FOSTER'S RESOLUTION AGAINST PATRONAGE

Views and Practice When He Was Minister Condemned by Him
Now—Guthrie Replies

Ottawa, Jan. 26—Under the guise of moral motives, Hon. George E. Foster made an attack on the government today. Patronage in the administration was the peg upon which he hung his attack, and he demanded reforms for abuses which, in many cases, do not exist.

Hugh Guthrie, who replied from the government side, pointed out that Mr. Foster knew all about patronage, for he had learned his lesson well while a minister of the crown at the head of a department which carried on the patronage system as it had never been carried on since.

The resolution which Mr. Foster asked the house to endorse intimated that a system of party patronage now prevails, and that it constitutes a menace to honest and efficient government, leads to waste of resources, extravagant expenditure, to corruption and lowers the tone of public morals, and should be forthwith eliminated.

Mr. Foster did not give specific instances but confined his remarks to generalities. He said that the government made a widespread application of the patronage system which he declared plagues the legislature and plunders the country. To the minister and his supporters it gives untold worries, in one way or another, it uses ninety-nine per cent of a minister's time and eventually leads to the defeat of a government.

He declared that senators should be chosen for reasons of personal fitness only; that judges should be appointed without regard to past party services; that all civil servants should be chosen as the result of competitive examinations, and that the money should be all spent in the best public interest.

Hugh Guthrie declared that Mr. Foster had made his usual use of extravagant language and exaggerated statement, and it was evident that the resolution was a veiled partizan attack on the present government.

There was a noticeable inconsistency in Mr. Foster's record and resolution. Before 1896 Mr. Foster had been one of the ministers who headed a department and administered the country. Then he had seen nothing wrong with patronage. Under Mr. Foster there had been a real spoils system. Mr. Foster was on record in this matter in the government reports.

WAS A TORONTO MAN

M. McCullough, the Hamilton man reported in despatches as having been killed by falling off a bridge at Woodstock, (N. B.) was really a Toronto man. He was employed by the Hamilton Bridge Works, but resided in Toronto. He was secretary of the Structural Iron Workers' Union there.

Mr. McCullough was well known in Toronto labor circles, and was, up to about eighteen months ago, an active worker in the local union of Structural Iron Workers.

FINE RECORD OF NEW DEPUTY MINISTER

Toronto, Jan. 26—The appointment of Archibald William Campbell as deputy minister of railways of the dominion, means the loss to Ontario of one of the most efficient and able public servants Ontario ever had. An engineer of high standing and of long and varied experience, and at the present time president of the Toronto section of the Canadian Society of Civil Engineers, he is known far and wide not only throughout Ontario, but across the border as well, particularly in regard to his work for the improvement of highways. Indeed, he is far better known by the familiar title of "Good Roads Campbell" than by his official title. It has been said of him that even in his sleep his dreams are all on the question of good roads.

Born at Wardsville (Ont.) in 1863, he early in boyhood showed a liking for engineering and after a thorough training and considerable practice was admitted to the society of civil engineers in 1888. Becoming city engineer of St. Thomas in 1891, he was for some years one of the editors of the Municipal World. He was appointed provincial commissioner of highways in 1896 and in 1902 was made deputy minister of public works.

In all that pertains to the public works of Ontario Mr. Campbell has been foremost, his duties as supervising engineer in the construction of the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario railway being not the least of the tasks which he has carried out.

Mr. Campbell is remarkable for his executive and organizing ability and combines, with other qualities, genial and winning manner. He is a member of the Toronto Club, Victoria Club and Royal Canadian Yacht Club.

Mr. Campbell will assume office on Feb. 5, the date on which Mr. Butler's resignation will go into effect. Mr. Campbell will also be chairman of the board of management of the Intercolonial railway. His salary will be $6,000.

HAT PIN IN HIS NOSE

With blood streaming from his nose, and in very indignant frame of mind, a Toronto citizen went to Constable Hobson, who does duty at the Queen and Yonge street intersections, and asked him to arrest a woman.

"What's the matter?" asked the constable.

"Why this woman has about half a dozen hat pins sticking out of her hat, and she stuck one into my nose."

Together the constable and citizen went to search for the woman, but she was lost in the Saturday afternoon crowds.

"This wearing of hat pins should be stopped when they become dangerous to the public," said the citizen as he went off, gently rubbing his nose.

Tonsillitis Compels Her to Give

News Notes of Local and General Interest

If present plans are successful the St. John Opera House will be visited next fall by one of the most successful plays of modern times, in "The Gentleman from Mississippi," with Tom Wise, in the leading role. Manager Anderson is in correspondence with the manager of this noted player, and is trying to get Mr. Wise to come to St. John to play during the period of the dominion exhibition.

Mme. Lillian Nordica is still suffering from tonsillitis, which has not yielded readily to treatment. She will sing no more in the Metropolitan Opera House for the present, it is said, and will go to Florida. Her husband, George W. Young, will accompany the prima donna. She will remain in Florida until time for her to go to Havana, where she is to sing at the opening performance of the new Polyteama Teatro Hahano, which cost several hundred thousand dollars.

During the past week, the audiences at the Opera House to witness the productions of the Colonial Stock Co., have increased very noticeably, and have been greatly pleased with the performances given. The matinees and evenings this week have been well attended. Among the plays to be presented in the near future by this company, are the following: Arizona, Augustus Thomas' great success; Zara, Margaret Anglin's starring play; and the Octoroon, that famous old drama of Boucicault's.

"Vivette" a comic opera written nearly twenty years ago by Signor Tito Mattei, and the theme lost, received a trial performance last week in London, Eng. It seems that Signor Brocchi was in Broadstairs some time ago, listening to the new compositions by Signor Tito Mattei, which so much impressed him that he asked the composer why he did not write another work for the operatic stage Signor Tito Mattei then told him that he had written a comic opera but after it gave promise of being a distinct success he had lost it. Little hope was expressed of seeing it again. The appeal, however, to try the music was so persistent that it was decided to hunt for the opera. Signor Tito Mattei's house was tried as soon as a day could be arranged. High and low they searched, but without success. At last the coal cellar was suggested. An old case was opened, and there was the opera, growing faded and yellow.

Mrs. Camille D'Arcy, who was here some years ago with the Daley Stock Co. and later with the Sheeley Young Co. is quite ill in Chicago where she has been playing with the College Stock Co. in a production of Monte Christo.

The New Theatre, Co. New York, gave first out-of-town performance on Tuesday evening last when it presented "Strife," in Brooklyn at the Academy of Music. This is the stirring play by John Galsworthy.
