POOR OUTLOOK FOR RAILROADS

They Need More Income and are Seeking to Advance Rates

(New York Journal of Commerce.)

Very unostentatiously the railroads have set about raising rates, or rather rearranging classifications so as to increase income. Perhaps this movement will not raise the ire of shippers; perhaps it will. The latest confidential statements from responsible railroad circles are most gloomy. It is said that April has been extremely disappointing, so far, and that the cutting down of expenses which was practiced in the first quarter of the year cannot go much further, so that net returns are relatively worse today than they were in February and March. This coincides with the best information obtainable regarding a fresh reaction in the iron and copper industries. No great pains need be taken to emphasize the need of the railroads for more income—it is notorious that few of them are earning their dividends. It is one thing, however, to recognize this and another to agree to pay more burdensome freight charges, for the hard times have not hit the railroads alone. The public—that is to say, the shippers—may have something to say on this subject. So topsy turvy are current economic arguments that it may not be regarded as illogical to increase rates, not because the demand for transportation is keen, but because business has fallen off.

The per mile earnings of our railroads are worse than the regular returns show. Inasmuch as most companies have added mileage during the last twelve months, the gross and net decreases are all the more significant. For example, Southern Railway has increased its tracks by 50 miles, Louisville & Nashville by 40 miles, and so on. This is a phase of the railroad situation that has not been adequately appreciated.

THE MONEY MARKET

New York, April 17.—The larger Wall Street banks are careful not to cause call money to decline to unprecedentedly low rates because of the influence lower figures would have upon sterling. Were the banks to throw money into the street a 1 per cent. rate could easily be established, but there is an unwritten understanding that the prevailing quotations shall not be unnecessarily depressed. It is obvious that much of the $43,000,000 excess reserve could be used on stock market collateral, but, as explained, it is not considered expedient to bring about any lower rates than have ruled during the last few weeks.

MONEY NEEDED BY JAPAN AND GERMANY

Two foreign nations are not comfortably situated financially, namely, Japan and Germany. One has suffered through war, the other through preparing for war—for that is at the bottom of these enormous German and Prussian loans. Discussing affairs in the Fatherland, the London "Economist" says: "The decline in trade has been more marked in Germany than at home, and as German industries in the last few years have borrowed freely from the banks, the decline in commercial activity would have a proportionate influence in bringing about easier conditions, if the borrowed sums could be repaid. Krupp's works at Essen have recently (according to a trade circular of Messrs. Panckow & Co., of Hamburg) dismissed about 7,000 hands; the Hamburg-American line has about thirty steamers lying idle, and wages in Hamburg industries are being reduced. These facts are said to be typical of the whole country, and if that is so the demand for money in Germany should become less keen. But so far we have the curious and disconcerting fact that dear money lingers in Germany. The day-to-day rate in Berlin this week has been about 6 per cent. and we fear it must be attributed, not merely to the difficulties caused by the government's bad finance, but also to the embarrassments in commercial circles, where numerous failures are still occurring, and where more (according to Messrs. Panckow) are expected."

New York, April 17.—It would look as if an effort were being made to hoist the stock market by its boot-straps. When such stocks as American Beet Sugar, Ice, Colorado Fuel and New York Air Brake are made to do duty as market leaders the experienced operator loses faith in the advance. Yet there is no widespread liquidation from any source and so long as there is little pressure the list may not sag materially, despite the marked absence of business, which is perhaps the most noteworthy feature of the whole stock market. Every house in the Street is complaining that it will lose money this week, not merely because of the two days' holiday, but, as is well-known, speculation invariably dwindles for several days before the holiday actually arrives. Yesterday was one of the dullest days of the season, so far as genuine business was concerned, and even the professionals made but feeble attempts to infuse animation into the trading. In such a market the list tends to sink through sheer stagnation.

ROSES FREE AT HARVEY'S EASTER SALE TODAY.

J. N. Harvey has again this year imported a fine lot of beautiful Easter Roses. These will be given today with each sale of $1.00 or over. This will be a busy day at the Harvey's stores, but the large staff of competent and obliging salesmen will see that everybody is promptly and properly served. New lines of Clothing, Hats and Furnishing Goods have been added this week for the Easter trade and will be on sale today. Read his adv. on Page 4 of this issue.

MAGNIFICENT BUFFETS.

One of the most artistic lines of buffets ever exhibited by the Messrs. Amland Bros., Ltd., Waterloo street, is said to be one of the best displays to be seen in lower Canada. This firm carry an up-to-date line of fine furniture of every description, also a large stock of carpets, squares, floor cloths, etc. Those about to start housekeeping can save money by doing their shopping at the above store, as their prices are marked down to suit everyone's purse.

CROP OUTLOOK IMPROVES TONE OF WESTERN TRADE

Confidence is Restored, Depression of Winter Months is Forgotten---20 to 25 Cent Increase in Acreage---Settlers Effects Pouring in Winnipeg, Man., April 15.—The favorable crop outlook is reflected in general business and commercial transactions all through this country.

After five years of unchecked prosperity the people of the west had forgotten what it was to have such a setback as that of last year, and had, no doubt, drifted into habits of extravagance and over-confidence, wherein the warnings of old-timers who had seen the ups and downs of a generation were little heeded.

BUSINESS WAS PARALYZED.

The local shock was emphasized by bad conditions the world over, and the closing of the money market resulted in practically paralyzing business initiative west of the Great Lakes.

FELL LIKE NINEPINS.

There was a disposition to believe that good times had gone forever, and color was lent to this view by the series of crashes in boom real estate centres, where the millionaires of yesterday fell like ninepins before insistent calls for cash payments.

MORE ATTRACTIVE THAN EVER.

Incidentally this pricking of the bubble of fictitious values has proved a great benefit by bringing prices down to something nearer a practical living basis, with the consequence that the west today is far more attractive for the salaried men than it was a couple of years ago.

The country, however, would not deserve its name were it not capable of picking up under conditions which at first appeared overwhelming, and all through the winter evidences have not been lacking that the situation was capable of improvement.

PROSPECTS IMPROVED EVERYWHERE.

The first really certain evidence of betterment was contained, curiously enough, in the reception of the arrangements entered into by the federal and provincial governments for seed distribution, when it soon became evident that the shortage had been much exaggerated.

This, combined with the successful marketing of low grade grain tended to restore confidence among the farmers, which, in turn, was reflected among the merchants and jobbers.

Bright spring sprospects have also tended to relieve misgivings, and though the west is still in a chastened mood, the despair of half a dozen months ago is forgotten.

Swift Current, Sask., April 15.—About fifty per cent. of the crop is in in this district, and the weather for the farmers is ideal.

One prominent man who has been in the district for a number of years, and who has taken a great interest in farming, says he has never seen land in better condition at this time of the year.

The furnishing of seed grain has been a great help to many in this district.

Eighty-five cars of settlers' effects have been unloaded since March 1st.

"Figures are not yet available," says the Winnipeg Commercial, "but it is generally estimated that the increase in acreage under wheat this year will be from 20 to 25 per cent. greater than last year. On account of the vast amount of railway construction done, immense areas have been opened up, and made more convenient for farming. New settlers flocked to these districts, and got busy preparing for the 1908 crop raising.

"We do not think, then, that it is going beyond the limit to say that the increase estimated in the foregoing is not too large. Even an increase of 1,000,000 acres averaged at 20 bushels to the acre means 20,000,000 bushels of wheat added to the capacity of the country for this year."

TEMPERANCE AND MORAL REFORM

Temperance Situation in Canada is Particularly Promising.

(Ottawa Citizen.)

Rev. Dr. Chown, of Toronto, general secretary of the Methodist temperance and moral reform fund and chairman of the campaign forces of the Dominion Alliance, in McLeod street Methodist church last night pictured a very bright future for the temperance situation in Canada and Newfoundland. In Newfoundland he said that there were, outside of the city of St. John's, not more than three or four places in the entire island where liquor could be secured. Complete prohibition was in force in Prince Edward Island, and no man could be elected there either for the provincial legislature or the federal house who was not opposed to the liquor trade.

In Nova Scotia and New Brunswick the outlook was also very encouraging. In Quebec there were more districts under prohibition than there were where liquor was allowed to be sold. One of the strongest temperance organizations in Canada was that in Quebec city led by the archbishop.

In Ontario there were never before such prospects for so many battles as will be fought next January, especially in the large centres. In Manitoba he had been asked to prepare a temperance policy for the Liberal party. He had done so, and it had been adopted by that party. It went to the province on that policy. It was defeated, but only by a small popular majority, and the strength of the temperance cause in the province so impressed the government that it has practically adopted this temperance policy. He believed that after December 15 next 80 per cent. of the province would be under prohibition.

The cause had an excellent outlook in Saskatchewan, and Alberta had the best license law in Canada. There would be at least $1,500,000 less spent on liquor next year in that province than ever before. The prospects in British Columbia were very bright. Dr. Chown spoke of the movement in Great Britain in the temperance cause, and in Bermuda, where he had just been touring.

ST. JOHN GIRL GUEST OF HONOUR.

(Ottawa Citizen.)

A very charming tea for young people was given on Saturday afternoon by Miss Alice Bell in honor of Miss Shepherd of Montreal. Miss Sayer of Grenfell, Alta., and Miss Constance Smith of St. John, N.B. A number of other young visitors from out of town were also among those present. Mrs. Bell, who received with her daughter, was very handsomely gowned. Miss Bell looked fair and graceful in a gown of soft pink mull trimmed with touches of lace. The drawing room was decorated with daffodils and tulips and the tea table was daintily arranged with creamy tulips and ferns. Miss Mary Hamilton presided at one end and Miss Ethel Burns at the other. Miss Hope Wurtele served the ices. Those assisting were Miss Elsie Cotton, the Miss Aurelia and Helena Hughson, Miss Louie Douglas, Miss Mary Davies, Miss Constance Dale Harris, Miss Katharine Macpherson, and little Miss Olga Bell and her little friend, Miss Kaye Masson.

ABBEY'S EFFERVESCENT SALT

Canadian Preparation That is Deservedly Popular

The ability of Canadians to turn out an article which will not merely meet their own needs, but will attract and deserve the patronage of peoples outside of the Dominion finds a typical example, in the field of physical remedies, in the famous Abbey's Effervescent Salt.

Invented in England, this preparation was first appreciated at its true medicinal and commercial value by Canadians. It is manufactured in Montreal and its consumption has been rapidly increasing during the past three or four years all over the Dominion and in the United States. It is simply a mild saline aperient in a peculiarly pleasant and effective form and free from every ingredient which could possibly harm the most sensitive constitution. It is, indeed, scarcely correct to term it a medicine, for it is rather a simple regulator, and is as useful to keep the healthy person healthy, especially at trying seasons of the year, as it is to bring the sufferer from indigestion or sluggish liver out of his troubles.

Its testimonials are not of the carefully faked order so common among preparations which make their appeal to the unthinking portion of mankind. They are given by prominent Canadian medical men, such as Dr. Charles L. de Martigny, of Montreal, Dr. S. P. Cooke and Dr. G. Routhier, of Ottawa, Profesor Brunelle, of Laval, and a score of men of similar eminence and unquestioned public spirit.

Dr. Charles G. Purdy, of New York, describes this preparation as "the most effective and elegant aperient for clearing the gastro-intestinal tract." There can be no question as to its popularity with the medical profession, who appear to regard it as an improved form of the famous saline preparations which have so long been standard remedies for digestive affections in a not too advanced stage. It has one great advantage over the old preparations, in that it dissolves comparatively slowly, need not be consumed hurriedly, and can always be entirely dissolved.

ABSENT MINDED.

Wife of distinguished artist (to departing visitor on show Sunday, who has been tea-ing sumptuously for the last half hour)—"Good-bye. So nice of you to have come. I hope you liked the pictures?"

Visitor—"Pictures? There I knew there was something I'd forgotten!"—Punch.

Steamship Manchester Importer went to sea yesterday, bound for Manchester.

The Furness line steamer Florence has left Halifax to search for the disabled French steamer Breiz Huel. Nothing has been heard of the latter since she was spoken by the German steamer Statendam on Monday afternoon at 5.30 o'clock. The Cacouna, which left St. John on Monday night, should now be in the vicinity of where the steamer was spoken, but the disabled liner in all probability has drifted greatly since then.
