E. D. C. AUTUMN FAIR TUESDAY NIGHT

Mayor Bullock Will Officiate—Mission Hall Nicely Decorated—Some Features

The interior of the Mission Hall on Waterloo street is being literally transformed for the autumn fair of the Every Day Club, which will be formally opened by Mayor Bullock next Tuesday evening. A line of booths extends in a graceful curve down the north side, with a break to give entrance to the shooting and ball galleries and bean boards, that are close to the wall. At the west end is a great evergreen pagoda, with kitchen concealed behind it. In this pagoda, filled with balsamic odors of fir and spruce and illuminated by soft lights, ice cream and refreshments will be served. The hand-painted menu cards are themselves a work of art, and pretty maidens will serve the patrons at small tables, a la carte.

The booths along the north side will contain candy table, fancy tables, and cut flowers and potted plants. The fancy table will make a dressed dry goods window appear commonplace. On the south side of the room will be the tent of the fortune teller, the fish pond, the platform for the orchestra, and the booth for the sale of cool drinks. From the ceiling will depend numerous flags and banners. The pagoda will be decorated with a great moose head and two deer heads. Evergreen, autumn leaves, rowan berries and other decorations will beautify the booths. Special attention will be given to light effects. In front of the pagoda will be a large glass cabinet showing the prizes won by club members in athletic sports. There will also be a small display of work done by little children on the club's supervised playground, and also the beginning of the club's library. In artistic conception and detail this fair will surprise and delight the citizens.

In addition to the games, guessing contests and other attractions there will be a voting contest for the most popular physician.

Last evening, between 6 and 7 o'oclock, a still alarm was sent in for a fire in the office of F. C. Cole Co., Limited, Water street. The fire originated in a waste paper basket. Some paper there was ignited in a mysterious manner. The chemical responded to the alarm and put out the blaze with little difficulty. No serious damage was done.

"After thorough investigation there, he reports to me that an offer of a considerable sum of money was made to Mr. Barrill on the condition that he prepare and sign an affidavit which would be calculated to discredit my claim that I succeeded in scaling the Alaskan Peak. This offer, so my representative informs me, was made to Mr. Barrill in the presence of C. G. Bridgeford, a reputable citizen of Hamilton, Mont., who is associated with Mr. Barrill in the real estate business. Barrill at that time, according to the statement of Mr. Bridgeford to my representative, declined to make such an affidavit and informed the men who had requested him to swear that I did not reach the top of Mount McKinley that to make such an affidavit he would have to 'commit perjury and sell his own soul.' "Several days after this proposal was made to Mr. Barrill, he, in company with Frederick Prinz, who was also a member of my Mount McKinley expedition, joined Walter P. Miller, the official photographer of that expedition, in Missoula, Mont., and accompanied him to Seattle and Tacoma. It was while on this trip, I am informed, that Barrill made the affidavit which was printed in New York for the first time yesterday.

Word Against His

"Since Barrill and myself were the only two members of the party to reach the top of Mount McKinley, it is now simply a question of my word against his statement. Within the next forty-eight hours, however, affidavits made by prominent citizens of Hamilton, Mont., will be handed over to the Associated Press, and will be to the effect that during the last three years Barrill has continually rehearsed the Mount McKinley story and has at all times insisted that we succeeded in reaching the summit of the mountain. No one has been found in Hamilton who can testify that at any time he has ever heard Barrill tell the story as it is related by him in his sworn affidavit.

"I have today received numerous telegrams from reputable witnesses of Montana, who have talked with Barrill and are willing to make affidavits as to his former version of the Mount McKinley trip.

"I have tonight forwarded a telegram to Anthony Fiala, asking him to head an expedition to Mount McKinley to bring back my records. Another telegram has been sent to Prof. Parker, of Columbia University, who accompanied me in the early stages of my last Mount McKinley expedition, asking him to join Fiala on this expedition. If these gentlemen accept the invitation I have the assurance that the necessary funds for the expedition will be forthcoming, and the expedition will be entirely under supervision and direction of Mr. Fiala. The preliminary arrangements for the trip will be made at once, and the expedition will start as soon as the weather permits next year."

Friends Stand By Him

Copenhagen, Oct. 15—The affidavit of Edward N. Barrill denying that Frederick A. Cook reached the summit of Mount McKinley and what is considered here as a vague reply to the affidavit by Dr. Cook, are believed to have weakened somewhat the American explorer's position that he ascended the mountain to its apex. Public opinion, however, still favors his claim that he reached the North Pole. The newspapers are reticent on the subject, but the authorities and the explorers continue their belief in Cook.

Prof. Torp, rector of the University of Copenhagen, said in an interview today: "I cannot give the particulars regarding the Mount McKinley story, but it is clear that Dr. Cook is being pursued by enemies. There is no reason for me to change my mind because the stories are printed. It is impossible to check them. Nevertheless we cannot understand this. Cook cannot send the observations he made at the North Pole before two months."

Capt. Otto Sverdrup, the Arctic explorer, also thought that the denial of Dr. Cook's conquest of Mount McKinley was due to his enemies. The impatience over Dr. Cook's submission of his polar records, Captain Sverdrup said, was unreasonable because he thought Dr. Cook was too busy lecturing in the United States to arrange to send his observations.

Commander Hovgard, also an Arctic explorer of note, said:—"I have not changed my mind about Dr. Cook. I know nothing about Mount McKinley, but I think he can prove that he reached the pole."

Prof. Thorp informed The Associated Press that the University of Copenhagen would not appoint a commission to investigate Dr. Cook's North Pole data until the records arrived in Copenhagen. It is considered likely, however, that Prof. Stromgren, the Scandinavian astronomer, will head the committee which also will include several explorers and representatives of the meteorological office.

Hartford, Ark., Oct. 15—James A. Bolen, a coal mining operator, well known in the southwest, and who says he has hunted with the companions who made the Mount McKinley trip with Dr. Frederick A. Cook, declared here today that he did believe Edward Barrill had signed the Mount McKinley affidavit credited to him in the story sent out from New York yesterday.

C. OF E. INSTITUTE

A large congregation attended the anniversary service of the Church of England Institute which was held in Trinity church last night. The service, which was choral throughout, was sung by Rev. E. B. Hooper, rector of St. Paul's church. The lessons were all read by Bishop Farthing, of Montreal, and a very eloquent sermon was preached by Bishop Mills, of Ontario. Bishop Mills took for his text, "With joy ye shall draw water from the well of Salvation." In a very masterly sermon, the bishop dealt with the connection of the Church of England to the text.

The change of time on the Dominion Atlantic railway, which will go into effect tomorrow, will not affect the St. John-Digby service.

TEN CENTS DUE, INSURANCE LOST

Widow Sues For Husband's Policy But Court Rules For Company

Toronto, Oct. 16—(Special)—When Harry Whitehorn, laborer, of Hamilton, was killed by the falling of a tree, he was ten cents behind an instalment due to Canadian Guardian Assurance Company, and when the widow sued before Judge Snider, his honor found in favor of the company. She is now appealing to the divisional court.

Mrs. Whitehorn says the agent was in the habit of calling for the money, but did not do so on this one occasion. When ten cents was offered to him on Monday, after Whitehorn's death, he declined to take it, saying his agency had terminated on the preceding Saturday. Mrs. Whithorn claims $250.

SILLY AND PROFANE

Three Baby Lions Christened With Champagne

Edinburgh, Oct. 15—The christening of three baby lions at the Marine Gardens the other day by George Alexander, the actor, seems likely to arouse a storm of indignation in Scottish ecclesiastical circles. The ceremony, which was performed with champagne in place of water, is variously designated "an outrage," "a silly and somewhat profane misapplication of a Christian rite," and "a burlesque of the Christian service." Only one clergyman so far—a Free Churchman—has taken a more charitable view of the ceremony.
