THE WHEEL O' FORTUNE

"I think you are taking a very reasonable and proper view, your Excellency. It will be best for all parties if we try to regard the incident in that light."

Marchetti was vaguely conscious of a too complete agreement in the lady's tone. But he seized the apparent advantage.

"Then that is settled," he said cheerfully. "I have already apologized to Signor Fenshawe. To-morrow a more ample explanation and expression of regret should remove any cause of friction."

"I have reason to think there will be no difficulty in arriving at an amicable settlement, provided you fall in with the suggestion I am here to make."

"And that is?"

"That you release the Baron von Kerber to-night."

"Ha!" snarled Alfieri, but the Governor angrily motioned him to be silent.

"No one is better aware than yourself, signora, how utterly impossible is your request," he said.

"The proposal is not worthy of debate, then?"

"But no."

"That is a pity. My small experience of life has taught me that when two reasonable people, or even three, hold different views on any given subject, there is always something to be said in favor of each contention. Indeed, wisdom leans towards a compromise in such a case."

"You presuppose a mere divergence of opinion. Here we have no room for it. Your confederate, signora, if you will pardon a harsh term, is believed to have stolen valuable documents from my friend, Signor Alfieri. My Government has instructed me to arrest him, and to use every means, not stopping short of armed force, to prevent the Aphrodite from undertaking what is little else than a piratical expedition. You see, therefore, that it is not in my power, if I were so minded, to set Baron von Kerber at liberty. Compromise in any other direction would appeal to me. Where Baron von Kerber is concerned, I am helpless."

His Excellency was firmly planted on the gubernatorial dais once more. Mrs. Haxton evidently demanded plain speaking. Being a blunt man, he gave it to her. But she smiled again, quite pleasantly.

"That is what I may describe as the correct official attitude," she said. "If it were founded on fact, it would be unassailable. But Signor Alfieri can tell you that the Baron most certainly did not steal anything from him. If a culprit must be found, it was I, not Franz von Kerber, who should be charged with theft."

'Ah, Dio mio, you hear? She admits!" Alfieri almost screeched the words. He was in a frenzy of passion. This woman had ever the power to drive him beyond bounds. He hated her now with an intensity born derided love. The Governor would have stormed at him, but Mrs. Haxton accepted the challenge too promptly.

"I admit nothing," she cried with a sudden shrillness. If admissions are necessary I shall wait until Abdullah confronts you. Then, when I have told my story he shall tell his."

"Who cares for Abdullah!" came the retort. "Not I. It is well, indeed, to appeal to the testimony of an unknown Arab."

"You shall have the opportunity of refuting him," said Mrs. Haxton. "He is in Massowah. But that is a question for such tribunal as may exist in this lawless town. Your Excellency's decision is final?" she added, turning to the Governor.

"Absolutely irrevocable, signora. You see how it stands—my orders are explicit."

"Their explicitness is as nothing compared to the clearness of the next mandate you will receive from Rome," she blazed out. "Was it according to your orders that an English lady was carried off by brigands, simply to glut the vengeance of my discarded Beppo? You spoke of confederates, Signor Marchetti. What of the confederacy that permits this man to be your guest while your officers are making mock search for him? Your judges, even such as they are, will laugh him out of court when he tries to substantiate the charge he has brought against Baron von Kerber. Poor, love-sick fool!—to gratify his spite he attacks his rival with false evidence rather than let it be known that a woman twisted him around her little finger. Look at him now; he would strike me dead, if he dared but he cannot answer me."

Alfieri leaped to his feet. His voice rose to a cracked falsetto.

"You hear, you hear!" was his cry. "She robbed me of the papyrus, yet boasts of it. She is a thief, self-confessed.'

Mrs. Haxton also sprang up. Her physical dread of the man had yielded to the triumph of having cornered him.

"Truly I hope his Excellency hears," she said. "If I am to blame for the loss of your papers, why is Baron von Kerber in prison on your testimony?"

"You are both in league," he almost screamed. "I was blind, infatuated, at Assouan. It was the Austrian who planned my undoing, and you, his paramour, who cajoled me out of my senses."

"I refuse to stay here and be insulted by such a coward," she said, gathering her skirts as though she intended to take her departure instantly. "But it will be a fine story that Signor Fenshawe cables from Aden when he tells how the Governor of Massowah aided and abetted this half-crazy poltroon in onslaughts on defenseless women. It was not enough that Italian law should be misused to further his ends, but the scum of the bazaar is enlisted under his banner, and he is supported by the authorities in an act that would be reprobated by any half-savage state in existence."

"I pray you calm yourself, signora," exclaimed Marchetti, now fully alive to the dangers confronting him. "You must see that I have only acted in an official capacity. I, at least, have no feeling in the matter. I received certain information—"

"Which was entirely misleading and one-sided," she broke in imperiously.

"Which certainly did not refer to you in any particular," was the sharp rejoinder, while he glanced at Alfieri. "If this gentleman is now prepared to say that he was mistaken—"

"Who dares to hint at any admission on my part?" shouted Alfieri.

The stout Governor did not like to be bawled at. He was sufficiently embarrassed already by the quagmire into which Alfieri had plunged him

DR. MABEL HANINGTON TELLS OF HER WORK

St. John Young Lady Lectures on Chinese Mission Work.

Dr. Mabel Hanington, of St. John, returned missionary from Foochow, China, gave a very interesting lecture on her work, before a good-sized audience in St. John's (Stone) church school room last evening. Rev. G. A. Kuhring, presided. Dr. Hanington spoke of the characteristics of the people, the difficulties encountered in missionary work and the success attained, and referred especially to the dispensary hospital, showing the great need there was far all that could possibly be done from the medical and surgical standpoint. On the whole the people, she said, were responding to the efforts of the various branches—missionary, preaching, educational and individual work.

The lecture proved very interesting and at the close a vote of thanks was moved by W. M. Jarvis, seconded by J. C. Anderton and carried unanimously.

Dr. Hanington is laboring in the field which was at one time in charge of Rev. Mr. Stewart, who was here on furlough some years ago. He said his wife and one of their children were killed at the time of the Boxer outbreak. His two sons and two daughters who survived have lately returned to work in the field where their parents met death, the sons lately entering the ministry.

STOMACH TROUBLE AND INDIGESTION

Almost Instant Relief from Miserv is Awaiting You at the Drug Store.

Every family here ought to keep some Diapepsin in the house, as any one of you may have an attack of indigestion or stomach trouble at any time, day or night.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't tempt you, or what little you do eat seems to fill you, or lays like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Ask your pharmacist for a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take one triangule after supper tonight. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for all stomach misery, because it will take hold of your food and digest it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Actual, prompt relief for all your stomach misery is at your pharmacist, waiting for you.

These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to cure a case of dyspepsia or indigestion.

RIGOLETTO CHARMED ENTHUSIASTIC AUDIENCE

Boston Opera Singers Scored Another Distinct Triumph in the Opera House Last Night

The best of the week was the general opinion of the people at the Opera House last night who had witnessed the production by the Boston Opera Singers. Verdi's Rigoletto was the bill, and not only did Miss Darling and Signor Alberti again score triumphs, but Roland Paul shared the honors with them.

Rigoletto is taken from Victor Hugo's tragedy "La Roi S'amuse," and is known to many in dramatic form as "The Fool's Revenge, or the King's Jester," Signor Alberti had the title role, and gave a truly artistic performance—one that would do credit to a metropolitan production, not only in singing, but in dramatic force and expression. In every one of his numbers he had his audience enthused. So with Miss Darling, who gave another finished performance, and everybody wonders how she stands the strain of so much singing, not to mention rehearsals. Mr. Paul, too showed his worth as a tenor, and so well did he sing his way into favor that he was compelled, in response to the applause to respond to encores. The duet between Mr. Paul and Miss Darling in the first act, for natural grace, passionate intensity and fervid expression is one of Verdi's finest numbers, and was given in superb style. Miss Darling followed with the passionate love song "Caro Nome," which is not alone remarkable for its delicacy and richness of melody but also for the brilliancy of its bravara, calling for rare range and flexibility of voice, all of which Miss Darling possesses. The Opera House stage, than Alberti's great scene in the second act, which is intensely dramatic, expressing in its musical alternations the whole gamut of emotions, from the fury of despair to the most exquisite tenderness of appeal as he pleads with the courtiers to tell him where his daughter is.

Mr. Paul was heard to great advantage in his solo in the last act, an aria of extreme elegance and graceful abandon.

Tonight the bill will be Faust in which Mr. Boyle the splendid basso will have the title role.

HARKINS NEXT MONDAY

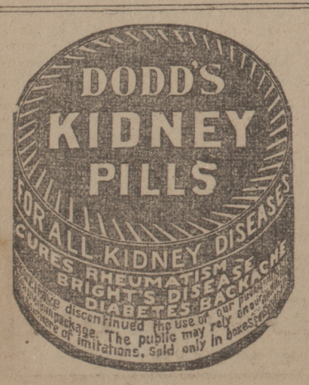

In the Opera House, Monday afternoon, Nov. 9, the W. S. Harkins Company will commence their annual engagement. The opening plays will be "It's All Your Fault," and "The Man on the Box." The Halifax Acadian Recorder speaks of the company in the following terms: "W. S. Harkins opened his engagement at the Academy of Music last night, before an audience that completely filled the theatre, with the most evenly balanced company that he has brought here in years, and in one of the latest New York successes: "The Man On The Box." It is a most attractive play for all classes; it has all the elements of broad comedy, with bright sayings and humorous situations; high class comedy, with its dainty love making scenes, and almost melo-drama, with a scene in which the hero thwarts the Russian count from obtaining plans of the fort. Wilmer Walter, the leading man, made an instantaneous success in the title role; he has a fine stage presence, a good speaking voice, and is very natural. The good impression he made promises to be further strengthened during the engagement.

AT THE NICKEL

Still another change of bill at the big Nickel and a most interesting change it is to be; in the first place the Dramagraph Co. will produce a social melodrama entitled "A Wayward Daughter," a story of a wealthy heiress who elopes. The scenes are laid in Chicago and the book of the playlet is cleverly written. Miss Foley's song is "Who Knows," a dainty little love ditty of late issue, and Mr. Cairns is sure to please with the novelty number "Oh You Kid," a song that is being sung with much success in New York. The motion pictures are: "The Girl I Left Behind Me," a love-story of the Phillipine campaign; "The Heart Of A Gypsy Girl," by Pathe Freres, and a French comedy, "Caught With The Goods;" the Nickel's own superb orchestra in the bargain.

AT THE PRINCESS

Mrs. James L. Tufts, the popular contralto, has a new song today, entitled "They All Love Jack," a pretty sailor song. Edward Courtney will sing "Dear Heart." The pictures are all good, every one new. "Chances of Life," a drama, is the story of the trials of a poor shopkeeper; "Hired, Fired, Tired," is a comedy; "The Magical Tramp" is one of those pictures that keep people wondering all the time; "Court in Session" shows a bench of judges and the different expressions while listening to different cases. There is a matinee every afternoon at 2.15; special candy matinee on Saturday.

Fashion Hint for Times Readers

FABRIC UPON FABRIC MAKES RICH EFFECT.

The frock in layers is one of the striking style features of French models this season. There is practically no limit to the sum that may be expended by an enterprising modiste who knows how to combine seemingly alien materials in one harmonious whole—and the effect, kept closely to the flat lines considered desirable now, is deceptively simple. A clever luncheon frock shows this fancy for overlapping fabrics. Beneath the draped bodice of frock itself are three distinct materials; the richly embroidered "stomacher" and tucked net overguimpe, matched by the long tucked sleeve, and the small under-guimpe, which relieves the frock color with a bit of white at the throat. Crepe de chine was the material chosen for this pretty costume, and besides the bodice trimming the special style note is given by the big crochet buttons that run up and down skirt and sleeve. The sash ends, falling from between the shoulders at the back, are also notable. The little apron-bib arrangement, which carries the lines of the skirt up into the bodice, is a suggestion for the home dressmaker who delights in long lines but finds a skirt and waist combination easier to manage than an effect strictly an princesse.

THE LORD'S DAY ALLIANCE WANTS SABBATH OBSERVED BY INCOMING STEAMSHIPS

Committee Appointed to Interview Steamship Companies on Possibility of Preventing the Landing of Passengers in St. John on Sunday.

The annual meeting of the St. John branch of the Lord's Day Alliance was held yesterday afternoon in St. David's church school room. Rev. W. H. Sampson, Carleton, was elected president; Rev. Gordon Dickie and Rev. Samuel Howard, vice-presidents, and Amon A. Wilson, secretary-treasurer.

The meeting was fairly well attended by representatives of the churches. Rev. A. A. Graham, the president, was in the chair and presented the report of the executive which dealt with the work done here during the past year. This included interviews held by members with the I. C. R. authorities relative to the running of trains, and the concessions made by them. The success of the executive in dealing with drug stores, Sunday concerts and the Nickel shows was also referred to.

The Secretary-Treasurer, A. A. Wilson, submitted his report, which showed total receipts of $139.13, which amount was paid over to the general fund of the L. D. A.

An interesting discussion on the best methods of carrying on the work followed. It was generally agreed that the lines already adopted by the executive were excellent; that when a case was reported it was investigated by the executive, which sent a communication to the party accused of breaking the Lord's Day Act. If no notice was taken of the first letter, a second was sent and it was intimated that, failing satisfactory results, information would be laid with the proper authorities. In most instances the executive reported they had been very successful in the initial appeals.

A long discussion took place on the question of steamship companies landing their passengers in Carleton on Sundays. It was felt that, unless in cases of absolute necessity, this should not be done. The remedy, it was said, was that the time of departure from the other side should be so arranged that landing on Sunday could be avoided. A committee consisting of Rev. W. H. Sampson, Rev. H. R. Read, and Rev. T. J. Deinstadt was appointed to wait on the companies and see what could be done.

The executive committee consists of the newly elected officers and the following: Rev. W. W. McMaster, Hon. J. G. Forbes, R. T. Hayes, W. D. Baskin, H. C. Tilley, S. M. Sewell, Rev. Mr. Read, Rev. H. D. Marr, H. G. Smith, Rev. G. F. Scovil, Rev. J. Heaney, Rev. Mr. Robinson, E. L. Strange, Rev. M. E. Fletcher and Rev. G. A. Kuhring.

In the evening, public meetings were held in St. David's church lecture room and Carleton Methodist church and were addressed by Rev. W. G. Hanna and Rev. T. Albert Moore, secretaries of the Canadian L.D.A.

It St. David's church, the pastor, Rev. A. A. Graham occupied the chair and read the report of the executive. This, besides other matters, contained the following paragraph:

"The wise administration of our police department in this city under the direction of Chief Clark, has secured a better condition of affairs here when we compare our city with other places. An attempt was made to open certain moving picture shows on Sunday, and such an exhibition was advertised by two of our theatres. Our worthy secretary, A. A. Wilson, K.C., called upon the chief of police and directed his attention to the matter, and within an hour the matter was dealt with most decisively. The proposed exhibitions were forbidden, and the promoters later were convicted, in the police court, of advertising an unlawful entertainment. Judge Ritchie uttered no uncertain sound in giving his judgment, and the fines were allowed to stand against them. This settled a question here which has been a very troublesome one in some other Canadian cities."

In the Carleton meeting, Rev. W. H. Sampson, the president-elect of the St. John branch, was in the chair. The general work of the alliance throughout Canada to preserve the Lord's day as a day of rest for the working men was the theme of the speakers in both meetings.

The great improvements made in the observance of the Lord's Day Act, due to the efforts of the alliance, were also dwelt upon. It was shown that in many instances men who had hitherto been compelled to work seven days a week had become better citizens with a better outlook on life by being granted the Sunday respite. Strong appeals were made for continuous support in the work and for the active sympathy of all in preserving for Canadians their great national rest day.

FAIRVILLE TO VOTE ON THE LIGHT PLAN

They Will Decide Tomorrow Whether to Install Street Lights.

There was a largely attended meeting of the ratepayers in Fire district No. 1, Fairville, last evening in the Orange Hall when the matter of lighting the streets of Fairville with electric arc lamps was discussed. A vote on the matter will be taken by the ratepayers on Friday.

Councillors Hooley and Fox and James Ready, T. H. Wilson, Robert Catherwood, Mr. Nelson, Geo. Tibbitts, W. F. Barnhill and others spoke in favor of the scheme.

It is propsed to install seven lights at a cost of $100 each, but the question of where they should be placed would be decided by the highway board.

The people at last evening's meeting appeared to be practically unanimous in favor of having the lights installed.

BAPTISTS LAUNCH A PLAN TO BRING ABOUT A UNION

Ottawa, Nov. 4.—With delegates from every province in Canada, numbering in all 319, a new Baptist conference opened here today, following close on the convention for Ontario and Quebec, which came to an end last night.

All who attended the inter-provincial meeting have remained for the larger assembly. The present conference will last two days, its aim being to federate the three existing Baptist bodies in Western, Central and Eastern Canada.

Among the men from the maritime provinces are Rev. W. W. McMaster, of St. John, N. B.; Rev. W. N. Hutchings, Truro, N. S.; Rev. H. C. Newcombe, Yarmouth, N. S.; Dr. W. V. Higgins, Wolfville, N. S., and Hon. George E. Foster. From the west, Rev. W. F. Stackhouse, Winnipeg, superintendent for western missions; Rev. D. B. Harkness, M. A., Winnipeg; Dr. A. P. McDiarmid, Brandon, principal of Brandon College; Rev. C. C. McLaurin, of Calgary, and J. G. White, of Summerland, B. C. From Ontario and Quebec, Rev. A. A. Cameron, Ottawa; Rev. J. A. Gordon and Rev. H. F. Laflamme, Toronto.

Under the proposed union each church may appoint two delegates and one additional delegate for every 100 members.

After preliminary work in enrolling the delegates and discussion as to how to proceed in the matter, a provisional organization was instituted. Dr. Jones, chancellor of New Brunswick University and president of the Maritime Baptist convention, was appointed chairman, and Dr. E. J. Stobo, Smiths Falls, secretary.

Rev. A. A. Campbell extended a formal welcome to the delegates.

At the afternoon session the joint committee presented its report on the suggested constitution of the Baptist union of Canada. The report recommended that members of the union would be appointed by the churches, two by each association and one from each 5,000 membership in the conventions. The time and places of the meeting of the union would be determined by the union board.

The Grande Ligne Mission would adhere to its present name and hold its board of fifteen members, one-third of whom shall be French and the board to meet in Montreal.

Foreign missions would have a board of thirty members, of these twelve would be apointed by Ontario, twelve by the maritime provinces and six by the western conventions. One-third will retire each year and one-half must be laymen.

There was considerable discussion on the the clauses relating to membership of the union, many delegates demanding individual representation from each of the Baptist churches. Dr. White, of Nova Scotia, Dr. Norman, of Toronto, and others feared that this would mean an unwieldy convention of 5,000 members with probably some of the churches left out altogether.

Hon. George E. Foster thought that the representation should come from the individual church as much as possible and that each church should have the right to appoint delegates.

Amendments to remove special representation from associations, existing conventions and boards and to cut off representation from the local churches were defeated.

The subject comes up for further discussion tomorrow.

MICHAEL KELLY IN TOWN

Veteran Temperance Worker Tells of Sturdy Old Men He Met in His Travels.

Michael Kelly, of St. Martins, grand electoral superintendent for the I. O. G. T. in New Brunswick, arrived in the city yesterday after two months' work in Queens county and bringing, in addition to other pleasant experiences, remembrance of the meetings with two men whom he considers certainly remarkable.

One is Robert Elliott, of Young's Cove, who, though eighty-four years of age, dug 108 barrels of potatoes this fall. The other is John Wasson, of Iron Bound Cove, who is just four years short of a century but who enjoys a walk as well as a man of seventy, saws wood, likes to talk on the topics of the day and who in one day this fall dug six barrels of potatoes.

Mr. Kelly, during his two months' temperance work in the county, addressed, counting Sunday services, about sixty meetings and speaks highly of his reception everywhere. He thanks the people of Queens county for kindnesses shown and also thanks officers and crews of the steamers Sincennes, May Queen, Majestic and Victoria.

Mr. Kelly will go to St. Martins today and after Thanksgiving Day will begin a tour of Charlotte or Sunbury county.

EXMOUTH ST. Y. M. A.

R. F. Goodrich Was Chosen President at Annual Meeting Last Evening.

The Y. M. A., of Exmouth street church held their annual meeting last night. The reports from the various offices showed that the organization is in a healthy state financially and otherwise. The treasurer reported that the sum of $653 had been raised during the year.

The election of officers resulted as follows: Rev. S. Howard, honorary president; R. F. Goodrich, president; W. A. Adams, E. E. Thomas, W. G. Drake, R. F. Handron, vice-presidents; W. J. Magee, recording secretary; W. E. Campbell, financial secretary; W. E. Lawton, treasurer; H. P. Sandall, chaplain; C. McFarlane and H. Alexander, representatives on the committee of management.

It is the intention of the association to hold a fair holiday in their hall, Brussels street on the 17th inst. This will last four days and the proceeds will go towards paying off the debt on the hall.
