HENRY CLEWS' LETTER.

New York, Nov. 14—The position of the bull leaders has been weakened by recent unsettlement of values. Such activity and strength as there is, is confined to a few special issues. The general drift of security prices, as has been intimated in these advices for several weeks, is downwards. This weakness is likely to so continue with occasional rallies until a lower level has been reached, or until the money outlook improves and a better idea can be had of what may be expected from the incoming congress. Values are still upon a high level, the decline not having been thus far commensurate with the better rates of interest which capital now commands. Gold exports continue at a time when we should be importing the precious metal. The Bank of England, however, did not advance its rate this week as was feared, having partially replenished its reserve by drawing upon the Continent.

In London the financial situation is seriously complicated by possibility of the house of lords rejecting the budget and bringing on a parliamentary deadlock. The strain upon the money markets of the world is general and may continue until the opening of the new year. It is worthy of note that recent security issues have not met with as satisfactory a market as was hoped for, and other important issues are pending; all of which adds to the pressure upon this market. Considerable liquidation is taking place, but not sufficient to materially affect the loan situation.

Speculation in cotton continues upon an abnormal scale and cannot be regarded as a satisfactory element. General trade is active, and the volume of business as a whole is about equal to that of 1906 before the panic, but profits are upon a smaller scale. Owing to the increased cost of living there are rumblings of labor troubles in the future, notably among the railroads; and the closing months of the year are furnishing a series of perplexities which are anything but helpful to the long side of the stock market. Further liquidation is necessary, and with this contingency in prospect we can only advise buying on decided recessions and selling on all good advances.

HENRY CLEWS.

THE MARKET.

New York, Nov. 13—Under the restraining influences of the requirements in money elsewhere, the stock market is riding at anchor, with such vibrations up and down as a well regulated ship would evidence when tied to the wharf. When normal relief comes to the money market, and as the money situation is apparently at the present time the only obstacle in the way of advance, it would be natural to expect to see the whole market lifted higher as soon as the money skies clear. During the period of waiting, we have the British budget situation to be decided, and such friction as may develop in this will have more or less effect upon prices, but these effects, it must be remembered, will be only temporary.

The return of money from the west may begin sooner this year than usual. The volume sent out from the east has been smaller than in previous years of normal activity, due to the larger cash reserves carried by the western and southern banks. When the tide turns, a rise in the market can be easily financed and will probably be assisted by investment buying, in anticipation of the January disbursements. To those who care to disregard intermediate fluctuations, most stocks are a purchase for a carry of reasonable duration.

COTTON LETTER.

New York, Nov. 15—The people who are most closely connected with Memphis are predicting a census report on cotton ginned to November 1st of about 8,200,000 bales. If the report shows as much cotton as this we hardly see how it can be taken as confirming the very ideas of the crop for the following reasons:

Between November 1st and 14th last year there were ginned 414,252 bales. Ginning during the periods ending October 18 and November 1st this year ran 20 and 21 per cent. respectively behind the ginning for the same periods last season. To maintain this ratio of falling off we should not gin between November 1st and 14th this season more than 1,110,000 bales. Adding this amount to the 7,012,317 bales ginned to Nov. 1st this year would indicate 8,122,317 bales ginned to November 14.

Should the figures exceed this it will show an increase in the rate of ginning which might reasonably be supposed to argue a larger amount remaining to be ginned than was indicated by the last report, which pointed to a commercial crop of fully 11,500,000 bales.—W. W. Price.

WALL STREET TODAY.

New York, Nov. 15—The stock market opened with active trading and prices generally higher than last week, but with a sprinkling of declines in influential stocks. Amalgamated Copper was the feature, with sales of 14,000 shares at 92 and 93, compared with 91 on Saturday.—Wabash Preferred and Western Union rose 1 and Missouri Pacific, New York Central, C. & O., American Smelting and Anaconda large fractions. GETTING TO THE END OF THE R.VER SEASON

It will not be long now before navigation on the river for 1909 will be at an end, though from the present mild state of the weather it may spin out for a little longer than last year, for some of the boats. The first steamer, the Hampstead, has already hauled off tieing up about a week ago. The Hampstead was the first to be taken off last year, on November 2. The Victoria made her last trip on the 20th and the May Queen and the Majestic on the 21st, the Hamstead on the 23rd, and the Champlain on the 27th. The Elaine made her last trip last season on the 20th, and will probably retire after the present week. The Victoria will probably finish on the 17th, but the likelihood is that the Majestic will remain running as long as navigation lasts. Freights, however, are said to be falling off now.

EXPORT OF PULP WOOD FROM CANADA

(Bangor Commercial).

Canadian manufacturers who have been pressing the Laurier government to place an export tax on or to prohibit the export of pulp wood, in order that the raw material of American paper factories will be cut off and millions of American capital forced to cross the border, are doomed to disappointment.

It is stated on the highest authority that the government will not yield to the pressure. It will be resisted, as hitherto, on the ground that the relations of the two countries should not be disturbed by the initiation of such a step by Canada.

Only in the now unlikely event of a tariff war forcing Canada to reprisals would such a step be considered, even if taken then. Pulp wood supply is vital to American papermakers.

Ontario already effectively prohibits exportation of large amounts by requiring that all wood cut on crown lands be manufactured in Canada. Quebec's provincial government purposes to do the same and New Brunswick is talking of it.

Wood from private lands may still be exported, and the private land owners in Quebec desire to retain the American market. The only way they could be brought into the plan for depriving American paper mills of their raw material would be the imposition of a federation export tax or the prohibition of exportation.

Such a plan would undoubtedly swell the total of $150,000,000 of American manufacturing capital which the Canadian Manufacturers' Association boasts has been already drawn across the line by tariff condition, but right here, at the rosiest moment of the dream, comes the Canadian government's purpose to do nothing of the kind.

J. S. Wilkinson, editor of the Toronto News, speaking Wednesday night in Detroit, declared the sentiment for a federal export tax would grow in vigor, but his hopes are plainly destined for disappointment. American paper capital will un doubtedly be further invested, but it will not be forced.

Fred Jeffreys, who will succeed Paul R. Hansen, who resigned the management of the St. John branch of the Canadian Rubber Company, will arrive here tomorrow.

ST. JOHN BOWLING RECORD 147; WORLD'S FIGURE 161

Portland Doctor Breaks Four State Records; Has 156 to Credit For Single String—St. John Ladies' Making Good Scores

As bowling has taken such a strong hold in St. John this year, the Times has gathered some information that will be of special interest at the present time. The increase in the number of well equipped alleys has tended to lend a greater interest and increased the rivalry among the teams and individuals.

The highest indvidual score for St. John is 147, made on Black's alleys last November by A. J. Machum, and the highest this season, so far, is 137, made by H. C. Olive on the same alleys. The record team score for this city is 1415, made last year by Black's team against a picked team, and the higest this year, so far, is 1333, made by the Pirates against the accountants, champions of last year's commercial team, on Saturday night.

The highests individual score for the Victoria alleys, Charlotte street, is 125, made by Charles Fish on Thanksgiving day. When it is taken into consideration that the latter alleys have been opened for only a few weeks, it will readily be seen that some bowlers are striking their gait very rapidly and at the present rate it would not be surprising to see the record for both individual and team go sky high, as bowlers on both the north end and city alleys are rolling higher than for the same period last year.

World's Record

The world's official record for an individual score is 161, made by John Taylor on the Noddles alleys, Boston, last year during a tournament. The higest unofficial score is 209, made last year on the Imperial alleys in Salem, Mass., by Geo. Pass. The world's highest team score is 1619, made on the Somerset alleys, Boston, last year. It will be seen, therefore, that taking all things into consideration, the bowlers here are well up to the standard. It is not an uncommon thing for averages here to run well over the 100. On the Victoria alleys since the opening, they have run from 103 to 106.

The local bowlers are at a disadvantage in that the best men are divided among the various league teams and are grouped only once a year for a tournament, while in Boston and other large cities, tournaments are frequent, and the strongest bowlers are rolling together most of the time. The foregoing figures refers to candle pins only.

With reference to the ten pins, the ladies seem to be the only ones to use them in St. John. In the Victoria alleys some excellent scores are being made in quiet morning games by St. John ladies. Mrs. Percy W. Thomson has the fine record of 153, which is the record; Miss Leslie Smith has the excellent total of 144 and Mrs. George W. Jones and Mrs. W. Malcolm Mackay have scores well up to the totals named for the others.

In Portland, Me., on Friday last, Dr. George Studley broke four state records in bowling. He has held the state record of 156 for a single string for a long time and it still stands. On Friday afternoon he dropped in at the Longfellow Square hall with the intention of trying a few strings just for a little exercise. After a number of warming up strings in which good scores were made, he began to mow down the timbers in marvelous form. Beginning with a string of 132 he followed it up with seven more strings of better than 100, the largest of which was 141. Then for one string he dropped to a 91, but put in 103 for his tenth.

In these ten strings Studley created new candle pin records for the state of Maine, as follows:—For seven strings, 802; eight strings, 934; nine strings, 1025; ten strings, 1128. The best previous record for ten strings was held by Fred Hooper at 1096.

Studley's wonderfullly accurate shooting was watched with intense interest and enthusiasm by a large afternoon gallery of followers of the bowling game and the doctor was the recipient of many congratulations for his great timber-toppling feat. The scores were as follows:—

132, 103, 115, 121, 108, 109, 141, 91, 103, —1128.

BAREFOOTED BURGLAR IN MERRY COURSE

Robs Ten Houses, Awakens Some one in Each, But Gets Away With Booty

Taunton, Mass., Nov. 15—A carnival of burglaries was conducted by one lone barefooted man of remarkable audacity in East Taunton and Lakeville early on Sunday, and although he awakened somebody in nearly every house, he entered and had a god-sized posse lokoing for him, he kept ahead of the crowd and succeeded in entering ten houses and escaping with a fair-sized lot of plunder.

MOSS GLEN WEDD NG

The home of Mr. and Mrs. William Cronk, Moss Glen, was the scene of a pretty wedding on October 20 when their daughter, Miss May Agnes, became the bride of Isaac T. Humphries, of Kingston. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. S. Wainwright. The house was tastefully decorated with autumn leaves and cut flowers. The bride was given away by her father. She wore a Princess gown of cream voile and carried a bouquet of white carnations. The bridesmaid was Miss Nellie Cronk, sister of the bride, and the groom was supported by his brother, John Humphries. Miss Wainwright played the wedding march.

After the ceremony a wedding supper was served and a pleasant evening spent with singing and dancing. The bride received many beautiful and costly gifts of silver and cut glass.

THE METHODIST MINISTERS

The Methodist preachers of the city met this morning in the parlors of Centenary church. Rev. Neil McLaughlan presided, and those present were Rev. Messrs. Campbell, Crisp, Marr, Heaney, Wilson and Squires.

The reports from the churches were received. Rev. Dr. Campbell read an interesting paper on church union. As the time was rather limited, the discussion was postponed. The speaker took up the general question of union and in answering some of the arguments against union, said that the Christian motive for the union was entirely sufficient without the added stimulus of competition, which many said was necessary for successful Christian work.

At the conclusion of the paper, a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the speaker, and the meeting adjourned.

MAXIMUM TARIFF PLAN IS HELD AS A COMPLETE FAILURE

Washington, Nov. 15—That the maximum rates of the new tariff law are substantially useless so far as securing valuable concessions go is the conviction that has been practically reached by the tariff experts of the government. This conviction is not confined to any one man or department, but is spreading generally throughout all branches of the government which have to do with the administration of the new tariff act. Within the past day or two there have been unusually positive expressions of opinion on the subject from certain of the best qualified students of the situation. It can be stated with certainty that when President Taft returns to Washington the whole tariff situation will be taken up with him and he will be informed that if the best results are ultimately to be had from foreign countries a revision of the maximum section drafted with such pride by Senator Nelson W. Aldrich will be necessary.

nReaso For Dissatisfaction

The fundamental reason for dissatisfaction with the tariff provision referred to is the same that has made the national bank act so unsatisfactory in some of its particulars. The penalty prescribed is too unweildy to be put into operation. Already members of the administration are feeling keenly the back fire of tariff dissatisfaction and irritation from numerous parts of the country, and the influences brought to bear upon it are seen reflected in the action taken in preferring in numerous instances the lower duties made possible by reclassifications under administrative interpretations. It is frankly conceded that to apply the maximum rates in practice to any considerable section of trade, with the resulting injury to business that would result, would be political suicide for those now in office and would also be most injurious to the protective system, bringing on a campaign for the revision of the duties in such a way as to reduce the exorbitant rates which would go into effect under the terms of the Aldrich 25 per cent maximum. If the maximum rates cannot wisely be used it will not be too much to expect foreign countries to perceive the situation and to refuse to yield us any but the barest of concessions in return for the doubtful favor done by the administration in preserving its own political life by continuing the present "minimum" rates in operation.

BAPTIST MINISTERS

The Baptist ministers held their weekly meeting this morning. Rev. W. Camp presided, and those present were, Rev. Messrs. Cohoe, Hutchinson, Milberry, Townsend, and Robinson. Rev. Mr. Milberry was appointed secretary in place of Rev. Mr. Fletcher, who is sick and desired to be released from office.

Rev. A. B. Cohoe continued his paper on the "Pest of church membership," and a general discussion followed.

Rev. Mr. Townsend was appointed to prepare a paper for discussion next Monday.

ITALIAN ON TRIAL

The preliminary hearing in the case of Antonio Spinella, the Italian charged with shooting his fellow countryman, Lemino Sigorino, at Plaster Rock on Nov. 9, will be brought before Magistrate Neil McQuarrie at Andover this afternoon at three o'clock. It could not be learned this morning whether or not the defendant had engaged counsel.

There seems to be very little interest taken in the trial in Carleon county.

MARINE NEWS

Norwegian steamship Urania sailed from this port Saturday night for Malaga, Spain, with a deal cargo.

Steamer Governor Cobb arrived Saturday night from Boston and after discharging sailed on her return trip.

The steamer Usher sailed from Cardiff early on Wednesday morning bound for the west coast of South America with a cargo of patent fuel.

According to the Canada Gazette, Amazilah Smith, of Shag Harbor, Shelburne Co., has been appointed wharfinger of the government wharf at that place.

The schooner Golden Rule, owned by Captain Isaiah Dixon, sank off Waterside recently, having sprung aleak while loaded with stone. The vessel will be a total loss. She is reported to be insured for about eight hundred dolars.

The barkentine Hancock, which has been discharging a cargo of Southern pine lumber at Portland, Me., sheds, cleared Friday for St. John, N. B., where she will take on a cargo of lumber for New York.

Sailors on the British steamer Afghanistan that arrived at Boston last Friday, from the west coast of Chili, left zero temperature and blizzards in South America and ran into summer here when they expected to find most anything else. The big freighter loaded a cargo of nitrate at Junin and Caleta Buena, Chili, when the thermometer was close to the zero mark and in the Straits of Magellan such a blinding snow storm burst upon the vessel that would have put to shame a real howler from the plains. The ship's cook, August Lobenstein, died of tuberculosis. He was buried at sea.

HAS TRAVELED ON ALL THE RIVER BOATS

Among those arriving on the river boats this morning at Indiantown with produce, was a vetern river traveller and probably the only living man who travelled on the first river boats. He is Mr. Dewar, who is 85 years old, living about a mile back of Brown's Flats.

He travelled on the steamers Fredericton and Meteor, the first on the river, and has travelled on every boat since. For a man of his years he is remarkably active.

Neither the miners nor officials think there is a chance that the men below are alive. Rumors that shots were heard beneath the surface and that rappings on pipes had been used to indicate the entombed miners were living are declared absurd.

J. B. Buck, chief clerk of the St. Paul Company, employed about the mine for thirty years, asserted that no revolver shot could be heard or felt upon the surface other officials declared that the explosion of a stick of dynamite would serve, if it occurred, to lessen the chances of the men entombed.

K. of P'S Cut Down to Six

The Knights of Pythias Lodge, the most important organization in town, had a membership of seventy-five last week. Today there are only six members, the rest are in the ill-fated mine, either dead or dying.

From the miners who were rescued on Saturday it was learned that another act of heroism was performed by one of the men in the shaft below, a man who is in all probability dead at the present time—Walter Waite, an assistant fore
