AMUNDSEN AGAIN WILL TRY FOR POLE

This Time the Famous Explorer Believes He Will Succeed—Norwegian Government to Aid Him to Extent of $18,000.

Christiania, Feb. 6.—Captain Ronald Amundsen's polar expedition is now assured for today the Storting voted him a subsidy of $18,000 necessary for fitting out Nansen's famous ship the Fram. There was considerable opposition to the measure but it was finally carried by 87 votes to 34.

Speaking recently of the outlines of his plan, Captain Amundsen said:

"I should say at the outset that this is not to be any dash for the Pole, but a carefully worked-out scientific expedition, having for its object the fullest possible investigation of the North Polar basin. I have not yet actually appointed the members of my party, although I have the names in mind. I will not take more than ten persons.

"I propose to start early next season and to be absent five or six years. There is no secret at all about the route I propose to follow. My object, as I have said, is to cross the polar basin entering at Bering Straits and exploring slowly and thoroughly whenever possible. I am adopting no new methods—no airships, balloons or motors—but simply using the old system which we know and have tried, namely, a good vessel, good sledges and good dogs.

"I am in no hurry to be the first man to reach the Pole. I do not even say that I hope to do so, for I am not one for that purpose. The idea underlying the whole expedition is to use the means already provided by nature as proved by the drift of the Fram, and to avail myself of the currents which undoubtedly run across the Pole. This means entering the polar region at Bering Straits and coming out between Spitzbergen and Greenland. All my equipment will come from Norway, but I shall call in on the north coast of America for my supply of dogs. As to the total cost, it is difficult to say, except that it will be much less than some of the expeditions fitted out during the last century.

HE USED HIS TEETH

Rockefeller, was attacked on the North German-Lloyd liner Barbarossa, Saturday morning, by a young Brazilian, Louis Leite, who is now a prisoner on Ellis Island, pending an investigation of his sanity. Professor Strong was bitten twice in the face by his assailant, who sprang upon him suddenly, and after striking several blows, used his teeth. The men were separated by the ship's attendants. The Barbarossa arrived today.

Leite says he was followed around the world by Professor Strong and accuses the latter of having attempted to put poison in his food.

A CHAPTER OF HORRORS

Clergyman's Body Found Riddled With Buckshot—Six Deaths by Dynamite—Many Deaths Caused by Floods—Skating and Sledding Accidents.

Houston, Miss., Feb. 7.—The body of Rev. W. T. Hudson, pastor of the Baptist church at this place, one of the most prominent ministers in this state, was found riddled with buckshot in a pond near Houston last night.

Mr. Hudson left his apartments at the Houston Hotel early yesterday, and when he did not return at nightfall, search was instituted, which led to the discovery of his body. It was his custom to prepare his Sunday sermon, seated under a tree near the pond, and it is considered evident that he was shot from ambush and killed while thus engaged.

Nancy, France, Feb. 7.—Six persons were blown to pieces today by the explosion of a large quantity of dynamite, and ten thousand blasting cartridges in the storehouse of a mine at Troqueville.

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 6.—A dozen deaths, mostly those of negroes, occurred last night in Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia in the first serious wind storm of 1909.

WANDERERS MAY LOSE STANLEY CUP

Ottawa Won Saturday Night's Hockey Match in Montreal and the Wanderers' Title is Now in Danger.

Montreal, Que., Feb. 8.—(Special)—After four years of waiting, Ottawa, on Saturday last defeated the Wanderers on Montreal ice, giving the champions such a severe setback in the E. C. H. A. race that they are left with but a remote chance of winning the league title, and retaining the Stanley Cup, held with only one short break, now for the third season. Ottawa won out at the Arena Saturday night, by 9 to 8, and unless the Wanderers win March 3rd, the championship and cup will go to the capital. If the Wanderers can win in Ottawa it will probably be a tie between the two clubs, with a home and home series to decide the winner.

HE IS MUCH BETTER

BIG IMPROVEMENTS FOR THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 8.—The Southern Pacific Railway Company has just completed a long and arduous task in Audubon, in this state, a base from which it will construct improvements to its right of way over the Sierra Nevada mountains, costing $25,000,000.

The contemplated improvements will give the company two new lines, one 1,000 feet, than the present line traversed. Among the great engineering feats involved, is a construction of a tunnel six miles in length. Four years will be allowed for the completion of the tunnel. As headquarters for the work the company has leased the ranches and is now erecting on them $50,000 worth of buildings for the accommodation of the men who will be employed in the task.

JAMMED BODY INTO TRUNK WITH HAMMER

New Haven, Conn., Feb. 7.—At the coroner's examination today, it developed that the body of Mrs. James Hazelton, the 34-year-old colored woman, which was found in a trunk at her home on Eaton street last night, had not been dismembered as had been at first thought, but had been jammed in with a hammer. The woman's husband has been charged with causing her death and efforts are being made to locate him. According to the report Hazelton probably killed his wife by hitting her on the head with a hammer, fracturing her skull, and then jamming the body into the trunk with a hammer, covering it with bruises and cuts. Mrs. Hazelton was last seen alive on December 17. Hazelton's whereabouts are unknown.

Furness line steamship Shenandoah, Captain Hreley, arrived in port this morning from London, via Halifax, with a general cargo for this city and the west.

EVANS SAYS WAR TALK IS ALL ABSURD

United States Admiral Says Trouble Between the United States and Japan is Not Possible.

Chicago, Feb. 8.—Admiral Robley D. Evans, who is in Chicago for a brief stop on his way across the continent, dismisses the possibility of war with Japan, as a result of the agitation in California as absurd.

"Of course it is a little strange, almost immediately after our last defeat, that with the friendliest feelings prevailing, that anything should happen to disturb the calm, but it cannot amount to anything. There can't be any trouble between the United States and Japan," he said, "because the people of both nations are too intelligent to let the squabble in the California legislature become an international affair.

"California has a perfect right to pass any laws it desires with regard to aliens. They don't conflict with any of the treaties of the nation, and if they do conflict they are null, that's all. California can pass laws with regard to aliens, provided they apply to all aliens alike. In the south they have separate schools for negroes and whites, but this affair differs in that the race against which there is a prejudice is represented by a sovereign power."

THEY ARE ROLLING THEIR SLEEVES UP

Panama, Feb. 8.—Steamship passengers who have just arrived here report warlike preparations on the part of Salvador and Nicaragua. When the last Pacific mail steamer passed down the coast, President Figueroa, of Salvador, with a military staff, was inspecting all the port garisons. It being reported that an invasion of Salvadoran revolutionists, headed by Dr. Alfaro and assisted by Nicaragua, was imminent.

A despatch from Managua received here says:

"The government of Salvador, instigated by Guatemala, gave orders that its gunboats, President, should fire its guns at night, in the pretense of repulsing Nicaraguan forces invading Salvadoran territory, the intention being to create ill-feeling against the Nicaraguan government. It is generally believed that President Figueroa of Salvador and President Cabrera of Guatemala, are anxious for the overthrow of President Zelaya, of Nicaragua, who is their military enemy. It is thought probable that the movement may start in Honduras first, but that within a short time the other central American republics will be involved.

TO OVERSHADOW BANK OF ENGLAND

Montreal, Feb. 8.—A Montreal banker, who has just returned from New York states that he heard of plans on foot there to give New York a bank that will beat the Bank of England.

Plans are approaching completion, he says, for a consolidation of the National City Bank and the National Bank of Commerce, with a combined capital and surplus of $100,000,000 and deposits of about $500,000,000, making it by far the biggest bank in the world.

It is said that Frank A. Vanderlip now president of the National City Bank, will become president of the merged institution. Valentine P. Snyder is president of the Bank of Commerce, and it is presumed he will have a high position in the new bank.

The National City has a capital of $25,000,000 and a surplus of $24,676,000. Its deposits are in excess of $260,000,000. The Bank of Commerce has a capital of $25,000,000 and a surplus of $15,250,000, and deposits of about $200,000,000.

TO PROTECT THE WOMEN AND CHILDREN

At the Methodist preachers' meeting this morning the ill-use of women and children by besotted husbands and fathers drew out an animated discussion and may result in the formation here of a society for the prevention of cruelty to women and children. All the ministers were able to have experiences of destitution and brutal cruelty by husbands and fathers to women and children. The society will be organized along the lines of similar societies in other cities of the Dominion. The following resolution was moved by Rev. Dr. Flanders and seconded by Rev. J. H. Hoar:

"Whereas, in our pastoral work we are frequently meeting sad cases of destitution and misery among women and children, owing to the wilful neglect and brutal treatment at the hands of cruel and besotted husbands and fathers; and

Whereas, while recognizing the existence of legal provision dealing with such evils, we are not aware of any society or authority authorized to enforce such laws.

Therefore resolved, that we earnestly appeal to the humane and Christian spirit of the citizens of St. John, that they will sympathize with and aid in the immediate steps be taken toward the formation in this city of a branch of the society for the prevention of cruelty to women and children, similar to such as exist in other cities of the Dominion.

The Baptist ministers met in weekly sessions this morning in the foreign mission rooms, Prince William street. There was a good representation of the city clergy-men. The record cards of the recent religious census were distributed, after which Rev. E. E. Bishop, read a review of the new book "The Axioms of Religion." The paper called forth considerable discussion and a vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Bishop.

UNDER HIS HOUSE

Halifax, N. S., Feb. 7.—(Special)—A cable from St. Pierre, Miquelon, says a number of human skeletons were found. The discovery was made by a fisherman named Jougand, at a place called Anse Allouette, a fishing station on the east coast of the island of Thierre, while making excavations for a cellar beneath his house. While engaged in excavation Jougand was startled in unearthing the bones of a human being.

Further investigations were made, and after more digging sixty more skeletons, which had long reposed beneath the floor of his cottage, were brought to light. Under the orders of the mayor the remains were conveyed to the cemetery where they were interred in the common grave. It is believed they are bones of passengers of the sailing ship Carriere, which foundered near St. Pierre in the year 1846, when sixty persons perished.

Dick was arranged in court and held to await the action of the grand jury. His wife was detained as a witness. Dick and his wife had been occupying a part of Connolly's house at Chrono, N. J., and last night, Dick was asked for the rent. The Italian went into the house and later came out again and shot Connolly with a shotgun. Dick and his wife fled, and all last night, the hunted Italian dragged his wife through the soft marshes and across the country in efforts to escape the pursuing posse. She was in a pitiable condition from her exhausting flight when taken to the jail.

ON POLICE FORCE FOR A QUARTER CENTURY

Twenty-five Years Ago Today Sergeant Henry Kilpatrick of the North End First Donned the "Brass Buttons"

Sergeant Henry Kilpatrick, head of the north end police division, is today celebrating his 25th anniversary as a police officer. Today, also, marks 18 years of service for Patrolman William H. Finley, who alternates with Patrolman John J. Smith as acting night sergeant of the north end division.

Sergeant Kilpatrick first donned the brass buttons in 1884, when the north end was the city of Portland, taking the place of I. C. R. Officer John Collins, who resigned to go on the St. John force. Sergeant Kilpatrick himself resigned from the Portland force after two years' service and accepted a position on the St. John force. After two years' service, then Patrolman Kilpatrick was promoted to sergeant. He was first moved to the north end in 1891, succeeding Sergeant B. J. Hoar. Sergeant Kilpatrick was brought to the central station as the result of a shake up. Sergeant Kilpatrick was made head of the northern division.

Sergeant Kilpatrick was born in Upham, Kings county, son of Andrew Kilpatrick, and came to the city when a youth of 18. For all his 25 years' service, through storm and sunshine, the sergeant is the picture of health, is six feet tall and one of the "finest" on the force. He has been through many a hard scrap, but has always managed to come out on top.

The big blue coat has served under three chiefs and three police magistrates. Of the former, Chief Richard Rogers, of the Portland Police Force; Chief John R. Marshall, and the present chief, W. Walker Clark. Of the latter, Police Magistrate David Tapley, of Portland; Police Magistrate B. Lester Peters and the present Police Magistrate Hon. R. J. Ritchie.

"I have seen many changes since I have been a police officer," said Sergeant Kilpatrick today, "and the moral tone of the city has and is steadily improving. If we had locked up drunks in those days as we do today, the jails would have overflowed. If I had escaped us then, we let him go, while now we follow him for months. Then our busiest time was about three o'clock in the morning, while now there is hardly a person moving at that hour."

Patrolman Finley came on the force in 1892. He was born in Westfield, Mass., his sergeant, has had many a tough time of it, but is still one of the most active men on the force. Others who have been on for the 25 year period are Patrolman John J. Smith, who is one of the acting night sergeants, and Patrolman James Corvey, George Corbet and Sergeant Hastings.

NOTED FRENCH POET KILLED IN TUNNEL

M. Catulle Mendes, Author, Dramatist and Critic Ground to Death by Train.

Paris, Feb. 8.—M. Catulle Mendes, the noted French poet, was found dead in the railway tunnel at St. Germain today. The cause and circumstances of his death are yet unknown.

The body of M. Mendes was found upon the railroad tracks. Details of the facts concerning the death of the poet have not yet been established.

Paris, Feb. 8.—It is believed that the death of M. Mendes was accidental. He boarded a train at Paris at midnight, bound for Saint Germain. He had dined last evening at the home of a friend, Baron Oppenheim. The authorities are of the opinion that he went asleep in the carriage and that he mistakenly opened the door of his compartment before the train arrived at the station, and while it was still in the tunnel and that he fell beneath the wheels. The body was found this morning.

M. Mendes spent part of yesterday in his study writing a play on Napoleon, which he was preparing for the Rejane theatre.

M. Catulle Mendes was born May 21, 1841, in Bordeaux. He was a prolific writer and the work of his pen included poems, novels, short stories and dramatic pieces. He was also dramatic critic for the Journal. His first book was published in 1863 and he was actively engaged in literary labors up to the time of his death.

LOGAN HOME AND TALKS OF THE RACES

Says He Was Not in Shape and Fast Ones Skated Away From Him—Will Skate Bush Here Feb. 17 and 18.

Freddie Logan, who was defeated at Montreal on Saturday by the crack team of Lamy and Bush, arrived home at noon today, together with Elmer Ingram and Gordon Nuttall, the undefeated Canadian and junior boys champions of the world, respectively. There was a big crowd on hand to greet the trio, and in spite of Logan's defeat, he was greeted quite as heartily as the two victors.

Of his defeat Logan would only say that he was in no condition for the fast company he was competing with. "I simply could not stand the pace. I am in poor shape and when I attempted to spur my heart would go like a sled dog hammer. In the three mile Lamy fell over Miller and I went over the latter. But when we got straightened away they skated away from Lamy and Bush. In fact the whole bunch were in the finest of condition while he was under a great disadvantage. The force of this can be appreciated from the fact that the St. John man has trimmed nearly all those who defeated him, including Lamy and Bush. "I believe Bush is a faster man than Lamy," said Logan.

Logan skates Bush here on the 17th and 18th of the present month. Asked when he would take on Evans, Logan remarked that the former was very persistent in his challenges, when he (Logan) was out of condition. "I am going to get in condition at once for my race with Bush," said Logan, "and if I trim him I will be ready for Evans," or Logan suggested that the races with Bush might be made three corners to include Evans.

He disappeared from Passaic in 1906, and although his mother, Giovanna Amore, has been pursuing diligent inquiries, his whereabouts were enshrouded in mystery until last week, when information was received that he is now journeying in St. John. "He is living in a red brick building, near a river," is the only clue that the enquirer can furnish. Anybody aware of the youth's whereabouts should notify the chief. Alfieri was in ignorance of the name of the street on which the house is situated.

THE CHINESE OBJECT TO FAVORITISM SHOWN JAPS

San Francisco, Feb. 8.—With the re-opening of the fight over the anti-Japanese bills, in the lower house of the California legislature today, it is expected that the struggle this week will be even more intense than it was last week, when it was terminated by the dramatic appeal of Speaker Walter Stanton for delay.

The latest complication in the controversy, which has two nations by the ears, is the preparation by Joseph C. Chinese of a statement complaining that President Roosevelt is discriminating against the countrymen in favor of the Japanese. The memorial drawn by representatives of the six companies, which is the Chinese Benevolent Association of California, makes a comparison of the governmental treatment of the Chinese and Japanese, and the claim is raised that the latter are clearly favored by the authorities in Washington.

ENGINEER'S NERVE SAVED LIVES OF HIS PASSENGERS

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 8.—One hundred lives hung in the balance on the traction lift of the engine room across. Had he not hit the bridge at high speed the cars and passengers would have gone into the roaring waters. Later, the first section of the inbound Los Angeles, Limited was halted just north of the damaged bridge, and the passengers found their way into the city on electric cars. The second section was sent around by way of Riverside.

Today the Arroyo still relentlessly is grinding its path to the sea, tearing away all obstructions to its course. All bridges, numerous foot bridges, outhouses and buildings, a dozen bulkheads and heavy mattresses have been taken as toll by the stream that but a day or two ago was a purling brook.
