AT THE NICKEL

There is to be another of these fascinating tours of foreign lands at the Nickel today. It is a trip to Hungary, showing the simple peasant folk at work and in festive. Their national dances and fantastic garbs will be engrossing. The other films are to be: The Fountain of Youth, fancy and magical; Haunted By Ghouls, weirdly funny, and The Way to Happiness, a well-told drama. Last evening—right after the big holiday crowds—the Nickel was crowded continually and everybody seemed much pleased with the long, refined and high-class bill of fare. Mr. Kesney, the English entertainer, won much applause for his imitations and impersonations. His piano playing was especially good and his trick playing extremely funny. The Talking Picture Co. will today continue in their hit, His Wife's Mother, and Miss Evans is to sing When I Marry You, the new hit-song. Mr. Kesney will be heard at 3:15 and 4:15 this afternoon and at 7:45, 8:45, 9:45 after supper.

AT THE OPERA HOUSE

Faust was presented at the Opera House last evening by John Griffith and his company, and met with a very favorable reception. Mr. Griffith gave an excellent interpretation of Mephisto and showed much restrained force and satanic humor in the character. His scenes with Martha, a part which was well sustained by Miss Santley, were greatly to the liking of the audience.

Miss Totten, as Marguerite, was particularly good in the lighter scenes with Faust and made the most of her opportunities. John Arthur in the role of Faust made an attractive lover. The remainder of the cast did well in the parts assigned to them. The scenic effects were well arranged and added to the success of the production. Faust will be repeated at the matinee today. The Bells will be given in the evening.

AT THE STAR

A picture-tale that for baffling chapters is almost as good as one of the famous Sherlock Holmes yarns, will be the "Star" Theatre's leading film for tonight and tomorrow. In addition there will be "The Old Sea Salt's Story," a nautical drama and a comedy entitled "That Rascal Powder Again"—a queer title but screamingly funny picture. There will be extra pictures of a comic and serious nature, as well. Frank Austin will render his latest illustrated song-and-tantrum evening. The Orchestra will play again. The crowds of people who attend this popular and clean little theatre of evenings, is rapidly increasing.

PRINCE RUPERT BORN YESTERDAY

Sale of Town Lots Opened in G. T. P. City.

A Vancouver despatch says: In accordance with an arrangement between the government of British Columbia and the Grand Trunk Pacific railway the first lot of town lots of the city of Prince Rupert, the future western terminal of the Grand Trunk Pacific's transcontinental line, will begin here next Tuesday and will be continued from day to day until next Saturday, May 29. Each party will offer from 1,000 to 1,200 lots selected from all points of the townsite, so that practically every block of the townsite will be represented at the sale. Hundreds of prospective purchasers of Prince Rupert town lots have arrived here already and others are coming from all parts of the Dominion. A brisk demand for lots is expected and it is believed that nearly all of the townsite lots will be sold.

The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company is building a new transcontinental line across Canada chiefly through virgin territory. It is responsible for this city that is to be the western terminus of the line. The company needs a suitable terminal of its line on the Pacific coast and it is essential that it should fulfill certain requirements. It was desirable to have a location in a direct line to Yokohama; it was absolutely necessary that the location have a sufficiently large and safe deep water harbor for the ships which are to connect the railroad with the far coast, and that the location had to be considered as that the city be located in a place that could be reached by the railroad without too great difficulty in crossing the mountains.

Before the site of the city was chosen, the entire north-west was carefully searched and every harbor sounded. The choice was made four years ago and since then preparations were made for the establishment of the new city, for which the name Prince Rupert was selected. The actual work was begun in May 1905. The surveying and clearing was done simultaneously and now the cleared and prepared townsite embraces about 2,000 acres, enough to accommodate a population of about 10,000. Nothing was left to chance or to the arbitrary whims of settlers. Expert engineers and the famous landscape architect, Brett and Hall, of Boston, who laid out Mt. Royal Park, Montreal, were entrusted with the planning and laying out of the city as it is to be.

Prince Rupert has already a population of more than 800, mostly engineers, workmen in the employ of the contractors who are the clearing, grading, and the construction of the railway, but they are on ground leased for a few months only and will be removed when the permanent settlement and building up of the city begins. At present the temporary city has two hotels, two banks, grocery and meat stores.

Prince Rupert is 550 miles north of Vancouver, and only forty miles south of the Alaskan boundary. It is in the same latitude as London and its mean temperature is about the same as that of London. The steamship route to the new port from the far east lies through the Dixon entrance into Hecate Strait, thence into Chatham sound and Prince Rupert harbor. The latter is really a strait between Digby Island and Prince Rupert Island and extends fourteen miles into the site of the new city. The provincial government made a grant of 10,000 acres to the railway company and the latter, in return, bought 14,000 acres of Indian reserve land, making in all 24,000, amply sufficient for a city of 100,000 inhabitants.

The city has been laid out artistically upon rising ground and extends from the water line to the crest of the hills overlooking the harbor. Even boulevards, parks and reservations for public buildings have been laid out and the work of laying out the city is well in hand. The harbor, which has an entrance of 2,000 feet wide and is thirty-six feet deep at low tide, is already provided with a permanent wharf 1,500 feet long, which will be extended as necessity demands. It is expected that the railroad connection with Prince Rupert will be completed in the fall of 1911.
