WEST INDIAN TRADE

The Standard makes Mr. B. Frank Smith, M. P., say that the Cuban market has been opened up through the efforts of Hon. J. K. Flemming and the provincial government. The truth is that before Mr. Flemming or his friends thought of opening up the Cuban market the Liberal government at Ottawa had gone into the subject and sent a commissioner to Cuba, and some enterprising St. John men had tested the market by an experimental steamer service via Boston.

They showed Mr. Flemming the way. When it was clear that there was a market to be developed, the provincial government rushed in and attempted to claim the credit. But in the meantime the federal government's commissioner continues to send from the island information of great value relative to trade conditions there, with advice to local shippers and suggestions as to methods of packing and openings for business, and the federal government has made provision for a direct steamship service to and from St. John. The provincial government has rented a warehouse, and its members have done some talking in the potato-shipping counties of the province, but the actual work of opening up the Cuban market has been done by enterprising business men, with the aid of the federal government.

MCBRIDE'S VICTORY

The overwhelming victory of Premier McBride in the provincial elections in British Columbia will not bring unalloyed pleasure to the Conservatives of the Dominion. It may increase their troubles. Mr. McBride has ambitions, and there are those who think he would make a more aggressive leader for the party in federal politics than Mr. Borden. Those who hold this view will now take courage and talk more loudly in the already divided councils of the party. So far as the victory in British Columbia is concerned, it proves the popularity of an advanced railway policy. Those who applaud Mr. McBride for his confidence in the future of British Columbia, as declared in his railway policy, cannot with good grace rail against the federal government on account of the Grand Trunk Pacific. Evidently the opposition of Sir Hbert Tupper did not injure the cause of the McBride government. The people wanted a vigorous railway policy, they have become enthusiastic over the prospects of the province, and they have endorsed the McBride government in the most emphatic fashion. One feature of the campaign appears to have been the defeat of most of the Socialist candidates, which may be taken as an indication that their influence in politics is less than the noise they made might lead an outsider to assume.

LORDS AND COMMONS

The London Economist is a journal apart from party warfare, and its views on the budget crisis in the United Kingdom are therefore of interest and value at this time. The Economist declares that this is a fatal conflict between the Lords and Commons, and intimates that the former are rushing to their own destruction. This also is the view of Lord Balfour of Burleigh, who was recently in St. John as a member of the Royal West Indian Commission. Speaking in the House of Lords yesterday he said:

"If you win a victory it will be only a temporary one; if you lose you have prejudiced the position, power, prestige and usefulness of the House of Lords, which, I believe, every one of you honors and desires to serve as heartily as I do myself."

In this connection note the following grave statement from the London Economist:

"We are now apparently faced by a constitutional crisis of the first order, aggravated by a financial deadlock, from which, unless new precedents are made, there is no obvious egress without heavy loss to the revenue and a serious dislocation of the national finances. It is hardly possible to meet a moderate Conservative who does not deplore the action of the extreme tariff reformers and their sensational supporters in the press in drawing the House of Lords into this fatal conflict with the House of Commons. For fatal to the pretensions of the Peers this conflict must assuredly be. Even a strong party newspaper like the Scotsman has been arguing that the first task of a Conservative administration should be to reform the constitution of the House of Lords. An authority which never rejects, and scarcely ever amends legislation when one party is in office, and rejects or amends almost all the bills which it receives from the House of Commons when the other party is in office, is doomed either to be shorn of its powers or reconstructed. The spectacle of several hundred hereditary legislators who have seldom or never listened to a debate or recorded a vote in the chamber in which the fortune of birth has assigned them seats, flocking up from all parts of the country to reject a budget upon which many months of arduous labor have been expended by the elected representatives of the nation, will probably evoke a tremendous popular outburst. Some of our readers may not like to hear this, but it is well that they should digest the plain truth, however disagreeable it may be. The plea that the House of Lords is only asking for a referendum will not pass muster."

GOLDWIN SMITH AGAIN

It was only the other day that Dr. Goldwin Smith announced that he had laid down the pen forever, and the press of the country paid tribute to his genius. They had not reckoned with the fact that Dr. Goldwin Smith has a habit of taking up the pen again, and repeating his farewell appearance on the controversial stage. At the meeting of the Dominion Grange yesterday, a letter from the venerable author was read, denouncing the scheme to construct a Canadian navy, asserting that Germany has no designs injurious to England's prestige and power, and claiming that the Monroe Doctrine is Canada's best defence.

Dr. Goldwin Smith knows no more than anyone else about the designs of Germany, and he misinterprets once more the spirit of the Canadian people when he talks of the Monroe Doctrine. If the United States fleet is to be our protection, then we should contribute to the cost of that fleet. But Canadians are not begging protection from a neighbor, nor do they propose to hire their fighting done—if fighting there must be. If Canadians are to take any part in the defence of the empire when the shock of war comes, they must have men skilled in naval tactics, and this can only be secured by having a Canadian navy to train the men. Canada must assume the responsibilities of nationhood within the empire.

Toucing the matter of honest and gentlemanly sport, the following from the Ottawa Journal is worthy of note:—"When upon the conclusion of the great football match in Toronto Saturday last, the Hamilton team cheered the winning Ottawas when looser congratulated winner and the individuals of the losing team shook hands with the opponents they had been trying to defeat, and had their band play the victors of the field, then the Hamilton men gave an exhibition of which the people of that city have more right to be proud, than if their team had returned bearing with it the championship banner. They grow good footballers in Hamilton, and they develop there also, what is infinitely more important, some mighty fine gentlemen. And after all, the terms 'good sport' and gentleman should be synonymous and interchangeable."

In the Ottawa valley the farmers have made up their minds to have better roads. They find that it pays. An Ottawa paper says that seven years ago twelve miles of good roads were built in twelve different sections of eastern Ontario (one mile in each) and notes this result:—"And now Carleton has decided to devote $300,000 to good roads; on Saturday Leeds and Grenville decided to devote a similar sum to good roads; Russell and Prescott have engineers at work, and a by-law that will undoubtedly carry will be submitted to the county council in January. In fact every single county in which the 'good roads' train built a mile of road, has taken up the good roads movement and is going into it extensively, and with the belief that good roads are as paying an investment as any into which a county may put its money."

"Infantry school to remain at capital. Mr. O. S. Crockett, M. P., obtains important assurance from minister of militia." This, in large type in the Standard would seem to indicate that Mr. Crockett had scored another triumph. But all that really happened was that Mr. Crockett asked a question and the minister of militia answered it.

Ald. Edwards of Halifax declares that the stabling of some of the fire department horses in St. John is the worst he has ever seen. What will the council do about it?

The New Brunswick Telephone Company informs the public that it has no redress. It must pay up and look pleasant.

PUT ARSENIC ON BABY INSTEAD OF TALCUM POWDER

Chicago, Nov. 26—A neighbor woman who was taking care of the twelve day old baby of Mrs. Frank Davis of Salisbury, Ill., sprinkled the child with powdered arsenic, which she mistook for talcum powder. The baby died and a coroner's jury brought in a verdict of accidental poisoning.

The arsenic and talcum powder, although plainly labelled, were in similar packages.

REAL SYMPATHY

It's easy enough to be sorry. For others in trouble and woe. It's easy enough to sit and sigh. When a neighbor's head is low. It's easy enough to whisper. The comforting words of cheer. But a ten-spot slipped in a brother's hand Is proof that a friend is near.

It's easy enough to murmur. Vain grief at a brother's plight. And hundreds there are to bid him. The future will soon be bright. And hundreds there are to bid him. Be brave in the face of care. But mighty few ever grasp his hand To deposit a ten-spot there.

It's easy enough to tell him. How deeply you sympathize. It's easy enough when a man is down To go where he fallen lies. And urge him to rise and struggle. To take up the fight again. But it seems to call for courage great To slip him the needed "ten."

How easily words are spoken. How easily tears drop start? How glad a world it would be if words Could soften the ache and smart. On a brother down—Every one of us Would go with the happy pack; But the grief that reaches the heart, alas! Seldom reaches the pocketbook.

AFTER THE GAME

A busted nose,
A haggled ear;
Some shattered toes,
Quite out of gear;
Three teeth knocked out;
Some slats awry;
His sight in doubt,
Two fingers shy;
A broken limb,
We guess that's all
They handed him—
He played football.

CONSERVATIVES

MAKE SWEEP IN

BRITISH COLUMBIA

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 25.—With only two Liberals elected so far in British Columbia, it looks like a Conservative sweep. The Liberals are Brewster, in Alberni, and Jardine, in Esquimalt. The Conservatives have scored three gains.

McBride, a Conservative leader, was returned for two seats, Yale and Victoria. The two big cities, Vancouver and Victoria, returned a solid Conservative delegation, and Oliver, the Liberal leader, was defeated in Victoria.

The old house stood twenty-six Conservatives, thirteen Liberals, and three Labor Socialists.

The government has made three gains up to midnight.

Premier McBride is elected in Yale. Rossland City—Bradford, Conservative, 238; English, Liberal, 219; Casey, Socialist, 160.

Greenwood—Jackson, Conservative, 57 majority.

New Westminster—Gifford, Conservative, 267 majority.

I'D LIKE TO SEE THE LIVER OF A FAT MAN

This is the expression of a medical man who said that the liver of a fat man must present a wonderful sight when that man is alive and performing his regular duties. The liver is the largest organ in the human body. The stomach calls on the liver and so does the blood. If the liver gives to the digestive apparatus improper juices then the digestion is wrong. This is what makes people fat. The liver is not right. On popular demand we have made the famous Marmola Prescription into Tablets which are eaten after meals just like food and they digest that food as it should be digested. They remove fat already accumulated at the rate of from 12 to 15 ounces per day and leave no wrinkles or flabby skin. Carry one in your vest pocket or purse when you dine out and eat what you will. Fasting, diet and exercise will not reduce fat. You only starve the body and by tearing down other organs you bring the fat with the rest of the destruction. Marmola tablets are sold by all druggists and in greater quantity than all the other so-called
