ST. JOHN, N. B., JULY 31, 1896.

MINISTERIAL ELECTIONS.

All of the ministers who offered for election on Thursday were returned without opposition. The elections for two or three others are yet to come off, but probably they will be unopposed. This was the wisest course for the Conservatives to pursue. Had they offered opposition generally they would have been unsuccessful, and even the defeat of one or two ministers would not have produced any general effect. Clearly the country has determined to give the Liberal party a trial, and that party is stronger to-day in public opinion than it was on the day of election. The Conservatives as a party will now have most to gain from the mistakes of its opponents. To have put up candidates against the ministers, and to have been generally beaten, would have been seeking unnecessary disaster, which it was just as well for them to avoid.

ELECTION PROTESTS.

The Sun intimates that there is to be a general assortment of election petitions, and it blames the Liberals for commencing this. In close constituencies the matter is, perhaps, not controllable; for even though a party may object generally, there will be always some persons whose enthusiasm is unrestrainable. The remark applies to both parties. Unfortunately the election law is of a kind which does very little for the purity of election, but it facilitates trading in petitions. In the past the GLOBE ever urged that results should be accepted, for both parties do their level best when elections are on, and the practices of both are perhaps almost the same. There is a grim absurdity and unnecessary dishonesty in men who have used all the influences at their command to secure an election turning round when they are defeated and assailing their success ful neighbors. Perhaps, too, the remark might be made that during election contests there are graver offences committed in order to affect results than those of which the law takes cognizance. The general election of 1891 left parties pretty evenly divided, but the Conservatives had a majority and were in power. They protested a good many seats, a majority of which were opened, and the result was that their majority was considerably increased. It always seems to be an advantage to the party that is in to have a large majority, but it may not be to the country generally unless, indeed, a small opposition is active and vigilant.

THE WHITE PINE.

Much is being written at present of the light demand and low prices in the lumber market. White pine quotations, for instance, are—speaking generally—about as low as they ever were, although in 1879 they were lower. At that time white pine reached a quotation of $6 a thousand superficial feet in the home market. Now, the quotation is about $8. Lumber is manufactured as cheaply as in 1879, except for the cost of logging, which has become more expensive as the forests recede farther from the mills. It is asserted now that the average manufacturer is losing from one to three dollars a thousand on all that is sold at present prices. This, of course, presents a serious situation and some people interested in the trade fear almost a catastrophe. This view is not, however, shared by the majority of business men, who have thorough confidence in the future of the country, and feel assured that a sound financial policy, if maintained, is all that is required. The question naturally arises, if the manufacturers are running their mills at a loss, why don't they close them down? Those who have ample log storage could well afford to do it, but those who must remove their lumber piles to make room for the logs as they come down river find it impossible. Others make it their policy to follow the markets, or have vessels to keep moving, and there is always the lumber which is cut on contract. But apart from these feelings of alarm over the light sales in white pine there is reason to fear that the whole business might be soon wiped out. There is no tree so valuable for general building purposes as the white pine, and none has been found to take its place. It is shaped easily to the tool of the workman, and in strength, lightness and beauty surpasses all. It has been used as if inexhaustible, but now it is rapidly disappearing. From estimates compiled in Minnesota it is shown that in that state there are about 19,000,000,000 feet of live white and Norway pine and spruce, of which the white pine aggregates about 14,500,000,000 feet. This is being cut down at the rate of 1,200,000,000 feet a year, to say nothing of large losses by fire, which hasten the belief that the supply will hardly last more than a dozen years. The fire-swept pine can be saved to a certain extent by cutting, if it can be reached in time to save it from worms. In from ten to fifteen years the last white pine forests in the United States will have disappeared, for pine does not succeed as second growth timber. The effect of the cut around the great lakes is seen in the constant lowering of the water, and in the conversion of the mountain streams to torrents during the wet season and to mere brooks in the dry. If the figures as given by statisticians are correct, manufacturers will not have long to brood over the decline in prices.

GAIETY AND GLOOM.

There is authority for the statement that great wit and madness are near allied. A writer in the London Graphic intimates that gaiety and depression are close neighbors. At least he points out that while in the judgment of travellers Vienna is the gayest of capitals, yet statistics show that there have been two hundred suicides there in the last six months. It is startling to read the two statements side by side; but there is, concludes our English contemporary, no real paradox, and they can be reconciled. For the truth is that gaiety and depression are correlated like action and re-action, and an observed capacity for gaiety is strong presumptive evidence of an equal capacity for gloom. The man who is safest against melancholy is not he who most obviously enjoys his life, but he who is phlegmatic, and takes pains and pleasures alike as a matter of course. If the statisticians could prove, for instance, that the steady-going Dutch were specially addicted to self-destruction, they would give us a harder nut to crack than when they parade the long list of those who have taken their own lives in a centre where merriment abounds.

TARTE'S DISCOVERIES.

TORY MISMANAGEMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

Orders-in-Council of Recent Date Passed in Contractors' Favor—Sir Richard on Preferential Trade.

[SPECIAL TO GLOBE.]

MONTREAL, July 31.

Speaking at the nomination of Mr. Fisher yesterday Mr. Tarte said: I found many other things in my department. For the benefit of the people of Canada I will tell them to you. Mr. Charlebois constructed from 1883 the Langevin block, one of the public buildings at Ottawa. He was paid all except $100,000, which he put upas an extra claim. His claim was denied until May 20, 1896, when that respectable government of Sir Charles Tupper's took the matter up. The claim had been there for years and years. Mr. Desjardins reported to the governor in council that there had been a contract between Mr. Charlebois and the crown, but that it had not worked well and that it would be well to waive the right of the crown. The architect-in-chief of my department is the sole judge of the difference between the contractor and the government, but the minister announced that Mr. Fuller, the chief architect, was not competent to judge in the matter. He then admitted that Mr. Charlebois had a right to submit his claim of $296,257 and they passed an order-in-council recommending that it be submitted to Mr. Raza, that well known tory, and to Mr. Laforest, with Mr. Stanley as a referee if necessary. I called in the chief architect. I asked him if he was competent to fulfil his duties. He said "Yes." Then I made a report to His Excellency recommending that this order-in-council be cancelled at once. It was on July 6, when they no longer had the right to transact business, that this shameful order-in-council was signed, and it was sent to His Excellency two days later. Then I found that Mr. Desjardins had made a report to the effect that the rights of the crown in the claim of Murray & Cleveland, of Toronto, for over $80,000, be waived. These contractors are bound to have the written order of the architect. Mr. Desjardins and the whole government waived the right of the crown and referred the claim to Judge Burbidge to be adjudicated upon. I unmade that order-in-council and saved you that $80,000. I found another order-in-council in which it was proven that the Connollys were once more the masters of the government. They were put in jail as you remember. The House of Commons not only ordered their criminal prosecution, but also ordered proceedings to recover the money taken from the public exchequer. Two years ago the government settled with them for $20,000. In May we find that the rights of the crown were waived in their favor and that their "claim, which was no claim at all," instead of being advised upon by the chief officers of my department was referred to Judge Burbidge. The government waived its right and gave them the right to claim $60,000. Judge Burbidge sat for three days, June 15, 16, and 17, with the result that the judgment was given against the crown for $45,000. I have the judgment in my hands.

TORONTO, July 31.

Sir Richard J. Cartwright, in his nomination address at Norwood, said he was not going to enlarge on the possibilities of preferential trade, or to say more than that the Liberal party would be heartily glad to welcome any movement for the purpose of enlarging trade with the mother country. He could not say to what extent the English people would be prepared to move and he was bound to say that up to the present time all these schemes were rather in the future than in the present.

The Globe, referring to the election by acclamation of the cabinet ministers, says: "Conservatives are entitled to praise for their good sense in refraining from opposition which could have served no purpose but that of worry and annoyance. Sir Charles Tupper is a man who could well afford to advise such a course, for nobody would dare setting down timidity in the list of his faults."

BOMBAY IS ISOLATED.

BOMBAY, July 31.

Except for the telegraph lines this city is isolated at present from the outside world. Very heavy rains have fallen of late and the country in the vicinity of the city is flooded. The railways are so far under water that it is impossible to run trains over them. It will be a considerable time before traffic can again be resumed, as the waters have sapped the foundations of the bridges and it would be unsafe, until repairs are effected, to run trains over them. A water main in the city burst yesterday and the lower part of the town is submerged.

SOCIALIST CONGRESS.

LONDON, July 31.

The International Socialist Trades Congress yesterday adopted resolutions declaring that the only solution of the land question lay in socialism, congratulating the working classes in Russia upon their having awakened to the importance of the movement for the betterment of the condition of the working people throughout the world and having sent delegates to the congress, and wishing them success in their struggles against political tyranny. Twenty Dutch trades union delegates withdrew from the meeting, having become dissatisfied with the manner of conducting the congress. But one Dutch socialist remained. The congress declared in favor of the adoption of a political policy independent of all the old parties.

MR. GLADSTONE CHEERED.

LONDON, July 31.

Mr. Gladstone was yesterday waited upon by a hundred members of the Philadelphia manufacturers' club at Hawarden Castle. He personally escorted the visitors about the grounds and narrated the history of the castle. The Americans were greatly pleased by the warmth of their reception and heartily thanked Mr. Gladstone for his courtesy. They then gave him three cheers. Mr. Gladstone was delighted with this token of appreciation, and said it was the first time he had heard Americans cheer.

A TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.

The Quebec Chronicle reports a dreadful accident at Ste. Philomene, County of Lotbiniere. Monday the wife of Mr. Poisson was working in the hay field with her husband. She was on the top of a load of hay. In attempting to slide off from it, she was caught upon the point of a scythe which was suspended on the side of the load. The weapon pierced her thigh and the point came out on the side of the body. The poor woman was suspended in the air on the point of the scythe, partially disembowelled, crying pitifully to be put out of suffering, while her husband was so stricken by the afflicting sight that he lost his presence of mind and was unable to render at first any assistance. She was taken home in an unconscious condition. The physicians who dressed her wounds have no hope of saving her life.

One of the latest suggestions as to the motive which induced Mate Bram of the Herbert Fuller to kill the captain is that he intended to take the vessel and her cargo of lumber to Cuba to help the revolutionists. It is said that his mother lives in Cuba.

LOCAL NEWS.

CHARTERED.—S. S. Treasury, 1,893 tons, St. John to W. C. E., deals, 38s.

THE RAYMOND EXCURSIONISTS are still in the city. They will cross the bay to-morrow.

BASE BALL.—The Hustlers challenge the Free and Easy juniors to a game of base ball Saturday afternoon on Chipman's field.

A JOINT PICNIC was held to-day at Dody's Landing by the Leinster street and Brussels street Baptist churches. Stmr. Clifton took up the excursionists.

BOATS AND BICYCLES — Auctioneer Lantalum has some fine boats and bicycles which he will sell to-morrow (Saturday) morning. This is a chance for bargains.

THE SHORE LINE TRAIN was over three hours late in arriving from St. George Thursday evening. At St. George a very heavy load of granite was put on, and this, with the wet rails and stormy night, caused the delay.

STEAMER NOTES.—The Prince Rupert is now on the route again, making her two trips daily.

Steamer Hampstead was not seriously strained and will be back on the river route to-morrow or Monday.

HE FAINTED —Harry Berry, a coachman, fainted this morning at the station just as the Quebec express was coming in. He fell to the ground, struck his head against a piece of granite and severely cut his face. He was driven home by his brother.

THE CREDITORS of Messrs. Mollison Bros. were called to meet at 2 o'clock this afternoon in Montreal. The firm has suspended payment. Its liabilities are about $40,000, and assets nominally the same. Report says that the firm will retire from business.

A DELIGHTFUL OPPORTUNITY to spend a few hours in the country is being arranged by the ladies of the Methodist church, Hampton, in the shape of a garden party on August 18th. Special excursion rates will be offered on the I. C. R., and doubtless the party will be well patronized.

AUGUST STANDARD, three cents, Department Store.

A TUG OF WAR between teams from the various mills in the city is being arranged to take place at the Kingsville Cornet Band picnic, which will be held at Watters's Landing on August 17. The contest will be an interesting one. Other attractions will be offered.

ARRESTED IN CALAIS.—Walter Woodland, a young lad well known in police circles in this city, is in the clutches of the law in Calais. For some time past stores in Calais have been entered, among them Messrs. Grimmer & Hunt's and Beckett & Co.'s. In the latter store a trap was set, and about 6 o'clock Tuesday morning young Woodland was captured. Further investigation implicated as his accomplice a lad named Clarence Drugan, of Calais.

AN OLD FIRE ENGINE. — An object which attracted much attention in the warehouse of the International Steamship Company this morning was an old hand fire engine which was used by the city before the present good equipments were procured. It is called "Protector No. 2," and was formerly stationed near the police court. During recent years the engine has been in Connors' rop-walk. It is still in good order and is capable of doing efficient work, but looks very strange and clumsy. It has been purchased by some gentlemen in Boston, but whether it will be worked or kept as a curio could not be learned.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT.—The New Brunswick Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals begs to acknowledge the receipt of $4 from W. F. Hatheway; $2 each from E. McLeod, Daniel & Robinson, H. Miller, J. R. Ruel, William Thompson, E. L. Whittaker, Rev John de Soyres, Dowling Bros., G. G. Ruel, J. V. Ellis, G. E. Fairweather, Waterbury & Rising, Thomas McAvity, D. C. Clinch, C. P. Clarke, Dr McAvenney, Pitfield & Co., W. Turnbull, Dr. P. R Inches and Thos. Stead, and $1 each from Dr. W. S. Morrison, C. K Cameron, W. A Porter, J M. Grant, D. Mitchell, Dr. H. P Travers, Scammell Bros., and Smith & Son, W E.

THE ETHEL TUCKER COMPANY continues to draw large audiences, and every performance delights those present and adds to the reputation of the company. Thursday night "Called Back" was played. The performance to-night will be "Queens" and at the matinee Saturday "An Unequal Match" will be presented.

Of the performance of Queena at Scranton, Pa., the Republican says: Interest, of course, centered in Miss Tucker's masterly portrayal of the title role. The finesse with which she treaded the grave and gay phases of this interesting character marks her as an actress of more than usual ability. The mad scene in Act 3 was painful in its intensity. The thrilling climax at the close won her an enthusiastic double curtain call. The scenery and stage settings were in excellent taste, and the gowns worn by Miss Tucker and the ladies of the company were marvels of the dressmaker's art.

MORE ALLEGED CROOKS. — To-day (Thursday) two well-dressed women called at Smith's book store on Hollis street. One of the women kept Mr. Smith engaged talking while the other looked over some silver souvenir spoons. The women left the store without buying anything. Later two costly silver spoons were missed. Mr. Smith is positive they were stolen by one of the women. Later in the afternoon a well dressed woman was taken from one of the big hotels by Detective Power. She was accused of picking the pockets of guests. Money and several articles were found in her possession when searched at the police station. This morning the four crooks were arraigned in the police court and remanded till to-morrow. This afternoon two more suspicious characters were arrested. Several skeleton keys were found on one of them. Wednesday afternoon one of the special constables arrested Oarsman Rogers. He was removed from an electric car and taken some distance when the mistake was discovered. The special mistook Rogers for a confidence man.—Halifax Mail.

ANOTHER GIFT TO THE CITY —Mrs. J. V. E is and Mrs. Rober Thomson, representing the S. J hn Council of Women, called on Mayor Robertson this morning. They explained that after paying all the bills in connection with the recent gift to the city of the four ambulances they had a balance on hand, and would, if agreeable to the city, augment it sufficiently to purchase a patrol wagon. This would be for police duty only. Mayor Robertson thanked the ladies for their generous offer and expressed his opinion that the gift would be gratefully accepted. He did not think it wise to allow the large ambulance to be subjected to the rough usage it would receive if used also for patrol work. He explained to the ladies that the site on which it was first proposed to build the ambulance shed was too small, and a larger piece of land would have to be purchased. It would be easy to get a site big enough to store both in, and very little extra expense would be entailed. The ladies explained that they thought both should be stored in the same building, as the chance of both being needed at the same time would be so slight that the one horse and driver would do for both. Mayor Robertson promised to place the ladies' offer before the Council at their next meeting.

MORE MONEY LOST —The three thieves who relieved Mr. Charles Pears of $100 at the station on Thursday probably made a better haul than that earlier in the day. Mr. Charles Hamilton, the well-known milliman, went to the station about seven o'clock in the morning and purchased a ticket for Fredericton. He handed the ticket agent a $5 bill and received a ticket and $2 in return. He put the change with his other money, amounting in all to nearly $300, in a pocket book in his trousers pocket. This all happened in front of the ticket office. Mr Hamilton then boarded the train and went to Fredericton, where he attended the sale of unmarked logs, probably with a view of becoming a purchaser. He was very much surprised, however, when he felt for his money to find he hadn't any. His purse with its contents had disappeared. Mr. Hamilton was at the station early this morning to enquire for his money and his was the first intimation there of what had happened. Of course no information could be given him, but there is little doubt that the crooks who have robbed several persons this week have also succeeded in getting Mr. Hamilton's money.

I. C. R. section men found down under one of the bridges in the yard a pocketbook in which was the card of S. Harris, the well-known traveller. The crooks relieved Mr. Harris a few days ago. His loss is said to have been about $60.

THE COLORS.—Messrs. Macaulay Bros. & Co. to-day flew a large pink flag, showing their sympathy with the St. John crew.

EQUITY SALE.—At Chubb's corner to-day, Mr Geo. W. Gerow offered for sale the D McDonald property, situate on King street and occupied by Messrs. T. McAvity & Sons and C. & E Everett. The property was sold to satisfy a mortgage claim of $20 000, and was knocked down to Messrs A. W. Macrae and James Jack for $50 over the above claim.

STEAMSHIP NOTES —The St. John City arrived here at 7 o'clock this morning and is being discharged at the Pettingell wharf. She will move over to the C. P. R wharf this evening to load return cargo for London.

The Dunt Castle is expected here this evening from the West Indies.

The Vancouver passed Fame Point at 6 20 this morning and her mails should reach here to-morrow morning.

THE LATH MARKET is dull in the United States at present, and prices are low. A letter received states that the market is very much depressed in Wilmington and Chester, while the stock on hand is considerable. The letter also states that in several of the new buildings now going on wire netting is being used instead of laths. There is also a new process in use which is doing away with the use of laths. The walls, etc., are made of plaster in factories and then taken to the buildings and "nailed" into position. The sections are "ploughed" so that they can be easily fitted.

MR. BATES'S ROBBERY.

His Pocketbook Found, but the Money was Gone.

R. Bates, of Kent county, who lost a considerable amount of money, besides valuable checks and papers representing eight to ten thousand dollars by having had his pockets picked at Truro station, on Tuesday, was notified by the railway department at his present address in Mulgrave, N. S., that the missing pocketbook had been found in the water-closet premises of a hotel at Truro on Thursday morning by the scrub woman. All the papers and checks were found intact, but the cash, amounting to $120, was gone. Mrs. Bates's purse, with $20, is still missing. The thieves evidently followed Mr. and Mrs. Bates from Amherst, and while en route relieved the couple of their pocketbooks. They, to all appearances, stopped off at Truro and proceeded east the next morning as far as Antigonish still in the company of their victims. Returning they relieved Mr. William Whitman, of Canso, of a pocketbook containing a small sum of money and a bank deposit receipt amounting to $200. Mr. Whitman reported his loss to the authorities at Truro station and stopped payment of the paper. Last evening at six o'clock something went wrong with the flushing tank of the closet at the aforementioned station. Investigation developed the presence of Mr. Whitman's pocketbook with the papers enclosed, but the cash gone. The thieves, to all appearances, are making Truro their headquarters, and a quiet search is being made at the hotels on behalf of the railway department in order to discover them, but no arrests had been made up to a late hour.

ACCIDENTALLY KILLED.

Mrs. John McLeod, of Military Road, was accidentally killed on Thursday by falling from a third story window to the ground below. She lived in the old St. Peter's convent, next to St. Peter's hall, and was hanging out clothes about five o'clock, when the fatality occurred. It is not known what caused the accident, but, as the staple was drawn from the window casing, it is believed she was jerked from the window by the weight of the clothes. Her screams as she lay in the yard attracted the attention of a Mrs McManus and she was carried into the house and Drs. Christie and Broderick summoned. Her left leg was broken below the knee and her right arm above the wrist. She was also injured internally. Mrs. McLeod lingered until about nine o'clock, when she died. The deceased was 49 years old and was a native of Charlottetown. Her husband, who works in Murray's mill, and a son and daughter survive her.

Coroner Berryman visited the house this morning and, after hearing the facts, decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

PERSONAL.

Dr. Geo. A. Hetherington is in Berlin.

Mr. R. W. Ambrose is not a member of the A. B. MacLean Co., but is the traveller for the house.

Mr. J. deWolfe Spurr returned this morning from a pleasant fishing trip to the Nepisiguit.

Hon. Wm. Pugsley and Ald. Ruel went to Fredericton this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Lewin left for Schenectady, N. Y., this morning.

Mr. N. C. Scott returned from Boston to-day.

Sir Hibbert Tupper passed through the city to-day on his way to Halifax. His family went to Halifax on Thursday.

Capt. Foote, late of the barque Guiana, will leave for Mobile on Tuesday next to join the barque Arizona.

The Most Rev. P. J. Ryan, Archbishop of Philadelphia, arrived here in the American boat at noon on Wednesday, and sailed for home in the same steamer three hours later. During his brief visit, His Grace was the guest of the Bishop of St. John.

POLICE COURT.

Jeremiah Donovan, Charles Reynolds, Archibald Johnston, and John Shea, drunks, were fined $4 each.

Thomas Nickerson, drunk and begging on the street, was charged with vagrancy. Officer Campbell testified that Nickerson was a worthless character with no visible means of support, and Mr. Henderson decided that he had better be supported for the next three months in gaol.

Michael Murphy, with a face that looked as if he had come off second best in a bare knuckle fight, was charged with drunkenness. He declared he was not drunk when arrested, but was obliged to admit that he was not sober this morning. The police found him lying drunk on Brussels street, and it is supposed his face was bruised by falling while in the cell. He was too drunk to be tried, so he was remanded till Saturday.

HANDSOME BEQUEST.

SACKVILLE, July 30.

The authorities at St. Joseph's College, Memramcook, recently received a bequest which should be appreciated as much as the proverbial "widow's mite," inasmuch as each dollar represents a good deal of hard work and self-denial. An elderly Irishwoman by the name of Jane O'Leary has for the past twenty years earned her living by daily washing and scrubbing for Sackville ladies. She spent of the money thus earned only enough to furnish her with the bare necessities of life, leaving the rest as provision for a time when she could work no longer. A few weeks since she became ill, suffering a great deal with internal abscesses caused by hard work. Kind friends did all they could for her, but something seemed lacking. One morning, when in great pain, a voice was heard at the door, and such a light came over the suffe-rer's face. "The Lord be praised; it's Father Roy," she said. The worthy superior, who is so dearly loved by all his people, had her at once removed to Memramcook, where she was tenderly cared for by the Sisters of the Holy Cross until her death three days later. She left all her little property—something like $1 300—unconditionally to Pere Roy for disposition as he thought best.
