THE MOUNT TEMPLE TO BE IN SERVICE

Abandonment of the Vessel is Not Affirmed and Her Return to C. P. R. Fleet is Probable

Montreal, April 21.—That the Mount Temple will probably reappear in due course in the C. P. R. Atlantic steamship fleet is the announcement made by the officials of the C. P. R. steamship department.

It is true that the vessel was technically abandoned to the underwriters some time after the stranding on Ironbound Island, but the underwriters never accepted the responsibility or assented to the abandonment, so that the company's interest in the vessel is just as keen as if there had been no abandonment.

The whole situation as regards the vessel is subject to arrangement between the parties, and should it turn out that the steamer can be repaired, as is anticipated at Halifax, at a moderate cost, the Mount Temple's return to the Atlantic service of the C. P. R. is predicted.

Her place on the St. Lawrence navigation route has already been provided for, so far as the summer is concerned, by the fitting up of the company's steamer Montford for the accommodation of passengers, but no step towards her replacement on the fleet by a new vessel had been taken.

"RED WING" WOULDN'T FLY

Prof. Graham Bell's Aeroplane Comes to Grief in Private Trial

Halifax N. S., April 22—(Special).—A private telegram from Dr. Alexander Graham Bell's staff at Hammondsport, N. Y., where the professor is at present continuing his investigations into the possibilities of navigation of the air, says the last flight of "Red Wing" did not prove so successful as the first. After rising a few feet from the ground the machine became unmanageable, through the failure of the motor to work, and falling heavily, was badly smashed. The operator, however, escaped serious injury, and the aeroplane will be fixed up and sent an another trial. These experiments with the aeroplane are under the supervision of Lieut. Selfrige, of the United States army. While Professor Bell is interested in this work with the aeroplane, he still believed that the navigation of the air will first be solved by him at his laboratories in Cape Breton with a tetrahedral kite as his supporting surface. During the past winter a number of men and girls have been engaged at Baddeck constructing tetrahedral cells, and at present about nine thousand of the units have been made.

ORGAN RECITAL.

The organ recital this evening in the Mission church by Mr. Isherwood-Plummer is sure to attract all music loving people. It is the first time Mr. Plummer has been heard in St. John, and his programme, as printed last night, has attracted much attention. Mr. Plummer, since taking up his residence in Fredericton, has not only proved his ability as an organist, but has also organized an orchestra of 25 pieces that is already making a name for itself.

The congregation of St. Matthew's Presbyterian church, Douglas avenue, in bidding farewell to their pastor, Rev. A. H. Foster, last night made him the recipient of a well filled purse and an address. The evening's proceedings took the form of a congregational social, at which there was a large number of the church members and their friends present. The members of the mission band also presented to Mrs. Foster a certificate of life membership in their organization. An address and remembrance were also presented to Mrs. McDonald, mother of Mrs. Foster, who has taken active interest in the church work. Rev. Mr. Foster goes to Maitland on Saturday next.

BAND WILL BUILD ON SITE PROPOSED

The following statement was given out last evening by James Connolly, president of the City Cornet Band:

"At a meeting of the City Cornet Band held last evening it was resolved, that the band stand be erected on the proposed site, as it has been unanimously decided by the council committee of the common council.

"We have noticed with regret the opposition that has developed in connection with the affair; we would ask the citizens who have been opposed to reserve their judgment until the stand is completed.

"We have every respect for the suggestions offered by the different correspondents in the press. The suggestion of W. F. Hatheway, M.P.P., is for the erection of the stand over the entrance to the Old Burial Ground, but we learn that the Loyalist Society some years ago, when the same suggestion was made, were strongly opposed to it. We thank Mr. Hatheway for his kind remarks re band concerts.

"We can assure the citizens that had we the remotest idea of the opposition to the building of the stand we would not have taken the matter up.

"We wish to refer to our correspondent who asked what guarantee the council would have of the band giving those concerts; we can assure him that we have never broken faith with the public yet, and it is our intention to complete the stand and to hand it over to the mayor and aldermen as the property of the city, and to give concerts on Wednesday evening and Saturday afternoon for the summer months to the satisfaction of the citizens of St. John.

"The members of the band will again take up the soliciting of subscriptions and we hope the citizens will respond without delay as the working plans are being prepared and we will call for tenders as soon as possible as we would like to see the stand finished by the first of June."

OBITUARY

Mrs. F. E. Cassidy

Titusville, N. B., April 20.—The death of Jennie, the beloved wife of F. E. Cassidy, occurred at their home at Clover Hill on Thursday, April 16. About two weeks ago she contracted pneumonia. Under the treatment of Dr. G. N. Pearson hopes of her recovery were for some time entertained, but heart trouble developed, and in spite of medical skill and loving care death ensued.

Mrs. Cassidy, who was Miss Dunlop, was in her 68th year, and leaves a sorrowing husband, two daughters—Mrs. George McDowell, of Petersville (N. B.), Miss Francis at home—and six sons—Francis and Matthew, residing in Boston; Thomas, in Cranbrook (B. C.); James, in Welsford (N.B.); and William and Allan at home. In Mrs. Cassidy the mother's love was so fully developed that all who knew her claimed a share.

Interment took place on Saturday, 18th inst., at 2.30 p.m. Loved ones and immediate friends contributed several pretty floral offerings. The services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Rogers, of Sussex.

Mother M. Elizabeth O'Neill

Mother M. Elizabeth O'Neill, one of the three Sisters of Charity who celebrated their golden jubilee at Mount St. Vincent, Halifax, two years ago, died there on Sunday. She was fifty-two years a religious and was the first resident mother of the order here. She was a native of this city, a sister of the late Mrs. T. Lynch.

Mrs. James Nixon

Friends of Mrs. James Nixon will hear with regret of her death which occurred yesterday at her home on Exmouth street. She leaves, beside her husband, three sons and two daughters. The funeral will be held at 2.30 o'clock to-morrow afternoon.

MEN FOR THE LAND

(London, Ont., Free Press.)

There is too much justice in the saying that the Government has overdone the immigration boom. The rush to bring in people, irrespective of condition, the fit and unfit alike, at the cost of a million a year to the taxpayers, is seen to have been a mistaken policy.

The large number of newcomers is little to boast of when it is due in great measure to their exclusion from the States, and also to assisted passages. The result of this policy has been to fill the cities with men who can find no room for their industry. No wonder the labor organizations are up in arms. What this country wants is labor for the land and the household. As Premier Whitney told a deputation in Toronto recently, "there is plenty of room in Ontario, and no need for any farm laborer to be out of work." The problem of the new-comers is to be solved on the farm.

FISHY.

His Friends (in chorus)—What a fine string of fish. Did you get all you hooked?

The Angler—No; there was one that got away, but I was rather glad of it. It wasn't half as big as any of these.

THE BEST SHE COULD DO.

Hubby—What, $30 for that bonnet? Why, it's ridiculous!

Wifey—Yes, I know it isn't anything to boast of, but you said you couldn't afford an expensive bonnet this spring.

BAREFACED LOTTERY

(Montreal Witness.)

In spite of the anti-lottery law, it appears that a lottery or "policy" concern known as the "Royal" has been running wide open all the time until the past few days. "Drawings," it is asserted, have taken place at Maisonneuve twice daily, and no attempt has been made by the authorities to stop them. It is also stated that men holding official positions are interested. The tickets have been sold from five cents upward, and purchased largely by women and children as well as men. Untold misery always follows in the wake of the policy shop. It affects the poorest and leads to the pawnshop and the prison. It is a game in which the dice are loaded as, even if the business is fairly done, of which there is no evidence. the profits to the management are enormous. The action of the authorities concerned will now be critically inquired into by the better-disposed public.

GIVING HIM AWAY.

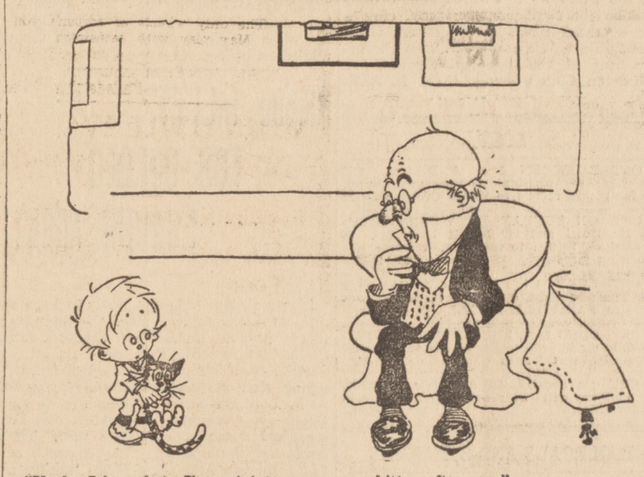

Katie—Charley has turned over a new leaf. Why, he has actually given up billiards during Lent.

Marie—Yes, I heard him say he had changed to pool.

BENEATH THE DEEP.

Dolly Mermaid—And you have your Easter hat?

Polly Mermaid—Yes, but I can't wear it, because I am afraid of getting the feathers wet.

"Uncle Jehosophat, I'm goin' to name my kitten after you."
"Well, well, that is nice of you——"
"Oh, it's all right! Mamma says I've got to drown the thing anyway."

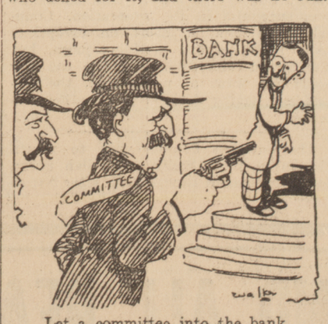

HARD ON HUBBY.

Mr. Digs—I see Mrs. Jones has a new spring bonnet.
Mrs. Digs—Yes; her husband had a streak of good luck.
Mr. Digs—How was that?
Mrs. Digs—He took out an accident pol icy for $25 a week recently and the very next day he broke his leg.

HE COULDN'T FAIL

"If I'd been doing business in the east when the panic came on I might have made a good thing of it," said the Idaho banker, "but we have to run things a little different out west. I fortunately had money on hand to pay all depositors who asked for it, and there was no run.

Let a committee into the bank.

But the depositors wanted to know, you know.

"I had to let a committee come into the bank and count the cash and look over the securities for themselves.

"A rope with a hangman's noose was hung on a nail driven into the door.

"Two men guarded the bank during the day, and two guarded my house during the night.

"If I had to make a little journey to the next town two men accompanied me and had their guns along.

"Every day or two some fellow wearing a sombrero would walk into the bank with a gun in his hand and inquire:

"'Is Tom here?'"

"'He is,' I would reply as I stepped forward."

"'How's the bank, Tom?'"

"'Bully.'"

"'Money all safe?'"

"'Safe as safe.'"

"'And you haven't skiddooed?'"

"'No. I'm right here.'"

"Things went on this way for three months before there was any let-up," continued the banker, "even when I started east the other day I had to satisfy the crowd that the bank funds were to be left behind. No, we can't make any ten-strikes running banks in the west. We have got to be satisfied with fair profits or dangle at a limb, and none of us care to dangle."

LOBBYING

In the Ontario Legislature lobbyists have been warned that they are regarded as an evil, and told that they must be careful. Sometimes lobbyists are bad; sometimes they are men seeking to save their interests from the danger of being made subject to the operation of ill-considered or foolish laws. If legislatures would never suggest any but wise legislation half the lobbyists would disappear automatically, and if they would never consider unwise propositions the other half would go.—Montreal Gazette.

The Dominican government has presented to congress a project for new harbor regulations by which the tonnage dues are reduced from $2 to 25 cents a ton of cargo delivered and received by steamships and 20 cents a registered ton for sailing ships. This, it is believed, will facilitate commerce.
