GUGGENHEIMS ARE IN CONTROL

Expect $100,000,000 in Gold --Extensive Areas of Land, With Steamship Companies, Railroads and Coal Fields.

(New York Herald.,

Announcement was made yesterday by officers of the Guggenheim Exploration Company that its representatives in Alaska have closed negotiations for the control of several extensive properties in the Klondike water shed which will in effect give the Guggenheims the control of the placer mining in the Yukon. In addition to the hundreds of square miles of gold bearing lands already controlled, it was announced that the exploration company has now acquired the tracts owned by the A. N. C. Treadgold Company, the Northwest Hydraulic Company and the Yukon Consolidated Gold Fields Company. Referring to the claims already controlled along the Eldorado, Bonanza, Hunker, Bear and their tributaries, an official of the Guggenheim Exploration Company said yesterday:—"We now control the placer mining of the Yukon district of Alaska.

We expect to take $100,000,000 of gold from the fields we now control," the Herald's informant added: "Large dredges will be at work next year, and will work night and day while the season lasts. Already three immense dredges are at work and the results are gratifying. In addition, where water is scarce it is planned to conduct water through pipes a distance of fifty miles. Engineers able to cope with the difficulties are on the job; railroad extensions are being built and the barren region is now being opened up."

It is stated that the Guggenheim Exploration Company has spent in Alaska $12,000,000 in acquiring mining lands and rights and in equipping the companies with proper means to wash the gold from the dirt. The work, it is announced, will be done on a wholesale scale.

The Guggenheim interests now extend to all parts of Alaska. They control the Northwestern Steamship Company, the Northwestern Fisheries Company, the Northwestern Siberian Company, the Northern Development Company, the Seward Peninsula Railroad, the Sessnon Lighterage Company at Nome, the contract for the Sessnon coal from the Wellington mines to be sent to Alaska, the Copper River and Northwestern Railroad, building from Valdez, an interest in the White Pass road, claims in the Copper River and the claims just secured in the Klondike watershed.

WINNIPEG WHEAT PRICES HIGHER

Surplus Crop Selling at Big Advance Over the 1906 Quotations--France in the Market

WINNIPEG, July 4—A new record was made in wheat prices yesterday, when heavy calls were made at 96 1-4c on the curb. The last time the price was up to 94c and 95c. there was little trading because there was no demand for export wheat. Now that is changed, and yesterday wheat was offered at 96 1-4. Not only was the wheat then offering taken at that figure, but 96 1-4c was bid for a further amount. The export demand was probably the more active owing to the latest news from France. France is the last country to admit a shortage and a damaged crop, but the latest advices from Paris state that the question of taking the duty off foreign wheat, was being seriously considered.

Canada has plenty of wheat for export out of the crop of 1906. Shipments are coming forward rapidly, and thirty-five cars in three days, all loaded over the platform, is the record of one commission house. Boats are under charter to carry at least three million bushels, from the head of the lakes between July 1 to 12, and it is probable that it will run up to 3,500,000. This does not include all the boats going to Buffalo, but is mainly in Canadian bottoms.

IS LIQUIDATION NOW COMPLETED?

A Montreal financial observer says:

"This looks to me about the time to keep your eye on both ordinary stocks and mining stocks. Unless I am very much mistaken, the liquidation in every department of every stock in every country has been practically completed. They may not advance at once or to any extent but I feel very strongly we have seen the bottom. I don't think I am guessing in coming to this conclusion, as I could give many reasons in support.

"The extreme dullness of the stock market which the world's centres have been experiencing until the activity in Wall Street the past few days was an extremely healthy condition. It will be remembered the same situation existed last year and the stock market was marking time when Harriman exploded his Union Pacific bombshell. The folly of his action from a market viewpoint was pointed out at the time, and his ill-considered act made the later debacle all the more terrible. Stocks are on an infinitely safer level than a year ago. High money continues in greater scarcity, the crop outlook is not nearly so favorable, but security prices are in the lowlands where last year they were in the uplands. One curious feature is the lack of interest in the bond market. There are no indications of any improvement, either in the United States or Canada, in this direction."

BODIES WILL ARRIVE TODAY

The St. John men drowned on Thursday in St. Croix Lake, near Howe Brook (Me.), were Henry Logan, of 115 Hilyard street, and Thomas Hilland, of Carleton. Their bodies will be brought home this morning.

A telegram was received by Mrs. Logan yesterday at noon from Daniel Harrison, the young man's uncle, who was working with him, telling of the accident and stating that the body would arrive this morning.

Harry Logan was the son of Henry Logan, 115 Hilyard street, and had been married for several years. Besides his wife he leaves three small children—Katharine, Annie and Robert. He was twenty-four years of age, and an only child.

When the first despatch was received late Thursday night by the newspapers, enquiries were made among different families of Logans, and yesterday morning Harry Logan's relatives heard the report. For a time their anxiety and suspense was great, and at noon the telegram was received from Mr. Harrison.

Harry Logan went to Maine only three weeks ago, and accompanied his uncle who secured him work in the mill of the Fish River Lumber Company. His young wife had received three letters from him, the last one stating that on July 3, the day before he was drowned, he would take a job as deal piler. While in the city he was employed in the Portland Rolling mills and was a general favorite. His mother looked upon him with pride, as her only son, and she is nearly overcome with grief at the news of his death.

His young wife, who bade him good bye three weeks ago, expecting to see him return in a few months, seemed to be in a dazed state of mind yesterday afternoon, hardly knowing what she did or said.

Word has also been received that the other man drowned was Thos. Hilland, of Prince street, Carleton, who left this city three months ago for Howe brook (Me.) accompanied by three other Carleton men. His brother was also working near Howe brook, in a mill about ten miles away.

Thomas Hilland was twenty-two years old. Besides his mother, two brothers and sisters are also living in Carleton.

A DUTCHMAN'S HONEYMOON

Among the many farce comedy attractions playing the New England circuit this season is Frank L. Whittier's A Dutchman's Honeymoon Company. Written for laughing purposes only, brim full of wit and laughable situations and introducing singing, dancing and other high class specialties there is not a dull moment from start to finish.

The company is under the management of Frank L. Whittier, who has for years been identified with the best attractions and who is one of the foremost amusement caterers before the public. Nothing has been left undone to make this attraction particularly strong in every respect.

During the season past they have appeared with flattering success in all the larger cities of the east.

A Dutchman's Honeymoon will be seen at the Opera House three nights commencing Thursday evening, July 11, and the local management assures those who attend an evening of mirth and music which will be a rare treat. There will be a matinee Saturday.

A ROYAL SLAVE

There is something about the character of a newspaper correspondent as he is shown on the stage that is irresistibly attractive. He is always breezy, humorous, Bohemian, ready for fun, work or any thing that comes along.

In Gordon & Bennett's A Royal Slave, which will be seen at the Opera House Monday evening next, there is a correspondent who not only gets the news but gets the right people out of trouble and the other people in trouble and finally gets the dainty dancing girl as well.

THE NICKEL'S PROGRAMME

The Nickel's programme today will doubtless be a strong magnet for the holiday crowds, for it will present a form of entertainment not to be had in other directions—an up-to-date motion picture show and illustrated song. The first performance will start at noon, and before 2.30 or 3 o'clock hundreds of shoppers who are freed for the afternoon may enjoy the programme and still have the major portion of the half holiday for other amusements. The show now on is: International Cross-Country Run, A Haunted Hotel, A Horrible Experience, Mrs. Smither's Boarding School, and picture song Sunday Morning When the Church Bells Chime.

CHILDREN FLOCK TO PLAYGROUNDS

Little Ones Present in Large Numbers and Good Time is Enjoyed.

The attendance of children on the supervised playgrounds continues large. On the Centennial grounds Thursday fully 400 children enjoyed happy hours and yesterday there were all of 300 there.

Basket ball has been started and yesterday two games were in progress—one by the boys, the other by the girls. Another bright feature was an impromptu concert by the children. There were songs and recitations and a happy half hour thus passed. Mrs. E. Sears was a visitor yesterday and helped make the time pleasant for the children.

FOOD FOR SELF-FEEDERS

The schooner Elma is expected to arrive Monday from New York with over 500 tons of the celebrated "Triple X" ican hard coals.

This coal is imported by Gibbon & Co. especially for self-feeder stoves. It burns longer, makes a hotter fire and leaves less ash than the ordinary American hard coal.

The demand for "Triple X" Lehigh for self-feeders is on the increase. Those who leave their order in time to get delivery from this big cargo, will get a special low price.

Telephone 676, or order at 6 1-2 Charlotte street any time befor 9 p. m., or call at the docks. Smythe street, and get full information.

WINTER PORT COAL BUSINESS INCREASING

Almost every freight train that comes in over the I. C. R contains several cars of Winter Port Coal from Gibbon & Co.'s mines in Queens Co. Work at the mines has been held up some recently by shortage of coal cars, but Gibbon & Co. have asked the I. C. R. and the New Brunswick Railway to furnish box cars if they cannot furnish coal cars to take the coal away. This Winter Port coal mined only about 75 to 80 miles from St. John, is proving a great thing for this city. The quality is so good that it is giving satisfaction for both house and steam purposes, and the demand for it is steadily increasing.

RESCUED IN TIME

Rothesay, July 5.—J. Renforth Robertson, whose store was visited by unruly red coats a few days ago and looted some groceries and candy, has received a letter from Col. Chipman, of the 71st, regretting that the men acted so badly and enclosing the value of the goods taken.

A party of four girls out rowing in a small boat off Almon's wharf, upset their frail craft and in a twinkling were all struggling to keep afloat. Their screams were heard by Warren Kirkpatrick, of the Dahinda and he quickly pulled to the scene in the yacht's boat and rescued the struggling girls just in time.

A burning shirt caused considerable excitement and a congestion of traffic on Mill street last night. One of the boarders in the Depot House was dressing in his room when somehow his shirt, which was hanging on the wall, caught fire. When smoke poured from the open window, a passer-by who noticed it sent in an alarm and in a short time the street was full of fire apparatus and spectators which with moving trains caused quite a lot of excitement.

AGENTS WANTED

GO OUT IN THE OPEN AND SEE WHAT GOD IS DOING TODAY

(Edward Everett Hale, in Woman's Home Companion.)

In May, 1848, I was in a stage in the state of Georgia, riding from Savannah to Augusta. The driver was going to turn up an avenue for a passenger, and I asked him to let me get out. While he was gone I cut this and that shrub or flower which are new to me. Among others I cut some splendid stems of Adam's Needle, Yucca filimentosa, the first I had ever seen, for you see this was very near the time of Noah's flood. In a little while the stage came back and I got in. I broke off a large bunch of the blossoms. I distributed the others among the other passengers and threw the rest of my prize away. The old lady passenger whom we had picked up while I was botanizing, cried out that I ought not to have thrown them away. She would have been glad to take them to her daughter, who had never seen any before. That is to say, here was a beautiful plant which grew within two hundred yards of her front door and which she had never seen.

Now I do not mean to have any of the "dearly beloved" who read these words ignorant of the beautiful creatures which grow within twenty miles of them. Dear Dr. Asa Gray once said to me that I might drop him anywhere in America from a balloon, and if the nice people of the plantation would bring him one hundred of their native plants he would tell within twenty miles of where he was. I mean to have the readers as well acquainted with the twenty miles around them as Doctor Gray was.

OUTDOOR CLUBS

The third column grows short, but for the poor creatures like you and me, "who live in the cities," I have to suggest this: Make a club which shall meet once a week to walk or ride, to scramble where they can see what the good God is doing today. If you lived in Boston you would see in every Friday's paper some such note as this, winter or summer:

A. M. C. Saturday, February 16th—North Station, Western Division, 1.35 p. m. for Fells, Black and White Rocks. Virginia Woods. Old Red Mill Ravine. Four miles. Boston, from Melrose, 5 o'clock. Snowshoes.

This means that the Appalachian Mountain Club will meet Saturday afternoon, whether there be three of them or three hundred, there will be a guide there prepared to take them into some glen or mountain quarry or forest, or to some beach, where for two or three hours or more they can go and come and see the world as the good God made it. They will be back before nine o'clock that night, and they will "go to meeting on Sunday," as we Yankees say, all the better prepared for worship and communion because on Saturday they have walked with God. I do not know and I do not much care whether anybody told them that Adam's Needle is called by the botanists Yucca filimentosa. But I do know that they will be nearer God and live in a larger life because of those hours spent in his own temple.

As my dear friend Senator Daniel says, it is a great thing to know that "we live in the Sky."
