BAD STOMACH PURIFIED IN FIFTEEN MINUTES

If reports are authentic, people of St. John who suffer from dyspepsia and other stomach troubles are getting tired of taking preparations containing pepsin, because pepsin simply digests the food artificially. Pepsin relieves, it never cures—the principle is wrong, the cart is before the horse.

And remember, pepsin only digests animal food; it has no effect on starchy food, such as potatoes, rice, oatmeal, bread, etc.

There is just one way to cure dyspepsia and stomach disorders, trivial or serious, and that is first to cleanse and purifiy the stomach and bowels, and to tone up and put energy into the stomach walls, so that they will be able to properly mix the food with the natural digestive juices of the stomach.

That is just what Mi-o-na tablets da. They quickly arouse the stomach from its inaction, and in a few days it is able to do its work easily, and without exertion. There will be no more sour stomach, fermentation of food, dizziness, sick headache, belching of gas, specks before the eyes, or foul breath.

Mi-o-na only costs 50 cents a large box, and is guaranteed by Chas. Wasson to cure dyspepsia, sea or car sickness, vomiting of pregnancy, and stomach sickness resulting from over-indulgence of the night before, or money back.

Have you heard the news? Booth's Laxatives wake up a lazy liver and cure constipation. Gentle, sure, harmless, and most satisfying. 25 cents at Chas. Wasson's, 100 King street.

ORGANIZED WORLD-WIDE CROP REPORTING SYSTEM

Hon. Sydney Fisher the First Vice-President for Term of Three Years—What the Institute Has Set Out to Do.

Under the title of the International Agricultural Institute there was organized at Rome at the close of last year a world-wide crop reporting system. The scheme provides for the centralization on a certain day and from time to time of data upon which to base reliable estimates or forecasts of crops, and to prepare such data into tables and reports for publication in the best way to benefit every legitimate interest related to the world's commerce of agriculture.

The project has been under consideration for three years, having first been proposed in 1904 to the King of Italy and members of his government by Mr. David Lubin, a wealthy fruit grower of California. Italy appears to have been chosen as the most suitable starting place for such an enterprise because it is not a large grower of agricultural products like the United States, nor a large importer of such products like Britain; and the selection seems to have been wisely made, as the proclamation soon after issued by the king to the governments of other countries found a ready response. The first convention met at Rome at the end of May, 1905, when forty-one nations sent delegates to answer the call.

Some difficulty was at first experienced in finding a basis of representation and a method of the selection of delegates; but finally it was decided that the institute should deal with governments only, and should leave the latter free in the choice of delegates without the intervention of agricultural associations or any other bodies apart from or independent of governments.

The functions of the institute are defined pretty fully in Article 9 of the Constitution, finally aproved by the assembly of delegates held at Rome at the end of November, 1908. This article provides that the institute shall—

"(a) Collect, elaborate and publish with as little delay as possible statistical, technical and economic information regarding the cultivation of the soil, its production whether animal or vegetable, the trade in agricultural products, and the prices obtained in the various markets.

"(b) Send to the interested parties in a similarly rapid manner full information of the character above mentioned.

"(c) Indicate the wages of rural labor.

"(d) Make known the new diseases of plants which may appear in any part of the world, indicating the districts affected, the spread of the disease, and if possible the efficacious means of resistence.

"(e) Study questions relating to agricultural co-operation, insurance and credit in all their forms and collect and publish information which may be useful in the various countries for the organization of undertakings relating to agricultural co-operation, insurance and credit.

"(f) Present if expedient to the governments for their approval measures for the promotion of the common interests of agriculturists and for the improvement of their conditions, after having previously taken every means of obtaining the necessary information, such as resolutions passed by international congresses or other congresses relating to agriculture, or to science applied to agriculture, agricultural societies academies, learned societies, etc.

"All questions which affect the economic legislation and administration of a particular state are to be excluded from the sphere of the action of the Institute."

Four bureaus have been created with the object of giving operation to the scheme, each of which may take the initiative in making proposals on questions relating to its own sphere submitted by the permanent committee; and it is hoped that by the time the general assembly of the Institute meets next December all the bureaus will be in working order.

Hon. Sydney Fisher, minister of agriculture for Canada, has been chosen as first vice-president of the Institute for the first term of three years.

Pleasant Surprise Party Tendered to F. A. Cates of Amherst

Amherst, March 20—At 8 o'clock last evening when ex-councillor, F. A. Cates arrived home, he was greatly surprised and delighted to find his parlors occupied by a dozen of his warmest personal friends. Mr. and Mrs. Cates intend in the very near future taking an extended trip to Vancouver and other western centres and Mr. Cates' friends took the occasion to spend an evening with him and wish them bon voyage. Although Mr. Cates knew nothing of the visit Mrs. Cates and her son, Audbur and his wife were in the secret and at nine o'clock the company were invited to the dining hall when a most tempting supper was served.

Those present were F. A. and Audbur Cates, H. J. Logan, ex-M. P., Mayor Lowther, C. W. Hewson, M. D., J. L. Ralston, Councillor A. S. Chapman, D. J. McLeod, county clerk, T. J. Locke, C. E., James H. Hewson, A. D. Ross, ex-Councillor, Hy. Hunter and B. J. Lawson—after thoroughly enjoying the food so well prepared and daintily served, two hours of social intercourse were spent.

H. J. Logan, who acted as chairman, proposed the health of Mr. Cates, and took occasion to refer in a most kindly and flattering manner to Mr. Cates' work as a citizen of Amherst, and the large part he had taken in the building up of the town where he had lived so long. He reviewed the growth of Amherst during the years Mr. Cates had resided here and of the share that Mr. Cates had contributes towards this growth. Others present also spoke of their pleasure in being present on such an occasion and wished for Mr. and Mrs. Cates a pleasant and prosperous trip and a speedy return.

Mr. Cates replying expressed his pleasure at meeting his friends in this unexpected and pleasant manner and thanked them for their many very kind and flattering words. The evening was certainly a pleasant and profitable one, and the expressions of appreciation of Mr. Cates' high standing in the community were not overdrawn as perhaps no man has contributed more towards the prosperity and growth of the town.

MEETINGS IN THE EVERY DAY CLUB

Several Speakers Delivered Addresses There Yesterday Afternoon and Evening

The importance of right thinking was set forth in a deeply impressive address by Rev. D. Hutchinson at the Every Day Club last evening. His subject was Thought and Its Fruit. Beginning with the remark that the universe existed as a thought in the mind of God before it took shape, and that St. Paul's in London and St. Peter's at Rome existed first in the mind of the architect, and that the like was true of other fruits of man's thinking, the speaker took up thought on its moral aspect.

He traced the relation between evil thoughts and acts, and between pure thoughts and noble actions. Thinking, he said, was seed-sowing, and the harvest was good or evil according to the thoughts. He appealed to young men to order their thinking wisely, that their lives might be pure and helpful to others.

In a reference to the Every Day Club he said that any institution which lifted men up was doing God's work. In regard to temperance, he regretted that the government had refused prohibition, but welcomed the promised amendments to the license law.

Instrumental music, piano, flute and violin, by Messrs. Lee, Stokes and Walker, added much to the musical programme.

George Jenkins was the speaker in the afternoon, and in the course of his able address said that men's views on religion were changing, and they realized that it meant much more than getting to heaven. It meant work to make this world better, and whoever reached out a hand to help another up to a better life was doing religious work. The speaker praised the club for what it had done.

George Blewett spoke briefly, and emphasized the thought that no man lived unto himself, but owed helpful service to his fellowmen. Mr. Blewett spoke of the Temple of Honor, with its four or five hundred cadets in this city, and declared that more vigorous effort was needed to prevent the illegal sale of liquor in the North End.

B. L. Sheppard, who presided, told of the good the club had done to many men, and the president touched upon some of the influences which operated against it.

Rev. A. A. Graham will be the speaker next Sunday night. On Thursday evening A. Gordon Leavett will give an illustrated talk on natural history. The cabinet for the club's circulating library will be in place tomorrow night, and donations of interesting books will be gladly received at any time. The collection taken at the men's meeting in Brussels street church yesterday afternoon, $4.73, was donated to the Every Day Club.

ELOQUENT SERMON BY REV. DR. CAMPBELL

Canadian Citizenship in the Making His Topic in Centenary Church.

Rev. Dr. George M. Campbell, secretary of the Canadian Bible Society, preached an eloquent sermon in Centenary church last evening on Canadian Citizenship in its making.

He referred to the present being a critical time in Canadian history, the nation being in transition from vastness to greatness. He dwelt at length on the wonderful changes in Canada in a generation, and pointed out that the thoughts of the world and its peoples were now turned towards the dominion. He spoke also of the serious problem of developing a great nation with mixed multitudes.

He referred to objections made by Canada's competitors that the territory was too long for its habitable width and that the climate was too severe. He quoted Dr. Draper to the effect that no nation was long lived whose territory lay North and South, and pointed out that Canada lay East and West and all in one zone. With regard to climate, he instanced the wheat growing possibilities of the country, and spoke of it also as developing resourcefulness and strength.

Dr. Campbell went on to show the different methods of moulding citizenship, and dwelt in particular on the valuable contributions made by the public schools and the force of the Bible in the Christian church to assimilate and transform the people.

The men's Bible class will meet in the school room of the Stone church this evening at 8 o'clock.

DECAPITATED BY ENGINE ON C. P. R.

Hugh Simpson of Fredericton Junction Was Killed on the Track on Saturday Night

Hugh Simpson, a laborer, of Fredericton Junction, was killed and decapitated by a C. P. R. engine on Saturday between 5 and 6 p. m. on the track between Sheriff and Portland streets. His body was also cut in two and his head was carried by the engine as far as the depot where it was discovered under the cow catcher.

It is supposed that he jumped on the engine at Douglas avenue crossing, where he had previously been, and, missing his footing, fell beneath the wheels. Coroner Berryman will decide today whether or not an inquest will be necessary.

About 5.40 p. m., the time that the accident occurred, three C. P. R. engines, running tender first, crossed the bridge from Fairville and went down the grade to the depot to connect with outgoing trains for the west.

They were No. 652, in charge of Driver Simpson, No. 907 in charge of Driver Thompson and No. 1591 with Driver Griffiths in charge. It is thought that the third engine ran over Simpson.

When running down the embankment between Sheriff and Portland streets the driver noticed a man's cap rolling down the slope. Suspecting something was wrong he stopped his engine and, on going back over the track, found a headless body cut in two. On arriving at the depot, he reported the matter to L. R. Ross, the terminal agent.

Mr. Ross made an inspection of the engine and under the cowcatcher the man's head was discovered face upward. There were only slight marks of injury on the features and the wheels of the engine bore but little trace of their gruesome work.

Mr. Simpson was about fifty-four years of age and unmarried. He was a native of Fredericton Junction and possessed some property at Diamond square, about four miles from the settlement. He made his home with his sister, Mrs. William McQuestion. Of late years he worked as a laborer in the woods. He is said to have at one time been employed in some of the mills in this city.

He is survived by four sisters and three brothers. The sisters are Mrs. McQuestion and Mrs. Simon Burns, of Fredericton Junction; Mrs. John Butler, of Petersville, and Mrs. John Butler, of Enniskillen. The brothers are John, in Bangor, and Michael and William, of Fredericton Junction.

REV. MR. ROBINSON AT THORNE LODGE

Successful Meeting Held Yesterday Afternoon—West Side Pastor Gives Practical Address

There was a good attendance at the Thorne Lodge meeting yesterday afternoon. M. A. Thorne presided and R. B. Addison assisted in devotional services. Rev. W. R. Robinson addressed the meeting and took for his topic the history of temperance legislation. He said that five thousand years before Christ's birth the evil of strong drink was seen by the people of that day and by God Himself whose servants erred through its use. Right down through the ages the destructive force has been evident.

In the twelfth century distillation as a process was discovered and fermented liquors were less used. In the sixteenth century intemperance became so epidemic as to prove dangerous to society and property. At that time the finances of England were low and the government decided that if the people desired to sell and use liquor they would have to be subject to a tax. This was the first license law with a permissive principle which, he said, was vicious in practice. The license law of today was primitive of right can and thus was as iniquitous as ever.

While waiting for a prohibitive law the speaker said the people must use all means to hand to cripple the liquor traffic.

In order for moral reform movements to be effective, he said, the people must enter personally into work of moral suasion as well as politically and not delegate so many to represent them and their views. The movement was gaining ground rapidly and must triumph in the near future.

This meeting concluded the series held by Thorne Lodge. The feeling was expressed at the meeting that they have been interesting and helpful. The lodge thanks the speakers and musicians who have helped to make the meetings successful.

Another conference will be held tomorrow and he hopes it will be possible to select a chairman of the board. If not the government, which appointed Mr. Campbell, will also name the third member.
