ASSAULT CASE HEARD TODAY

Two Families With Conflicting Stories Occupy Attention of Police Court.

Hearing in the police court this morning in the charge of assault preferred by Mrs. William Luther against Frank Ledford and his wife, Margaret, revealed the animosities existing between two families who are tenants in a house in the rear of 116 Duke street.

Mrs. Luther testified that she went upstairs to the Ledford domicile on Friday night, and when she requested the return of her cat, which was in the room, both Ledford and his wife attacked her and beat her severely.

She admitted breaking the door leading into the apartments where the Ledfords reside with an axe some time after the alleged assault.

Ledford refuted the complainant's statements, and his version of the affair was that the latter broke into the room in the search for the cat, and when Mrs. Ledford questioned her right to the ownership of the animal, she assaulted her, burying her teeth in one of Mrs. Ledford's arms and throwing her on a stove in which a fire was burning. By the combined efforts of husband and wife Mrs. Ledford was eventually ejected, but she returned and demolished the door. Ledford denied hitting or ill treating her.

Mrs. Ledford has been attended by a physician since the fracas. She corroborated her husband's testimony, and in addition declared that the Luther woman had threatened to cut her throat and fracture her skull on frequent occasions.

This is the second row that has occurred within a year, the first one having a perambulator as the basis of the quarrel.

Acting Magistrate Henderson dismissed the case, remarking that the complainant was evidently the aggressor. He intimated that the removal of one of the parties from the locality would terminate the friction.

POLICE COURT
