A Gallant Old Bachelor
By DONALD ALLEN.

Mr. Cyrus Stebbins, attorney at law, and a resident of Philadelphia, had some legal business to transact in Paris, and knowing that it would take several months to accomplish it, and being a man who preferred peace and quietness, he looked about for lodgings and soon obtained what he wanted.

Mr. Stebbins had turned the 80 mark, and there were young and envious attorneys who spoke of him as old Stebbins. He had never married, and there were other young and envious attorneys who said that it was a blessed good thing for at least one woman that he hadn't.

The fact was that Mr. Stebbins was bitter, cranky and not at all willing to extend the glad hand. He had never been known to exhibit the least consideration for workmanlike, even when one of them was on the stand for him as a witness. As for being gallant—the idea was ridiculous.

One day, in walking about with his hands clasped behind his back, and his shoulders humped over, the old lawyer happened on an auction room. An escrivote was up for bidding. It was an antique. The bids were low and the auctioneer indifferent, and as a result the lawyer found himself the owner of the piece of furniture, at what he knew to be about one-third its value.

A minute after it was knocked down to him, a man came rushing in and seemed greatly put out that the escrivote had been sold. When he found that Mr. Stebbins was the new owner he took him aside and said:

"That article was included by mistake among a lot of other goods sent here for sale. It belonged to a friend of mine who is dead, and was really left to me by his will. I will give you 100 francs advance on your bargain."

Mr. Stebbins was sorry if any mistake had been made in loading up vans with furniture, but he couldn't see his way clear to parting with his purchase. The offer was increased to 200—300—400, but in vain. The escrivote was removed to his lodgings and rubbed up a bit, and its next adventure took place a week later.

The lawyer was in the public library to look up some dates connected with his case when he saw a man who closely resembled the one he had met in the auction room. They did not speak, and the trifle was forgotten in five minutes.

Three hours later the lawyer returned to his lodgings just in time to halt two men who were bringing his recent purchase down stairs to be loaded into a van.

The landlady explained that a very nice French gentleman had called and exhibited an order signed by Mr. Stebbins, and, of course, she thought it was all right to let the article go.

Mr. Stebbins sat down to reason it out. He had paid 50 francs for the piece of furniture. He had been offered 600 francs advance. The piece wasn't worth the money. Why was the man so anxious, then, to get it into his possession?

It was now given another inspection, but the lawyer could discover no secret drawers. He gave the landlady strict orders, and went his way.

Ten days later he told her he would be gone all day. Half an hour after leaving the house he returned for some forgotten data and found her showing his room to a stranger—the man he had met twice before. The landlady said she was showing the room because the gentleman stood ready to take it as soon as Mr. Stebbins vacated it. She was talking in plain, legal Philadelphia language, and her key taken away.

A couple of weeks passed before anything more happened. Then, as the lawyer sat reading one evening the landlady came up with a young woman behind her.

This young woman was plainly, but neatly dressed, and looked to be a lady's maid. She introduced herself and the landlady left.

She had friends in Philadelphia, and learning that Mr. Stebbins was from that city she made bold to call on him to ask for information. The lawyer didn't believe her story for a minute, but while he was preparing to draw her out and show up her inconsistencies she suddenly clasped her hand over her heart and tumbled down in a faint.

Of course, Mr. Stebbins summoned the landlady. That is he started to go downstairs to her room, having no bell, when a lawyer-like idea came to him and he turned about. He was just in time to find the fainting girl at work at the escrivote. Then she was taken by the ear and led to the door and ceremoniously bowled out.

The escrivote was now hauled into the middle of the room, all the drawers removed and Mr. Stebbins went over it inch by inch. He was in the midst of his work when the lady's maid returned to say:

"I came here and told you a story and I am sorry for it."

"I have no doubt the jury will take that into consideration," grimly replied the lawyer.

MIDSUMMER HAT IN ROSE AND MAUVE. The flower models are particularly charming this year and this pretty hat is no exception. The flexible straw sha pe curls up a bit at one side and shows the rose-colored satin lining. The hat is heaped with lilac sprays in light and dark shades, and a huge ruff in deep, pinkish mauve, set just in front, centers the color and interest of the hat.

STRIKERS MUST RETURN OR COLLIERIES WILL CLOSE

Ultimatum Issued by the Dominion Coal Company to the Glace Bay Strikers—New Men Are Coming in and Quiet Prevails—1,600 Peace Officers on Duty.

Glace Bay, N. S., July 12—The announcement was made at the Dominion Coal Company's headquarters tonight that unless the United Mine Workers returned to the pits within a very short time No. 6 mine would be closed down for the remainder of the year, when labor conditions would no doubt be much more favorable to the company.

The company also told your correspondent that it may be some time before the whistle calling the workmen to the pits is blown at No. 7. The reason given for suspending work at No. 6 colliery is that it is very expensive to operate owing to location near the water and also that the workmen formerly employed there are engaged in other lines.

Stephen B. McNeil, grand master of the Provincial Workmen's Association, when he tonight, spoke in the same hopeful way that he has since the struggle commenced, and reaffirmed his previous remarks that as time rolls on the U. M. W. is bound to go down and out.

McNeil said that the output is on the increase and that all the collieries are mining with the exception of No. 6, and fifty new men who reached Cape Breton Sunday joined Aberdeen Lodge P. W. A. today, said the grand master.

A rumor was circulated in colliery districts today that Bishop Cameron of Antigonish, who is visiting Glace Bay, and Rev. Dr. Thompson, vicar of the diocese of Antigonish who is stationed here, were using their influence to bring about a settlement of the trouble, but when the Dominion Coal Company and United Mine Workers of America a great deal of credence was given to it by the thinking men of this town who realize the seriousness of having these great collieries tied up and they express the hope that the strike is nearly at an end, but it seems there is very little foundation for the reports and it is only one of the many rumors that is heard.

Your correspondent visited the Glebe House, where he found Dr. Thompson, and learned that on Sunday afternoon Bishop Cameron and Dr. Thompson received an invitation from James Ross to be his guest on board of his yacht at Sydney. The invitation was accepted and they both left for Sydney on one of the company's special trains. They had tea with the president of the coal companies and the strike situation was merely mentioned, no suggestions whatever were made with the hope of a settlement. Dr. Thompson did not wish to be interviewed on the situation. Things have reached such a stage that it would be unfair to take a stand either side, he said.

Glace Bay is sufficed with justice and peace keepers, multitudes which no man can number are acting in their party of peace, in spite of the fact that the police committee of Glace Bay in session this morning revoked the appointment of 180.

The strike is clinging into the back ground, for the fight is now between the coal company and the mayor and a part of the town council. Both sides are well organized and are up to all the tricks of the trade and there is not a dull moment in the whole performance.

The fun is expensive, but the people rather enjoy it, especially as anyone out of employment stands a good chance of

LORD ROBERTS HAS NEW PLAN
Introduces Compulsory Service Bill in the House of Lords—Would Make All Males Soldiers.

London, July 12—"The national service bill," which provides for the compulsory service in the territorial army of all male citizens between the ages of 18 and 31, was introduced in the house of lords today by Lord Roberts, who, in supporting the measure, painted a gloomy picture of conditions of the country's defence and the threatening dangers of the empire.

Continuing, Lord Roberts denounced the present policy, which he characterized as a "wilful gamble with the safety of the country and the empire," and claimed that his bill would furnish 1,000,000 well-trained and disciplined soldiers in a few years.

MONTREAL MAN GIVES HIS LIFE FOR WOMAN

He Jumped Into Lake St. Louis to Save a Woman and Both Were Drowned

Montreal, July 12—(Special)—Another double drowning fatality occurred this afternoon on Lake St. Louis, when a young man and woman lost their lives within a few feet of the shore.

The victims were Lily Oatlas, a young English girl, and Edouard Marchand, bar tender at the Chateaugay Hotel. The girl had only come from England with her mother a week ago, and both were employed at the hotel.

Miss Oatlas has been roving on the bay with a couple of children, and coming back essayed to step from the boat to the wharf when the boat pushed away and she fell into the lake, the water being fourteen feet deep at the wharf's edge.

Marchand was standing near and although he could not swim, at once jumped to the rescue, when Miss Oatlas caught him around the neck. Both went down and never rose to the surface again. Their bodies were picked up twenty minutes later.

A GREAT GOLD FIND IN SASKATCHEWAN

An Eight Inch Vein Struck Which Assays as High as $30,000 to the Ton.

Seattle, July 12—A despatch from Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, to the Post Intelligence says:

"The most remarkable gold discovery since the Klondike finds has just been made at Lac la Bonge, 200 miles north of Prince Albert, in the great hinterland of the province of Saskatchewan. H. C. Hamelin and B. L. Clemons, prominent business men of Prince Albert, having evidence of a rich gold area in northern Saskatchewan last year, outfitted three parties of prospectors. The finds were encouraging, but not sensational.

"This year two more parties were sent out, and the finds which have been made of an eight-inch vein of free milling gold quartz have created a profound sensation.

On June 21 B. L. Clemons secretly left Post Chase for the north, carrying with him one of the finest specimens of gold quartz found by one of his parties. H. C. Hamelin has a specimen from the same vein of quartz declared by H. H. Rowatz of Ottawa to be the richest and best of the kind he has ever seen, and that a carload of such quartz is enough for any one man.

"The assays so far made from finds have shown $5,178 and $5,164 to the ton, respectively, but the latest sample is declared to carry from $20,000 to $30,000 to the ton. The finds have been made within forty miles of each other. A prospecting party in charge of H. B. Totten, manager of the Northern Crown Bank, and another in charge of Dr. J. A. Moran, are leaving Prince Albert for the newest Eldorado of the north.

"The provincial cabinet is now considering immediate repairs to the Montreal Lake trail, a distance of seventy-five miles north from Prince Albert, and as the remaining 125 miles is canoe route, the means of reaching Lac la Bonge will be comparatively easy. William McInnes of the geological survey and Frank Crean of the railway lands branch have just left for the north.

"The dominion government has a man now on the ground with a view to establishing without delay an assay office at Prince Albert."

ORIGIN Of a Famous Human Food.

The story of great discoveries or inventions is always of interest.

An active brain worker who found himself hampered by lack of bodily strength and vigor and could not carry out the plans and enterprises he knew how to conduct, was led to study the problem and their effects upon the human system. In other words before he could carry out his plans he had to find a food that would carry him along and renew his physical and mental strength.

He knew that a food which was a brain and nerve builder (rather than a mere fat maker) was universally needed. He knew that meat with the average man does not accomplish the desired results. He knew that the soft gray substance in brain and nerve centres is made from Albumen and Phosphate of Potash obtained from food. Then he started to study the problem and Careful and extensive experiments evolved Grape-Nuts, the now famous food. It contains the brain and nerve building food elements in condition for easy digestion.

The result of eating Grape-Nuts daily is easily seen in a marked sturdiness and activity of the brain and nervous system, making it a pleasure for one to carry on the daily duties without fatigue or exhaustion.

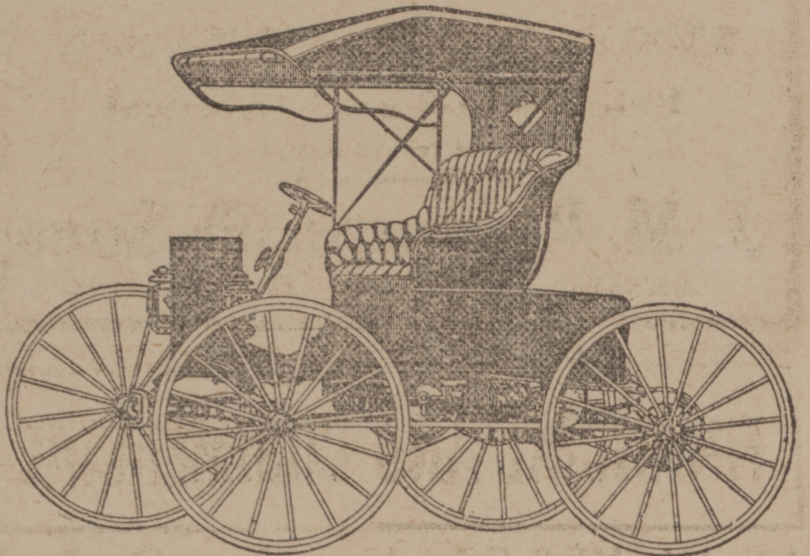

Grape-Nuts food is in no sense a stimulant but is simply food which renews and replaces the daily waste of brain and nerves.

Its flavour is charming and being fully and thoroughly cooked at the factory, it is served instantly with cream.

The signature of the brain worker: spoken of, C. W. Post, is to be seen on each genuine package of Grape-Nuts.

LABORERS MAKE RICH GOLD FIND

Some of the Men Digging Los Angeles Viaduct Reported to Have Struck it Rich.

Randburg, Cal., July 12—The water supply of Los Angeles from the filtered snows of the Owens Valley County, will wind through strata of gold. Part of the aqueduct is found to be heavy with veins, and in a number of cases pockets of gold have been taken away. Some places of the construction laborers actually fight for, because of the chance of striking a pocket. From one stretch of excavation less than twelve feet long, samples of high grade ore were taken which in some instances show assays of $900.

The aqueduct will cross a bed of places gold and also go through lodes. All sorts of stories are to be heard regarding gold finds, one being as to the luck of Patrick McCullum, a Los Angeles man, who cleaned up $12,200.

AGED WOMAN WAS ROBBED BY INDIANS

Mrs. McDade of Springhill Junction Dragged From Bed Gagged and Robbed

Amherst, N. S., July 12—Word has been received here of a serious crime committed by two Indians. The aged mother of John McDade, who tends to the I. C. R. water tank at Springhill Junction, was gagged and robbed last Saturday night by two red men.

It appears the Indians entered the house during Mr. McDade's absence at work and dragged the old lady from her bed in the middle of the night, and to prevent her cries from reaching anybody they held her hands over her mouth. Then searching the house they succeeded in securing about $25 or $30, which the old lady had hidden under her pillows.

The Indians were at Springhill Junction Sunday morning and ordered their breakfast at the hotel there. They both lived near the Junction at one time and one returned a few days ago. I. C. R. Police Inspector Jones, together with another officer, are in hot pursuit of the robbers, and expect to be able to effect their capture soon.

AUTO PROCESSION WILL FOLLOW BODY

Novely in the Way of Funeral Processions at Montreal Today.

Montreal, July 12—(Special)—Something in the way of a novelty in funeral processions will take place tomorrow morning when James Twohey, the young chauffeur who was one of those killed in the automobile races at Blue Bonnets last Friday, is buried. A draped automobile will convey the body to St. Patrick's church and will be followed by seventy-five automobiles, containing those prominent in automobile circles in this city. At the inquest today no one was blamed by the jury for the deaths of Batchelder and Twohey.

NO GOVERNMENT MONEY FOR HIGHWAYS THIS YEAR

Special to The Telegraph.
St. Andrews, N. B., July 12—A more disgusted crowd of men would be hard to find than the members of the highway boards of Charlotte county, who have just been informed that the government has no road grants for them.

One official could scarcely believe his senses when he was told that all the money had been expended on bridges.

As special grants had been promised to certain districts by the county representatives, the highway boards are asking whether these promises were pure bluffs, or whether the members were ignorant of the fact that the treasury was empty.

County members have been placed in an embarrassing position, but their position is not nearly so bad as the positions of the road commissioners who, in anticipation of the government grants, have expended all the available road assessment.

Disgusted farmers, whose roads are in a desperate condition, are asking where is the vaunted surplus of Mr. Flemming?—but there is no one to give answer.
