

HUNDREDS WERE DISAPPOINTED

Delay in Arrival of Hargreaves' Circus Made This Morning's Street Parade Impossible --- Good Shows Promised for Afternoon and Evening.

St. John is again invaded by a circus—the "great Hargreaves shows," as the gaudy posters announce it.

The circus train, consisting of some fourteen cars arrived about five o'clock this morning, but it was about two hours later before the work of unloading the teams, animals and various paraphernalia incidental to a circus, was commenced. It was nearly eleven o'clock before all the property had been transported to the Shamrock grounds, where the tents were pitched.

It was announced by the circus management that owing to delays at the railway yard and also on account of the fact that many of the teams were sunk to the hubs on the grounds, that the advertised free parade would have to be abandoned. This was a great disappointment to thousands of people who lined both sides of Main street, Mill, Dock, Market square and King street, waiting for the appearance of the hand wagons, the teams with the animals, the big elephant, clowns, equestrians, etc.

A circus parade is always an attraction and the people of St. John, men women and children, apparently turned out today "en masse" to view the sight. The time for the parade to start was announced as ten o'clock, and after half an hour had gone by there was a restless movement along the line of the crowded sidewalks. After about an hour and a half had passed it commenced to be whispered about that there would be no parade and reluctantly large numbers started for home, some loitering about, however, in hope that the report was false and they would yet get a glimpse of the parade. This, however, was not to be, and the disappointment was great.

A Times man visited the grounds about ten o'clock and watched the operations of erecting the tents and other work connected with the establishment of a show of this kind. The drivers of the heavy teams had great difficulty in getting over the marshy ground and nearly all the larger teams were brought to a halt by sinking to the hubs in the spongy turf that covers the Shamrock grounds.

The outlook for getting the field into shape again for ball playing is slim indeed, and although the owner of the property is supposed to have it in as good condition two days after the circus goes, as it was before, it is more likely to take a week or more to get it into any kind of shape again.

At 10:30 when the writer left the grounds the main tent or "big top," as it is called, had not been raised, and it was announced by the management that, owing to the delays they had experienced, the parade would have to be called off, as they would be unable to put on the afternoon show on time if the parade was held.

The dining tent was one of the first erected, and many of the members of the troupe were getting their breakfast when the reporter was on the grounds.

It was claimed that all would be in readiness by one o'clock, and the afternoon performance would start on time.

While walking about the grounds the writer encountered Dan Rice, who is one of the advance men of the show. Mr. Rice has been in the show business a good many years, and visited St. John on two previous occasions, when he was connected with the Walter L. Main shows.

The proprietor of the Hargreaves show does not claim to have the greatest show on earth, but he does claim to have a good show for its size. The acts are all good, clean, clever exhibitions, and there are no objectionable features. Mr. Hargreaves is opposed to having fakes of any description following his shows, and it is claimed that there is an entire freedom from this evil. Several of the local police officers in plain clothes are stationed at the grounds to keep an eye on things, however.

The tent doors will be thrown open at 7:30 o'clock tonight and the performance will begin promptly at eight o'clock. Professor Phillips' Italian band will render promenade concerts from seven to eight o'clock in the big tent, and a big crowd will no doubt be present tonight.

The side show, with its many freaks of various kinds, will be in full blast this afternoon and evening.

Leaving here tonight the circus will exhibit in the following towns in this territory: Sussex, tomorrow, June 6; Moncton, Friday, June 7; Dorchester, Saturday, June 8; Amherst, Monday, June 10; and Truro, Tuesday, June 11.

WALL STREET BELIEVES THE REPORTS ARE EXAGGERATED

Crop Damage Estimated Larger Than the Facts Justify.

(New York World.)

The president's speech has been one of the dominating factors during the week in Wall Street. The usual leak from some official source provided nearly all of the latest commission houses with advance copies of the address, so that several days before its actual delivery Wall Street was well informed as to its contents. The effect was pretty well discounted, though the interpretation of the president's meaning in the several important passages of the speech was not uniform. The bull and bear factions were therefore both able to make some capital out of it. The general conclusion seems to be that the president has not changed his policy toward the railroads in the slightest and that he intends to do everything in his power during the remainder of his administration to correct the abuses that have crept into the management of the railroads of the country and to protect, as far as possible, the people who have invested their money in these securities. The speech would have been accepted as reassuring by the investing element if the correction of these abuses were to remain in the hands of the president alone, in whose good faith and sincerity of purpose the conservative element has little doubt; but they fear that from a desire to emulate his example, or Residence, Barns and Outbuildings of Cardy A. Ripley of Fenwick, N. S., Destroyed by Fire.

AMHERST, N. S., June 5 (Special).—The residence, barns, outbuildings and most of their contents, the property of Cardy A. Ripley, of Fenwick, were totally destroyed by fire yesterday. The loss is about $2,500, and there is no insurance. The fire caught in the house and with the strong wind blowing soon caught the barn. Owing to a scarcity of water in the vicinity nothing could be saved.

You can rarely induce another man to do right by joining him in that which is wrong.

KING EDWARD SAW AN AMERICAN HORSE WIN
THE HISTORIC DERBY

Richard Croker's Orby. Defeated the Pick of the English Stables at Epsom Downs Today---Nine Horses in the Field of Starters.

LONDON, June 5.—Richard Croker's Orby, ridden by Johnny Reiff, won the Derby Stakes of 5,000 sovereigns at Epsom today, distance about 1 mile and a half.

Wool Winder, ridden by Madden, the English jockey, was second, and Slieve Gallion, an Irish horse, ridden by Higgs, also an English jockey, was third.

Orby was bred in Ireland out of an American dam, and thus the horse whose horse was ridden by an American jockey, and whose mother was out of an American mare. Nine horses started.

The times may have changed and the chronic presence of the motor car may have wiped out much of the traditional fun and frolic along the road to and at Epsom on Derby day, but interest in the great classic event of the British turf is unflagging and even greater this year than ever before.

This is in spite of the fact that the race promised for the first time in years, to be a purely Anglo-Saxon, or nearly altogether a Hibernian event. The main interest today seemed to enter in the Irish bred, Irish trained or Irish owned horses.

Slieve Gallion, by Gallinade, out of Reclusion, a strong first favorite, was bred in Ireland by his owner, Capt. Greer, but was trained in England. He was ridden by Higgs, an Englishman, who learned to ride in Ireland.

Galvani, by Laveno, out of Gallinaria, the second favorite, was bred in Ireland, but is owned by an Englishman, Major Eustace Loder. This horse has an Irish trainer and was ridden by an Irish jockey, Dillon.

Richard Croker's well liked Orby, who won the race, is by Orme, out of Rhoda B, and was bred in Ireland out of an American dam.

Much fancied was Wool Winder, by Martagon, out of St. Windelme, bred in England, and owned by a Scotchman, Col. E. W. Baird. Madden, the English jockey, rode this horse.

Each of the foregoing horses was strongly backed and topped. The field was smaller than last year.

Much of the customary gaiety and picturesque features were lacking in the family Derby Day scene on the road to Epsom this morning. Torrents of rain poured down to ten o'clock and the muddy, dismal procession bound to the Downs looked uncommonly like the return of the procession after the downfall of the favorite. The usual Derby Day types were present but they were sadly reduced in numbers and the intermittent attempts of the holiday makers to inject some of the old time hilarity into the scene failed to remove the general gloom of the umbrella marked crowds. All whose plans were alterable abandoned the road in favor of trains, and scores of special took enormous crowds to Epsom. King Edward elected to travel by train. The royal party included the Prince of Wales, the Princess of Wales, the Duke and Duchess of Connaught and the Grand Duke Michael of Russia. The rain cleared off before noon and by the time the racing commenced the Downs presented a cheerful appearance. Trains from all directions took enormous crowds to the course but the throng was hardly up to the average. Many coaches were sent down over night and took up positions at all the vantage points, heavily laden with fashionable people, among them many Americans.

MEMORIAL DAY WAS VERY QUIET IN WASHINGTON

(From our own Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, D. C. May 31.—Memorial Day in Washington was a quiet one compared with that of former years when there has nearly always been some prominent official to speak at the Memorial Day exercises at Arlington where so many of our soldier dead are buried. This year though the funeral of Mrs. McKinley at Decoration Day out of town not only the Secretary of War, but Secretary Root, Wilson, Cortelyou and Garfield besides prominent representatives of the army and navy who had been friends of the late president and his wife. Secretary Taft was also off speech making and the president spent the day in Indianapolis where he made an address at the unveiling of the monument to Major General Henry W. Lawton, followed the next day by two addresses at Lansing, Michigan. His swift swing around the circle will be completed Saturday at 4:30 when he is expected to arrive at the capital again. In the absence of the president's trip was the absence of newspaper men. The official party, this was owing to the fact that the president is now traveling at government expense. It will be remembered that congress appropriated $25,000 a year for travelling expenses for the president and should he have taken newspaper representatives in the car with him, their expenses would have been paid by the government. Of course they went anyway but they were forced to ride with the hoi polloi in the Pullman car instead of basking in the presence of high officialdom in the president's private car, and their expenses were paid by the newspapers they represent.

THE TIMES NEW REPORTER

JAMESEY STUNG AGAIN.

Our esteemed fellow citizen, Mr. Jamesey, was out early this morning with the Jones family, to secure a good position from which to view the circus parade. When the Times new reporter discovered him at one of the Jones family were demanding some thing to eat. The circus parade had not come. Not even a menagerie smell had come that way. When the new reporter explained that there would be no parade, Jamesey used certain verbal expressions which from the horrified manner of their reception seemed to be new to the Jones family, but which two other men with families applauded with much vigor. Then they all went home to get something to eat.

FULLY EXPLAINED.

The news that an organization known as the White Fans has broken out fifty miles south of Annapolis, and committing serious depredations, requires some further explanation that appears in a measure cable. The Times new reporter is informed by a returned missionary that the unimpressed in China are notoriously one-sided, and demonstrations by the Fans are therefore frequent. The situation, he says, is not as serious as would appear from the bare announcement.

GLAD TO KNOW IT.

A delegation of thirty-six from a junior baseball team called on the Times new reporter this morning to deny that their team had been weakened by the loss of one of the players, as had been stated by one of the papers. They wanted the thing set right, so that their friends in Spruce town, London, Paris, Mississauga and other places would not be deceived. They asserted that the one who left was their weakest player.

"We chucked him," said the captain, "and we got a better one in his place."

The public will receive this information with much pleasure, as doubtless a false and disagreeable impression had gone abroad.

The old-timers in Carleton are talking of a farewell demonstration in honor of Rodney wharf, which is said to be in a critical state and likely to pass away very soon. Its old friends, Wm. Ling and Wm. Gandy will be suitably draped for the occasion, and Admiral Glasgow, from the quarter deck of the Ludlow, will deliver an oration.

THINK MISSING BOY
IS AT EVANDALE

Harry Ougler, Who Left Home on Monday, is Reported Safe at River Resort ---His Brother Has Come Up to Identify Him.

Harry, the 14-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ougler, 49 Magazine street, is still missing, but when a Times man called at the home of the boy this afternoon, he was informed that a telephone message had just been received from Edward Ougler, brother of the boy, that he thought he had trace of him and would overtake him soon.

Edward Ougler and a man named Roberts went to Westfield, and along the line he was informed that a youth answering very much to the description of young Ougler had been seen by many people. This morning he was at Evandale, (John O. Vanwart's) and will be kept there until Mr. Ougler and Roberts arrive. The description of the boy in question varies slightly from that of young Ougler, but the family seem to think that it is Harry.

Mr. Ougler, father of the boy, has telephoned to the police throughout the province, and they are all on the lookout for the missing lad.

If the boy at Evandale is Harry Ougler, there is every reason for believing that he is, the lad will not arrive home until tomorrow morning.

DETECTIVES
IN BUNCHES

Woe Betide the Unfortunate Evil Doer Who Falls in With This Collection.

Two Pinkerton detectives are in the city from New York, and with Deputy Chief Jenkins, are looking for the murders of Rev. F. E. Kasper, of the American Apostolic church of Hoboken, N. J. The criminals have been traced to this city and this morning the detectives worked diligently on the case.

The murderers boarded at the house of Mrs. Annie Sherer, West 37th street, N. Y. On leaving a trunk which was left by them at the house as security of bond, was opened and found to contain the body of the priest. Mrs. Sherer said the names of the men were John and Paul Sarkis. John was dark and smooth shaven, and Paul wore a moustache.

The city is well protected today, and if all the detectives go on the trail of the murderers the latter should be captured if they are in this locality at all. In addition to the Pinkerton men, Chief of Police Tingley and Detective Williams, of Moncton, are in the city; Detective Nobles of Newcastle; Detective Dunn of Halifax; Special Detective Jones of Amherst, and last, but not least, our own sleuth, Patrick Killen.

The local police have been looking for the murderers for the past few days.

The funeral of the late Miss Mary A. Duncan will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the residence of Thomas Dean, Garden street to Fernhill cemetery, where interment was made. Rev. James Crisp read the burial service.

The funeral of the late John Lobb, the boy who met his death by drowning in Lobb's Pond, will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock from Brennan's undertaking rooms to Cedar Hill cemetery, where interment will be made. Rev. M. McLaughlin will read the burial service.

FOUR SAILORS RESCUED
FROM A ST. JOHN SCHOONER

St. John Schooner Rowena Lost Off the Massachusetts Coast.

GLOUCESTER, June 4.—Pumping for their lives, with their little craft almost full of water, kept afloat by her load of lumber, wallowing from side to side in the trough of the short seas with such force that it seemed as if her masts would snap out at her every lurch, and afraid to keep the storm sail up, as the craft might topple over—this was the predicament in which Capt. Charles Smith of the British schooner Rowena and his three men found themselves during the heavy northeast gale which prevailed and the terrific rain which accompanied it.

But aid was nearer than they thought. Just as Captain Smith and his three men had almost given up and were calmly facing the doom which seemed inevitable, the little fishing schooner Volant, Capt. Allen Doleman, hove in sight, Capt. Doleman, on sighting the Rowena, brought his vessel around to leeward, dropped a dory over the side manned by John Muise and Reuben Smith, and in short order the four drowned and exhausted sailors were transferred to the cabin of the little fishing vessel.

The Rowena, of St. John, N. B., owned and commanded by Captain Charles Smith with his brother Eugene Smith as mate, and two seamen, Alex McIntire and Geo. Seamen, as crew, left Parrsboro last Tuesday with a cargo of hemlock boards bound for Boston. The Volant was returning from a Run fishing trip.

The Rowena was practically a new vessel, being only six years old, and was purchased by the captain two years ago. She was all he possessed in the world and he did not have a cent of insurance on her. As soon as he reached this port the tug Nello immediately put off and the dory Thatchers and towed to this port where she was beached.
