WILL OPEN NEW ROOMS

Exmouth Street Methodist Y.M.A. Will Have Grand Entertainment Tuesday Evening.

Over five hundred invitations have been issued by Exmouth street Methodist Y. M. A. for the formal opening of their splendid building (formerly Glad Tidings Hall), on Brussels street, which takes place on Tuesday evening next, when addresses will be delivered and an excellent programme will be carried out, including a game of basket ball.

The members of this enterprising organization have every reason to be proud of their achievements—particularly when they look back to November 1906—a little more than a year ago—when they started out with some forty members and practically nothing to work with, and today have one of the finest association buildings of which any local church society can boast.

Old Glad Tidings Hall, which came into the possession of the trustees of Exmouth street Methodist church, was passed over by them to the Y. M. A. of the church to "see what they were capable of making of it." The association, then in its infancy, went to work with a will and, with ever increasing forces, worked up a series of entertainments and not long had carpenters at work in the old structure, which was in a dilapidated condition, and it was not very long before the building was so completely changed that one would hardly know it.

The exterior has been painted a pale green with light brownstone trimmings, and the window sashes "cut in" with bright red, while on the glass fanlight over the entrance door are the letters Y. M. A. in white paint. The doors are done in dark green.

The interior of the building is fitted up in the most modern andapproved lines having undergone a complete change. To the right of the door and opening off the spacious hall, is a large class room used during the week by the Free Kindergarten. On this floor also are the room containing the heating apparatus and a good-sized recreation room. The upper and lower stories are connected by a broad staircase and on the upper floor are the basket and handball court measuring 31x41 feet, lighted during the day by a large 12x12 foot skylight and at night by protected incandescent electric lights. On this floor also are the parlor, gymnasium, dressing room, with lockers and shower bath fitted with the modern ring shower and abundantly supplied with hot and cold water. It might be added here that in the lower story the ceilings are handsomely finished in stamped metal. The building is lighted throughout by electricity.

The committee in charge of the opening are President Drake, W. J. Magee, secretary; W. E. Lawton, treasurer; R. F. Gooderich and Roy Dalzell.

The programme which will be carried out in the large upper room, Walter Drake presiding, will include an address by Rev. James Crisp, president of the N. B. and P. E. I. Methodist conference; an address on "Christian Manhood," by the pastor, Rev. Samuel Howard; a speech dealing with "Social and Literary Work Among Young Men" by Rev. H. D. Marr and a number of other addresses as well as selections by Exmouth street quartette, several readings and a number of musical selections.

The invitations are neatly gotten up and, as already stated, over five hundred have been sent out, all of them to men.

A SWINDLE EXPOSED

A Nice Scheme in Which a Death at Sea and an Alleged Will Play Important Parts.

The Canadian postal authorities have discovered a clever swindle and are taking steps to have the perpetrators apprehended. The plan adopted is the sending broadcost of a leter by one W. G. Theyer supposed to be captain of the steamship Westminster. It tells that one Walter Smith a passenger died on the passage from Demerara, British Guiana, to St. John, N. B. and that the person addressed was a legatee to the extent of six hundred pounds, the will having been made aboard ship "Captain Theyer," and "Dr. Stafford," being witnesses. It is advised that "Richard G. Gardner" of Edmundston , N. B. be communicated with, he being a nephew. It is reported by the postmistress of Edmundston that several letters have been received for "Gardner" and she has been advised by him that mail be forwarded to Saratoga Springs, New York. Stevens and Lawson, barristers of Edmundston have received a number of letters from people who have gotten letters. Inspector Colter is holding the letters and has advised the Ottawa authorities.

BOY DROWNED IN SYDNEY HARBOR

SYDNEY, N. S., Feb. 21—(Special)—A very sad drowning accident occurred between four and five o'clock this evening when little D. McNeill, aged six years, lost his life in the icy waters of the harbor near McKinnon's wharf. It seems that McNeill and a companion named Angus Gillis were coasting on one of the hills on the Esplanade when the sled ran out on the ice and carried the boys into a hole in the ice, the hole being caused by some persons cutting out a steamer that was lying near the wharf. The little boys screamed for help, and some persons who were near, ran to their rescue. Gillis was immediately rescued, but the poor little McNeill boy had in some manner gone under the ice and his body was not recovered until he had been in the water for about twenty-five minuts.

NATIONAL PAINTERS CONVENTION

NEW ORLEANS, La. Feb. 22—The convention of the National Painters' and Decorators of the United States and Canada yesterday elected Charles Van Sickle of Newark, N. J. president, and decided to hold the next conference in Baltimore in February, 1909.

CAN VOTE AS THEY PLEASE

But I. C. R. Employes Can Take No Other Part in Provincial Elections.

Ottawa, Feb. 21—Hon. Wm. Pugsley was in his seat in the House today when the proceedings opened. Mr. Foster accepted the opportunity of asking the minister of public works if he would favor the house with a short report of the progress of the campaign in New Brunswick.

Mr. Pugsley—Everything is going on exceedingly satisfactory.

Hon. Geo. E. Foster asked the minister of railways if he had any information to give with reference to LeBlanc interfering in the provincial elections.

Hon. Geo. H. Graham said that he wired the general manager of the railway and was informed that one of the LeBlancs, the traveling agent, who lives in New Brunswick, had been in that province over Sunday and had returned to his work in Quebec. He received another telegram from the general manager saying that the other LeBlanc was absent from duty, but he did not know where he was or if he was working in an election. Mr. Graham wired the general manager to inform the I. C. R. employes including LeBlanc, that while they were all at perfect liberty to use their franchise as citizens with the utmost freedom, in whatever way they wished, the government did not want employes of the railway to take active part in election contests either dominion or provincial.

Mr. Foster said that there were some important letters missing from a return brought down in regard to cold storage at St. John. One was an important memorandum said to have been entered into between Mr. Macoun of Ottawa, and F. E. Williams, of St. John, at the dictation of the minister of militia. It was sent to the late minister of railways, Emmerson, but never was brought down.

Sir Frederick Borden—There never was such a memorandum entered into by my instructions. The statement is utterly foundationless. I never saw such a paper, and never gave any instructions for such a paper to be made.

Mr. Foster—There is a difference of testimony.

CHARGED WITH THEFT

Case Against D. M. Burchell Taken Up at Sydney Yesterday

SYDNEY, Feb. 22—(Special)—The case against D. M. Burchell, charged with theft from the Dominion Coal Company in whose employ he was superintendent of stores was called about 10.30 o'clock yesterday and some difficulty was experienced in selecting a jury. The objections on both sides necessitated the calling of thirty jurors.

About a dozen were ordered to stand aside and when the jury was finally picked, only three of these remained. The crown's case is in the hands of D. A. Hearn and W. H. Covert. The following legal gentlemen are assisting: R. M. Tangille, J. W. Maddin, W. R. Tobin, W. F. Carroll and C. B. Smith. Mr. Covert presented the case on behalf of the crown and the jury, the substance of which is as follows:—

The Dominion Coal Company supplied flour to Moffat and McKinnon in Glace Bay. Mr. Moffatt paid Mr. Burchell, then superintendent of stores, by cheque and the money was never credited to the coal company. The amount of the cheque was $471.31.

J. R. Blackett, local auditor for the coal company during Mr. Burchell's regime as superintendent of stores was the first witness called and the prosecution concluded about 6.15 last night. The defence will call no witnesses and J. W. Maddin will go to the jury on behalf of Mr. Burchell.

The court room has been crowded all day and great interest is being manifested in the trial.

TERRIBLY BURNED IN A LONELY CABIN

EMO, Ont., Feb. 22 (Special)—Miss Edith Knope, who lived on a homestead claim across in Minnesota, was cooking a meal in her solitary cabin when her clothing caught fire, and the wall paper also ignited. Her clothes were literally burned from her body, and she was suffering terribly. With her home in ashes Miss Knope pluckily walked a mile and a half to the home of a neighbor, John Reid, who with the help of other neighbors, did what he could for her.

Do You Admire a Perfect Woman?

Who doesn't envy and admire a per fect woman. After all, her perfection and charm have a commonplace origin, f or the secret of her loveliness is health. To be beautiful a woman must eat well, digest well, sleep well. Harmony must be maintained throughout her delicate organism—intricate functions must be vigorous and regular. Physicians say that of all woman's remedies, Ferrozone is the best, it vitalizes those functions upon which life depends. Pure blood is the secret of all, and it is the purest and richest kind, and plenty of it that Ferrozone makes. Think of it, a beautiful complexion, pure and spotless as the lily—that's one effect of Ferrozone. Sallowness and headaches disappear—tiredness in the morning gives way to vigor and strength—the nerves are given endurance—angular hollow places gradually take on flesh and the symmetry of the body results. No woman or girl, however young or old, whether in sickness or health can afford to miss the benefit of so good a remedy as Ferrozone. Sold in 50c. boxes or six for $2.50 at all dealers.

ATTRACTIVE TRIMMING SCHEME.

The trimming of this new spring chapeau is the feature which places it among the novelties in the new millinery. It is a small, narrow-brim, rather high-crowned shape of black Japanese straw, banded with wide black velvet ribbon, which is drawn down over the back brim to mingle with a full bunch of pink silk roses, full blown and buds. Loops of the velvet depend from the back bandeau well over the shoulders. On the right side of the narrow brim is a single half-blown rose, and its foliage posed in a pretty, careless fashion.

THE BORDER CITY TIMES

News of the St. Croix Valley Gleaned by Times Correspondents.

St. Stephen, Feb. 22.

The curlers returned Friday from their foreign tour, defeated but not disheartened. A little more attention to practice would doubtless have enabled the border boys to make a better showing, although they were defeated by narrow margins.

The bowling match at Woodland Thursday evening was won by the team captained by Chas. P. Rutherford, the score being 1321 to 1288, made by C. E. Reynold's team. Both teams were composed principally of St. Croix club members, only two Woodland boys taking part in the contest, which was originally intended to have been between Woodland and St. Croix clubs.

A meeting of the Calais board of trade was held Thursday evening to hear and consider the proposition of Messrs. Thompson and Hopkins of Ellsworth with regard to the St. Croix Shoe Company's factory in Calais. The offer of the Ellsworth gentlemen did not appeal very strongly to the members of the organization and no action was taken on the matter.

JAPAN FACES THE PROBLEM OF RAILWAY NATIONALIZATION

TOKIO, Feb. 22—One of the conditions under which the present Saionji ministry succeeded the late Katsur administration at the close of the great struggle, was that it should carry into effect the policy of railway nationalization formulated during the regime of the latter. The pledge thus given was duly fulfilled and the undertaking constitutes at the present moment not the least of the many difficult financial and economic problems which the rulers of Japan are confronted, as the result, direct or indirect, of the war.

The grounds upon which the authorities based their determination to take exclusive charge of Sovasta branch of national activity, were for the most part strategical rather than economic, and no secret has been made of this fact that military power was mainly responsible for the project.

Still the advantages to the public from a central ownership of the railroads were given considerable prominence. The nationalization plan in brief was that the government should purchase seventeen private lines at an estimated cost of four hundred and forty-two million yen, in round figures. The most important of these lines were the Nippon railway, assessed at 136,536,461 yen; the San Yo railway 77,148,720 yen; the Kwan Sai railway, 31,308,060 yen; and the Hakkaido railway, 30,070,507 yen.

The remaining railroads ranging in price from a million up to ten million yen. In lieu of cash the government decided to pay for these properties in national bonds at the latter's face value within five years, interest on the railway shares being paid by the government in the interim. The proposal passed the Diet. Since the adoption of the principle of the scheme several of the estimates have had to be reversed and the amount in bonds now to be appropriated for this purpose is believed to be about five hundred million yen in round figures. The yen is worth approximately fifty cents.

Doubtless a determined effort will be made in the near future to find some way out of the maze of difficulties with which the government has surrounded itself in this connection. It is too early to pass upon nationalization, whether as a success or a failure, but undoubtedly at present time is open to controversy and a popular vote would probably hand the reins back to private companies.

MISS ANGLIN MAKES HIT IN NEW PLAY

Canadian Actress Scores in Emotional Role --- Curtain Calls Were Frequent.

HARTFORD, Feb. 22—Miss Margaret Anglin began her starring tour in Hartford, presenting "The Awakening of Helen Richie," a dramatization of Margaret Deland's novel of that name, to a large and fashionable audience.

The drama is of absorbing interest from beginning to end, and in several scenes Miss Anglin had opportunity for great emotional work, of which she takes full advantage. The denouement is cleverly worked out by the dramatizer, Charlotte Thompson. The play and star were an unmistakable success and the performance ran smoothly at all times.

The supporting company includes Frank C. Bangs, Edmund Elton, Peyton Carter and Sally Williams. Miss Anglin received many curtain calls.

Donaldson line steamship Concordia, Captain Whimster, sails this afternoon for Glasgow with a full outward cargo.

Hon. C. W. Robinson is at the Royal.

MR. HAZEN'S POLICY

1. The honest collection of provincial revenues and the management of loans not so much in the special interest of the moment or of the temporary needs of the government, as upon a basis permanently of most advantage to the province.

2. The keeping the ordinary expenditure of the province within the ordinary revenue.

3. The appointment of an auditor-general independent of the government who shall have power to insist upon the accuracy and honesty of accounts before they are paid.

4. The putting up of all public works to tender, and the giving of the contract to the lowest bidder.

5. The cutting off of all needless extravagances in connection with the administration of the various departments and an absolute rule that public money shall not be paid out unless a proper voucher is first presented.

6. The repeal of the present highway act and the enactment of a law which, while not diminishing the amount of provincial money given to the roads, shall vest the management of the roads and the appointment of all officials in the county councils.

7. The survey and valuation of our crown lands, so that the interests of the province may be conserved, and the lumber operators, both large and small, have encouragement and fair and honest treatment.

8. The inauguration of an agricultural and immigration policy as well as the promotion of the settling of our own lands by our own people.

9. The improvement in quality and reduction in price of our school books, so that our people shall not be robbed of hundreds of thousands of dollars, but shall get the best posible value for their money.

10. The extension and encouragement of local schools, so that every man in the province who has a family may have an opportunity to give his children an elementary education.

11. An increase in the provincial allowance to school teachers.

12. The secrecy of the ballot, and an honest carrying out of the election laws, believing that every citizen of the province entitled to the franchise should be free to vote as his conscience directs.

MEXICO IS ON THE EVE OF GREAT FINANCIAL REFORMS

MEXICO CITY, Mex., Feb. 22—Mexico is on the eve of great financial reforms. Jose Yves Limantour, minister of finance and public credit, has been in negotiation and in conference with the learing financial, commercial and banking men of the republic for several weeks The result of these conference has been declared in a circular which has just been issued by the department of finance making an exposition of the aims of the government and calling a conference of banking men in the near future to devise ways and means for the reform of the public credit system. Minister Limantour, in his invitation to bankers and other important business men, says in part:

"The difficulties which have grown out of the recent financial crisis in the United States, and which rapidly spread to all parts of Europe, have revealed deficiencies almost irreconcilable with the duty of affording a substantial gain to those who with their capital or labor, co-operate in the advancement of the country, this is therefore the opportunity you should take to aid in advancing the betterment of our conditions.

"The department of finance, which has never ceased to advise in a confidential manner, presents means for the adoption of definite measures eequally beneficial to bankers and clients alike, and believes that the study of certain essential reforms made in accordance with delegates of the banking establishments which operate in Mexico under the protection of the federal legislature would be of greatest convenience."

He scores the conduct of certain bank directors for the employment of surplus funds in the years of great prosperity and taking the initiative in certain business which naturally does not belong to the sphere of banks of issue and deposit.

THE MOUNTAIN FELL UPON "RIP"

Performance of Rip Van Winkle in Easton, Pa., Attended by Strange Accident.

NEW YORK, Feb. 22—The Tribune says: George Ober, who has been playing "Rip Van Winkle" for twenty years, is confined to his home at Hastings-on-the-Hudson by two broken ribs, and his company of twelve persons are taking a rest.

In Easton, Penna, Mr. Ober, who takes the part of Rip, was carrying a large cask up the mountain side, when it rolled from his shoulder and fell, knocking down the scaffold which held up the scenic mountain. The mountain fell upon him, and the act ended with several members of the company buried in the debris.

Mr. Ober went through the remainder of the play in great pain.

WANTED MONUMENT OF WHISKEY JUGS

Hermit Farmer Who Drank Quart of Booze Per Day Dead at Columbia, Mo.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Feb. 22—James W. Turner, a hermit farmer, living six miles from here, who had frequently declared he wanted a monument built of whisky jugs, died last night. On his farm is an abandoned corn crib which is almost filled with empty whiskey jugs, which Turner is said to have emptied himself during 20 years, and which he saved for his monument. It is averred he drank not less than a quart of whiskey a day for twenty years. He was 45 years old and owned a well stocked farm of 480 acres, on which he lived the life of a hermit. His only companion was a dog.

CAMPAIGN PROMISES

(Montreal Star.)

An interesting phase of New Brunswick politics is the not too carefully veiled hostility of the St. John Globe—Senator Ellis' paper—toward Hon. William Pugsley. While refraining from kicking the minister of public works downstairs, the paper manages to dissemble its love very effectually. Mr. Pugsley has promised extensive dredging operations in St. John harbor, coupled with predictions, roseate in their optimism, in regard to the prospective and general welfare of the port. The newspaper grimly reminds its readers that ten years ago, another minister of public works made similar promises which were not carried out. It thereby insinuates disbelief in lavish promises on the part of campaign speakers during an election. In addition to the St. John operations Mr. Pugsley has promised a similar dredging of the Miramichi River. Then he had forecasted a line of railway down the valley of the St. John River under the pushful auspices of Mackenzie and Mann. The double-tracking of the Intercolonial from St. John to Halifax is dangled in the air. Thus there is something held up to the view of the electors in all of the important sections of New Brunswick. The Conservative press calls this bribery of constituencies by the promise of public works. The statement of the Globe in regard to past pledges should, however, go a long way towards reassuring the nervously economical electors of the province, especially when the projects are considered in detail. Mr. Pugsley's cheery utterances, no doubt, make pleasant reading. But as New Brunswick is one of the chief breeding grounds of the practical politicians the effect of this "promising at large" is problematical. When Mr. Pugsley "winks the other eye," who can tell how many tongues are put to the cheek? Such methods are old-fashioned, we fear, when applied to an electorate which has a highly developed disposition to "take the cash and let the credit go."

TRIMMED FOR $100 IN CASH

MacGill Bought Fine Clothes for Companion and Then Made Touch.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 22—Harold MacGill, accused of uttering a fictitious check, after a preliminary examination, before Police Judge Weller, was identified by the police as a former chief of police of Saratoga, N. Y. having filled that position from 1888 to 1898.

He nearly collapsed in court when his former position was revealed. MacGill is said to have advertised in a paper about a week ago for a refined woman to accompany his "wife and infant son" on an eastern tour. Mrs. Margaret Page answered the advertisement. He advised her, it is said that she must be equipped with an elaborate wardrobe and accompanied her to a drygoods store, where he bought her a great deal of wearing apparel it is alleged, paying for it with a check. After the purchases had been made, MacGill, it is said borrowed $100 from Mrs. Page, saying, she reports, that he could get no more ready money until the banks opened on the following day. After receiving the $100 in cash MacGill is said to have countermanded the order for the goods and Mrs. Page saw him no more, until after the officers arrested him at the Emeryville race track.

Winter Port coal orders can now be filled promptly by Gibbon & Co.
