MORNING COTTON LETTER.

Whether the nervousness and irregularity which the market has developed on the reaction of some 48 points from the high records of the early week, reflects nothing more than one of those periods of re-adjustment and liquidation which must inevitably interrupt the course of a prolonged upward movement, such, for instance, as occurred around 10 1-2, 11 and 11 1-2 cent levels, or whether it marks the beginning of a gradually sagging market until the usual effect of the new crop rush to market has been experienced, is the problem which is now confronting the operator in cotton futures.

There are at present no unmistakable indications as to the correctness of the conflicting views in this direction. The interior is said to be offering cotton more freely for early fall shipment, these offers are being sold against, to some extent, no doubt, on the other hand the outward movement of the local stock continues, showing that there is little danger of old crop pressure against contracts even at the higher prices. Sentiment is somewhat unsettled at the moment, but generally speaking confidence is still felt in ultimately much higher prices and while caution may be shown on the long side until it is evident that an improvement in the August bureau is either improbable or discounted, there will undoubtedly be a good deal of investment buying on declines while continued bad weather in Texas may bring a renewal of the advancing tendency as soon as the weight of realizing sales becomes a little less pressing. At noon today Miss Giles will issue her semi-monthly report, which may exert a considerable effect on sentiment. Late yesterday private wires reported a shift in the wind, promising rains for Texas today or tomorrow, but up to the close of market yesterday, there had been no improvement in the Texas weather of sufficient importance to have warranted the break.—W. W. Price.

SUMMARY.

American Woolen stock holders meet today to vote on increasing preferred stock.

Issue of $267,000,000 additional Panama bonds to be made as required now agreed upon.

Corporation Tax will remain in tariff bill in spite of opposition.

Strike of 18,000 coal miners employed by Pittsburg Coal Co. declared off.

American Telephone & Telegraph Co. will exchange New York and New Jersey Telephone Co. stock on a basis of share for share.

N. Y. C. preparing broad financial plan for its improvements.

Plan for interchange of business between L. & N. and Burlington reported.

Western roads in the market for about 80,000 tons of steel rails.

Steel rails advanced a dollar a ton.

American Stocks in London quiet about parity.

President Ripley, of Atchison, says fiscal year just begun will be as good as any the road has had.

Stuyvesant Fish says stock market prices are too high, but does not look for any immediate set back.

Twenty-four roads, first week July, show average increase 7.79.

Twelve industrials advanced .29; 20 active railroads advanced .08.

ADVICE FROM GIBSON

There is no need to get excited about the market. As was stated yesterday it is my opinion that the buying power in the industrial group will prevent any considerable further decline in such stocks as A. C. P., Realty, Loco., Car Foundry, etc., but this does not infer a perpendicular advance. Purchases should be made as suggested on reactions and not on advances. Steel common will eventually reach higher prices but the reactions in Steel will be more severe than in other industrials. It is a mistake to follow up this particular stock merely because it is "the leader of the group." No change in position. Would sell rails on advances and buy industrials on all recessions.

THE COTTON MARKET

Liverpool:—Cotton due 6 1-2 to 7 points lower; opened easy at 10 points decline. At 12.15 p. m.—Quiet at net decline of 8 1-2 to 9 points. Later cables reported an advance of 1 point from mid-day prices. Spot dull at 15 points decline; middling 6.72d; Sales 6,000 including 5,000 American; Imports 6,000 including 5,000 American; Tenders new docket 8,000 bales. Estimated port receipts, 3,000.

THE WEATHER

North and South Carolina, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, local showers today and probably tomorrow. East Texas fair in southern, local showers in northern portion today, fair tomorrow. Western Texas, local showers today, fair tomorrow. Arkansas fair today and tomorrow.

NEW YORK FINANCIAL BUREAU

Special bullish operations may continue today after the fashion of yesterday. We would not expect material improvement, however, until offerings around former high prices are entirely removed as in Steel. It may be the intention of manipulative interests to establish a higher level for distribution in the absence of unfavorable developments. The most important piece of news this morning is the proposition for a $400,000,000 Panama bond issue, a feature that will at once make a big demand in the money market at a time when the crop requirements are at a height. We have for some time suggested that money market developments be given close attention, for from that direction disturbance might arise. It will be interesting to analize the unfolding of the latest news. Next in importance is the report that Taft proposes to send a vigorous message to congress on the tariff. The outlook favors a decline in surplus reserve tomorrow on account of gold exports which are expected to go to Argentina in larger volume according to the Journal of Commerce. The decline in wheat, further rise in Steel prices and rumors that the cotton demand reports are exaggerated are favorable features as is Hill's review, saying that after the tariff settlement a prosperity surpassing the McKinley administration good times is likely and that in a few weeks the big crops will make for a car shortage. Press comment and market literature are more bullish.

LONDON QUOTATIONS

Mr. Evans—The tendency of the market continues to be in the direction of higher prices but the movements are slow except in Steel and as a whole stocks remain within the old trading limits but with most of them close to their top prices. Scalps can probably still be made on both sides of the market but I favor buying on weak spots. A bigger and more violent advance is apt to materialize in August.

WHEAT AND CORN.

Liverpool—Wheat opened steady, 1-8 off; corn quiet, unchanged. At 1.30 p. m.—Wheat 5-8 up; corn 1-8 off.

B. & O. June net increase $448,730; 12 months net increase $47,000,000.

Montreal—Havana Preferred declared dividend 1 1-2 payable August 14, record July 24, books closed July 26 to Aug. 14.

L & N made a good showing in response to expectations of an increase in dividend and of substantial benefits to accrue from traffic alliance with Burlington, when the two systems are connected by building of a fifty-mile link.—Dow Jones.

Exchange—487.55, 487 1-4, 485.25.

New York—The National City Bank is shipping $1,750,000 coin to the Argentine by the steamer sailing on 22nd.—Dow Jones.

Miss Gilles 76.6 (on cotton).

New York—All holders of Atchison amounts of certificates of smaller denomination of $1,000 must either buy or sell so the company can exchange the smaller certificates into one certificate of $1,000 lot not later than July 19. In other words company will not accept any certificates of less than $1,000 denomination no matter how many held, not later than Monday. —Leach, of E. & C. Randolph.

HAZEN'S FAILURES

(St. Andrew's Beacon.)

In importing fancy horse stock the government has begun at the wrong end. We want good roads first.

The Fredericton Gleaner remarks that road moneys now go on the roads and not in the pockets of heelers. Where does this happy condition prevail?

With no money in the provincial treasury to pay the customary road grants, does it not seem little short of criminal for members of the government to be increasing their salaries and for the government to be creating new officials?

Members of the legislature in sympathy with the government are retiring to their cyclone cellars, to escape the embarrassing questions of highway boards and farmers, who want to know what has become of the road grants that were promised them this year.

The local government organs in St. John are striving hard to make the electors of the county of St. John believe that it is to their interests to elect a candidate to support the government in the approaching by-election. If the government had not so wilfully violated its pre-election pledges, or if it had not developed such a partizan hatred for everything that was Liberal, there might be some justification for such an appeal. The proper course for the electors of St. John county to pursue would seem to be to defeat the government candidate, and thus impress upon the government the importance of keeping faith with the people.

A rousing meeting in the interests of the Liberal nominee, A. F. Bentley, was held last night at Salmon River. Ringing speeches were made by J. F. Tweeddale, M. P. P., E. H. McAlpine, K. C., and Coun. F. M. Cochrane. The issues of the campaign were clearly discussed and the records of the Hazen government fairly placed before the electors. The large audience cheered again and again as points were made by the speakers.

On July 5, twenty-two boys of the Cathedral choir, Fredericton, under the guidance of Rev. J. Edward Hand, of this city, and Rev. Canon Smithers, went into camp on the Miramichi. They report having had an excellent time and a most enjoyable holiday. Rev. Mr. Hand and Rev. Canon Smithers returned to the city on Wednesday to attend the meetings of the synod committees and the camp broke up yesterday.

The Season's Bathing Girl

The bathing girls of 1909 has made her entrance at every ocean resort, lake, watering place and at even the smallest swimming pools in the inland cities, where the cool ocean breezes are unknown. And it cannot be said that the styles in bathing suits ever changed so rapidly in a twelvemonth as they have during the past few years.

A girl, clad in the flannel bathing suit of a decade ago, would probably create a decided impression were she to appear at one of the seaside resorts when bathers claimed each and every corner where the water was not too deep and not too shallow. The flannel bathing suit is gone never to return. Silk and alpaca, cut in more stylish modes, first took the place of the flannel in the baggy shapeless patterns, and now the bathing suits are even more changed.

The latset decided change is probably due wholly to the ultra modes of women's attire, for with the tub gowns and the directoire come the tub bathing suit and the directoire swimming costume, and even Paris insists that the bathing suit be kept in harmony with the other dresses, the gowns worn everywhere. The latest models, disregarding the talk they create, are probably the best bathing suits ever worn by women, for they allow swimming with less effort and the diving is very easily accomplished on account of their close fitting.

The fashionable attire of the ocean is now made up of satins, silks of various kinds and taffetas. The new directoire bathing costume is very high wasted, the slip worn over bloomers, and eccentric figures hardly look well in them. Red and blue furnish the greater portions of the colors worn. They are made with a short shirred bodice, belted very high up, with a black embroidered belt. Two long strips of black embroidery run from the shoulders to the hem of the garment. This forms a shoulder band from under which emerges a short tight sleeve, which is also embroidered in black and soutached in black satin braid. It is low-necked like the bathing suits.

The bathing girl of 1909 has made her entrance.

The latest suit is loose about the waist and it is not belted, making it all the better for swimming. Many show the popular draped effect which is so prevalent in the summer fashions. In a suit of black satin the goods is draped across the shoulder and fitted at the side, where it is fastened with buttons of a large size. Checks and stripes of all sizes and kinds are also in favor with the bathers, and much of the Scotch plaid effect is seen. The full bloomer is a thing of the past and the tights or close-fitting knickers have taken their place, the latter being generally of knitted goods and fitting carefully at the hips, similar to the bathing suit itself.

The coming of the peach-basket hat has also had its effect upon the bathers, as the bathing bonnet has assumed more attractive shapes and designs this summer. The tam o'shanter is much larger than in years heretofore. The latest is a Quaker bonnet, made of waterproof silk, generally China silk. It is made over a light straw frame and trimmed with choux and bows. Crepe de chine and China silk can both be procured waterproof now, this being done by a late process. The material comes in all colors and is generally selected to suit the bathing costume.

New bathing shoes, which look a great deal like ballet slippers, have appeared and many women bathers are wearing them, as the feet look much smaller in shoes than in stockings. The shoes are of satin or silk and are fastened on with silk ribbons.

ARTILLERY INSPECTION.

The 3rd Royal Canadian Regiment of Artillery under Lieut.-Colonel J. B. M. Baxter, paraded 316 strong for their annual inspection last evening. The regiment was inspected by Colonel Benson, inspector of Canadian artillery for the dominion. In the absence of General Drury at Sydney, the regiment passed general inspection and muster parade at the hands of Colonel G. Rolt White, D. O. C.

No battalion drill was engaged in, but the companies were put through the regular drill by their officers. The officers were also put through a special examination in their work by Colonel Benson.

The non-commissioned officers are yet to be examined and an inspection in gun drill made.

Wicks—Whew! Let's have a little ventilation here. Who was the idiot who closed that door so tight?

Dicks—The same idiot that always left it open last winter.

LABOR DAY AT MONCTON

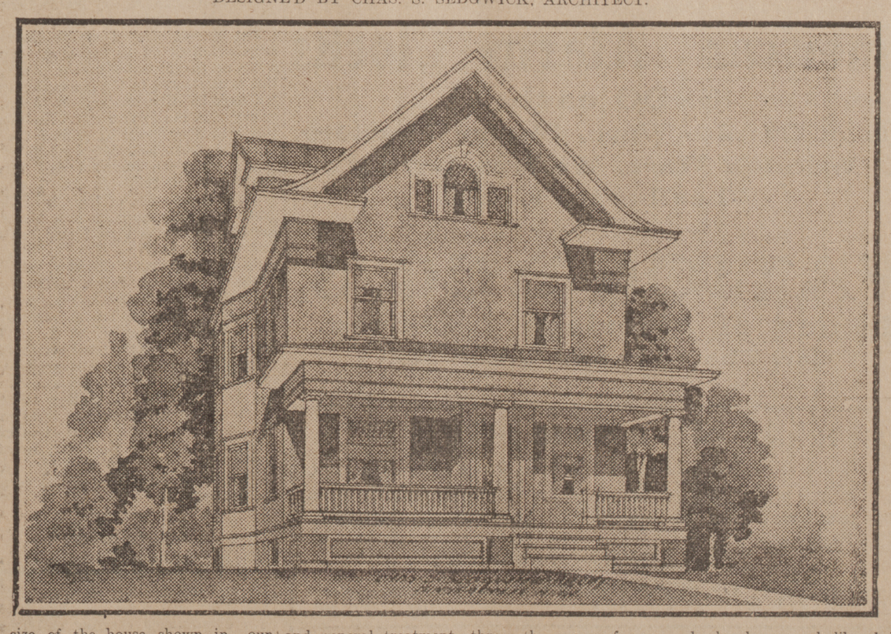

Special Features Every Hour of the Day — An Automobile Parade.

The programme for the Labor Day celebration at Moncton has now been pretty well settled upon, though there will likely be some changes and additions. Among the other features that will go to make the day interesting and enjoyable will be a monster labor and trades parade in the forenoon, to be followed by stirring speeches to the assembled union men by capable orators. In the afternoon there will be athletic sports and races open to all amateurs, and in the evening there will be a magnificent torchlight procession, with general illumination of the town and fireworks. Advantage will be taken of the presence in the city of several bands to have a number of concerts, both afternoon and evening. A feature proposed but not definitely decided upon is an automobile parade, in which all local and visiting motor cars will be invited to participate. It is suggested to have this display of cars start soon after dinner, tour the city and terminate at the athletic grounds by a tour around the track. It certainly will bring together the greatest display of automobiles ever seen in the Maritime Provinces. Excursion rates will prevail on all railways and the tickets will be good from Saturday until the following Tuesday, so that many thousands of visitors will be in Moncton on Labor Day.

A committee consisting of W. F. Hatheway, M. P. P.; John Sealey and F. H. Flewelling, has been appointed by the council of the board of trade to investigate the Tobique dam proposition. The committee will hold its sittings here and will hear evidence including that of the dominion fishery and forest experts. On the findings of this committee the board will base a resolution to the local government.

A Common Sense Gable Roof House, Costing $3,000

DESIGNED BY CHAS. S. SEDGWICK, ARCHITECT.

The size of the house shown in our illustration is 24 feet in width, by 26 feet in depth, exclusive of a one-story pantry, porch and den extension in the rear, that is 6 feet wide by the width of the house. In this plan we have a central vestibule, opening into the reception hall on the right hand side of the house and connecting through columned opening with the living-room on the left. Back of the living-room is the dining-room and still further back, and opening with the living-room, is a pretty den, also connected with columned opening, these openings being of the same width and general treatment, throw the rooms together, making a clear sweep from the front to rear, the dining-room being lighted through a bay-end treatment.

The kitchen opens back of the reception hall. There is a combination stair arrangement, with entrance at the grade line, below the stair platform. The kitchen connects with the dining-room through a liberal-sized pantry; it has one central chimney, accommodating the kitchen, furnace flue and a fireplace for the living-room. A basement extends under the entire house, with a laundry, outside entrances, etc. The second story has four good chambers and liberal bath-room and good clothes closets for each chamber.

Attic stairs, opening into a liberal-sized attic, that is high and roomy, admitting of servant's room and a large amusement room. The roof is a simple, gable roof, with front and rear gables and a good-sized dormer window on each side of the roof. The cornice is brought out, with wide protection and a sweep, giving an easy and graceful appearance. The interior is finished in natural wood in the first floor, painted finish in the second story and hardwood floors throughout.
