FISHING INDUSTRY RUINED BY DOG FISH

Government Should Wage an Earnest War Against Them

A DEALER'S OPINION

Man With Long Experience Talks on a Subject of Vital Importance to all Fishermen—He Suggests a Remedy.

Along the Bay of Fundy, as in coastwise fishing centres in the lower provinces, fishermen and fish dealers complain bitterly of the dog-fish pest, which year by year is becoming worse and threatens to ruin the fishing industry of the maritime provinces, especially of the Bay of Fundy, unless immediate steps are taken for the extermination of the dog-fish.

Pevie A. Smith, who has had many years of experience in the fishing industry, feels very strongly in the matter and thinks that the government should lose no time in inquiring into existing conditions. Talking with the Times, Mr. Smith said: "It is a clearly established fact that the fishing industry, particularly in the Bay of Fundy, is being destroyed by the dog-fish. This statement will be corroborated without hesitation by any fisherman or dealer in the maritime provinces, and like many others, I think it is the duty of the government to take the matter in hand at the earliest possible moment. Unless something is done, the people of the lower provinces, as well as other parts of Canada, will be obliged to pay higher prices for their fish, owing to the fact that it will be necessary to go a greater distance for them."

"As a means of exterminating the pest, I would offer the suggestion that the government establish fishing factories at fishing centres along the coast and also allow the fishermen a small bounty, thus encouraging them to save all their dog fish instead of throwing them off their hooks. Fishermen complain that in over-encouraging them to save all their dog fish on their hooks instead of cod or haddock."

"From every part of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia I have had letters from fishermen and fish dealers who complain of the inroads of dog-fish, especially during the warm weather when fish are very largely used."

"It would be well to call the attention of the government to the fact that the welfare of the fishing industry is of vital importance to the Maritime Provinces as a very large proportion of the population of this part of Canada depend upon it absolutely as a means of livelihood. Continuing Mr. Smith said: "I would consider that fertilizer factories would be a safe investment for the government as the product could be readily disposed of at good figures and, another advantage would be a large number of hands would be employed."

"It might be well to observe that the dog-fish is ruinous to the haddock catch which means that in time finnan haddies will be scarce and high and this is an important item to the fish business as enormous quantities of haddies are shipped to Upper Canada and as far west as the Pacific Coast, and if the dog-fish are not exterminated, the people of the lower provinces will be out thousands of dollars."

ISLE ROYALE AFFAIR A JOKE

How a Smart Reporter Again Startled America With a Dope Story.

PORT ARTHUR, August 9.—Captain purchase of the Island of Isle Royale, despite all reports to the contrary, did not go to Isle Royale to annex it. The captain and a few friends visited the island as pleasure-seekers. The annexation story in the Port Arthur Chronicle was taken seriously by the Dutch papers, and sent broadcast over the Associated Press in the United States and Canada. Isle Royale is acknowledged United States territory here; Captain Young, however, says he would indeed have annexed it to Fort William had that been possible. Isle Royale, carved into park lots and brought within reachable distance of Fort William or Port Arthur, would command the top notch, and give a new impetus to a dull real estate situation. This, in effect, is Captain Young's answer to the question: "Did you go to annex Isle Royale?" The captain is an authority on real estate, having "made his pile" in speculations in the Twin Cities and he sees the joke.

The New York Sun publishes the following dispatch from Ottawa:—Secretary of State R. W. Scott says no Government action has been taken to plant the British flag on Isle Royale and claim possession for England.

"There is nothing in such a story," he said last night when told of the reported plans of Lieut. Young, who was said to have sailed on Saturday night from Port Arthur with fifty men to seize the Lake Superior island and annex it to Canada.

The J. M. Ross company, bonded by the city of St. Catharines at $20,000, has passed into a receiver's hands thus leaving the city that much out.

5,000 PEOPLE SAW THE CRASH

Serious Accident Early This Morning During Automobile Race at Brighton Beach.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—A serious accident occurred at the Brighton Beach race track at 2:30 this morning, during the International Endurance Derby for automobiles, a contest which started at 10 o'clock last night and which is to continue for 24 hours. The Pillian car, driven by Strohm, threw a tire at the turn into the stretch, ran into the fence and knocked down many persons, seven of whom were injured. Four persons sustained broken arms and legs, while the others were cut and bruised. The injured were taken to the emergency hospital at Coney Island. Five thousand people sat in the grand stand far into the night watching the cars flash in and out of the fog and darkness into the lighted space in front of the grand stand. An attempt had been made to light the entire mile oval, but here and there were dark spots through which the cars flashed like so many great grey beetles.

The daring drivers, despite the many contestants in the race, and the poor light, kept up a terrific pace averaging between forty and fifty miles an hour.

SON SAYS THAT HIS MOTHER IS INSANE

One of New York's Riches Women Summoned Before Lunacy Commission by Her Son.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—Mrs. Julia Watt Curtis, reputed to be one of the richest women in New York, has been served with papers demanding her appearance before a lunacy commission in Fairfield, Conn., August 17. The petitioner, who desires to have Mrs. Curtis' mental condition inquired into is her son Louis Morris, who is said to receive from his mother an income of $500 a month. Mrs. Curtis is one of the heirs to the Watt estate, the value of which is estimated at the way from $10,000,000 to $20,000,000. She has a house in 86th and several country places, but is now living at the Hotel Savoy.

Mrs. Curtis divorced her first husband, P. H. Morris, and was divorced by her second husband, Roland A. Curtis, three years ago. She is about 50 years of age, and according to her friends she has been accused of extravagance and an intention of marrying a man much her junior.

NEW EDITORS FOR THE NEW FREEMAN

Very Rev. W. F. Chapman Will Be in Charge, with Rev. D. S. O'Keefe as Contributing Editor

The New Freeman this morning publishes the following:

The directors' executive beg to inform the public that the Very Rev. W. F. Chapman, V. G., has consented to assume the duties of editor of this paper, so well discharged in the past by Michael McDade.

Father Chapman has always taken a hearty interest in our work and has aided us materially as the chairman of our executive in guiding the policy of the paper. We are much pleased to make this announcement, as the reverend gentleman has had a long and intimate association with the people of the province, particularly on the Upper St. John river and in this city.

He has always taken a deep interest in the spiritual and temporal welfare of the people, has been a most industrious, good pastor and faithful guide to those over whom he has been called to minister. We have also the pleasure of announcing that Rev. D. S. O'Keefe has consented to co-operate with Father Chapman in the capacity of contributing editor.

Father O'Keefe is one of our young clergymen, who before entering the ministry was engaged in journalism. He gave up a promising future in the literary world to accept the priestly call.

SHE LIVED AT SOUTH BAY

Ida Bursay Arrested on Murder Charge in Nahant Was Employed by Dr. James Walker.

It has been learned that Ida Bursay, the young girl referred to elsewhere in this issue, as under arrest in Nahant, Mass., for attempting the murder of her three-months-old babe by abandoning it on the Nahant beach, was for a time employed as a domestic at the home of Dr. James Walker, South Bay. She left Dr. Walker's employ in November last, after having been there about two or three months. Her home, it is said, is in Newfoundland, not St. John, as the despatches state.

Some people who knew the girl state that she was weak minded, while others aver that she was all right intellectually as far as they knew.

The progress of the case will no doubt be watched with interest by people in this city and vicinity who knew the girl.

QUEEN DECORATES ANDREW CARNEGIE

Wilhelmina of Holland Bestows Upon Pittsburg Millionaire Order of Orange of Nassau.

THE HAGUE, Aug. 10.—Queen Wilhelmina has conferred upon Andrew Carnegie the Order of Orange-Nassau. The Orange-Nassau Order was founded in 1802 in the name of Queen Wilhelmina. It is conferred for favors to the royal family or to the country, and can be given to foreigners as well as natives. It consists of a blue enamelled cross which has eight points, the whole being surrounded by a laurel wreath. In the centre is the National Coat of Arms on a blue ground surrounded by the inscription, "Je Maintiendrai." On the reverse side there is an inscription, "God Zeig Met Out," and a large "W."

DESCRIPTION OF MAZAGAN

Mazagan, or El Bridja, is 210 sea miles southwest of Tanger, 50 sea miles from Casablanca. It is situated on a peninsula, and owes its origin to the ship wreck of a Portuguese vessel bound to the coast of Guinea. It was for a long period occupied by the Portuguese, and was in fact their last stronghold in Morocco.

The massive fortifications of Mazagan stretch towards the sea, and in former times were formidable works. The walls of the town, surrounded by a broad but empty moat, are thirty feet wide in some places and twenty feet high, forming on the top a fine promenade.

The town owes its commercial importance to the great fertility of the surrounding country. There is also a large and increasing trade in wool. Most of the European nations are represented by consuls or consular agents.

There is a small port or dock in connection with the fortifications on the north end of the town, but it is only large enough to admit small vessels. Those of large size are obliged to anchor about a mile and a half off the shore.

Mazagan does a good deal of traffic with Rabat, and beans and grain are exported to England in considerable quantities.

HAD ENOUGH TOOTHPICKS

A local scoutmaster tells the following story:

"Whenever I see a toothpick I think of a dinner that was given in Rome in honor of two Turkish noblemen. 'I sat beside the younger of the noblemen. He glittered with gold embroidery and great diamonds, but nevertheless I pitied him sincerely, for he was strange to our table manners and some of his errors were both ludicrous and painful. 'Towards the dinner's end, a servant extended to the young man a plate of toothpicks. He waved the plate away, saying in a low and bitter voice: "'No, thank you; I have already eaten two of the accursed things, and I want no more.'"

ACCIDENT TO A WORKMAN

One of the workmen employed in excavation work in front of the O'Neill building, 592 Main street, fell into the trench around the foundation of the building this morning. As the depth is 8 or 10 feet, the man, though not badly hurt, was shaken up and considerably bruised. He was put on board a street car for his home.

It is reported at the home of W. A. Quinton, Mahogany Road, that two of his valuable Jersey cows were struck and killed by a Shore Line train last evening. Inquiries at the Shore Line office elicited the information that nothing was known of it.

The following charter is reported, S. S. Leutra, St. John to west coast, England, 36 shillings.

THE TIMES NEW REPORTER

AN EFFECTIVE PERSUADER.

It may not be generally known that a working arrangement has been made between the police department and the street department which is of great advantage to the former.

It is well known that prisoners are sometimes obstinate and refuse to give information when questioned by the court. The police have various devices to help a man's memory, and to develop on the part of a prisoner a certain eagerness to aid in meeting the demands of justice; but occasionally one is found so obstinate that he resists all efforts made at central to induce him to give up what he knows.

It is in such cases the aid of the street department is sought. A team is brought to the door, the prisoner is brought out, and taken for a ride over the pavement on the horse's back.

The time he has been bumped up and down between Princess and Duke streets, or anywhere on Main street, for fifteen or twenty minutes, he invariably turns to the officer in charge and exclaims: "Would you murder a man? For Heaven's sake let me get out—I'll tell all I know."

CHANGES AT MCGILL

Dr. Harriss Resigns from Conservatorium of Music—Hungarian Musicians Engaged.

(Montreal Witness, Thursday.)

At a meeting of the board of governors of McGill University yesterday, the resignation was announced by Dr. Charles A. Harriss, the director of the Conservatorium of Music. Dr. Harriss has given his services free of charge to the institution for three years, and it is stated that he has resigned because he found it inconvenient together with his other duties to supervise the work of the Conservatorium from his residence in Ottawa.

Principal Peterson will sail for England tomorrow, and it is understood that he will look for some competent musician to take Dr. Harriss's place.

The governors some time ago decided to run the Conservatorium along new lines, confining the staff to smaller number of teachers, who will identify themselves more thoroughly with the institution.

The Conservatorium is to be strengthened by the addition of two artists of international reputation in the persons of Deszo Nemes, the Hungarian violinist, now residing in the United States, and Madame Melitta Nemes, whose services the board of governors of McGill University yesterday decided to secure in connection with the teaching staff. Monsieur Nemes, who is a graduate of the Paris Conservatoire, and his wife, a graduate of the Leipzig Conservatoire, are pupils of Anton Rubinstein, have both performed on the Continent, as well as in England and in several of the largest cities of America. Everywhere their art was the subject of favorable comment, and in the case of London, England, Boston, and New York, it was rated very high.

In 1902 Monsieur Deszo Nemes gave a violin recital at the Salle Erard, in London, under royal patronage, and also performed at the English court. The two artists are not unknown to Montreal, having performed here two years ago in a concert given at the Grand Hotel, under the auspices of the McGill University authorities have been looking to Monsieur Deszo to introduce a higher class of chamber music at the Conservatorium especially in the violin department.

Monsieur Nemes will be assisted in the department of violin music by his son, ten Sawyer, gold medalist of the Royal Academy of Music of London, whose services have also been engaged.
