STEAMSHIP LINES ADVANCE THE FREIGHT RATE ON GRAIN

Rate From New York to Antwerp Has Been Doubled and to a Number of Other Ports it Has Almost Doubled--Montreal Reaps Benefit. New York, Aug. 1--The Times today says: The ocean freight rates on grain from New York to ports of continental Europe have been advanced by the steamship lines. To Antwerp the rate has been doubled and to a number of other ports it has been nearly doubled. This advance, coming at a time when the steamship lines are protesting to the railroads against what they term a discriminatory freight rate that has diverted grain shipments from the northwest from New York to Montreal, has caused comment among railroad men. The steamship men say, however, that the increase has nothing to do with the railroad rate question and the reason of cost of transporting corn, wheat and other cereals from New York to continental ports has been put up by the large orders for grain that have been placed recently in New York by European agents and that this has caused a shortage of freight space in the holds of grain-carrying steamships. The rise in ocean rates on grain, in effect, is a few days ago and is likely to hold until shipments from the port fall off. The lines on which the new higher rate now prevails are the Hamburg-American, running to Hamburg, the Red Star and the Phoenix running between New York and Antwerp, the Holland-American, running to Rotterdam, and the Fabre line, running to Mediterranean ports.

MADE TROUBLE FOR BIG JACK McLEAN

Former St. John Ball Player Made an Exhibition of Himself in a Boston Game. The Cincinnati team went utterly to pieces in Monday's game at Boston, and the Post says: The trouble was started by one Mr. McLean, a one-time resident of Boston. Mr. McLean had essayed to cover Capt. Gantz's territory about first in the second inning, a proceeding which was witnessed by an inebriate gentleman in the first base bleachers with keen interest. It was this same thirsty soul who helped to put Cincinnati to the bad.

AN OLD TIME RACE

The Halifax Record's account of a race which took place 70 years ago yesterday will be interesting to our readers. "After daily post-mortems during the past week a race between Ross, of St. John, and Hanlon, of Toronto, was rowed this afternoon on the Kennebecasis. The stakes were $1,000 a side, and the distance two and one half miles and return. The start was made at 5:08.29 by referee Sheriff Harling. Ross took the lead, pulling 32 strokes to the minute, while Hanlon pulled a longer stroke with 30 to the minute, and in short time passed Ross and increasing his stroke to 32. Ross reducing his to 30. Three hundred yards from Appleby's wharf, three-quarters of a mile from the start, Ross capsized, and he was picked up by a boatman. Hanlon then finished course. Time of race 36.38.
