GOODBYE TO "MISS HERSEY":

St. John Dramatic Club Closed a:

Successful Season in City Hall, West End, Last Night.

The St. John Dramatic Club closed their present season last evening at City Hall, west end, with a final production of the rollicking farce-comedy, "Miss Hersey from Jersey," to a very appreciative audience, whose plaudets were well merited by the clever amateurs, whose work from the first lines to the "tag" reflected great credit on their director, Theodore H. Bird, of the Kirk Brewery Company. If the initial performance was a success, so also was the last, for it was given, one might almost say, under extreme difficulties, which taxed to the utmost the ability of the players, who surmounted all obstacles, and sent their audience home delighted.

The play is one that depends very largely upon funny situations, upon clever acting for its success, and is, therefore, in many respects, more difficult of production than anything the company has yet attempted, but without an exception the members of the cast were equal to the demands of the piece and it is doubtful if the average professional company that visits the lower provinces could give it a more finished performance. The acting, even to minute details, was splendidly done, the dialogue crisp and sparkling, and the act endings very effectively worked up. The specialties were well rendered and heartily applauded.

In saying good night and good-bye to "Miss Hersey from Jersey," the theatre-going public of St. John feel, no doubt, that the St. John Dramatic Club have had a most successful season, and look forward with a great deal of pleasure to what future seasons have in store for them at the hands of this talented organization.

MOONLIGHT EXCURSION:

ON RIVER LAST NIGHT

More than 300 people went up river last evening with Clan MacKenzie on their moonlight excursion. The party was conveyed by the Star Line steamer Victoria and with but one stop, up and return, at Woodman's Point to accommodate additional friends, the trip was as far as the Devil's Back and return was made without incident.

The evening was enlivened by selections from the St. John Piper Band. The return to Indiantown was made a little after 12 o'clock. A number of cars were found ready to take the excursionists to their homes.

HON. MR. BOWSER HERE AFTER TRIP TO OLD COUNTRY

Attorney General of British Columbia, Once a Law Student Here, Visits Former Home in Rexton.

Hon. W. J. Bowser, Attorney General of British Columbia, accompanied by his wife and daughter, Miss Eunice Bowser, arrived in the city last evening and is at the Royal, after four months in England and on the continent of Europe. He is now on his way home, but came first to New Brunswick to visit his mother at his old home at Rexton, Kent county.

Mr. Bowser and his family came across on the steamer Empress of Britain and landed at Rimouski, spent yesterday there, and on Monday morning left for Rexton. Last evening he met a number of friends who were pleased to welcome him, and he will leave this evening for Montreal on his way home.

In London Mr. Bowser had two cases before the privy council. "As you know, I used to live in St. John, he said, and studied law in the office of Weldon & McLean, and it was a pleasant surprise for me to meet Colonel McLean at the firm at the privy council session, where he was arguing the St. John Pilotage case. I had not seen Mr. McLean since I left his office, twenty years ago, and naturally was very glad to meet him."

Although away over four months Mr. Bowser is well in touch with dominion matters. So far as affecting British Columbia he said there was nothing special at present. He spoke glowingly of his adopted province and saw a great development in the future. "We have," he said, "the best province in the dominion, with our fishing, timber, mines and fruit and other natural resources. He also spoke of railway development and believed that great good would result from the Grand Trunk Pacific railroad opening up new country in the north."

THE PROGRESS OF TEMPERANCE WORK

International Congress of Alcoholism and World's Prohibition Federation in London.

(Montreal Witness.)

The drink evil was discussed during the week at London at two important series of meetings. "The International Congress on Alcoholism," which held its twelfth annual session, is a gathering of men and women representing every phase of the subject, from the radical prohibitionist to the advocate of "moderation" or "disinterested management." H. R. H. the Duke of Connaught is president, and the Right Hon. Lord Werdale acting president, and a remarkable array of viceregentia and dignitaries in evidence. The attention which the problem of alcohol is receiving among all classes throughout the civilized world. The Imperial Government—as was to be expected from its encouraging attitude towards temperance—took considerable interest in the congress and tendered an official reception to the delegates last Monday. The important topic of alcoholism as it affects the home and child life received a good deal of attention, some of the papers appearing on the programme being on "Juvenile temperance and the national life," by Miss Cora Stoddard, of Boston; "Temperance education in the school in various lands," by Herr J. Gosner, of Berlin; "Temperance effort in juvenile societies," by Madame Trygg Helmsen, of Helsinki; "Alcohol and its effects on the child," by Dr. Imri Doy, of Budapest; "Alcohol in its relations to the home," by Mrs. Branwell Booth, of London; "The legal protection of children," by Professor Herod, of Lausanne. Temperance education as it affects teachers and pupils; the scientific and medical aspect of the question; the relation of alcohol to the efficiency of the national services, and other matters, have been discussed by various representative authorities. The economic side of the question was taken up by Sir Thomas Whittaker and others. Alderman F. S. Spence, of Toronto, and Professor Jensen, of Bergen, dealt respectively with the "no license" and "management" methods of dealing with the traffic. Herr Victor spoke of the problem as it affects "native races." The relations existing between alcoholism and crime also received thorough consideration. Various church services—one in St. Paul's Cathedral—public demonstrations, conferences, social gatherings, and a "Temperance Exhibition," contributed to the success of the Congress.

Simultaneously with the congress was held the first convention of The World's Prohibition Confederation. No report of its meeting has yet come to hand, but it is understood that speakers dealt with the success of state and national prohibition where it has been tried, and advocated its adoption even by the United Kingdom, Continental Europe and other countries where the traffic as yet has such immense social and political influence. "The Scottish Prohibitionist" in a special notice of the latter convention for that, even at this meeting of professed prohibitionists, prohibition will be treated in such a formal and academic manner that "the conference will simply constitute another of many similar fiascoes." As to the "Congress on Alcohol-

A JAPANESE NOVELTY AT THE NICKEL TODAY

One of the prettiest selections yet presented by Holmes & Buchanan will be today's duet from the America-Japan comic opera "The Sho-Gun," which has had a phenomenal run in the United States and Europe. Besides this Mr. Buchanan will sing a high-class solo. Madam Pat Harrington, who has been in, will return to wind up his engagement with the song "O'Reilly," with special numbers each day following. On Saturday Pat will bid farewell to his little friends with several songs.

He is to be succeeded on Monday by little Dorothy Dainty of New York, a pretty wee Miss of nine summers who sings and dances. The picture bill at the Nickel—as indicated in the regular column—is causing a lot of favorable comment. The H. & B. number today will be elaborately costumed and set with special Japanese scenery—wisteria arbors, etc.

A PLEASANT OUTING

Natural History Society Excursion to Dr. Hay's Summer Home Was Much Enjoyed.

One of the most successful outings of the Natural History Society this season was held yesterday at the summer residence of Dr. U. H. Hay at Ingonville. The excursionists left the city on the 1.10 and 5.10 p. m. trains.

On arrival at Ingonville they examined the fine collection of New Brunswick trees and shrubs which Dr. Hay has brought together at Ingonville and listened to an interesting talk by him on the characteristics of the several species and how to distinguish them.

Dr. George Matthew followed, telling of the geological characteristics of the neighborhood. The party broke up into little groups pursuing exploration and gathering specimens, which were afterwards classified by the specialists in the party.

Archdeacon Raymond gave a delightful sketch of the history of the St. John river, beginning with the various Indian legends in connection with it. The story of the French occupation was told briefly and the biography of Capt. Stanning, the ruins of whose house are near the beautiful residence of Dr. Hay, was given.

In the evening, when all were gathered on the veranda of the house, W. P. Burditt gave a talk on astronomy, which was not the least interesting of a very pleasant and instructive series. The party returned to the city about 10 o'clock.
