P. E. ISLAND BY-ELECTION

August 18th is Date Set for Contest in Fourth District of Prince County.

Charlottetown, P. E. I., July 29.—The by-election in the fourth district of Prince county will be held on August 18, Hon. Joseph Read having resigned his seat to contest the district again.

The people pronounced their verdict in favor of the government in the first district of Queens on July 7. The captain is a representative who has large business interests throughout the county.

MILLIONS OF LOGS HELD UP IN THE MAINE BOOMS

very little channel at the latter place in low water.

Witness mentioned the Tilley Rocks Mills Bar and Grand Bar.

Mr. Gregory—"Coming to Woodstock, I suppose there is a bar."

Mr. Estey—"Oh, yes."

Mr. Gregory—"I was speaking of bars in the river."

Coming down river witness said there were Indian Bar; Bear Island, and the Paddru Bar.

Witness said that during the freshet period the bars he had referred to offered no obstruction to driving. The water was at its height, generally, about the 24th of May. The river only remained at its highest pitch two or three days.

The best time for driving below Grand Rapids was during the week following May 24th. The water is usually dead low about July 1st. Each fall of water increases the difficulties of driving. If he were driving, he would like to be clear of White Rapids before July 1st. From six to eight feet of water is required for fair driving.

Witness had been inspector of driving for St. John River Company for two years. His duties were to see that the logs were driven clean. When the contractor starts from Grand Falls, he takes all the logs then available. The first section of the drive extends to Woodstock. Witness had been on the Green River, and considered it feasible to construct storage dams there. Such dams would facilitate driving, but it might not be possible to refill them after July 1. He knew of a storage dam on the Shogomoc, which had been of great assistance in driving. It cost $2,500 and gave six feet of water over a 1,500 acre lake. Fraser & Sons had a storage dam at Trouser's Lake which carried an eight-foot head. It spread over a large square and had proved very efficient.

Witness, being questioned in regard to Temiscouata Lake, said it was twenty-eight miles long and about one mile wide. The Madawaska River, which drained it, was about twenty-one miles long.

To Mr. Jones witness said he was at the VanBuren works in 1906. There were some logs which remained there during the entire season. He would say that there were a few millions of such logs. He did not remember who owned the logs.

Cross-examined, witness said that the plan of sorting logs at VanBuren was the same as employed at Douglas booms. He did not know of any other method of stopping logs on the St. John River, for sorting purposes, except by holding booms.

Mr. Gregory announced that contractor Scott, of the Corporation Drive, would be called to testify at a later stage, but he had no other witnesses ready.

The commission adjourned to meet at St. John on Tuesday week. Later on it will hold meetings at Bangor and Calais.

GOVERNMENT ANNUITY SYSTEM IS POPULAR

During the First Seven Months of its Existence More Than $200,000 in Premiums Was Received

Ottawa, July 29—The increasing popularity of the government annuity system is evidenced by the fact that the premiums received during the seven months the annuities have been on sale now total $205,000.

S. T. Bastedo, head of the annuities branch, reports that applications from intending purchasers of annuities are coming in daily from all parts of Canada between the Yukon and Halifax.

ONLY SHORT STEP AWAY FROM CHAMPIONSHIP

McAvity of St. John Beats One Man in Semi Finals of Tennis Tournament But Has Another to Meet

Montreal, July 29.—McAvity, of St. John, today defeated Cassils, of Montreal, in the open singles of the tennis championship tournament but will have to beat Veysey, also a local man, before getting into the finals. In today's draw McAvity won out, 6—2, 6—3, after losing the first set, 3—6.

New Handkerchiefs

The latest plain in vogue is to have exactly two handkerchiefs to match each shirtwaist. Many of the new colored patterns are of a delicately colored linen, with solid color hemstitched edge of pastel green, blue, grey or rose. On the latest handkerchiefs from Paris all kinds of figures are embroidered, such as elephants, dogs and cats. An attractive style of the shirtwaist handkerchief is printed and hem stitched, with a cluster of leaves in a design in each corner. Another has a naturally colored bunch of violets embroidered within two scalloped lines of the matching tint, and a third shows a bunch of lilies embroidered in pale green.

WE'RE FOR 'EM AND "AGIN 'EM"

The Longshoremen Blight the Swelling Hopes of the Suffragette!

(New York Herald)

"All those in favor of giving women the ballot shout 'aye,' " said Mrs. Sofia M. Lobinger, commander in chief of the suffragette squad that swept down on West street at noon yesterday.

"Aye!" roared the assembled long and short shoremen, with a unison that rocked the neighboring buildings.

"Bully for you!" said Mrs. Lobinger enthusiastically. "You have more intelligence than some of those mollycoddles in Wall Street. Now, all those against giving women the ballot shout 'no' "

"No!" came the lusty response.

"Are you sure you understand me?" shouted Mrs. Loebinger, getting desperate

"No!" came the grand chorus again.

"In heaven's name, don't you men know what you want?" pleaded Miss Helen Murphy. "You can't vote yes and no."

"Oh, yes we can," yelled some one in the crowd.

"Isn't this heartbreaking?" asked Miss Murphy of the reporters. "And they've been so attentive we were sure we had converted them. Wait till I ask one of them, to see if they really understand our cause."

Miss Murphy hastened to the side of a delicate looking citizen who stood about six feet and averaged about fifty pounds to the foot. He had just finished a solo on an ear of corn and was picking his teeth with a bale hook. His voice was as soothing as the coo of an asthmatic lion, but he was well bred, despite his rough exterior. As she approached him he rubbed a gingham sleeve across his grimy face and removed a heavy winter cap.

"How did you like the meeting?" asked Miss Murphy.

"Swellest thing we've had down this way in a long time. I tink yuh did well to t'row away yer bonnets and tamborines. De gang don't fall fer dat stuff any more."

"But we're not Salvation Army folk," laughed Miss Murphy. "We're trying to get votes for women."

"Women ought to have boats," said the longshoreman. "If dey kin have tunnel cars to themselves dere's no reason why dey shouldn't have boats. Dere's nuff boats idle."

This was too much for Miss Murphy, and when she went back and reported to her sister suffragettes they all agreed that they would have to have their talk strained before they could expect to win the West street workers.

For one whole hour they had stood in the broiling sun expounding the principle of equal suffrage for the sexes, and the net result of their labors was one convert. He was a youth of seventeen who is anxious to vote himself, but as he does not live in the right kind of a district he will have to wait four years. He was resplendent in a topsy-turvey straw hat with a pistachio band, and low shoes with sashes for bows. He had interviews on tap for all who wanted to hear them. While the skirted spell-binders were at work he did missionary work on the fringe of the frolic. He sold song books and badges and collected a few stray nickels. Miss Mary Tyng and Miss Ida Rowe were the other speakers.

It was one of the most picturesque meetings the women have had. Just as the twelve o'clock whistle was tooting they tripped across the asphalt and mounted a pile of lumber at the foot of Fulton street. The men were shy about stepping up at first, but after a while they grew more courageous.

All nationalities were represented. Each man had a bale hook festooned around his neck, and many of them had hammers in their pockets. They paid close attention until the test vote showed such disastrous results for the suffering suffragettes. Then old "Joe" Jennings, the boss stevedore blew the whistle and broke up the meeting.

AMUSEMENTS

"STAR'S" BIG WEEK-END PROGRAMME.

The clean cosy little Star Theatre in Union Hall, north end has a bill of unusual interest for its many patrons tonight and Saturday all day. The chief feature is to be the strong dramatic subject, "The Famine in the Forest," a whole reel of magnificently enacted and beautifully photographed film. In addition there will be four other pictures. Miss Ballar will conclude her engagement Saturday night and on Monday St. John's sweetest soprano, Miss Annie Edwards, will head the musical list in this up-to-date little house where quality and cleanliness are the big features.

NICKELS "PINK" MATINEES

This afternoon and on Saturday afternoon little Pat Harrington will bid adieu to his little friends—the tiny ones—by presenting to them lovely big perfumed carnations specially imported from New York for the occasion. Holmes & Buchanan made an excellent impression last evening with their excerpt from the Japo-American opera, The Sho-Gun. Their act was magnificently staged in Japanese tea garden effect with lanterns, wisteria, joss sticks, etc. Mr. Buchanan sang, If You'll Remember Me, and the duet, with Pat, extra, I Remember You, was rendered to big applause.

There will be new pictures today: Brothers in Arms, by Edison, and Weary Willie's Rest, and Mine at Last, by the Vitagraph Co.; special Saturday matinee (souvenirs) and grand show for Saturday evening; little Dorothy Dainty on Monday.

Value of a Smile

There are all kinds of smiles, from that of the coquette to the approving smile of mothers and grandmothers. There is the smile of the child who does not know trouble, and of the woman who puts trouble behind her and looks on the bright side of life. There is the smile which comes of perfectly good health and buoyancy of spirits, and there is again the smile of the sufferer who forgets self and shows only her bright side.

It is the woman with the smile who is wanted and loved by everyone. She does not need to be beautiful or wealthy. She carries with her the charm which admits her to society in general. We have every reason to believe that we were intended to get all the fun, humor and play possible in life. The long-faced, discontented woman is all wrong. She is like a black thunder cloud on a summer's day. Such a woman needs a change; the monotony of her life should be broken in some way. No doubt she has lived such a strenuous life of all work and no play that she has forgotten how to laugh. But she should try to at least smile, for her own sake.

BIRDS FLY IN STORMS

F. Stubbs, an English orithologist, expresses the opinion that birds habitually make use of storms in travelling from one part of their range to another. He points out that if a bird cannot find shelter, it must be more comfortable on the wing than on the ground during a storm, because in the fiercest gales the air, as a mass is at rest; that is, the bird is in a moving supporting medium, like a swimmer in a strongly flowing river.

ON THE STEAMER.

He—Miss Brown, I am afraid you are cold. Shall I take off my coat and put it around you?

She—You may put your coat around me, but why take it off?

JUST LIKE HEAVEN.

Rambo—Sambo am lookin' fine. He am jes' back f'um his souvren trip.

Lambo—Dat so? Did he trable fuss-class?

Rambo—Fuss-class? Well, Ah reckon he did! He come al de way from Georgia in a melon car!
