THE SEAL AGAIN.

The fur-bearing seal of the northern Pacific is again attracting a good deal of attention. The United States government has received news that the catch of seals upon the Pribyloff Islands has been decidedly small. These islands are under control of the American government. Outside of the seals taken at the islands there is a fleet of Canadian and American fishermen engaged in the fishery, and it is contended that a good many of them are "poachers." Within a day or two the despatches stated that the American cruisers had captured one Indian, one American and three British fishing vessels for violating the laws. The ammunition was taken away from the American schooner and they were all ordered to Sitka. The Boston Advertiser, in an editorial on the "doom of the seal," says:

There is general agreement among those who are most familiar with the question that the fur seals of the Pacific ocean are rapidly becoming extinct. The number of seals in the waters of the northern Pacific last month was probably not one-sixth as great as it was but a few years ago, and the seal poachers are largely to blame for this alarming decrease. In earlier years, however, so long as the government had a practical monopoly of the capture and sale of sealskins, there was no striking decrease in the size of the Pacific seal herds. In killing the seals which were taken for commercial uses, the agents of the government took only the young "bachelor" seals, whose deaths did not affect the rest of the herd. The poachers, however, shoot at anything in sight. Instead of driving a few "bachelor" seals away from the rest of the herd where they may be easily captured, as is done on the Pribyloff Islands, the poachers follow the herds as closely as possible and shoot indiscriminately, caring little as to the results, so that a good skin may be secured. In this way it often happens that the mother seals are killed, the young seals being left to die, as none of the mother seals will take care of any but their own offspring.

The result of this cruel and wasteful policy, the Advertiser contends, has been all too apparent within recent years, and the paper blames Great Britain for this state of affairs in declining so long to interfere with the poachers. When the "close season" was agreed upon, pending the settlement of the arbitration award, the poachers did not stop, but went on slaughtering the seals more indiscriminately than ever, and this leads the Advertiser to advocate the total annihilation of the seals, for it says: "The seal-fur trade will soon be wrecked by the extinction of the seals. In that case, thousands of British subjects will be thrown out of employment by lack of work. In view of all these facts, the proposition has been made to Congress that the United States settle the matter and reap some benefit from the settlement at the same time, by making a general slaughter of the seal herds during their summer visit to the Pribyloff Islands. If this course were taken, the United States would get far more out of the seal industry than the nation has received for some time in the past. At the same time, the slaughter would be at least more humane than the cruel practices of the seal poachers." "This being so," the paper continues, "it may seem wise to accept the latter of the alternatives, especially as the money received for the sale of the fur skins might be used in settling up some of the claims made by the poachers against the United States." The paper points out that it has been suggested that the aid of Russia might be secured in forcing other European nations to consent to laws for the protection of the seals. Very few, if any, poachers attempt to catch seals in Russian waters owing to the severe treatment meted out to them if caught, hence the suggestion that—

If the United States and Russia together were to demand that England interdict seal poachers, and enforce the interdiction just as that against the slave trade has been enforced, the United States might solve the problem without any unnecessary seal destruction. It remains to be seen, however, whether Russia will consent to make an alliance with the United States on this question. Certainly, if Russia should act with the American government, the chances of saving the seal might appear much brighter than they now are. Unfortunately, Russia has as yet shown no desire to protect any but her own interests in this matter.

The Advertiser is, perhaps, a little too severe on the British (or Canadian) fishermen, for it was contended by the public men of the United States that one of the reasons why the award of the Paris court of arbitration was not paid was that a great many of the claimants for damages were United States citizens, and only took refuge under the British flag in Canadian vessels.

A CITY OF WEALTH.

An idea of the immense wealth of New York is given by some figures relating to taxes and property values just issued. The total amount to be raised by taxation this year is $44,000,000. The total value of property assessed is $2,106,484,905, the real estate being valued at $1,731,509,143 and the personal property at $374,975,762. The tax rate is $2.14 on each $100. As there is no income tax, the levy is principally on real estate, and the wage-earners pay their share in rent. New York has a system which probably helps to bring in the taxes at a comparatively early date. A rebate of 1 per cent. is allowed on all payments that are made before Nov. 1. After that day a penalty of 1 per cent. will be added for all taxes unpaid up to Dec. 1, and 7 per cent. interest will be charged after Jan. 1 on all taxes due then. Most of the large estates made their payments on the first of September in order to get the benefit of the discount. The Vanderbilt estate pays the largest amount of taxes, the figures being $650,000. About one-third or more of the property in New York is exempt from taxation. Central Park alone is assessed at about $90,000,000. Trinity church is valued at $4,000,000 and pays no taxes. The post office building would be assessed at $9,000,000 if it was not used for governmental purposes. Blackwell's Island is exempted from payment of taxes on $6,000,000. Every year the Legislature adds additional property to the exempt list. Churches and charitable institutions are not only exempted from paying taxes on their real estate, but they are also released from paying water rates.

As an offset to the Republican victory in Vermont the silverites rejoice over the Democratic triumph in Arkansas. In each instance the party that usually wins in these states carried the day with an increased majority, but especial significance is given the victory in Arkansas because it presages a "solid South" for Bryan. The Republicans have had hopes of breaking into the Democratic strongholds in the South, but their prospects are not very bright.

Liberalism wins all along the line. When Mr. Adam Pattulo was elected in the North Riding of Oxford the other day to the Ontario Legislature in the place of Sir Oliver Mowat he had a majority of over eight hundred. His opponent was an independent. Hon. Mr. Davis, the new provincial secretary, was elected by acclamation.

CONCERNING QUEEN'S COUNSEL.

Right of Appointment now Being Argued.

OTTAWA, Sept. 8.

The question whether the Dominion or the Provinces have the right to appoint Queen's counsel—a question that has been before the Court of Appeals for nearly two years, but because of a difficulty in the appointment of counsel to argue it has never been debated—was argued before the Court of Appeals this afternoon. The province claims the right to appoint under the B. N. A. Act, as does the Dominion, and also under the powers conferred on the Lieutenant Governor. Amelius Irving, Q. C., for the province and J. H. Scott, Q. C., for the Dominion. The court is composed of Chief Justice Hagarty and Justices Burton, MacLennan and Street, Justice Osler declining to sit.

In the report which Sir Oliver Mowat made to the Privy Council, under date of July 16, recommending that no action be taken in the matter of issuing commissions to Queen's counsel recently appointed by the old government, he said:

The undersigned is informed that the publication of the names contained in the recent order has caused a sensation among members of the profession and others, that the list has been very generally disapproved of, and that the disapproval is shared by some who are named on the list as well as by gentlemen previously holding the rank of Queen's counsel and by others. An examination of the list shows that the selection of the names was not made on the basis of professional or personal merit. On the contrary there are names in the list of gentlemen in regard to whom there could be no pretence or supposition of their having any claims on that ground, and on the other hand many gentlemen have been omitted from the list whose professional merits exceed that of many of those named. Queen's counsel have precedence in the courts over other barristers, and obviously there is great injustice in the bestowal of the honor and precedence upon inferior barristers to the prejudice of those better entitled thereto. Such a wholesale and indiscriminate selection as was recommended to Your Excellency is a degradation of the office and is a grievance as regards the bar generally instead of being a merited honor to those appointed. The existence of the degree is useful if the jurisdiction to make the appointments is reasonably exercised.

BOLT BLINDS A MAN.

Electric Flash Robs William Jennings of Sight in Norwalk, Conn.

NORWALK, Conn., Sept. 7.

William Jennings, son of Mrs. Carrie Jennings, of No. 24 Union street, lies at his home stricken totally blind.

He lost his sight in the midst of the terrific electric storm last evening. Mr. Jennings suffers no pain, although the sight is entirely gone. Until a specialist has been consulted little can be said about the permanence of the affliction, but it is hoped that sight will return in about two weeks.

Last evening after supper Mr. Jennings started for Winnepauk. He boarded a West avenue trolley car and took the rear seat. On the way the storm broke in all its fury, and while the car was passing up Pudding lane a bolt struck it and burned out the motor. There was a flash. Mr. Jennings saw it, felt a peculiar sensation at his head, and when he opened his eyes it was to find them sightless.

He suffered no other injury. His body was not marked, and the stroke caused him no pain. He cried out, and two fellow passengers helped him to his home. Dr. John Dumortier was called, but could take no decided step until a specialist had examined the patient. With this in view he has summoned Dr. Wilson, of Bridgeport.

The progress of his recovery will be watched with considerable interest by physicians, as well as by his friends, as temporary or permanent blinding by lightning attracts special study from several standpoints, psychological as well as physical.

HICCOUGHS TORTURE HER.

Irene Kaheler, of Waterbury, Conn., the Victim of a Curious Malady.

WATERBURY, Conn., Sept. 7.

Irene Kaheler, of High street, fifteen years old, has been under treatment in the Waterbury Hospital for a most peculiar complaint. Since July 25 she has been constantly hiccoughing, except when asleep.

She has been under the care of Dr. Carl E. Munger, who has tried almost every known remedy without succeeding in checking the irritating and serious attack. Such a case as the present one has never before been known in Waterbury. The girl hiccoughs from fifteen to forty times a minute. Sometimes the hiccoughing is so frequent that it is impossible for the patient to take food in the natural way and it is conveyed to her stomach by means of a pump.

To the medical profession the disease is known as a spasm of the diaphragm. Dr. Munger anticipates the ultimate recovery of the girl. She has retained her strength remarkably well, and the trouble ceases when she sleeps

A CLERGYMAN OBJECTS

To Some Features of Toronto Exhibition.

TORONTO, Sept. 8.

Rev. J. C. Speer, who preaches in the Broadway Tabernacle, has seen the special features provided at the exhibition and does not like them. In the course of his sermon on Sunday night Mr. Speer asked how would Christ feel if He saw the low, vulgar, obscene production of the ballet in Toronto; in Toronto the good; in the Toronto of no Sunday street cars; in the city which has no open saloons on Sunday? What would He say, knowing that the men who are responsible for that production referred to, are men who profess, some of them at least, to be followers of Him; to have imbibed of His immaculate spirit; to be striving to promulgate the great truths which were to cleanse the moral sorrows of the world? "A gentleman," he said, "stated in our hearing that he had travelled a great deal, but that nowhere had he witnessed anything so obscene as what was now being presented at the Fair."

Mr. Speer said he did not intend his remarks as a warning to anyone not to go to the exhibition; his object was to arouse Christian indignation to resent the insult that had been offered by such exhibitions.

SNAIL-LIKE LEGISLATION.

The Deceased Wife's Sister Still a British Bugbear.

[From the Saturday Review.]

The position in which the marriage with a deceased wife's sister now stands is a curious illustration of the omnipotence of government and the practical helplessness of the legislature. The bill for legalizing these marriages has now passed the House of Lords, and it has over and over again been passed by the House of Commons. Yet the measure has no chance of being passed into law this session, and it may be many years before it is placed on the statute book. The bill can only become a law by being taken up as a government measure, and with the predominance of clerical influence in the present cabinet, it is not likely that it will be put in a ministerial programme during the life of this Parliament. There are still people who cling to the old-fashioned doctrine that the Legislature makes the laws and the government executes them. The truth is that, in these days, the Legislature is powerless in the matter of legislation, and that the cabinet is both the executive and legislative body. Practice and theory are more widely divergent in the British Constitution than in any other.

The Beaver Line are bound to keep up their record for giving a good freight service. They will place on their Montreal-Liverpool route, Sept. 23rd, the Carlisle City, a first-class new steamer of 5,000 tons register.

SUSPENDED.—J. G. Hamilton, general dealer, St. Stephen, is reported as suspended with liabilities in the vicinity of $18,000. Mr. Hamilton was formerly proprietor of the American House, Calais, and had only been in business in St. Stephen a few months. His assets are light.

R. will sell parties of eight or more return tickets for a fare and a third, while the I. C. R. will make a single fare return rate to parties of ten.

STYLISH MILLINERY.—Opera House block.—Worth, the great Parisian dressmaker, has said: "A lady wearing my most stylish garment, with an unbecoming bonnet or hat, is like a book without a cover, a flower devoid of perfume." Mme. Kane, who visits New York twice each year, keeps in close touch with the latest.

ANCHORS FOULED.—The crew of the Spanish steamer Gladitoria spent a busy night last night. Her anchors and chains became twisted and the steamer commenced to drag. Tug Neptune went to the steamer's assistance. Finally both anchors were lifted together, and at four o'clock this morning the steamer was again moored, but much further down the harbor.

CHANGE OF FAITH.—Word recently received from Ireland announces that Rev. Rector Stockley, a Church of England minister stationed near Dublin, has been received into the Roman Catholic church. The gentleman mentioned is a brother of Prof. W. F. Stockley of the University, who is now visiting friends in Dublin.—Fredericton Herald.

THE OPERA HOUSE.—The Tucker company had two large audiences Wednesday. "Queena" was the attraction in the afternoon. In the evening "Rosedale" was presented. The performance ran smoothly and delighted the audience. The military scene was quite effective and received four curtain calls. To-night the great American war drama "Lynwood" will be presented and will no doubt be largely attended.

PORT OF ST. JOHN.—The square rigged arrivals for the week consisted of three steamers, one ship and one barque. Atlantic business continues very firm at the advance, but rates are not yet high enough to attract steamers. Coastwise business is still at low ebb, and the prospects for any improvement in the near future are not favorable. Vessels in port to day, uncleared, number three steamers of 4,254 tons; two ships, of 2,864 tons; six barques, of 5,276 tons, and 50 schooners.

THE FUNERAL of the late Capt. Edward Thurmott took place from St. Jude's church at 2.30 o'clock this afternoon. An impressive service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Withycombe, and the remains were then interred in Cedar Hill cemetery. The funeral was quite large, and was attended by many residents of Carleton, of which Capt. Thurmott was a good citizen, and by a number of shipping masters, among whom he was generally esteemed. The pall-bearers were: Capt. Hayes, Capt. Rogers, Capt. Williams, and Messrs. Alfred Mills, Frank Tufts and Fred Godard.

I. O. G. T. MATTERS.—Almon Lodge will not as has been stated pay a fraternal visit to Carleton Council, R. T. of T., to-night, but have arranged for a fraternal visit to Beaver Lodge at Moss Glen on September 16th. Members of all other I. O. G. T. lodges and district lodges are cordially invited. Busses will leave the Germain street hall at 6 p. m. Those who intend going are requested to meet either with Thorne or with Sirion Lodge on Monday night.

This evening the Garfield Lodge executive will fraternally visit Finch Lodge.

LUMBER SHIPMENTS.—The following is a comparative statement of the lumber shipments from St. John, N. B., to U. K. and Continent for the years 1895-1896 up to August 31st:

1896.

Shippers.	Spruce deals, S. ft.	Birch timber, tons.	Pine timber, tons.
W. M. Mackay	78,803,060	5,560	1
Alex. Gibson	38,423,461	2,103	..
Geo. McKean	3,521,013	....	..
Other shippers	5,011,133	1,122	..
Total	125,758,657	8,785	1

The shipments in 1895 were as follows: Spruce deals, 99,963,334 sup. feet; birch timber, 6,856 tons; pine timber, 324 tons.

W. M. Mackay has also shipped from other New Brunswick and Nova Scotia ports to August 31 this year, 109,799,494 sup. feet, as against 91,111,741 sup. feet to same date last year, which shows a heavy increase all round in this year's shipments over last.

HOW THEY DO AT A CHATHAM FIRE.—A little son of Rev. Joseph McCoy set a fire in the servant's bedroom on Sunday while playing with matches. He had set fires the same way before, but had always been caught at it in time. This fire was started just as the morning services were over in the churches. An alarm was promptly given and hundreds ran to give assistance. The fire brigade made mistakes and did not get water on until, it is asserted, the fire had been extinguished. While many men were working hard to put out the fire with pails of water, others were equally hard at work moving, or rather throwing, out the furniture, bedding, books and crockery. Some of the men lost their heads entirely, and pitched breakable articles out of the second story window. One window was smashed, both sashes being broken, to get a table out. The fire was out before the work of removal stopped, and it took a good deal of persuasion to induce some of the workers to desist from their well meant but mischievous activity. The damage by fire and water was about $300, fully covered by insurance. Rev. Mr. McCoy had no insurance on his furniture and library.—World.

CLEARING HOUSE.—Mr. Thos. Murray, the clearing house manager, reports the transactions for the week ending Sept. 10 as follows: Total weekly clearings, $586,376; total weekly balances, $79,724.

WANT AN EXTRA CAR.—The Quebec express this morning had a very heavy passenger list. All the seats in the cars were occupied and passengers from Rothesay were forced to stand in the mailing car. This has frequently happened of late, and the Rothesay people are wondering why an extra car is not put on.

THE FUNERAL of the late Mr. W. E. C. Stevens took place this afternoon from his father's residence on Victoria street and was attended by a very large number of the young man's friends and acquaintances. The services at the house and at the grave-side in Cedar Hill cemetery were conducted by Rev. J. A. Gordon. Many near friends and relatives had sent wreaths of flowers, and the casket was covered by these tributes of sorrow. Alexandra Temple of Honor, headed by their band, to which the deceased belonged, preceded the hearse. A large number of his fellow-employes of Messrs. Manchester, Robertson & Allison also attended in a body. The pall bearers were: Arthur McInnis, Fred McLean, George Dixon, John Walker, Robert Suttle and Alexander Horncastle.

SOUND STEAMER DISABLED.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Sept. 10.

The steamer City of Worcester, of the Norwich Line, bound for New York, was disabled in the Sound last night by the breaking of her shaft, and is now anchored five miles west of Bartlet's Reef lightship. She had a fair-sized passenger list. Ten days ago her shaft was discovered to be broken as she was leaving the wharf. Repairs were made then by the use of clamps, so that it was supposed another break would be improbable. The mishap last night was where the old break occurred. The accident was not known to the passengers until this morning when they arose. It is probable the steamer will be towed in some time to-day.

The Underwriter rescued all hands and with the barge Mercedita, which she also had in tow for Boston, arrived here this morning.
