New York, N. Y., June 22—A rally may occur today on the denial of Harriman rumors, but unsettlement is likely to be witnessed again, for the list would have declined purely from technical causes whether or not the Harriman report had been circulated. We would not be deceived by the upbidding of specialties like Atchison, as suggested, for the market is feeling the weight of distribution, and until the started liquidation shall have run its course, rallies will not hold. The withdrawal of support at indicated level is plain enough evidence of properly interpreted it as meaning temporarily lower prices, regardless of special strength, which is often employed to cover other operations. Until the scale down buying orders are bunched, the tendencies will be down, but when that occurs rallies will be seen. It is unlikely that demoralization will be permitted, but the list is over bought and top heavy, as we have suggested in pointing out evidence of scale up distribution for two or three weeks. We think the suggested neutral position involving as well as buying opportunities ought to be maintained for the present. Harriman's health is reported even better. Gold exports are likely this week. The corporation tax will probably be buried later, according to latest news. An important Delaware development is reported. Cary may enter Erie's direcorate this week. Morgan influence is extending all over the south, judging from the reports this morning. The tariff is not expected to be a law before August 1st. Press comment is mixed with market letter.

N. Y. FINANCIAL BUREAU.

American stocks in London steady about parity. United States Senate still debating the question of free hides and no prospect remains for adjournment of congress before August 1st. Advices from Vienna indicate that rumors of E. H. Harriman's ill health are unfounded. Interboro subway plan expected in next few days and will not be as extensive as that of Bradley Co. Cotton crop news mixed but reports from Texas improving. Up state public service commission orders New York Central to eliminate a number of grade crossings. Southern Pacific expected to do more financing before end of year. London settlement begins tomorrow. Bituminous coal trade feeling improvement in industrial production. British cotton spinners curtailing production, from July 10 to September 27th. Railway Steel 135, RG 147 7-8, RI 29 1-2, SR 30, SP 127, capacity and business is improving every day. Liquidation of stock loans will insure easy money over end of half year. Thirty-six roads, second week June show average gross increase 10.08 per cent. G. W. Perkins expected to join Board of Florida East Coast Railway. Twelve industrials decline 1.52. Twelve active railroads declined 1.58.

New York—The decline in the market is due to technical conditions only, although as is always the case when the market goes down bear news begins to circulate freely. Conditions are splendid and this decline will soon right technical conditions and the market will rapidly become strong. I favor buying good stocks around last night's closing level.

SOMETHING ABOUT THE MEN WHO WILL SHOOT FOR CANADA

Sketch of This Year's Bisley Team Now on the Voyage to the Old Country.

The Montreal Herald gives the following sketch of this year's Bisley team from Canada, now on voyage to the old country:—

The following is the Bisley team for 1909:

Lieut.-Col. A. Bertram, Dundas, Ont.; commandant; Major M. S. Mercer, Toronto, adjutant; Capt. J. McVittie, 48th Highlanders, Toronto; Sgt. W. A. Smith, G. G. F. G., Ottawa; Lieut. F. H. Morris, 46th Regiment, Bowmanville; Staff-Sgt. F. Richardson, 5th C. A., Victoria, B. C.; Col.-Sgt. J. Freeborn, 18th Regiment, Hamilton; Capt. W. H. Forrest, 6th B. C. O. R., Vancouver; Corp. W. D. Sprinks, 10th Royal Grenadiers, Toronto; Corp. D. McInnis, 19th A. M. R., Edmonton; Staff-Sergt. T. Mitchell, 19th Regiment, Hamilton; Lieut. Neil Smith, 24th Regiment, Chatham; Sergt.-Major S. J. Huggins, 13th Regiment, Hamilton; Staff-Sgt. H. Kerr, 48th Highlanders, Toronto; Sergt. G. W. Russell, G. G. F. G., Ottawa; Pte. H. D. Gougeon, 90th Regiment, Winnipeg; Sgt. W. Kelly, 10th Royal Grenadiers, Toronto; Corp. G. Copping, 3rd V. R. C., Montreal; Sergt. C. Creighton, 2nd Q. O. R., Toronto; Sergt. H. M. Marsden, 90th Regiment, Winnipeg; Maj. J. M. Jones, Pownal, P. E. I., 48th; Capt. H. C. Blair, R. O., Ottawa.

Waiting men—Segrt. F. A. Stock, 78th Regiment, Truro; Pte. W. J. Clifford, 10th Royal Grenadiers, Toronto, 29.

Corporal Copping needs no introduction as for years he has been one of Montreal's most prominent rifle shots. Private Gougeon has only been in the Victoria Rifles for six months. He comes from Winnipeg, where he previously belonged to the 90th Regiment, to which regiment another member of the team, Sergt. Marsden, who arrived this morning, is still attached. Private Gougeon is one of the youngest of the team, and McGill can claim him as one of her athletes, for he is taking the science course there. While in Winnipeg he won many prizes, and his friends feel sure that he will make a fine record at Wimbledon.

The men were scattered all over town this morning, but those who could be seen were in high spirits and seemed confident of making a good showing.

SOME OUT-OF-TOWN MEN.

The two Ottawa members of the Bisley team reached town this morning and put up at St. Lawrence Hall. They are Sergt. W. A. Smith and Sergt. G. W. Russell, both of the Governor-General's Foot Guards.

Both are old men on the team, Smith having shot in '02, '06, '07 and '08; Russell in '03 and '05. The two are reliable shots, both with good shooting records.

Sergeant Russell was on the team which brought the Kolapore cup to Canada in 1905. He was also a member of the team which captured the Palma Trophy in 1907. Among numerous other prizes he holds the city of Toronto gold medal, captured by him in 1907, and was also the winner in the famous McDougall match of 1903.

Sergeant Smith shot on the winning Kolapore cup team in 1906, and figured on the team which captured the McKinnon cup in 1902.

He took first place in the Toronto aggregate last year, and stood second in the Bisley aggregate in 1908. Sergeant Smith served with the first contingent in the Boer war. He also holds many trophies, among them being the Canadian Club's prize, the third prize in the Governor General's match and the prize presented by the league's vice-president in the D. R. A. meet last year.

Capt. John McVittie. of the Toronto Highlanders, is making his fourth trip with the Canadians. He was at Wimbledon in 1898, 1900 and 1907. In several other years he qualified for the team, but owing to business engagements was unable to go. He won the grand aggregate and the Bisley aggregate at the last meeting of the D. R. A. He is a son of Robert McVittie, one of the most famous shots in the Empire.

Staff Sergt. Henry Kerr, of the Toronto Highlanders, is an old timer at Bisley. He was on the team in 1897, 1905, 1906, 1907 and 1908, and shot with the Canadian team when on two occasions it won the Kolapore cup.

Sergeant Wm. Kelley was on the Canadian Bisley team in 1905, and is one of the best shots in the Royal Grenadiers. In 1907 he was selected to shoot with the Canadian team for the Palma trophy at Ottawa.

Sergt. Major Huggins, Hamilton, who has become quite a prominent figure at the Bisley shoots, won a reputation as a rifleman in India, shooting in many of the prominent matches of the Hyderabad., West India and Bombay associations, and was on several winning teams, notably that which captured the Secunderabad cup twice in succession. He served through the Burmese campaign in 1885-6 and 7. The Thirteenth owes much to him for its efficiency and its sensational record as a crack shooting corps.

Staff-Sergt. Mitchell Hamilton, comes of a family of crack riflemen, his father before him distinguishing himself as an expert marksman. Mitchell is certainly one of the best of the young shots in Canada today, and his remarkably good work at the Ontario and Dominion matches year after year gives his admirers hope that he will at least be in the last stages of the King's prize shoot.

Col-Sergt. Freebarn is another crack shot who has helped to add to the fame of the Thirteenth. His brilliant performances on the Canadian ranges, and his consistent good work at Bisley on former occasions have attracted much attention.

AERODROMES TO PETAWAWA

Canadian Aerodrome Company is Building Two From an Improved Model of the Silver Dart.

Halifax, N. S., June 21—(Special)—W. F. Baldwin, superintendent of laboratories for Dr. Alex Graham Bell, of Baddeck, says the Canadian Aerodrome Company at Beinn Bhreagh has at present under course of construction two aerodromes from an improved model of the famous Silver Dart, which will be sent to the military camp at Petewawa, as soon as they are completed. Dr. Bell, who is at present in England, is expected to leave for Nova Scotia this week, and nothing definite will be undertaken with regard to a proposed flight across the English channel, until he has been consulted. Mr. Baldwin is in Petewawa, where he is completing arrangements for the forthcoming trials.

STOLE MONEY TO BUY THEIR SHOES

Saint Paul, Minn.. June 22—Willie and Frank Kelly, aged nine and eleven years respectively, have accepted their sentence of a summer at the detention home, given them in Judge Orr's juvenile court, with glee.

"We'll have a picnic out there," Willie explained. "It can't be any worse'n home.'

The two little boys were taken before the court by their irate parents with a request that they be summarily dealt with for the theft of a $10 bill from a boarder at their home. Judge Orr surveyed the tattered, ragged pair, and noted their inteligent faces. He decided that there was no trace of criminality in their expressions,, and the rest of the judicial inquiry was conducted on the steps of the court's bench, where the judge sat with an arm around each of the small youngsters.

"Did you take the money?" he asked Frank.

"Yep, we took it," he replied. "Our boarder gave Frank and me the money to go get it changed, and we passed a shoe store, and Willie and me looked at the shoes, 'cause we never get any shoes. Willie's was all out at the heels and my toes was stickin' through mine. We wanted some shoes awful bad, and so we went in an' got us some. All the kids was joshin' us 'cause we didn't have good shoes to wear."

"An' I was with him when he done it," chimed in Willie, to be sure the judge would not put the whole burden on Frank.

An investigation showed that the home of the two youngsters is not morally uplifting, and that they have had a hard life, full of neglect, scoldings, inattention and the other things that make pathos for little kids. The judge thought it over and the two boys will spend the summer at the home, where they will get good food, school instructiotn, clean beds and a wholesome life. They accept the sentence with straightforward joy. But Frank made a condition with the judge that Willie should not be blamed.

A prominent Saint Paul lawyer who witnessed the session consulted the judge, and things will be pleasanter for the little boys hereafter. They will go to the home with new suits of clothes, underwear, stockings and caps, and each has a new bat and baseball, and a quarter in money.

Never wrap steel or silver in a woollen cloth, use soft tissue paper instead.

Mr. A. Good Fellow on Summer Thirsts

"This thirst business sure is a funny thing," remarked Mr. A. Good Fellow, as he signalled the barkeeper for the same, "and you can usually tell pretty much about a man by the kind of thirst-quenching beverage he consumes. In the past couple of days I have made the experiment of standing at the end of the bar and keeping tab on the thirsty ones and their orders. When you see a chap walk up to the bar kind of slow and tired like, with his hat pushed back on his head and that weary, drawn look on his face, its a pretty safe bet that his thirst will be satisfied with nothing less than a high-ball, a gin rickey or something equally invigorating.

"The man who wanders in casually with but little evidence of suffering from the heat is apt to be satisfied with a glass of cool beer or a dose of Rhine wine and seltzer. The fellows who order the fancy drinks are not usually suffering from a long and hefty thirst; the chances are they have tried beer and highballs, etc., for the past hour or two and their jaded appetites seek something a little more unique. They drink because they want to drink, not because they are thirsty.

"It is surprising how many men of a hot afternoon, walk up to a bar and order a glass of buttermilk or of sweet milk. They are not always teetotalers by any means. Along with the chaps who fansy mineral waters, they are confident that any alcoholic beverage is not near as thirst-quenching as a tumbler of cool milk. All sorts of lemonades, with or without anything in them on the side, are much in demand, and at some bars, though there aren't many that make a practice of it, ice tea has a fairly large patronage.

"The majority of those last-named chaps, however, are more apt to be found in the dairy lunches. Perhaps they feel a hesitation about walking up to a man's sized bar and asking for a real white-ribbon drink—a thing they need not hesitate about if they only realized that the barkeeper is willing to sell them any old thing at all just so they are satisfied to pay for it. But it is a fact, nevertheless, that most of them patronize the dairy lunches. In these places, as the weather grows warmer the demand for coffee and hot tea decreases, being supplanted by milk and iced tea.

And then there's the soda fountain, I became interested in the subject the other day and actually made the experiment of waiting in a drug store a half hour to see how many men came in for a drink. It surprised me, let me tell you. And most of them looked like men who would not hesitate a minute to go into a barroom and order something if they wanted to. On the contrary, every last one of them seemed thoroughly satisfied with his soft drink. Though but few of them took ice-cream soda, they seemed to enjoy thoroughly some one of the other soft drinks to be obtained at a fizz fountain. One of these days some enterprising saloon-keeper is going to arrange it so that he can sell both hard and soft drinks over his bar—and he'll make a lot of money out of it, too!

"Just about 15 minutes ago a middle-aged, prosperous looking man walked up to the bar here and asked for a glass of water. The bar-keeper put one of the well-known mineral waters in front of him with the customary indifference of his tribe. But he woke up from his reverie mighty suddenly when the prosperous-looking thirsty one explained that he wanted ordinary ice water. Of course, the barkeeper didn't say anything, and even the tendency to smile was wiped off his face when the aforesaid gentleman placed his glass down on the bar, laid 15 cents beside it and turned and walked out. That man wanted ice water. He felt that it would satisfy his thirst better than anything alcoholic or soft. And he had the nerve to ask for it, too. That's what got to me. Come to think about it, Bo, I'll bet you there's many a man who walks into a bar and orders something to satisfy his thirst when what he really wants is a glass of plain, ordinary ice water. Sort of the old oaken-bucket stunt, you know."

Keirstead-Wasson

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Kierstead, Norton, Kings County, N. B., was the scene of a very pretty though quiet wedding, at 5 p. m. on Wednesday, June 9th inst., when their only daughter, Estella S. Keirstead, was united in marriage to George B. Wason, a prominent wholesale grocer of Boston, Mass. The officiating clergyman was Rev. C. G. Pencombe. The ceremony took place in the parlor, which was very nicely decorated with potted plants and cut flowers. The bridal party standing under an arch of evergreens, apple blossoms and June roses. The bride, who looked charming in an empire gown of crepe de chene over white silk, with bridal veil, and orange blossoms, and carrying a shower boquet of white roses, entered the room on the arm of her father, to the strains of Lohendrien's wedding march, which was beautifully rendered by Mrs. J. V. Keirstead. The bride was attended by her little neices, Doris and Grace Keirstead, of St. John, the former being maid of honor and the latter as flower girl, attired in pale pink silk, carrying a basket of lilies of the valley. The groom was attended by Masters Fletcher and Richard Wason, of Cambridge. Prominent among the array of silverware, cut-glass, etc., was a cheque of one thousand dollars from Mr. R. B. Wason, uncle of the groom.

The groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful emerald ring set with diamonds, also five shares in the Liberty Trust Co., of which he is president. He also gave a pearl necklace to the maid of honor and one of coral to the flower girl. After luncheon was served the happy couple left for a trip through Nova Scotia. The bride's going away costume was of blue cloth (Pastell shade) with black picture hat. She is a graduate of Cambridge Hospital, and has for a few years been practicing her profession as nurse in Cambridge, Mass. Her many friends join in wishing them a long and happy life.

Portland, Maine. June 21—Saturday evening on complaint of Joe Walcott, the prize fighter, who came here from Boston for a bout at the Pastime Athletic Club, Carrie Barker, 23 years of age was arrested on Fore street near Franklin by officer Legault and Reidly and is lodged at the police station for safe keeping. The real reason for her arrest as stated by Walcott is to enable him to recover $200 which he was compelled to pay recently in Boston where the Baker woman was arrested for street walking.

FREEING HOUSE FROM MICE

Cayenne pepper sprinkled freely in cupboards and shelves which mice are known to frequent will aid considerably in preventing them from spoiling garments, shoeleather, papers, etc. Lumps of camphor placed amongst clothes are also most useful as a means of scaring away mice, whilst books, especially when these are put away in shelves or boxes, should always be protected from possible depredations by interspersing the layer of books with small camphor bags.

Save yourself steps by keeping a broom, dust pan, sweeper and dust cloths upstairs.

BOYS' FARM AND TRAINING SCHOOL

Montreal Sets an Example That Should Be Followed in Other Cities

A farm to which delinquent boys are committed has lately been established at Shawbridge, near Montreal. There are now thirty boys at the school. The reports submitted at the June meeting of the board of governors in Montreal are very satisfactory. The superintendent reports matters getting settled down to the prescribed routine of school work and play, the boys falling into their places in the schedule and showing marked improvement in physique and deportment. A system of marks, badges, and awards recommended by the superintendent is expected to have good effect in stimulating the boys to good behavior. A debating club has been organized, and the athletic club is a strong feature, in both of which the boys themselves have a voice in the direction. A garden plot has been allotted to each boy to be worked in his free time, and much interest is being taken in these individual enterprises. Arrangements have been made with a local physician for official medical supervision and attendance, but it is hoped that in the prevailing conditions of good air, good food, study, work and play, the general health of all in and about the institution will be such as to make the office of medical director pretty much of a sinecure. One boy has been discharged by order of the government to go with friends to a new life in the west; one has recently been committed by the court—the first direct commitment to the Shawbridge school—and one officially discharged on parole to the care of friends in the city. Acknowledgement was made of the first payment by the government on maintenance account to be followed monthly hereafter.

Appended to the superintendent's report were the reports in detail of the staff of assistant instructors, of whom the superintendent speaks in high commendatory terms. A few extracts from these reports will show the good work being done:

The Farmer-Instructor reports that notwithstanding the backward season the crops are fairly well advanced and promise good returns, the hay crops especially promising well. He says of the boys: "I find the boys of valuable assistanse . . . they show great interest in their work. . milking and caring for the stock is done by the boys to my entire satisfaction."

The gardener-instructor reports having set out the required root crops, strawberries, and small fruits, together with an orchard of apple, plum, and cherry trees of approved varieties, and also having experimented with a few pear trees with a view to testing their suitability. All these are promising well, and he adds: "The boys are doing excellent work and seem to enjoy it."

The carpenter-instructor reports the excavation for the proposed extension, to accommodate another 20 boys, though delayed by rains, being about completed and ready for the masons to lay the foundation. Following the masons, the other construction work will proceed under the direction of the instructor, with some assistance from various tradesmen to be engaged, under the supervision of the architect of the board. The labor of the boys will be utilized to the fullest extent, and it is expected that this needed addition to the building will be erected at a minimum cost. The instructor closes his report by saying: "I must mention the splendid work of the boys."

The Assistant-Schoolmasters report makes mention of the school class work and specially notes the marked improvement in appearance and demeanor of the boys, under the system of 'setting up' exercises and military drill instituted by him. It is expected that this introductory work is but a step to the inauguration of a cadet corps under government regulations.

He says of the boys: "Their conduct all round is excellent."

All this, says the Montreal Witness, is most encouraging to the Board, and should be eminently satisfactory to the public, whose work it is; and that so much could be done in such short time is not only full justification of the important step taken in the institution of the "Boys' Farm," but affords much encouragement for further betterment.

THE ARMY OF WORKERS ON THE G. T. P. LINES

During the month of May a total of 3,232 men and 708 horses were employed on the six contracts of the Transcontinental Railway Company in this province. These numbers were increased during the present month. Some of the contractors increased their staffs very materially and as there is likely to be less broken time there will likely be more work done.

The following shows how the working force was distributed:

	Men.	Horses.
Contract 1	677	12
Contract 2	65	9
Contract 3	449	77
Contract 4	945	305
Contract 5	959	223
Contract 6	387	82

Boston, June 19.—A warrant issued late on Saturday for the arrest of Jack Johnson the heavy-weight pugilst of the world, marked the culmination of a series of legal entanglements into which the fighter has fallen since the first day he came to Boston, nearly two weeks ago.

Judge Murray of the municipal court today issued a warrent for the arrest of Johnson as he had failed to appear in court in response to a summons of two patrolmen on a charge of overspeeding his automobile.
