapel.

KING EDWARD'S VISIT TO ITALY

Great Britain's King and Queen Arrived at Gaeta, Italy, this Morning---Received by King Victor Emmanuel---Imposing Gathering of Warships.

Board of Works 3rdec07

GAETA, Italy, April 18—The British royal yacht Victoria and Albert, with King Edward and Queen Alexandra on board, arrived here at about 9.30 o'clock this morning from Malta, escorted by the British armored cruisers Suffolk and Lancaster. King Edward was received by King Victor Emmanuel, who was on board the Italian royal yacht Trinacria, surrounded by twelve Italian warships and twelve torpedo boats. The usual salutes were exchanged and hearty cheers greeted the British king from the people ashore and the sailors on board the warships.

Notwithstanding the fact that the weather was not so fine as hoped for, the shore of the beautiful Gulf of Gaeta, stretching from here to Formia, presented a most attractive appearance, being one continuous stretch of luxuriant vegetation. The two kings embraced each other repeatedly when they met on board the Trinacria, and King Victor Emmanuel kissed Queen Alexandra's hand.

The mayor of Gaeta sent Her Majesty a bouquet of orchids and roses with a card bearing the words: "Devotion and admiration to the most powerful queen in the world." A lunch on board the Trinacria followed. It was mainly attended by military and naval officers, the only local official invited being General del Rosso, commander of the fort of Gaeta. The presence of Marine Minister Mirabello, a strong advocate of increasing the strength of the Italian navy, and the commanders of so many men-of-war, before one of the chief strongholds in the Mediterranean, accentuated the martial character of the repast. The toasts exchanged were simply expressions of friendship between Italy and Great Britain. A crowd of English women, who were permitted to witness King Edward's arrival from the high bastions of the fort, gave vent to their patriotism by singing "God Save the King," which was acknowledged by the British royal yacht dipping her ensign.

KEEP BOY PRISONERS AWAY FROM THE OLDER OFFENDERS

Magistrate Ritchie Quotes the Law in the Case of Young Mulcahey.

Edward Mulcahey, aged 13, who was arrested last night on a charge of stealing seven due bills from the Western Union Telegraph Co's office on King street, on April 6, also for collecting such due bills to the amount of $2.60 from Thos. Nagle, 53 1-2 Dock street, was before Judge Ritchie this morning, and after the charge was read over to him, was remanded to jail pending further investigation into his case by the police authorities.

He was not allowed to plead.

His honor ordered that the youthful offender be placed in a separate cell and not be allowed to come in contact with other prisoners.

Judge Ritchie commented on the fact that according to law boy prisoners were not allowed to come into court with older offenders.

Why this had been so often overlooked he could not say, but he expressed the hope that he would not be obliged to refer to it again.

Carl Johnston, found drunk on King street, was fined $8 or two months in jail. Johnston paid two fines in one day at Christmas time. Thomas Smith, found helplessly drunk in the street, was fined $4 or ten days in jail.

Allan McLean, lying drunk on Rodney street, Carleton, was also fined $4 or ten days.

When the constables made their appearance in court this morning his honor mentioned the fact that the majority were not there yesterday, and reminded them that Wednesday was the day on which to make returns.

"We have a juvenile court here," remarked Judge Ritchie when young Mulcahey was brought in a second time this morning and the evidence of Manager Robertson, of the local branch of the Western Union Telegraph Co. had been taken.

His honor pointed out that although many people made statements to the opposite effect, they did so without knowing that such a court does exist.

SEATTLE, April 18—The Central Labor committee last night passed resolutions scoring President Roosevelt's actions in referring to E. H. Harriman as being in the same class as Morin and Debbs. The resolution criticizes the president for his statement regarding the murderers of former Governor Steuenburg of Idaho before they have been tried, and for denying them the rights of American citizens to be presumed innocent until proved guilty. The labor leaders requested that the president retract and asked for a square deal for the men whose names they declare he has clouded.

FREDERICTON, April 18 (Special)—The merger of the People's Bank and the Bank of Montreal will be completed this week, and on Monday the Bank of Montreal agency will be removed to the People's Bank building on Queen street. A young man, charged with creating a disturbance at a house of ill-repute on the Woodstock road a few days ago, pleaded guilty at the police court this morning and was fined twenty dollars and costs.

At a meeting of the fire committee last evening it was decided to reorganize the fire department. The number of hose companies will be reduced from four to two, and the salvage and hook and ladder companies will in future have seven men each instead of ten. Chief Rutter thinks the changes will tend to greater efficiency. The water in the river has risen a few inches during the last twenty-four hours, but the ice continues solid. The ice in the main Nashwaak is said to be wasting away rapidly.

MAY BE DUE TO CIGAR ASHES

Fire in McGill Medical Building Started in Faculty Room, Where Professors Had Been Smoking.

MONTREAL, April 18 (Special)—That the fire which destroyed the McGill medical building must have started in the faculty room on the first floor was the one point settled by evidence taken yesterday afternoon by the fire commissioner who is making a searching investigation in order to determine, if possible, whether it was incendiary or not. Several of the witnesses who first saw the fire testified to its having originated in the faculty room.

Dr. Scan, registrar of the faculty, who was examined, stated that a meeting of the faculty was held the night of the fire, and that it did not close until eleven o'clock. He said that there had been smoking during the meeting, but as there was no waste paper in the room there seemed little likelihood of cigar ashes having caused the fire. The investigation will be continued.

Dean Roddick, of the McGill medical faculty has received the following cable from Dr. Osler, who is at present in England: "Deepest sympathy with faculty, prepare to act the Phoenix with courage."

Signed "OSLER."

MAY DANCE HER LIFE OUT

Pretty Philadelphia Girl Victim of Strange Mania for Dancing Which May Kill Her.

PHILADELPHIA, April 18—After nearly three days of almost continuous dancing, Theresa Horn, a housemaid for John Kelly, a wealthy resident of Ardmore, was placed under opiates at Norristown Hospital to prevent her from dancing her life away.

Even while under the influence of morphine her feet kept twitching as though the impulse was too much for even drugs to conquer.

Before the physicians took this action the girl begged piteously to be delivered from the strange mania that has possessed her. Her face, which had been well rounded, has lost its curves and is like that of a wrinkled old woman. Her eyes are as those of a man finishing a six-day bicycle race. Her heart action is tremendously excited at times, and then almost imperceptible.

The only parallels, according to surgeons, are the strange dancing mania caused by the tarantula's bite and the weird phenomena that once led to a crusade against witches in New England.

Miss Horn, who is only twenty-one, very graceful and exceptionally pretty, had always been extremely fond of dancing. While at her work she suddenly threw her arms over her head and began the rhythmic movement that has landed her on a hospital cot.

"I don't know what's the matter with me," she gasped, as Mrs. Kelly entered, "I can't stop dancing."

Her employers tried to hold her, but could not. Then they tried to hold her feet. It was impossible. After she had danced for more than an hour, Drs. Cloud and McLeod were called in.

By this time Miss Horn could not speak. Her temperature was very high, and her eyes were shining with fever.

After working with her for some time the physicians had her sent to the matron's room ino the Ardmore police station. Policemen held her to a cot, but as soon as they released their hold she resumed dancing. Injections of morphine had only a temporary effect.

With only occasional respites, the girl's movements continued all day. At times she would whirl about the room in the waltz two-step. Then they would partake of the weird grace of the Orient.

Beyond the apparent loss of speech and the uncontrollable dancing there are no signs of mental disease. Nor did Miss Horn ever betray any abnormal symptoms.

MOCK TRIAL OVER A PRETTY ANKLE

Lodge Acquits a Member of Studying Beauty of Foot Seen a Year Ago.

DENVER, Col., April 17—Things looked decidedly gloomy for A. Nockin, as he termed himself, on trial in the solemn court of the A. O. U. W. on the grave charge of having surreptiously glanced at a pretty ankle in Sixteenth street on a rainy afternoon nearly a year ago. But in the end the cleverness of the attorneys for the defence, Harry Lindsey and Robert Morris, while not sufficient to procure an unbiased acquittal, did so move Judge James Oates that sentence was suspended during good behavior.

Clever indeed was the defence worked out in large part by Attorney Lindsey, who showed conclusively, first, that the defendant was at home and in bed at the time of the alleged crime, and second, that if the defendant had committed the enormity he had done so while subject to a mental upheaval or brain storm which had begun a tenth of a second before the crime and ended a tenth of a second later. This combined alibi and insanity defence, however, was not strong enough to offset the powerful prosecution of Attorneys S. S. Abbott and R. H. Malone, who insisted on the contention that the defence was not consistent with itself.

Then there was another element in the case that made the outlook bad for the defendant— the name he had chosen to take when arrested. Nobody believed that Nockin was his real name, and it was argued that when a man takes pains to conceal his identity he must be guilty. How could it possibly be otherwise?

Dr. W. H. Davis was there in the capacity of insanity expert, swearing that the unfortunate prisoner, if he had indeed looked at the extremity in question, must have done so only as the inevitable result either of pyrotehilitis of the intellect or else mandiphtgeriania. That a normal human being could possibly have done the thing was not for a moment admitted by the learned expert. Dr. Davis's contention in plain English was that the man had not committed the crime with which he was charged or else that he had done it because he could not help himself.

The jury found a verdict without leaving their seats and this was the verdict: "Not guilty this time, but don't do it again."

"Prisoner," sternly said the judge, "it is the sentence of the court that you shall be blinded with two red hot pokers thrust into your eyes, and the sentence is suspended."

NEWS OF THE WORLD AS TOLD IN SHORT METRE

At Albion, N. Y., last night, Temisto Chechini, for killing Robert Auker, was sentenced to prison for life.

Abe Attel, feather-weight champion of America, outpointed Tommy O'Toole, of Philadelphia, in a six round fight at the National A .C., Philadelphia, last night.

John P. Dunning, well known in newspaper circles throughout America, died yesterday in a Philadelphia hospital of tumor on the brain. He was 44 years of age.

The condition of Queen Victoria of Spain is satisfactory. She was driven in an automobile with King Alfonso to the casa de Campo yesterday afternoon.

Mirza Abazzin, chief engineer of the department of way and construction of the trans-Siberian railroad, was shot and wounded at Banq, trans-Caucasia last night. He bears a close resemblance to the ex-Persian Grand Vizier, Amin Hultan, and it is thought that the assassins were revolutionary visionaries. Three passersby were wounded during the fusillade.

It is asserted in official circles in Paris, that nothing in the nature of a French naval demonstration is intended off Mogador, Morocco. The French cruisers, Lalande, Forbin and Gloire, it is added, are merely cruising off the Moroccan coast, putting into various ports and prepared to cope with eventualities until the present intervention of France in Morocco is no longer necessary. The reports received by the French government say the situation is uglier than for some time past.

THE TIMES NEW REPORTER

NOVA SCOTIA'S FRIEND.

Our esteemed fellow citizen Mr. Jamesey Jones is running around town today in a state of great excitement. He heard last night that there was talk of an attempt in this city to prevent the portfolio of minister of railways from going to Nova Scotia.

"I never heard of the like," cried Jamesey to the Times new reporter. "I entirely agree withe the Globe. New Brunswick has had the portfolio quite long enough—quite long enough. It should now go to Nova Scotia. Nova Scotia should have two portfolios, and especially the one that would enable her to manipulate I. C. R. and C. P. R. matters to suit Halifax. Besides, Nova Scotia is entitled to two of the principal portfolios, and could handle three or four—having so many more able men than we have in New Brunswick.

"I heard last night," pursued Jamesey, "that there was talk of having Dr. Pugsley nominated by the liberals of St. John, and elected without opposition. Isn't that scandalous? Why it would almost make him a sure candidate for a portfolio—with Emmerson out and Hyman out and Borden going out. What do we want of a man in the government? What right has St. John to raise its head and say it ought to have a representative in the government? I tell you, the only friend St. John has anywhere is the Globe. The Globe knows what's good for us. Why, sir," yelled Jamesey, glaring at the new reporter, "I'd rather vote for you than for Pugsley,—and if the Globe says so, I'll have you nominated."

The new reporter humbly expressed his thanks, and Jamesey, seeing a group of three men on the next corner, flew in their direction with the agility of a man half his years.

Jamesey is thoroughly roused, and will secure that portfolio for Nova Scotia, if he has to go to Ottawa himself as the representative of St. John. The city should be proud of so good a citizen as Jamesey.

SHE'S A BIRD.

The Times new reporter received from Hampton this morning a hen's egg weighing nearly four ounces. It was accompanied by a note saying that a copy of the Times containing the young man's picture had somehow got into the hennery, and his somewhat delicate appearance as revealed in the picture appealed to the sympathy of the poultry yard. This egg is the first hen fruit of that sympathy. Jealous members of the staff profess to be sorry for the hen, and assert that she is a goose—but these foxy gents are unable to destroy the joyous anticipation with which the new reporter looks forward to tomorrow's breakfast. The Hampton hen is a bird.

GUNNING ACCIDENT NEAR SACKVILLE LAST NIGHT

SACKVILLE, N. B., April 18 (Special)—A very serious gunning accident occurred at Wood Point last night, whereby Aubrey Snowdon, son of Alma Snowdon of that place, will lose one of his legs, if not his life.

It seems that John Alward and Snowdon were returning from a gunning expedition. Alward had taken the shells from his gun, but Snowdon neglected to do so. Snowdon was pulling the boat ashore, when, in some manner, something struck the trigger, discharging the gun, the contents entering Snodwon's right knee, leaving a ragged hole, and splitting the bone. The blood flooded freely and it looked at one time as if he would bleed to death before help arrived.

Dr. Cook was called and stopped the flow of blood, but did not attempt to remove the shot. The probability is that his leg will have to be amputated. Snowdon, who is about twenty-one years old, is a carpenter by trade, but during the winter has been employed in the lumber woods at River Hebert, N. S.
