EX-PRESIDENT CASTRO A MODERN WANDERING JEW

No Port in West Indies Hankers to Number the "Black Man of Caracas" Among its Citizens—Expelled Now From Fort de France, Martinique

Paris, April 8.—The French government decided today to expel Cipriano Castro, the former president of Venezuela from the French island of Martinique in the West Indies on the ground that his presence there is likely to foment a revolution in Venezuela.

This decision followed consideration of the cablegram from M. Jussier, the French ambassador at Washington giving an account of his conference with Secretary of State Knox yesterday.

The decree of expulsion will be communicated to Castro immediately through the prefect of Fort de France, where Castro now is.

The French line steamer Versailles touches at Fort de France April 10 on her way back to Europe.

Cipriano Castro drove through Fort de France this morning to see the town. The attitude of the people toward him is one of sympathy. Yesterday the ex-president showed signs of fatigue but today he was in better spirits and seemed to be stronger. Castro maintains silence with regard to his intentions. He is awaiting with impatience the arrival of the mail steamer from Venezuela and Port of Spain.

He is still indignant at the course of the powers in forcing him to land here and preventing him from going to Trinidad and he characterizes this step as a violation of the personal liberty.

The position of Cipriano Castro is further complicated by the French direction to expel him from Martinique. He landed at Fort de France yesterday presuming in the belief that he could stay there. Now he is deprived of this asylum and with the hand of many of the governments against him he will have to move on. Castro could reach any of the Central American republics from Fort de France, and he could make his way also to Haiti or San Domingo. There has been no intimation that the governments of these states are in concert to circumscribe his supposed trouble-making propensities. Castro's wife has gone on to Caracas, and while the nearest ports to the Venezuelan ports are today closed to him he will be allowed to keep in touch with developments in Venezuela.

DISASTROUS FIRE RAGING IN NEW HAMPSHIRE CITY

Whole Tenement House District of Manchester, New Hampshire in the Grip of the Fire Fiend This Afternoon, Three Blocks Burned Already—Firemen Powerless in Face of Mile a Minute Gale

Manchester, N. H., April 8.—The tenement house district in the south section of the city, covering an area of nearly a square mile, and occupied by the cotton mill and shoe shop employes, many of them French-Canadians, was in the grasp at noon today of one of the most destructive fires that ever threatened the city. Up to that time three blocks of thirty wooden tenements had been wiped out, great burning brands were being hurled eastward in countless numbers, smaller fires were springing up among the other tenements in that direction, men and women were rushing from their work to save their property, and the entire city was in confusion.

The local department fought the flames for nearly an hour, but a mile a minute gale proved too great a handicap, and help was summoned from Nashua and Concord, and later from Rochester, Dover, Lowell and Portsmouth.

The fire closely resembled that at Chelsea, Mass., a year ago. With a fierce westerly gale, behind it, it drove with increasing front steadily to the eastward, the flames licking up house after house, and block after block. It started on the corner of Elm and Auburn streets, in a small two-tenement block, but before the first engine arrived on the scene, it had swept through the square bounded by Elm street on the west, Cedar on the east, Auburn on the south, and Union on the east.

The fire continued to spread east and at 12:30 p. m. had spread from Union to Beach street. Assistance reached here from Concord and Nashua and help was summoned from Dover, Rochester, Portsmouth and Lowell. Although the burning embers started fresh fires to the eastward the situation before 1 p. m. was considered to be more favorable and with assistance there was hope of stopping the flames of Beach street.

DISASTROUS GALES AND HEAVY STORMS CENTERED OVER NEW ENGLAND TODAY

Massachusetts Has the Worst Gale in Twenty Years—Wind Fans Village, Fire Into Serious Conflagration—Many Vessels in Danger—A Tale of Rack and Ruin From Ontario Cities

Boston, April 8.—The hurricane over the St. Lawrence River dragged in an air movement across New England today, of velocities ranging from 50 to 92 miles an hour. Such a gale has not been experienced in this vicinity for many years. The storm came unheralded, for no caution signals were hoisted by the weather bureau, and a number of vessels were caught off the coast. Three barges were reported to be in distress off the southern Rhode Island shore at 8 a. m. today. A little sloop was driven on the end of Cape Cod, and many vessels lost sails and other gear by the fury of the blast.

The highest wind velocity that has been reported in New England for sixteen years was reported from Blue Hill Observatory at 8:30 a. m. today, when the flying whirling anemometer cups registered 92 miles an hour. Such velocity has only been seen once in the 25 years history of the observatory, when 100 miles an hour was registered in 1894. The wind blew 50 miles an hour off Cape Cod and 45 miles an hour in this city. Remembering a similar gale of almost a year ago, many citizens of Chelsea today became almost panic stricken when another fire broke out in the stricken city, and for a few minutes threatened to repeat the work of destruction of that of April 12, 1908.

Toronto Hears of Much Damage Done

Toronto, April 8.—(Special)—Reports of damage from the storms are coming from all parts of western Ontario. In this city, telephone poles and uprooted trees block several streets. The roof was blown off the grand stand at the Island Baseball Park. The street car service was tied up. Several business houses were unroofed. The tower of the Central Fire Hall was blown down, wrecking a machine shop next door.

Village Fire Fanned Into a Serious Blaze

Saugus, Mass., April 8.—A northwest gale fanned a fire in a lively stable in the village of Cliftondale at 9 a. m. today with such vigor that it spread to adjoining property, and half an hour later three houses had been destroyed and four others were on fire. Help was summoned from the nearby cities of Lynn, Malden, and Melrose.

Hamilton Battles With All-day Storm

Hamilton, Ont., April 8.—(Special)—Considerable damage was done and several persons were injured here by the severe wind storm which set in early yesterday morning and raged all day. The wind blew with terrific force, breaking windows in numbers of stores, carrying away overhanging signs, and signs on the roofs of buildings, and blowing down telephone, telegraph and electric light wires. A brick house being built at All Saints Trolley road was blown down last night and a portion of the roof of the steel plant was carried away.

School Blown Down

Quelph, Ont., April 8.—(Special)—The high wind which swept over the city yesterday was responsible for rather serious damage to the new St. Patrick's ward school, a section of the double brick wall about eighteen feet by fifteen and forming part of a big gable on top of the building being torn out and hurled to the side, walk below just at the entrance to the school. The falling wall caused a mild panic in the school but no one was hurt.

Montreal Had a Big Wind Storm

Montreal, April 8.—(Special)—Following a heavy downpour of rain yesterday afternoon, a furious windstorm set in here and raged all night. Although considerable damage was done to windowblinds, there were no serious results otherwise.

St. John Not Likely In Track of Storm

A gale set in this morning from the southwest, west and sometimes the north-west. Since 10 o'clock the wind has averaged about 40 miles an hour, with occasional periods of about 15 minutes, when it was as great as 44 miles. It has been comparatively clear, and there is nothing to indicate that tomorrow will not be fine, though possibly there might be some slight snow flurries.

THE TIMES NEW REPORTER

JAMESSEY A ROYAL COMMISSION. Mr. Jamessey Jones has definitely decided not to become an alderman. He made this announcement to the Times new reporter this morning, and though it will grieve his many friends, he is very firm in his decision. The fact is that Jamessey has been engaged to prepare an impartial report on the work done by the street department in the past ten years. He is eminently qualified for the task.

"I believe," said Jamessey, "that everybody connected with the street department is a robber. There isn't an honest man within ten miles of the job. They are all thieves. Every one of them will steal. They have got rich by plundering the city. They are no good. They want graft and nothing else. They would steal the city hall, and sell it if they could. All they care about is getting another grab. I'd hang everyone of them. They are not fit to live. If I had my way I would have every one be strung up, and shot full of holes. I'm a fair man. I have no prejudice. I always believe in giving people fair play. That's why I have been appointed a commission to prepare a report. But if I had my way, I'd hang them first."

Jamessey's fair-minded and impartial report will be awaited with great interest.

MR. ROOSEVELT MAY RUN INTO SOME REAL TROUBLE

Natives in Somaliland Where He Plans to Hunt are Reported About to go on the War Path—Governor of British Somaliland Has Orders to Protect Ex-President

Mombasa, British East Africa, April 8.—According to native reports reaching here the Mullahs of the Somali desert country north of the protectorate are showing further signs of unrest and are massing on the northern boundary of Kenya province. This restlessness became evident some six months ago and there has been apprehension of trouble in the dry season when travel over the trails is easier. This northern district always has been a territory to watch closely. When the natives do go out for trouble they generally bear to the westward in the direction of settled districts and the good hunting grounds. There is today some local anxiety, particularly as a majority of the protectorate groups are at Kerbera, in British Somaliland. It is said here that the colonial office in London has issued instructions to the governor of the protectorate to surround Mr. Roosevelt on his trip with the utmost precaution for his safety.

The plans for the hunting trips of the Roosevelt party are reaching completion. It has been decided that Kenneth Roosevelt is to make a number of short trips with an Indian guide named Silvia, who is famous as an elephant hunter. For the first fortnight of their stay the party will be the guests of Sir Alfred Chase, a well known hunter who had by large establishment at Kilma. The second fortnight they will be guests of George McMillan at his ranch.

WHO WILL PAY FOR BRENNAN'S PAPER

James Brennan and Hopkins Bros. the Principals in Amusing City Court Case

An amusing case was heard in the city court this morning in which James Brennan, a boarding house proprietor, sued Hopkins Bros., meat dealers, for $68.78, alleged to be due for furnishing and hanging wall-paper, painting and white-washing premises on Union street, Hopkins' store, which he formerly occupied. A set-off of $26.92 was filed by the defendants, who were represented by L. A. Curry and E. T. C. Knowles. Brennan in his testimony was unable to adduce tangible evidence but said 20 rolls and two halls were papered and white-washed, and 22 rolls of paper was used. He said he presented Stanley Hopkins with a bill for the amount in the store, which Hopkins threw at him as he reached the street. Mr. Curry exhibited a lease which Brennan admitted he signed and which he admitted which Brennan was to be responsible for all renovations in the building without compensation. Brennan contended that the lease was not in effect at the time in question, but it was dated February 28, 1907, and he was supposed to work on the interior in April, which continued until July. All that was relevant to the dispute was a receipted bill for $12.74 for paper from Watson & Co. to Brennan. His version of the disagreement was to the effect that Hopkins first agreed to let him work on the store for $200 to $300 per year and agreed to renovate the apartments. He attached his signature to the lease, which Stanley Hopkins did not read to him or he did not peruse it himself. When he consulted with Hopkins first concerning the work he was informed to "wait a while" and next it was "bye and bye." Mrs. Brennan jumped into the breach and Hopkins insulted her, and later he said, "go away, woman." Brennan said he retained $25, the last month's rent (April), because Hopkins seized his goods and he was compelled to remove to other quarters on a rainy day.

Stanley Hopkins gave evidence on his own behalf and in cross-examining him, Brennan's partly form obscured the witness from Mr. Curry's sight and he suggested that Brennan stand slightly aside. The plaintiff followed his defense and refused to budge. Brennan said he had no data of the transaction, but said his "note" contained it all. A verdict was rendered for the defendants, whereupon Brennan gave the clerk a dollar and announcing that he would appeal, he was compelled to the proceedings. A dollar threat of retaliation and defying anybody to throw him down he left court with his wife.
