MONCTON AND ST. JOHN

THE WHEEL O' FORTUNE

By LOUIS TRACY

Though she strove to speak in a tone of conventional friendliness, her voice shook a little. Dick was profoundly moved. It seemed to him suddenly that the burnous he wore exercised a stifling effect on him. He threw it off, and it fell unheeded to the ground. "What of those nasty creatures against which you warned me a moment ago?" she exclaimed. "Or is it that your disguise has become unbearable? You make me feel as though I were in a cage. I should have picked you out anywhere."

"That wayward heart of Dick's drove a hot flood of color to his face, but he still held mastery over his tongue. "Why do you think I am likely to run into danger?" he asked. For an instant his calmness misled her. She had grown accustomed to his habit of self-restraint, and looked for nothing else. "Because you would do anything rather than fail," she said. "You would ride alone into the midst of a thousand enemies if you thought that thereby you could attain your ends. And I want to assure you that I—that Mr. Fenshaw—would object most strenuously to your incurring any real peril for the sake of the worthless people who have brought us to Africa on a wild-goose chase. By all means secure for any possible information that can be obtained through the Arabs, but I came here because—because I shall feel happier if you promise me—and you will avoid this man, Alfieri, and his friends. Did you see the look on Baron von Kerber's face today? I never before realized what the hunger for gold meant. He would kill any one who barred his path. I could read his very soul. And—and—my grandfather never intended to come back safely. Mr. Royson, for I have confidence in you and Captain Stump, but I am terrified of what may happen if you Kerber tells the others the story of the treasure, and promises them a large share in it, should it be found."

"I had not thought of that," said Dick simply. Indeed, his mind was not at all occupied just then with von Kerber's scheming. "So I imagined. And that is why I stole out of my tent and waited here. I was sure you would agree with me that the really important thing is our speedy return to the yacht. It is the only possible course. My grandfather never intended to gain his end by armed force, and von Kerber is assuredly dreaming of that at this moment."

"I begin to see your point of view," said he, forcing himself to answer her phrases. "Even if I discover that Alfieri is digging up those precious camel-loads, it will be best for me that they should be success should be minimized."

dered if she had heard aright, but she yielded to the clasp of an encircling arm. Perhaps she lifted her face in sheer amazement; but that as it may, Dick kissed her, not once but many times. "May Heaven guard and keep you, sweetheart," he said brokenly. "You know that I love you. You have known it many a day, but I forced myself to be silent because I was proud. Now my pride has given way to the joy of white setting that I love you. Tomorrow, that stubborn pride of mine may rebuke me, and say that I had no right to take you to my heart to-night, but to-night my love laughs at all that idle pretense of money erecting a barrier between you and me. You are dearer to me than life, and why should I not tell you so? I wanted to meet you to-night, Irene. I made plain to the stars when I did not see you at parting. Now that you are here, I find myself at the gates of Paradise. Yet you must leave me now, dear one. Let me carry the fragrance of your kiss on my mouth to the dawn. Then, in the chill of morning, when cold reason chides me, I shall refuse to listen to her, for I shall remember that Irene kissed me."

"The girl clung to him during a blissful instant. "Oh!" she sighed, and "Oh!" again, as though her heart was throbbing its life out. "You have not even asked me if I loved you, King Dick!" "With that she glanced up at him, and placed both hands on his shoulders. "No," he said, "I only asked you to kiss me. I shall ask for your love when I may come without reproach and ask you to be my wife."

"Dick," she said, with adorable shyness, "I have never loved any one before. He strained her to his breast. Their lips met again rapturously. "Oh, my sweet," he said, "has ever man received more angelic answer to a question that filled his heart with longing through-out many days?" "You are leaving me, and of your own accord."

"Irene—you, too, are proud. Would you have me return now?" "No, I know now that fate has chosen you to decide our fortunes. Go, Dick, but come back to me in safety, or my poor little heart will break."

WHERE SAVAGES BEAT US

The rude, uncultured savage did not sit most of the day in a padded office chair, a carriage or car. His food was not prepared by a chef. He had to hunt for something to eat. And dinner, when he got it, was none too rich.

But the rude, uncultured savage did not suffer from indigestion, constipation, biliousness, headaches, as we civilized beings do. Exercise and the amount of fruit and fresh vegetables in his diet, kept liver, bowels and kidneys working right.

None of us want to go back to the days of wigwags and tomahawks but a lot of us certainly would like to have the digestion of the savages.

We can, by taking "Fruit-a-tives." "Fruit-a-tives" act directly on the stomach, liver, kidneys and skin, and keep these organs in perfect condition. "Fruit-a-tives" bring back lost appetite and sound digestion to the Dyspeptic—regulate the bowels of those who suffer from constipation—and build up the whole system. Trial size 25c. Regular size 50c, or 6 for $2.50.

The camels were urged into a lurching trot, and thirty miles were covered in less time than it had taken to travel eight during the dark hours.

WEDDINGS

Ferguson-Galbraith

A quiet wedding took place in the Methodist parsonage last evening, when Rev. J. Heaney, B. A., married Harry Ferguson to Mrs. Victoria Galbraith. The couple, who were unattended, will reside at 28 Guilford street, West End.

Earle-Waite

Andover, N. B., Nov. 18.—A quiet but pretty house wedding took place on Wednesday, the 18th inst., at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Bertha Waite, when her daughter, Emily Mae, was united in marriage to Dr. R. W. L. Earle, of Perth, N. B., by the Rev. Mr. Pringle. The ceremony took place at high noon, only the immediate relatives being present.

The bride, who was unattended, was prettily and becomingly gowned in white silk with lace trimmings and carried a bouquet of white roses, entered the parlor to the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Pearl Waite. The house was prettily decorated for the occasion with carnations and potted plants. After the ceremony luncheon was served in the large dining room. The bride and groom left on the afternoon express for St. John and Halifax, followed by the good wishes of their many friends. OBITUARY

Mrs. James Henderson

Mrs. Mary Henderson, widow of James Henderson, a former resident of this city, died this week in her home in Worcester (Mass.). Mr. Henderson died three years ago and since then his widow had resided with her daughter. She is survived by two sons, Robert, in Campbellton; George in Worcester; and four daughters, Mrs. G. A. Geary, with whom she resided; Mrs. Edward Morton, of Rochester (N. Y.); Mrs. Wm. Gordon, and Mrs. John Splane, of Boston. Mrs. R. O'Brien and Mrs. J. Gorman, of this city, are sisters. The funeral will take place this afternoon from the residence of her brother-in-law, Peter McCart, Queen street. Many friends will regret the loss of Mrs. Henderson's death.

Capt. Samuel J. Hatfield

Capt. Samuel J. Hatfield, one of the best known residents of Yarmouth county, dropped dead last Monday at noon at his home in Arcadia. He was sitting in his chair, and was walking across the room when he fell to the floor expiring instantly. He was 83 years of age and was the oldest surviving son of his father, Jacob K. Hatfield. Early in life he followed the sea as did his six brothers. He rapidly rose to the rank of master mariner and became a most successful shipmaster. He retired from active service about 35 years ago and became a builder and owner of ships. For some years he has been living in retirement. His wife died a number of years ago. The late Captain Hatfield is survived by three sons and six daughters. The sons are Capt. Arthur, late of bark Osberga, but now in the United States; John S. of Arlington, Mass.; and James George Baker, Arcadia. The daughters are Mrs. Charles Kinney, in California; Mrs. William Jacques and Mrs. Thomas Bridge, living in New York State; Mrs. William Brown, of Arlington, Mass.; and Mrs. Jane George, who resided with her father at Arcadia.

F. R. Perry, formerly district passenger agent of the C. P. R. here, but now D. P. A. in Boston, was in the city yesterday and left again for Boston last night. Mr. Perry says business is improving and there was quite a change after the presidential election.

To Be Dyspeptic Is To Be Miserable.

Dyspepsia is the prevailing malady of civilized life. It is largely due to gross errors in diet, over-eating, too free indulgence in stimulants and over-taxing the stomach with indigestible food, eating too rapidly without chewing the food sufficiently, indulging in hot biscuits, pastry, pickles, confectionery, etc.

Constipation, headache, heartburn, sour stomach, distress after eating, belching of wind, faintness, and fullness and distention of the stomach are a few of the many distressing symptoms of the poor, weedy dyspeptic. Burdock Blood Bitters regulates the stomach, stimulates the secretion of the saliva and gastric juice to facilitate digestion, removes acidity, purifies the blood, and tones up the system to full health and vigor, and thereby cures dyspepsia and all its tributary diseases.

Mr. Amos Sawler, Gold River, N.S., writes:—"I was greatly troubled with dyspepsia, and after trying several doctors to no effect, I commenced taking Burdock Blood Bitters and I think it is the best medicine there is for that complaint."

THE SCOTCH CAP FOR LITTLE FOLKS.

Not only for the kiddies, these days, but for the lassies as well, is the Glangary. Small girls with bobbed off hair are as correct in the bonnie Glangary as their little brothers. Of snow white ermine, with the tiny black tails giving smart pointings, is this dressy Scotch cap, which is further trimmed with white ribbon streamers and a big white pearl buckle.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS

"IN THE BISHOP'S CARRIAGE" TONIGHT

In the Opera House last night the W. S. Hawkins Company gave a clever performance of "Wife In Name Only." The characters were well played and the company were rewarded with liberal applause.

One of the strongest plays now before the public will be put on tonight "In The Bishop's Carriage," a dramatization of Miriam Michaelson's famous novel. "In The Bishop's Carriage" tells a straight forward story of a girl brought up by the society for the prevention of cruelty to children. She is taught to steal even while an inmate of the society's institutions, first for fun, then through necessity, and lastly through "love of the game." She and her partner "Tom Dorgan" start out upon careers, that are nothing, if not exciting, and they work some good jobs and rich hauls. This woman thief runs afoul of a man who has enough of the mill of human kindness in his heart; to attempt her salvation, and she "turns cold" attempting to rob his home with her pal, and they are caught in the act. From that time begins the mental process which leads the girl thief to a clearer vision of the better life. Complete renunciation of the old ways is attained in the last.

MILLER-McCLASKEY CONCERT

Good seats are at a premium for the coming concert to be held on Tuesday evening the 24th, inst., at the Opera House.

The advertised attractions are Mrs. Lizzie Blair Miller and Harry McClaskey, well known in St. John for their high ability.

MR. DRUMMOND TELLS OF MERGER OF IRON MINES

J. J. Drummond, of the Canada Iron Corporation, which has recently taken over the extensive Canadian iron foundries and mining interests of the Drummonds, was in the city yesterday. Speaking of the merger to a Telegraph reporter, Mr. Drummond said there was no truth in the statement that the Drummond interests had been sold to an English syndicate. The new corporation had five of the old directors on the board and to these were added four English capitalists, the control remaining in Canada. The capital of the corporation was $2,500,000, but would probably be increased to $10,500,000.

The following concerns Mr. Drummond mentioned as being included in the merger: The Annapolis Iron Mines; The Londonderry Iron and Mining Company; The Canadian Iron and Foundries Company, with plants at Londonderry, Three Rivers, Montreal, Hamilton, St. Thomas and Fort William; The Canadian Iron Furnace Company; The Resnor Forge, P. Q.; The Midland (Ont.) Blast Furnace; The Drummondville Charcoal Furnaces, and The Georgian Bay Engineering Works. The corporation had also an interest in the Bathurst properties, the Drummond mines at Cobalt, the Bessemer Iron mines in Hastings County (Ont.), and others.

Speaking of his present visit to St. John, Mr. Drummond said he was on his way to Fredericton to confer with the local government with regard to the construction of the railway which the company intended to build from their iron deposit in Gloucester county to Bathurst. The road would be about twenty-five miles long of the best construction and he laid with eighty-pound rails. He had recently had an interview with O. Turgeon, M.P., with regard to improvements at the entrance of the harbor of Bathurst and was hopeful that the Dominion government would undertake the necessary work.

Mr. Drummond is accompanied by W. F. C. Parsons, chief mining engineer at Londonderry. They will leave for Fredericton this morning.

The Montreal Witness says of the merger:—"The merging of the Drummond interests announced in the Witness the other day is the first merger of a comprehensive character that has taken place in the iron and steel industry. It is a most interesting consolidation from a fiscal, an economic, a historical, and even an imperial point of view, for, as Edward Porritt says in 'The Iron Age,' with English capital invested in the bonds of the new company, English capital is again tion and success; they have both received the highest praise from the best critics not only in their native city, but in the principal cities of the United States. Mrs. Miller and Mr. McClaskey will be assisted by the following artists:—Mrs. S. Kent Scovill, piano soloist; Miss Olivia Murray, violinist, and D. Arnold Fox, accompanist; and all St. John music lovers are urged to avail themselves of the opportunity to hear such a brilliant quartette of artistic products from their own city.

NEW PICTURE TODAY

After three days of the most laughable farce comedy, the Nickel will today return to drama in its talking picture department with "Outwitted By His Wife," a society playlet of originality and local comedy and farce. Pat Harrington will sing "I'm Afraid To Go Home In The Dark," and Miss Foley and Mr. Cairns will have new numbers. Master Harrington will hold a grand farewell matinee on Saturday and will leave for his home in Montreal on the Saturday evening train.

employed in iron-making at Londonderry, where the industry was first begun a little more than half a century ago, and where, in those times, quite a large amount of English money was lost during the years from 1855 to 1883.

From several points of view, the Londonderry furnace is the most interesting furnace now making iron in Canada. It is the largest furnace at which Canadian ore is used, and it is the only one at work in Canada today the equipment of which was brought out from England. The equipment for all the other large furnaces in this country was imported from the United States.

Besides the Londonderry furnace two charcoal furnaces at Drummondville, the Midland furnace, the Radnor furnace, car wheel and pipe making foundries, ore deposits at various places, and other property all go into the merger, which has a capitalization of $3,000,000 preference shares, $5,000,000 common stock and mortgage bonds of $2,500,000.

"It is, therefore, a very big and comprehensive thing. In this new merger secondary industries are consolidated, as we have shown with a primary industry, the manufacture of pig iron, and this is the first time any such consolidation of companies at the primary stages of the industry has been brought about. It is a real triumph for those concerned, and shows the faith English investors have in Canadian integrity and success."

SCOTT ACT OFFICERS CAPTURE WET GOODS IN FREDERICTON

Barker House Raided and Bottled Ale and Beer Seized—Marysville Will Enjoy a Boom if Sale of Gibson Property Goes Through.

Fredericton, N. B., Nov. 18.—This afternoon Policemen Foss and Scott Act Detective Gunter, armed with a search warrant, issued by Police Magistrate Marsh, made a raid on the Barker House and seized a few dozen bottles of ale and beer, which was placed on a slaben and conveyed to the police station and locked up. The raid was conducted quietly and was witnessed by only a few spectators. The officers entered the house by a side door and encountered no resistance. The steamer Elaine arrived from St. John at 5 o'clock this afternoon, and after discharging her cargo left at 6 o'clock on her return trip. The weather has moderated some this evening and there has been a light fall of snow. It is scarcely likely that the river will remain open more than a few days longer.

EDWIN L. PERKINS' CREDITORS MEET

A meeting of the creditors of Edwin L. Perkins, general storekeeper, at Norton, was to have been held yesterday in the office of W. H. Harrison, but the creditors failed to appear. Mr. Perkins' assets are estimated at $200 and his liabilities at $2,400. Previous to this, it was announced, Mr. Perkins has sold out his belongings and paid his creditors, so that now only the book debts remain. An offer of 10 per cent has been made and several creditors have expressed a willingness to accept the compromise.

Mr. Perkins got in difficulties in lumbering and assigned to W. H. Harrison. He always bore a good reputation for meeting his obligations.

GETS $1600 DAMAGE

Judge Landry has given judgment in the case of Jean Baptiste Henri, who sued in the name of his father, Thomas Henri, because all injuries sustained by an explosion of dynamite while working for Thomas Malcom, contractor on the Intercolonial Railway. The judge has ordered Mr. Malcom to pay the defendant $1,600 damages and $75 costs.

The case was first heard in Dalhousie and afterwards in Campbellton, and certain points were referred to the supreme court for a decision. As a result of the court's finding, the judge has given his decision as stated. W. H. Harrison appeared for the plaintiff and W. A. Mott for defendant.
