The Viper of Milan.

A ROMANCE OF LOMBARDY.
BY MARJORIE BOWEN.

The rider dismounted, and tied his horse to the low bough of a large beech, flinging himself on the space of cleared ground beneath with a sigh. He wore a dress of peacock-colored velvet, tumbled and torn, and save for a richly-jeweled dagger, more for ornament than use, was unarmed; but in the fight from which Count Conrad had just escaped, though a fight with two, weapons had not been needed; persuasion had done the work, and he had come out victorious.

In a bundle on his saddle, hung his spurs, and as he dismounted he looked at them with interest and triumph.

Presently he fell to fingering his hair, then, sitting suddenly upright, drew his dagger with fine resolution.

He seized the first of his long curls and severed it.

Grimly, not giving himself time to pause, he proceeded to the next, and one by one hacked them from his head, his beautiful blond, perfumed curls.

Conrad sighed as he saw them lying on the grass, and felt his shorn head. He longed for a mirror in which to see the extent of his disfigurement, but there was not even a pool near.

Disconsolately he arose, and detaching the bundle from the saddle, he laid it upon the ground, and flung the wallet far into the bushes. "Food for hogs!"

Then with many sighs he removed the peacock-colored doublet and hose, and donned the monk's garb, drawing the hood over his shorn head, tying the girdle around his waist.

The robe was rather short, and Conrad noticed with dismay that his laced white shoes showed beneath.

Saint Dominick, curse him, but I forgot to take his sandals!" he cried in a passion. But passion did not avail him; he must go barefoot.

Bleeding feet will complete the disguise," he thought bitterly, and flung off his shoes at a stocking.

The robe was rather dirty; Count Conrad fastidiously nostrils fanned it, and the wallet about his shoulder. "Where the old wretch has often slept I warrant," he said, then crossed himself in contrition at the sacrilege.

Next he hung the rosary and crucifix about his neck—it was heavily heavy—and the wallet about his shoulder. The strap galled him, and the wretched Count moaned at his fate.

He was bound to admit he had brought it on himself; he would carry it through; and with a truly heroic air he strapped the velvet doublet on the horse, and taking the bride, made his way back toward the road.

On reaching it he flung the reins over the steed's back, and turned him adrift toward Brescia; then, with resolution in his heart and tears in his eyes, Count Conrad von Schlenbourg, with feet bare on the stony road, made painful progress toward Milan.

To BE DYSPEPTIC IS TO BE MISERABLE

Hopeless, Confused and Depressed
in Mind, Forgetful, Irresolute,
Drowsy, Languid and Useless.

This disease assumes so many forms that there is scarcely a complaint which it may not resemble in one way or another. Among the most prominent symptoms are constipation, sour stomach, variable appetite, heartburn, water-brash, gas in the stomach and bowels, distress after eating, etc.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS is a positive cure for dyspepsia, and all diseases of the stomach, liver, bowels or blood. It stimulates secretion of the saliva and gastric juices to facilitate digestion, removes acidity, purifies the blood and tones the entire system to full health and vigor.

Mrs. M. A. McNeil, Brook Village, N.S., writes: "I suffered from dyspepsia, loss of appetite and bad blood. I tried everything I could get but to no purpose; then finally started to use Burdock Blood Bitters. From the first day I felt the good effects of the medicine. I can eat anything now without any ill after effects and am strong and well again."

"MAJORITY OF GIRLS NOT FITTED TO WED"

Dr. Madison C. Peters of New York Says Aimlessness and Idleness Spoil Them.

(N. Y. American, April 17.)
Dr. Madison C. Peters, in his sermon yesterday morning at the Majestic Theatre on "The Kind of Woman to Marry," said:

"Many men think they are self-made who are really only marriage made. Don't marry for beauty alone. The love that has nothing but beauty to sustain it will soon fade."

"Look well to the temper of the woman you think of marrying. Marry a good housekeeper. Something more than a tender sentiment is needed to make the home life a success."

"The greatest defect in our social system is the aimless way girls are brought up. The majority of them are prepared in neither mind nor body for the lofty duties and serious responsibilities which marriage implies."

"Let our girls be brought up to have regular daily domestic duties; let idleness be forbidden them, and let every woman be clothed with the dignity of a useful life."

MARITAL CONFIDENCES.

Wife—"Don't you think I grow better looking as I grow older?"
Hubby—"Yes, and it's really too bad you can't live as long as they did in Bible times. You might then become a veritable beauty."

THE JAPANESE HAVE KEPT FAITH

Have Opened Wide the Door in Manchuria to the Trade of the World.

(New York Globe.)

Strange people, the Japanese; hard indeed is it to make them out. The latest mystery they offer to the world for explanation is the evacuation of Manchuria—the matter-of-course, little advertised withdrawal of the last Japanese regiment from the region that their comrades vacated with their blood.

Eighteen months ago when the treaty of Portsmouth was signed, the Japanese agreed to complete evacuation by April, 1907. The curious thing is that this pledge has been redeemed without a suggestion of evasion or delay. Most remarkable! If the modern one laughed at lovers' vows of a nation to surrender, unless compelled to, territory once in their possession. Every six months for several years Russia was to give up Manchuria. As soon as Russia's disaster, twenty-five years ago, was removed Great Britain was to abandon, evacuate Egypt. The world would not believe that we would leave Cuba, and chortled derisively when our soldiers went back.

Japan, although it is doubtful whether there could be assembled in the Far East force enough to compel her to evacuate Manchuria, and although her statesmen are clever enough to have invented most plausible reasons why evacuation at this time is impracticable, turns the three provinces over to China as if part of an ordinary day's work. Baron Goto, to the man-then to our such troubles as anaemia, indigestion, rheumatism, kidney trouble, St. Vitus dance, partial paralysis and those special ailments of girlhood and womanhood that cause so much misery. For sale by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

This afternoon a girls' association will be formed in connection with Douglas avenue Christian church. Mrs. Oran, Mrs. Israel and Miss Logan will be in charge of the movement. The first hour will be devoted to literary work, study of the Bible and English literature being taken up. An hour will be devoted to household work and domestic science, courses being given in sewing, cooking and house cleaning. A half-hour will be taken up with physical culture.

It Makes Pure Blood

We are often asked, Why does Hood's Sarsaparilla effect such wonderful cures of cases that seemed beyond the reach of medicine?

An examination of our well-known formula, from which Hood's Sarsaparilla is and always has been carefully and scientifically prepared, confirms the fact that it contains those well-known and valuable medicinal ingredients, which, when intelligently combined and properly administered, are sure to bring about good results.

It is the properly balanced proportion, combination and process in combining those ingredients known to have specific action upon the blood, stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, which make Hood's Sarsaparilla peculiar to itself and enable it to produce results unequaled by any similar medicine.

These ingredients are: for the blood, Sarsaparilla, Stillinger, Yellow Dock; for the liver, Mandrake, Dandelion; for the kidneys, Uva Ursi, Juniper Berries, Pipsissewa; for the stomach, Gentian, Wild Cherry Bark, Bitter Orange Peel; for the bowels, Senna, Mandrake, Dandelion.

"I used Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier and the results were entirely satisfactory. Several of my friends use or have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla and all speak highly of it." Mrs. RACON, BROOKFIELD, 71 Murray St., Montreal, Que.

"After scarlet fever I was without strength, had defective hearing, running, watery eyes, twinges of pain and exhausting aches, and free perspiration upon the slightest exertion. A sore on my left limb laid me up. In this low condition Hood's Sarsaparilla helped me in a week and in 8 weeks I was in perfect health, my blood cleansed of impurities and the sore healed. My complexion is better now than ever. I recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla for all blood humors and skin diseases." Mrs. HENRIETTA EMORY, 34 Dean Street, Roxbury, Mass.
