CANADIAN IDEALS

It is possible for a man to become so engrossed in the mere task of getting and spending that the larger aspects of life do not appeal to him at all. Such a man is not Dr. Falconer. A man in close touch with his fellows, and keenly interested in the material progress and welfare of Canada, he scales also the lofty peaks of thought, and views a nation in the making. He takes note of the various currents converging to form the main stream of the nation's life, and realizes that upon their purity must depend the quality of the whole. He would have the character of the nation correspond with the highest type of manhood in the individual; and, in speaking of the maritime provinces, he would have them offer this contribution to the life of the confederacy. Dr. Parkin, addressing the same club in the same room, gave reasons for his belief that in this northern country would be developed the finest type of manhood the world has known.

Dr. Falconer pointed out with great clearness, last evening, that it is character—manhood—that counts in the last analysis. It is well that there are men to plead with force and eloquence the cause of the higher life, and to arrest the thought of the self-absorbed, the cynical and the indifferent, while they hold up even in the market place the loftier ideals of personal conduct, of education and of statesmanship. Unquestionably the need of the hour in Canada is men of high character, of earnest purpose, of broad views, and of unshaken fidelity to the best interests of their country. The temptation to relax, to regard lightly the claims of public duty when these conflict with private interests, was never so great as in this time of national expansion and prosperity. He who speaks, therefore, in behalf of honesty, of intelligence, of education, of patriotism, of devotion to higher national aims, is doing a great public service; and few can speak with more convincing force than he who last evening was the honored guest of the Canadian Club of St. John.

GET BUSY, GENTLEMEN

The question of berth accommodation on the west side is said to be causing considerable anxiety among shipping men who are beginning to enquire whether the new Clark wharf will be ready for the coming winter, and if so what provision will be made for handling grain at that point.

The above statement from this morning's Telegraph, coupled with the announcement that we shall have more steamship sailings next winter than ever before should arouse the city council and board of trade to more vigorous action. The council persists in delaying the task of engaging a competent director of public works, and it is not clear that the greatest possible progress is being made in dredging, wharf and warehouse building and the re-building of Union street. As this paper has frequently pointed out, time is a very important element in the case. There should be a general shaking up and a determined effort made to rush all needed work to completion.

PARTY AND PRINCIPLE

In recording the fact that a lady of eighty years contracted the measles, and to the surprise of her friends survived, and is able to go about again, the New Glasgow Chronicle adds this comment:—"She was too good a Grit to die before the Hants election."

The editor's joke is not without a serious application in a more general sense. There are some electors in every constituency to whom their party represents all that is worth anything in politics. Nor is party allegiance to be condemned, so long as the party stands for high principles. The danger to the welfare of the country arises when the high principles are abandoned by the leaders, but the rank and file still follow the party banner, unconscious that they are being "used" by men in whom they had placed the fullest confidence. Happily the people will not consent to be so "used" when they are made aware of the facts. It may take time to convince them that they are being humbugged, but once the conviction becomes general their action is prompt and decisive.

The St. John Sun adds the following lofty contribution to the decencies of journalism:—"Dr. Daniel, M. P., and H. A. Powell, K. C., have gone fishing with Fairy Godfather McKane, but it is a safe bet that the St. John politicians will not land another "sucker" like the Fairy Godfather during their trip." A newspaper that can give expression to such noble sentiments in such a graceful manner must be of enormous value to the party of whose cause it is a disinterested and wholly independent champion.

With reference to the Chamberlain policy of closer union within the empire, the Malaya (India) Times says:—"Though Joseph Chamberlain may be stricken and laid low—only for a time, let us hope—his dream lives in the united demand of the colonies for a realization of their proper position in the political economy of the empire. The colonies demand, without one dissentient voice, that they now, and before it is too late, be made integral parts of an undivided and indivisible empire."

The laying of the corner stone of the new Y. M. C. A. building this afternoon is an event of great importance to the city of St. John. From such a building as will be erected, conducted in such a manner as to be of the best service to young men, great benefit must be derived. The city has been too long without such a home for young men. The experience of other cities proves that as an institution it does much for the physical, intellectual and moral welfare of those who take advantage of the opportunities it offers.

It appears to be almost hopeless to expect that the present city council will secure a competent director of public works. The denunciation of any but local men, in which some aldermen indulge, proves that they will not approach the question with an open mind. The ferry steamer and waterworks affairs have absolutely no relation to this question, and should not for one moment be considered.

Speaking in the House of Lords yesterday, Lord Monkswell said: "The system of government in the Congo Independent State is one of unrestrained tyranny, enforced by the lash and the bullet, by cruelty and by murder." The denunciation is none too severe. The recent publication of stories of horrible cruelty perpetrated upon the natives has once more startled the world, and the iron grip of Leopold must be unloosed.

Having made a number of false assertions relative to the Times and Telegraph, the Sun, this morning, says: — "In the light of all this, the 'independence' deception, together with the purpose, is so obvious as to be silly." The Sun further charges these journals with "trashy chicanery." By the way—speaking of the ownership of newspapers—who is the owner of the St. John Sun—and why?

Lord Curzon, in a recent speech, sharply criticised the methods of the British colonial office. He said it was made up of permanent officials, many of whom had never set eyes on the colonies they administered, and he asked why there should not be an imperial council of some kind to assist in their administration.

The hearty applause which greeted Dr. Falconer last evening when he spoke of the desirability of maritime union, and the strong words of Dr. Alward on the same subject, should give encouragement to those who urge that we should have but one set of governmental machinery for the three provinces.

The Sun intimates that the Times displays temper. Our contemporary is quite wrong. Even were one disposel to gloom, the diverting folly of the Sun would chase the clouds away.

In addition to improving their personal appearance the policemen will hereafter be prohibited from spitting on the sidewalk. The aldermen are in the mood for reform.

Systematic Catarrh Has But One Cure.

Lotions and Powders Will Never Help
Unless the Blood is Given Attention.

The way to radically and permanently cure catarrh is to cleanse the blood of the unhealthy secretions that keep the mucous membrane inflamed.

Catarrhal poison usually interferes with the stomach, kidneys and liver. These organs must be properly toned and strengthened, otherwise you feel sick all over.

To go direct to the source of the trouble—to cleanse, nourish and purify the blood—where can you find anything so potent as Dr. Hamilton's Pillls?

This grand medicine regulates the eliminating organs and completely drives the virus of catarrh out of the system. Thousands of cures prove this.

Of course to clear the nose and head of mucous discharges, Dr. Hamilton recommends the use of Catarrhozone Inhaler, which, if used with his pills of Mandrake and Butternut, cures the most obstinate case of Catarrh ever known. All dealers sell Dr. Hamilton's Pillls in 25c. boxes.

A KINDLY WISH

We regret to learn of the retirement of Mr. McDade from the management of The New Freeman, St. John, on account of ill health. We shall miss the shrewd and pertinent comment and the well-informed inside news of matters political usually found in "Onlooker's" column, and shall continue to hope that Mr. McDade's retirement from the press may be only temporary.—Charlottetown Guardian.

THE WAYS OF WOMEN

A Laplander bold fell in love I am told
With a maiden who lived near the Pole.
Their engagement to hallow, he made her a tallow
Dip-candle (and went in the hole.
For there tallow's expensive, and trade not extensive,
Tho some say the tallow he stole).
Said he, "Oh, be mine! And this candle is thine!"
And right here the real tale was begun.
She gave one coy look, and the candle she took,
And the man thought his wooing was done.

She sat on the ice and she ate in a trice
His candle so greasy and yellow and nice.
When he asked for the wick she said, "No, not a lick!
For you gave and I took. That is Love."
Then she shook
Off the crumbs as she rose to her feet.
"Glad I met you," she said. "Can I get you your sled?"
And she pointed the way down the street.

Back to Lapland he went, indeed, he was sent,
And he sulkily said as he slid,
"Of all the bold minxes!
She's sharp as the lynxes!
The game's not worth the candle. I'll skid!"
Which he did.

SMART SALESLADY.

"Well," said the proprietor, "I see you have at last sold that ugly hat we expected to have on our hands."

"Yes," replied the saleslady, "I got a middle-aged woman to try it on yesterday and then told her that it would not, of course, do for her because it was intended for a younger woman."

BACK TALK.

"It's too bad,' 'said the judge, caustically ,"that the defendant should have chosen you for counsel. You know nothing about law."

"Well, you know," replied the young attorney, "perhaps my client realized that I don't need to in this court."

THE COMING STORM.

Billy ran from the head of the stairs where he had taken in the gist of the talk at the dining table below. In the nursery he found his younger brother.

"Gee, Jimmy," he cried, "mother's goin' to give it to daddy after the company's gone."

"How do you know?" demanded Jimmy.

"Why," answered Billy, "he's told her three times hand runnin' she was mistaken about somethin', and she only said, 'Why, darlin'."

AT THE NICKEL

The excellent programme of motion pictures at the Nickel, which has been delighting crowded houses since Monday, will be terminated tonight. All who have a desire to hear the stirring fireman song, The Man with the Ladder and the Hose, should not allow the last programmes to pass without visiting the popular playhouse.

The animated photographs themselves are worth many times the price of admission to see, as they include the following subjects: The Pirate's Treasure, or a Sailor's Love Story; Jones' Patent Motor, Humors of a River Picnic, Curing a Jealous Wife, and The Pillmaker's Mistake.

PICNIC'S AT ROCKWOOD

An evidence that Rockwood Park is becoming a popular picnic ground for people outside the city was shown yesterday when a large party of pleasure seekers from Norton arrived and spent the day very pleasantly among the attractions. The picnickers came in on the Sussex train and leaving the cars at the Gilbert's Lane crossing, wended their way to the shady dells and alluring paths of the popular pleasure resort. After enjoying themselves to the utmost they left on the return home on the 5.10 express.

Next week a large excursion party from Sussex is expected to make the park their camping ground for a day of pleasure. Tonight there will be a fireworks display and Crowell Fish will shoot-the-chutes on his bicycle, (weather permitting.)

In Amherst, on Saturday, the Rovers (colored) baseball team defeated the Royals (colored) of this city by a score of 12 to 1.
