AN ASTONISHING LETTER

he Rev. Schofield Battersby, rector of Holy Trinity, Blackley, England, has addressed an open letter to the Bishop of Manchester that has stirred the leaders of the church. The bishop had requested the rector to take up a special collection for the benefit of the unemployed, and in reply the rector writes:

"When, my lord, will the church, through her leaders, realize that the unemployed want justice and not charity? When will the church understand that the present selfish system of government is founded on an ungodly and unchristian basis?

"Seeing that the present system of plutocracy is tumbling to ruin, will not the church take the lead and head off the impending revolution, as was done by the early church before she was captured by money? Justice must come before charity."

The Bishop of Manchester has not yet answered the rector's extraordinary plea.

WOMEN IN A ROW OVER FLOCK OF HENS

Their Troubles Were Ventilated in the Police Court This Morning.

Hens were the bone of contention in a family fracas yesterday afternoon, which was aired in the police court this morning.

Mrs. Christina Addison swore out warrants for Mrs. Alice tephenson and her son, Ward Stephenson, alleging assault in a yard off Brussels street. The accused pleaded not guilty.

Mrs. Addison, the complainant, testified that she was in the yard on Monday afternoon with her young son, putting their hens in the barn to protect them from the Stephensons and others, when she was attacked by the woman and kicked on the leg. To repel further hostilities the witness took her assailant by the shoulders and gently placed her on her own doorstep. This infuriated her antagonist, and rushing at the witness, the woman pummeled her and when she turned her back the son jumped on her back and bore her to the ground. Mrs. Addison indicated a man in court viewing the proceedings as another assailant and he was later called as a witness by the accused. The complainant claimed that she sustained several brusises and scratches on the body in the fight and also said the Stephenson woman used bad language. According to her, several parties in the neighborhood have been persecuting her, and on a previous occasion the prisoner threatened to exterminate her. For herself and family and the flock of hens life has been a constant torment since she moved into the neighborhood.

The magistrate was disgusted at the outset of the case at the prospect of seeing two talkative women in verbal combat, and repeatedly he rebuked both for irrelevant testimony. "I can imagine what you are like in your own place when I can't curb you here."

Albert Addison, the little son of the complainant, saw a boy tantalizing his mother and beating the hens. He corroborated the evidence of his mother.

Lena Gray, niece of Mrs. Stephenson, stated that Mrs. Addison was the aggressor and threw the former forcibly against the casings of a door.

Oscar Garnett and —— Gray were witnesses for the defence.

When urged to question Garnet, Mrs. Addison replied, "Oh, what's the use; he's not telling the truth," and the solemnity of the court was somewhat disturbed by the angry husband of the complainant shouting, "Go on and ask him, can't you."

The magistrate dismissed the case, remarking, "I tell you I 'm glad to get rid of them."

SULLIVAN TWINS IN THE CITY TODAY

Jack and Mike (Twin) Sullivan arrived by the Boston train this morning accompanied by Danny Murphy. They are on their way to Halifax and will leave by to-night's train for that city. On Thursday night, Jack and big James Pendergast are carded for a ten round bout. It will be quite a test of Pendergast's ability, for Jack is a crafty ring general for a man like Pendergast to tackle. A Boston paper says this will be the best bout scheduled for the week. Jack Twin may yet go to Australia to train for Tommy Burns.

He was asked to, but the despatch did not reach him in time to get the steamer, but he has cabled Burns and expects an answer any moment. Mike will also box at Halifax with Mahoney. He is looking fine and his many friends are giving him the glad hand.

Jack in speaking about his go with Hart said he had him fair and square on the second round, but he was up against a hard proposition in the referee. He has now $1000 posted that he can stop Hart in six rounds. Dan Murphy will probably go against some of the light weights in the sister city.

On their way back from Halifax the Twins will be asked to give an exhibition here in one of the rinks.
