TEN PAGES—ONE CENT

LIONS PROWLED IN THE CITY STREETS

Fort Worth the Centre of Wild Wind and Rainstorm--Much Damage Done

Fort Worth, Texas, April 18.—With telephone, telegraph and railroad service almost completely suspended, Fort Worth was, last night, the centre of the worst wind and rain storm that has raged over Texas in many years. With two exceptions every railroad out of this city was forced to annual trains owing to washouts and loss of bridges and at midnight the telephone companies reported all wires out of Fort Worth lost. Cleburn, twenty miles south, was struck by a wind storm of tornado proportions, followed by a torrential downpour of rain. Within twenty minutes after the storm broke the two bayous that run through Cleburn had left their banks, flooding five or six acres. A crowd of people, who had gathered in the western portion of the city, was completely wrecked, two lions escaped and prowled about town for an hour, throwing the people into a panic. One canvasman was caught under the wreckage of the main street and fatally injured. The loss to the circus is estimated at $12,000. At Fort Worth the Trinity river began to rise again at midnight and every available man from the police force was hurried out to warn the people living in the bottoms.

TUESDAY'S ELECTION

Indications Are That a Small Vote Will be Polled

There does not seem to be any very great interest manifested in Tuesday's election and the indications are that a very small vote will be polled. The common clerk was busy today in preparing the ballot boxes and getting ready for the election in the various wards. In addition to voting for mayor and aldermen the electors are asked to express their preference for the style of representation in future. On each ballot there is an opportunity for the elector to vote for the system of election he prefers, as follows: For the district system. For the system in force previous to the election of 1907. The voting in this case will be done the same as for mayor or aldermen, by marking out the two systems to which one is opposed. Judging from the talk on the streets the choice will be between the district system, yet untried, and the system of election by the citizens at large, as was done previous to 1907.

SOME SUGGESTIONS FOR CITY PUBLICITY FROM CALIFORNIA

In the way of increased population, Oakland, Cal., has achieved larger results than any other city in the United States in the shortest space of time. In 1900 it had a reported population of 66,970, while in 1907 a conservative estimate of it is said, would place the figures at 255,000. The chamber of commerce has conducted the campaign of publicity and has used extensively popular magazines and appropriate follow-up literature. The results have been exceptionally good. Replies to the advertisements are received at the rate of from six to fifty letters a day. Advertising a city through the medium of the classified columns of the leading daily, weekly and monthly publications of the United States, Canada and Europe, is the original publicity plan undertaken by the Astoria (Oregon) chamber of commerce. The intention of this campaign is to appeal directly to the very man or woman who is sought as a new resident of the city. Through such classifications as "male help wanted," "business chances," "farm lands and investments," the chamber of commerce expects to reach idle capital, tourists and people who are on the keen lookout for opportunities to

WILD BEASTS IN CHARGE OF A SHIP

Monkeys, Tigers, Leop-ards and Snakes Overrun Steamer--A Rather Tail Story

New York, April 18.—A despatch to the Tribune from Boston says: The German freighter Braumfels came into port this afternoon from Calcutta after a series of adventures. When the freighter left Ceylon she had aboard four hundred monkeys, a lot of tigers, leopards and snakes and a big cargo of rum and molasses. When about a week out an orang outang got loose and went around breaking open the monkey cages. Before the crew could stop him, the four hundred monkeys were roaming around the decks. They got into the cargo, got drunk on rum and emptied molasses over everything. The crew was powerless and the ship given over to the animals until she docked.

Three men swam ashore while two others remained on the scow, rescuing the third. The other three men were drowned. THE TIMES NEW REPORTER along from the station this morning. Bill aimed to come in to town—aimed to be here since the fire—never seen a street car till this morning. Well, sir, never seen that wheel till he was right on it. It was going around like a windmill. The minute Bill seen it he gave a yell and side-stepped for the middle of the road. I guess he thought it was one of them automobiles; he was gone climbing right over eem. You never seen a feller so scared. I callate he ain't got over it yet. No, sir, he ain't been to town after the fire. That's more'n thirty years. It'd be with a dollar to follow Bill around today—but I guess I'll wait an' hear eem tell it out to the store next week.

SOLDIERS LEAD WILD CAREER OF CRIME

Mutiny, Murder and Highway Robbery Features of a Drunken Outbreak
in Mexican Town

San Francisco, April 18.—While almost the entire population of Mazatlan, Mexico, were participating in a religious feast last Sunday twenty five soldiers broke out of the garrison and began a wild career of rioting and bloodshed. Within half an hour they had killed two policemen, and one other citizen, and had waylaid and robbed three men on the outskirts of the city. News of the mutiny was brought by Louis Bradbury, a well known mining man, who arrived here yesterday afternoon in the German steamer Abyssinia, which left Mazatlan on the day the mutiny occurred. Governor Francisco Canedo, of Sinaloa, who was in the city, lost no time in calling out the mounted district police and five of them started in pursuit of the soldiers.

CONVICTED OF MURDER

Two Boys Found Guilty of Shooting a Companion From Ambush

Gunnison, Colo., April 18.—Fred Collins, aged 17, and Edward Carver, aged 13, were convicted last night of the murder of Louis Bruno, near Crested Butte. Collins' conviction is for first degree murder and a life sentence was recommended. Carver is found guilty of second degree murder, and in his case the jury recommended clemency. The evidence showed that the lads had fired on Bruno from ambush and when he ran had followed him, shooting him down as he begged for mercy, and robbed him of $87. The defense claimed that Collins is mentally unbalanced and that Carver did no shooting.

RAILROAD EXPERTS ENDORSE CONCRETE

About as strong and unqualified an endorsement of concrete as was ever rendered was that made at the recent annual convention of the American Railway Engineering and Maintenance of Way Association, says Genent Age. The members of this Association met for purely practical purposes, the comparison of experience and observations of the past year, and being engaged in duties requiring the highest intelligence they are qualified to speak with authority on the subject of their work. The committee on buildings took into consideration the round-houses, the destructive influences to which these buildings are subjected and the economic problems involved. Its verdict was that in economy of first cost, durability and fire-resisting qualities, there is no other material. Concrete, which is equal to reinforced concrete. The committee went on to say that a roof of this character gives the greatest freedom from possibility of interruption by traffic because of fire, cyclone or earthquake, and that consequently no insurance is added for the concrete roof construction. While the others have a rate upon the entire value of each stall, including foundations and pits, equipment and all accessories. In another committee report, that on masonry, a topic for consideration was the use of typical standard designs now in use for masonry culverts, both stone and concrete. On this topic the committee's introductory paragraph was as concise and suggestive as the reference to the roundhouse quoted above. It said: "Your committee finds that stone structures of this class are rapidly going out of use, and has therefore eliminated them from consideration, and confines itself to concrete culverts, plain and reinforced. This stone work is absolutely eliminated from further consideration in a field of practically every other material. If extended experiments and the practical use of concrete by experts of such prominence warrant them in endorsing it for structures likely to encounter the most severe tests, their reports and conclusions should certainly go far towards inspiring confidence in those who still hesitate to adopt concrete for ordinary purposes."

The Bangor schooner John B. Carrington, Captain McDougall, arrived in port this morning from Bar Harbor to load lumber for New York.

The steamer Majestic was frozen in at Gageon Creek, Thursday evening, the ice being an inch and a half thick. Some damage was done her stern in working her out.

He was first taken on a warrant charging him with keeping for sale, to which he pleaded guilty and paid a $50 fine. Half a dozen other cases are before the court today.

THOSE WHO ARE QUALIFIED TO VOTE

Total Number of Voters in Next Tuesday's Election is 9,900

The number of citizens whose names are on the list of voters for the election of May 12, 1908, is 9,900, though probably not more than half that number will exercise their franchise. The total number on the assessment books for 1908 is 12,018. Of this number 2,097 have crossed off their names for various reasons and 10,611 have been marked off on account of changes of residence, death or other reasons, leaving approximately 9,900.

LEADING PERIODICALS FAVOR WOMAN SUFFRAGE

The North American Review, the publications of the Harper Brothers and Collier's Weekly have all "lined up" in favor of extending the suffrage to women, and now comes the Saturday Evening Post with the following pertinent editorial, under the heading: "The Plea of the Clinging Vine."

We are well disposed toward female suffrage, perhaps not so much for the sake of the thing itself as because of the hoary arguments that are brought against it. Man is not a sturdy oak. He is a scrub, insecurely rooted in sandy soil, somewhat worm-eaten, in peril from every high wind. Nor is woman a clinging vine—except those who are also blockheads. Home is one female in seven, of all ages, at the last census, was engaged in a full-time occupation. There were twenty-four million females above the age of twenty, and five and a quarter million were earning a livelihood—or trying to.

The political and economic organization under which five million women work for a living is exclusively a male creation. It seems to us reasonable that, in proportion to their ability to make a livelihood, they be entitled to have a say about the general conditions under which livelihoods are made.

We are impatient to any fear that voting would "coarsen women and rob them of that virgin delicacy which is their chief charm." Many thousands of them we pack daily in street-cars, subways and elevated trains, where they are bumped and trampled and squeezed by strange men. By the hundred thousands they work in stores, offices and factories, where their experiences must be at least as sophisticated as any that would come to them from walking to a polling place for the middle of the year. It is undoubted that the great majority of women do wish to vote; but they wouldn't have to.

ALASKA GOLD OUTPUT

Seattle, April 18.—According to special advices from Nome, Alaska, bankers and miners of Seward Peninsula expect to realize this year the largest spring production in the history of Alaska. It will probably reach $3,000,000. From all the camps reports have been received of unusually rich dumps piled up during the winter season. A new tin find, said to be of immense promise is reported from Brooks Mountain.

Then each of them tore up several letters and scattered them on the floor. The waste basket was empty and they would accord to deprive the janitor of the task of filling it.

A USUAL RESULT OF A MONCTON SPREE

Young Man Loses His Watch and Money and
Turns Up at Police Station

Moncton, N.B., April 18.—(Special).—A young man who gave his name as Wm. Buchanan, and said his home was at Black Point, N.B., reported at the police station Thursday night that the sum of $62 and a gold watch had been stolen from him on Wednesday night. Buchanan said he was on his return trip to Maine and had stopped over in Moncton, and in falling in with some evil companions got intoxicated. He alleged he was set upon and beaten until he was in an unconscious condition and on regaining consciousness found himself at the home of Chas. G. Levesque, Levesque's corner. That he was badly beaten is evidenced by both his eyes being blackened, his battered nose and several cuts about the head. Buchanan does not remember what took place during his spree. He is detained at the police station.

KENNEBECASIS REPORTED OPEN

River Boats are all Making Ready for the Opening of the Season

What is probably the feature of river navigation this year is the reported opening of the Kennebecasis to Hampton. Captain Arnold Mabe, of the steamer Blaine, which is a Times man this morning, said that his information was that the river is clear to Hampton, the only ice holding being a small quantity at Rochesay. He announced that his boat would leave her dock, Indian town, this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The ice did not go out of the Kennebecasis last year until the second day of May. The Majestic had a fairly good passenger list and freight from Gagetown and left at noon today on the return trip. Blaine also brought considerable freight and some passengers from Queenstown and left at 1 o'clock today for the James. The Champlain will leave Monday morning for the Belles Isle and the ice be out by then. The Aberdeen will go on the Washademoak route Tuesday. The Victoria is waiting for the opening to Fredericton before pulling out. It is not expected that the Senneca will start for some few days yet. The Queen will not be ready for some weeks, though work is being rushed on her.

Des Moines, Ia., April 18.—The great conference of miners and operators of Iowa agreed yesterday on a wage scale which is a duplicate of the expired contract. The new agreement is to cover one year. The only stop remaining for a resumption of work is the ratification of the agreement by the miners. The mine owners have already ratified it. The mines in Iowa have been closed since April 1. There was an ample supply of coal.

POULTRY ITEM.

THOUGHTFUL APPRECIATION.

Six citizens met in the lobby of the postoffice this morning and spent some time commending the department for placing a large waste basket there for the collection of waste papers. RUSSIA ACTIVE ON PERSIAN BORDER

Marauding Kurds to be Punished With Full
Strength of Russian Forces

Tiflis, April 18.—The situation on the Persian frontier arising from the activity of bands of marauding Kurds has not materially improved. The Persian bandits who retired into the mountain fortresses after their first successes against the Russians, again concentrated yesterday and renewed their attack against Belesaur, in which the brigands had taken shelter. The Russian commander has received orders to wipe out the brigand bands. Reinforcements are being sent him from Baku and Lenkoran. In addition to the losses previously reported, the Russians have had seven soldiers killed. The Russian commander says in a report that the Persian authorities have lost their heads entirely and that anarchy reigns in the district.

Tiflis has left here for the Kars district to supervise the precautionary measures Russia is taking along the Turkish frontier in view of the mobilization of Turkish troops on the other side of the line. The people of Tiflis are considerably concerned over this situation but higher military officials now profess confidence that the Turkish measures are not directed against Russia.

NEWS FROM FREDERICTON

Manager McNicoll of the C.P.R.
Inspecting the Gibson Branch

Fredricton, April 18.—(Special).—D. McNicoll, second vice-president and general manager of the C. P. R., Supt. Downie and Col. MacLean arrived here this morning on a special train, and went north by the Gibson branch. While here they were interviewed by Mayor Chestnut, President Dibble of the board of trade, and F. R. Edgecombe. The motor car service for the Gibson branch was discussed, and Mr. McNicoll promised to look into the matter very carefully. It is understood that the company was quite willing to make changes of the service, providing it meant increased revenue. It is understood that Rev. J. W. McConnell, pastor of the Methodist church, has been appointed chaplain of the legislature.

Frederick Burden, a well known U. N. B. graduate now located in British Columbia was married at Washington, D. C., on April 8 to Miss Jennie Payson, daughter of Rev. G. B. Payson, of this city, and sister-in-law of H. A. Powell, K. C., of St. John. George B. Baxter who has carried on a marble and stone cutting business here for some years, died this morning after a brief illness. He was about fifty years of age, and leave a widow and family. Eggs were very plentiful in the market here this morning, and sold as low as sixteen cents a dozen.

THE EASTER MARKET

A 30 Pound Turkey Was One of the Attractions This Morning

The biggest turkey that has come down the pike for many years is on exhibition today at Dickson's stall in the country market and has been purchased by George Wanamaker. The lordly bird, which tips the scale at about 30 pounds, was raised by Warren Mason, at Upper Millstream, Kings county, and sold by him to Mr. Wanamaker, who will place it on exhibition in the window of his restaurant, Charlotte street, and serve it to his customers at the regular dinner meal, Easter Monday.

The Easter market is abundantly supplied with beef and vegetables in large variety and several of the stalls have been nicely dressed for the festival season. The stall kept by J. E. Quinn, on the northern side of the market is particularly attractive and would almost make the visitor imagine the season of midsummer had arrived. The large stock of vegetables, flowers and daisies were raised at Mr. Quinn's hothouse at "Nithbank" and are finding a ready sale. Dickson's stall, has also been attractively dressed with Easter beef and vegetables. Butter and eggs are also in evidence in goodly quantities.

A MURDER IN THE BARRACKS AT LONDON

London, Ont., April 18.—(Special).—Colonel Sergeant Lloyd, R. C. R., of Wolsey barracks was shot and instantly killed, last night by Private Moor, a young Scotchman who came here from Scotland a short time ago. Moor had been down town celebrating and returned intoxicated. Sgt. Lloyd was on duty and remonstrated with Moor for being improperly dressed. Moor started to argue and a moment later left for the hospital. An orderly heard a shot fired and notified Lloyd who went to investigate. He found Moor with a Ross rifle, who, when he saw Lloyd, cried "hands up" and shot him through the heart. Moor escaped and is still at large. Rev. Gideon Swim will preach at both morning and evening services in Waterloo street Baptist church tomorrow. For the first time in eleven years every gambling house has been closed in La Crosse, Wis.

WAS ANNA GOULD MARRIED TO HELIE

Parisian Paper Declares
That Anna and her
Prince Were Secretly Married

Paris, April 18.—The Cri de Paris, which publishes a chronicle of the doings of the fast set of Paris, insists in its issue of today that the marriage of Anna Gould, formerly the wife of Boni de Castellane, and Prince de Sagan, his cousin, already has taken place. The paper announced some time ago that this marriage had been celebrated secretly in Germany. Today it says: "We are now in a position to complete our information. This marriage was celebrated secretly in a little town on our frontier. When in New York Mrs. Gould informed her family that her wedding was already an accomplished fact and this is why the members of her family so quickly consented. "We also add that through certain legal reasons this marriage can be broken, but we hope that it will not by any process trouble the happiness of the young couple who during their sojourn in New York were so much together." Continuing the Cri de Paris, adds that Mrs. Gould has resolved irrevocably to break with the past; she is selling out her celebrated wine cellar, a merchant of Bordeaux having already purchased $16,000 worth of her stock.

TO-DAY IN THE POLICE COURT

Five Prisoners Faced the Magistrate on Various Charges

Five prisoners graced the long bench in the police court this morning; one having been arrested Thursday evening and four on Good Friday. Charles Carlin, who was taken into custody by Patrolman Frank A. Bowes on a charge of being a habitual frequenter of houses of ill-repute kept by Alice O'Brien, Margaret Francis and others, on Sheffield street, pleaded guilty and was remanded. Karl Montelmann and Dennis Baykins, two Belgian stewards from the C. P. R. steamer Lake Michigan, who were arrested yesterday, shortly after the steamer's arrival, by C. P. R. Detective Joseph Walsh, on suspicion of stealing a large quantity of silverware and other articles belonging to the vessel and some of the passengers, pleaded guilty and were remanded. Montelmann is accused of stealing a number of silver forks belonging to the vessel and some enamel watch fobs, the property of one of the passengers. Baykins is held on suspicion of helping himself to a gold filled watch and a silk shawl belonging to one of the Lake Michigan's passengers. Besides the articles already mentioned, a razor, also supposed to have been stolen, was found in Baykins' possession. "The arrests were made under peculiar circumstances, the suspects having quarrelled, one accusing the other of stealing his goods, and it was this falling out that led to the discovery of the theft. "After a word was said to the men went to the captain, each accusing the other of taking money from his trunk. An investigation followed and a search of one of the trunks revealed the forks belonging to the C. P. R., as well as the watch fobs and other articles that had been missing from the passengers. The second trunk was searched and the other stolen articles found among its contents. Gordon Kay, the wayward youth who has already figured in previous circus, was also brought into court this morning to face a charge of lying and lurking in the immigration and baggage room on the west side. The youthful offender, who is but 13 years of age, has a good comfortable home, and while everything possible has been done for him by his father and mother, he insists that he has been ill-treated. When arrested before, he promised to attend school and remain at home, but kept his promise only for a single day and since then he has been a truant from school, spending his nights in lumber yards and under sidewalks. It is stated also that he has stolen fruit to satisfy his hunger. In court this morning, Patrolman Gosling told of the arrest, and young Kaye remained pending the arrival of his father at the court. This time he will probably be sent to the Boys' Industrial Home. One drunk, a woman, was disposed of in the usual manner.

SURVIVORS ARRIVE

Captain and Crew of the Helen
E. Kenney Reach New York

New York, April 18.—Captain Hindon and six men of the crew of the British schooner Helen E. Kenney, which was lost on March 23, in the Port of Porto Cabello, arrived here today on steamer Prinz Frederick Henrich. The Helen E. Kenney was anchored at Porto Cabello when currents forced her to submerge wreck or ledge, and she sank in spite of all efforts to save her. The hull and the cargo were sold. The youthful offender, who is but 13 years of age, has a good comfortable home, and while everything possible has been done for him by his father and mother, he insists that he has been ill-treated. When arrested before, he promised to attend school and remain at home, but kept his promise only for a single day and since then he has been a truant from school, spending his nights in lumber yards and under sidewalks. It is stated also that he has stolen fruit to satisfy his hunger. In court this morning, Patrolman Gosling told of the arrest, and young Kaye remained pending the arrival of his father at the court. This time he will probably be sent to the Boys' Industrial Home. One drunk, a woman, was disposed of in the usual manner.

U. S. CONGRESS MAY GO ALTER PAPER TRUST

Washington, April 18.—In the event that the attorney-general does not soon show that something substantial has been done to prosecute the paper trust as a combination in restraint of trade, providing the pending inquiry shows it is operating in violation of the law, congress may go into the trust-busting business on its own account. Speaker Cannon and Chairman Payne, of the ways and means committee, contend that the tariff has nothing to do with the high price of paper, that it is the scarcity of raw material is responsible for it, the fault lies with the paper trust, who have been combining factories and to suit themselves. The speaker may offer a resolution providing for a searching inquiry by a congressional committee into the operations of the International Paper Company. This inquiry will be a searching inquiry into the sources of supply, the methods of manufacture and the manner of distribution of the products of wood pulp.
