New Atlantic Liner Europa Will

Be a Veritable Floating City

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—The Times says:

"Among the innovations which Herr Balin has planned for the Hamburg-American liner Europa now being built at Belfast, are a tailor shop and modiste's parlor, which will be under the direction of first class artists from London and Paris. American tailors will also be on board to please those who like English cloth but not the cut. Whether women will feel easy enough on dresses in mid-ocean is yet to be proven, but Herr Balin thinks that the great size of the Europa, 40,000 tons, will preclude the possibility of rolling to any great extent and permit women to keep their feet while being fitted. There is also to be a jewelry store on board in which passengers may select diamonds and precious stones at their leisure without the trouble of ransacking London, Paris or Berlin for them. The Europa is to have a Ritz-Parlour restaurant, and tables on deck in which to bring over live fishes from Dover and Stettin. If the experiment is a success, the Europa will bring over some for New York restaurants and hotels as well as for her own passengers."

OLD MAN MISSING
HIS CASH SEIZED

Relatives Protest Action of His Guardian in Taking Charge of Bank Books.

PORTLAND, Me., Jan. 7.—Leaving on deposit in Portland banks a small fortune of between $5000 and $8000 that he had hoarded by living the rigorous life of a recluse, 69-year-old John O'Malley, until recently a resident of this city, has disappeared from the home of his nephew William McDonough, 133 Chestnut street, Manchester, N. H. and anxious relatives have called the police into the search for him. When he vanished Saturday morning last Mr. O'Malley was clad only in trousers and vest and wore a working cap.
Only a few hours after Mr. O'Malley disappeared Thomas King of Manchester, who was appointed his guardian at the request of his niece, Miss Mary McDonough, went to the McDonough home with a lawyer, broke into a trunk and took possession of the old man's bank books, overlooking one, however, representing $2,000.
Now Mr. McDonough declares that his sister would not have sanctioned the appointment of a guardian over her uncle if she had been thoroughly acquainted with the facts, and that if Mr. O'Malley is found alive the family will protest against Mr. King acting as such. If he is found dead the guardianship will be void, and it will be necessary to have an administrator appointed.

If We Could Look at the Heart of a Pale-Faced Person!

Few people ever stop to consider what pallor to the countenance means. In the first place it indicates an absence from the blood of the rich, red, life-giving elements so requisite to health; and in the second place it indicates a weakened heart action. These two things act and react. If we could look at the heart of one of these pale-faced people, we would see it flabby, weak and palid. No wonder they are easily tired, get out of breath quickly, have nervous and nervous and nervous heart, their muscles are poor, their stomachs disordered, and their lives are seldom free from misery.

Let them take Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills; there is no remedy to equal them for making pale faces rosy, weak hearts and shaky nerves strong, flabby muscles firm, and infusing new hope and ambition into life.

Mr. W. J. Churchill, Lombard, Ont., writes: "I was troubled for three years with a weak heart and nervous system, could not sleep and ever so little food would distress me. I also had faint and dizzy spells, and doctored with three doctors but was growing worse. After taking three boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I feel as well as ever I did. They are the best pills on earth."

Price 50 cents per box, or 3 for $1.25 at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

A FINE LODGE ROOM

Branch 134 C. M. B. A. Now

Has Splendid Quarters in McLaughlin Building.

The spacious lodge room of Branch 134, C. M. B. A., in the McLaughlin building, Union street, is probably the finest and best equipped apartment of its kind in St. John today, and besides answering in every respect the requirements of the organization by which it is at present occupied, it possesses the unique feature of being capable at a moment's notice, of being converted into an ideal social assembly room of which any lodge or individual may indeed be proud. Through the courtesy of one of the lodge members a representative of this paper was shown through the apartment, which measures some seventy feet in length, forty in width and sixteen feet high. The floor is of match hardwood of narrow strips and nicely polished, while the walls are wainscotted in white pine to a height of about five feet, where a neat double moulding divides from the picture moulding, which, below the picture moulding, is tinted in Nile green and finished at the top with a deep cream colored frieze. The main room is about fifty feet deep and is divided by folding doors from the rear apartment, which measures some twenty feet in depth. At the Union street end is a platform about twelve inches high and nicely covered with a rich crimson carpet on which is placed the president's chair, and facing it, at the opposite end of the room is the first vice-president's chair. To the left and opposite the president's chair is the chancellor's seat. The chairs occupied by these officers are built of butternut, with walnut finishings, and handomely carved and polished. All are upholstered in deep crimson velvet and each rests on a carpeted platform. Directly to the right of the president's chair is the secretary's desk, and on the left that of the financial secretary and treasurer. In the large room is a very fine piano and in the room at the rear a first class billiard table. The apartment is amply lighted by eight brass electric lights and branch lights behind the president's chair, as well as portable lights on the officers' desks. In other respects the room is well appointed and the delicately tinted walls serve as an excellent contrast for the many tastefully framed pictures by which they are adorned.

For social assemblies, one of which the members and their friends will enjoy next Wednesday evening, the folding doors are thrown back, thus affording the best possible chance for all gatherings of that character.

ITEMS OF INTEREST

NEW ATTRACTIONS AT THE PRINCES.

The attention of patrons of this popular theatre is called to the specially attractive programme which will be presented today. It contains features which for novelty and beauty of setting have never been equalled at any motion picture entertainment in St. John. Full particulars will be found on page 6 of this issue.

In tonight's Times particulars are given of Manchester Robertson Allison's important Linen and Cotton Sale, with its free hemming privilege. It is perhaps needless to again publish the admonition that early orders are more satisfactory to the purchaser, as the free hemming is done at once and no delays are incurred by rush.

A PRESENTATION

James E. O'Brien Presented

With Chair by C. M. B. A.

Branch 134, C. M. B. A., at a largely attended and most enjoyable meeting last night installed the officers for the ensuing year. Grand Deputy Thomas Kicham was the installing officer and the list is as follows: Joseph Harrington, president; C. P. O'Neill, first vice; W. J. Magee, second vice; Arthur S. Godsoe, R. S.; Daniel Griffiths, assistant R. S.; R. Walsh, F. S.; J. L. McDonald, treasurer; H. T. Bridges, guard; James E. O'Brien, marshal; W. J. Godsoe, Thos. Gorman, J. T. Kelly, Thos. Kicham and Thos. Caples, trustees.

The following committees are also appointed. Business—Thomas R. O'Brien, T. Kicham, Thomas P. Toke, T. Collins, H. T. Bridges, Good of Association—Hon. R. J. Ritchie, J. T. Kelly, E. J. McCourt and F. Casey.

After the installation there was an excellent programme of speeches and musical numbers. Addresses were made by Grand Deputy Thomas Kicham, Hon. R. J. Ritchie, ex-chancellor; Richard O'Brien, R. Walsh and W. E. Scully, John Lyons, F. J. Owens, T. Donovan and Jas. Russell, of the Carleton branch. Arthur S. Godsoe played a piano solo and J. T. Kelly, John S. Stanton contributed vocal solos.

A very interesting feature of the evening was the presentation of a handsome Morris chair to James E. O'Brien, marshal. The chair was from branch 134 and was in recognition of Mr. O'Brien's service of sixteen years in office. The presentation was made by Richard O'Brien in a pleasant and appropriate speech to which Mr. O'Brien made a fitting reply.

The first of a series of assemblies under the auspices of the branch will be held in their hall next Wednesday evening.

DEWEY GETS LETTER SYMBOL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Admiral Dewey has lost his signal number. He is no longer No. 1 in the naval register, but instead is known by the cabalistic letters "E. A. B. C."

The Prince of the battle fleet will no longer be indicated signal "No. 2," but he will be known as "E. A. B. D."

These changes are the result of the adoption of combinations of letters instead of figures to indicate the personality of naval officers in the new scheme of tactics and signals just adopted. Under the old system an officer's number was subject to change at any moment as the result of retirements, deaths and promotions, whereas he will now retain his letter symbol for life.

Silas Lodge, No. 29, I. O. O. F., has installed Albert Wiles, N. G.; A. Boyer, V. G.; G. B. Wetmore, D. C.; F. A. Wright, I. G.; G. A. Stephenson, R. S.; N. G. E. M. Wood, L. S. N. G.; J. S. Fletchling, R. S. V. G.; E. Lawson, L. S. V. G.; J. W. Walker, R. S. S.; Wm. Shellington, L. S. S.; B. E. Mercer, S. G.; C. John Stammers, chaplain.

Last evening a very pleasant surprise party was held at the home of Miss Evelyn Leonard, 95 Marsh Road. About 30 of her friends called and enjoyed the evening with games and music. During the evening Miss Leonard was presented with a gold locket and chain.

BATTLEFIELDS OF QUEBEC
OUGHT TO BE RESTORED

What Canada and the Empire Owe to Champlain, Wolfe and Montcalm Should Be Fittingly Commemorated On the Plains of Abraham—Earl Grey's Effort.

By an interesting coincidence, says The London Times, on Thursday and Friday last week speeches were delivered, one in Montreal, and the other here in London, in celebration of the founders of our Canadian and Indian Empires a century and a half ago. At the Merchants' Tailors' school Lord Curzon unveiled a memorial commemorating the education there of Robert, Lord Clive, the victor of Plassey, who, as Governor of Fort William in Bengal, "won the love of the native peoples and left the administration pure." In his fine speech, instinct with the greatness of his theme, Lord Clive's successor was able to reassure his audience about one subject which he has much at heart. He tells us that a sum is now secured all but sufficient for memorials in London and in Calcutta worthy of the man to whom England and India owe so much. Our own views on this scheme are well known, and we need now only record our great satisfaction at this successful issue to Lord Curzon's pious endeavors to celebrate Lord Clive's achievements. In the younger American continent Lord Grey, Governor General of Canada, made an appeal on the previous day for an object which has for some months been interesting the Province of Quebec, and indeed, the whole of the Dominion. During the same decade as that in which Clive won India, and under the same great minister, the Duke of Devonshire, on the Plains of Abraham, died in the hour which assured the conquest of Canada, and almost at the same moment as a year later, Wolfe's lieutenant, Murray, led in charge of Quebec, suffered his glorious defeat from de La Riviere, Montcalm's successor, on the neighboring plain of Sainte Foye. Some memorials, indeed, exist at Quebec of these events; a joint monument to
