Plans of Gold Democrats for a Convention —Participation of Thirty-Five States Expected.

CHICAGO, July 26.

Those who have inaugurated the movement looking toward the calling of a sound money Democratic convention are pushing the work with vigor, and are putting themselves in communication with leading sound money Democrats in other states, with a view of securing prompt organization and th selection of provisional national committeemen, to meet in Indianapolis on Aug. 7 to arrange the time and place of holding the convention.

It is the desire of the managers that, wherever possible, men of national prominence shall be named as members of the committee, so as to give the greater weight to the call for the convention, which will be signed by them. This was the controlling motive for the selection of Senator Palmer in this state. The Kentucky Democrats will meet in convention at Louisville on Tuesday and select Gen. Buckner to represent that state on the committee. The New York Democracy, it is expected, will choose Charles S. Fairchild, and it is probable that Gen. Gordon will be named to represent Georgia.

The local committee has received assurances which make it practically certain that 35 states will co-operate in the movement for a third ticket.

It is not doubted that all the states will eventually fall into line. The following states have either chosen national committeemen, or are perfecting plans to that end: Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Nebraska, South Dakota, Kansas, Texas, Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia, Alabama.

Preliminary steps are now being taken looking to the organization of the sound money Democrats in California, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, North Carolina, Oregon, Rhode Island, Vermont, Virginia and Washington. If these organizations are not perfected in time to select committee men the executive committee will name them.

The Chicago managers are in correspondence with Charles S. Fairchild, John DeWitt Warner, Edward M. Shepard, Charles Tracey and F. D. Locke, and will look to these men to bring a delegation to the convention from New York. Mr. Whitney is hardly looked for as a participant in the convention.

The executive committee will open headquarters to-morrow in the Palmer House.

RICH SEA PRIZE TOWED INTO PORT.

The Barque Janet Court and Cargo, Valued at $103,000, Wrecked and Abandoned—Innerly's Crew Found Her.

[New York Herald.]

The derelict iron barque Janet Court, laden with a valuable cargo of nitrate of soda, was towed into port yesterday by the ocean tug C. W. Morse and is now lying in the Erie Basin. She is one of the richest prizes ever recovered at sea, and the captain and crew of the steamer Innerly will have a chance of dividing about seventy thousand dollars among themselves.

The Janet Court carries in her big iron hulk about two thousand tons of nitrate of soda, consigned to Hemingway & Brown, Cedar street, New York. She left the Danish island of St. Thomas, in the West Indies, and early in March sighted Sandy Hook, but was caught in a severe gale and blown out to sea.

Then a squall carried away her steel masts and her rudder, leaving her at the mercy of the waves. She was tossed about for two or three days when a Harrison line steamer, of Liverpool, was sighted and rescued the crew, leaving the Janet Court a derelict.

Fortunately the barque did not remain so long, for within a week the Innerly came along from Hatteras and Bermuda and picked up the abandoned barque Hawsers were passed on board and First Mate Hennessy, of the Innerley, was put in charge with a crew. The Janet Court was then towed to St. Thomas.

Her owners surrendered the vessel to the National Board of Underwriters, who sent one of their inspectors, Capt. Cowell, with a crew on the tug C. W. Morse to bring her to New York.

The hull of the Janet Court as she lies in the Erie Basin is almost as tight as it was in 1868, when she was launched at Glasgow. That is one of the reasons why mariners rejoice that she no longer drifts around the ocean a menace to the safety of other vessels.

The hull alone is worth at least $6 000 and will bring that much easily at public auction. The 2,000 tons of nitrate she carries is worth $50 a ton, so that the total value of the prize is about $106,000, of which the Innerly's officers and crew can legally claim 60 per cent.

TWO WIVES CLAIM LEVELL.

Stranger Impersonated Him and Deceived One of Them Into Denying His Identity to a Priest.

WATERBURY, Conn., July 25.

John H. Levell, a leading musician and well known young man about town, is threatened with a charged of bigamy if he comes back to Waterbury. He left here a week ago, and is said to be with relatives in Putnam.

The marriage bans of Levell and Miss Maggie Degnan were published in the Church of the Sacred Heart in July, 1895. The marriage was postponed ten days, however, on account of a rumor, which Father Treanor required to be explained, that Levell had a wife in Fall River. Levell went to Fall River, and shortly returned with a statement from the Rev. Father McCabe that Levell had met the woman in his presence, and the woman had stated that another John Levell was her husband.

Levell returned to Waterbury, and has been living at 593 East Main street and working for the American Ring Company. He has had one child, which has died.

A short time ago the Mrs. Levell, of Fall River, began a correspondence with the Rev. Father Treanor. She sent a photograph of her husband to Father Treanor, who says he saw at once that it was the Waterbury Levell. The woman said that the man she saw at the priest's house in Fall River was not her husband, and it is learned that he was an imposter, who impersonated the Waterbury man before the priest. Father Treanor at once called Levell before him. The young man did not deny the accusation, and accepted the alternative of leaving town rather than suffer arrest.

The second wife is still in town heart broken. The first Mrs. Levell was Mary E. Lockenger, and she was married four years ago. She has a little girl, whom she is supporting.

BY COMPRESSED AIR.

New Motor for Street Railway Lines to be Tried in New York.

NEW YORK, July 24.

The first of two street cars to be run experimentally by the Hardie air motor, by the Third Avenue Railroad Company in 125 street, was shipped from Rome, N. Y., on Tuesday, by the American Air Power Company. The Third Avenue company has completed arrangements at the depot at Forty-second street, Manhattanville, and the St. Nicholas Avenue Railroad Company at 129 street, between the Boulet yard and Twelfth avenue, for charging the motors with the compressed air and steam, which are jointly used in providing the motive power. The two cars ordered are each twenty-eight feet long, the bodies being twenty feet long, and the remaining eight feet being occupied by the platforms. They have a seating capacity for twenty-eight persons each. A compressed air tank and hot water tank are under each car. The air tank is charged with air, compressed to a pressure of 2 000 pounds to the square inch, and the hot water tank is charged with steam of 350 degrees in temperature. The compressed air passes through the hot water tank, being thereby expanded, and enters the engine cyclinder at a pressure of 150 pounds to the square inch. When the tanks are to be charged the cars will be taken to the depot, where the steam and air tanks will be connected by means of strong hose, respectively with steam boilers and large, powerful air compressors. It is estimated that a car will run fifteen miles before its tanks will require recharging, and will be capable of attaining a speed of fifteen miles an hour. The Metropolitan Traction Company has ordered ten of the Hardie air motors, to be run experimentally from 146th street and Lenox avenue to 110th street and Columbus avenue. These will probably be received here next week.

John Quinn, a Louisville policeman, weight 245 pounds, was married the other day to Miss Mary E. Smith, who weighed more than 200 pounds. They are the heaviest bridal couple of the year in Louisville.

ON THE BARGE.

Perfection lies
In sweetheart's eyes;
Her cheeks would shame a rose.
I love her hair,
But I can't bear
The bridge on sweetheart's nose.

It indicates
Her noble traits,
And strength of purpose shows,
But rivals scorn
And others mourn
The bridge on sweetheart's nose.

If I should feign
A deep disdain
For her, do you suppose
That tears of hate
Would devastate
The bridge on sweetheart's nose?

I think instead
(You see I dread
To add to sweetheart's woes)
I'll venture this:
I'll fondly kiss
The bridge on sweetheart's nose

And warmly praise
Her gracious ways
And boast my scorn for those
Who worship not
That beauty spot—
The bridge on sweetheart's nose.
—New York Herald.

THE LOST WAS FOUND.

The House Number Looked Strange Because the Transom Was Tipped.

If any one had told him he was drunk, he would not have resented it, but would have made an effort to maintain his equilibrium and dignity long enough to explain that he was only a little oozy woozy. He realized that he lived at 206 Irvington street, and that his residence was on the right hand side as he wabbled along homeward. The uncertain light of early dawn, combined with the blear in his eyes, rendered it necessary for him to stop in front of every house and gravely brace himself against the railings until he could focus his eyesight on the number.

Finally he identified his house, but after arguing with himself for a couple of minutes he came to the conclusion that he was just woozy enough to make mistakes possible, so to be absolutely certain he balanced himself against the front fence and studied the number on the transom. Instead of 206 he saw 509. He rubbed his eyes and looked again, but the number had not changed. It was still 509. Then he wondered how it happened that he had got on the wrong side of the street and three blocks too far out, made a zigzag across the street and started back, but before he had walked three blocks he came to the end of the street.

The weary pilgrim was bewildered. He couldn't understand it, but getting his directions shaped his course up the street on the right side and kept on until he came to 509 again. He studied it from every possible point of view, even trying to stand on his head to read it, but it perversely remained 509.

Utterly bewildered, he sat down on the steps and waited till a policeman came along.

"I'm losht," he explained. "I wanter go ter 206 Irvington street."

"This is the place, right here," declared the officer.

"Can't be. Thish is 509."

"No, it ain't. It's 206, but the transom is turned over."

The lost was found.—San Francisco Post.

Ben Wade on Davis.

When Ben Wade of Ohio was the presiding officer of the senate, he used occasionally to call some senator to take the chair and relieve himself by walking up and down in the lobby which runs back of the senate chamber. Once while thus walking he was overtaken by a certain carpetbag senator from one of the southern states, who occupied the identical chair that Jefferson Davis had used while a member of the senate. Walking along by the side of Wade, he rubbed his back wearily and said: "Wade, these senate chairs are the most uncomfortable things I ever saw. My back is positively blistered from sitting in mine." Wade looked at him for a moment, and, as he turned away, muttered, "Davis left enough brains in the seat of that chair to blister the backs of two or three such men as you are."—San Francisco Argonaut.

When They Began to Write.

It is astonishing the number of successful writers who were well on in years before they even thought of adopting literature as a profession. Thomas Hardy was 31 before he began to turn his attention to story telling. George Eliot was 40 before she wrote a line of fiction, having no faith in her powers as a story teller. Barry Cornwall was 35 before he thought of writing verse. Jules Verne was 35 before he wrote his first story. Rider Haggard started at 26; Mr. Barrie and Conan Doyle at 27; Grant Allen at 29, and Sir Walter Besant and Mr. G. Manville Fenn at 30. George Meredith was nearly 33 when he began to write stories in his own peculiar style.—New York World.

The Waning Honeymoon.

He—Why, we've got a cricket in the house. Isn't it cheerful?

She—Yes. And so intelligent. Hear him talking about the furniture. How distinctly he says, "Cheap, cheap!"

However, as she had been that day on a visit to her sister, whose husband was getting $18 a week, while her own dear new hubby got but $14, perhaps her discontent was excusable.—Indianapolis Journal.

An Indication.

If a chicken is served with dumplings, that settles it. It is at least a year old. No chicken can lay claim to having died young if it is served on the table with dumplings. Youth in a chicken is sufficient garnishment, as it is with a girl.—Atchison Globe.

A caveat is a notice given to the patent office under the caveator's claim that he believes himself entitled to the credit of an invention for which a patent has not yet been applied for.

The Princess Louise draws from the British treasury the modest allowance of £6,000 per year.

Every ingredient in Manley's Celery-Nerve Compound is a blood maker and health giver. If you are weak or run down, try it.

Dear Sirs: It is with pleasure I can recommend others to take Manley's Celery-Nerve Compound, as I am thoroughly satisfied it is a sterling preparation, and as a tonic I think it has no equal. Other members of my family, besides myself, have used it, and in all cases it gave the most gratifying and pleasing results. Yours truly,

A realistic observance of the Feast of the Passover was held at a colored camp meeting near Dunbar, Pa., the other day. Persons present represented Moses and Aaron, and the priesthood dressed in their royal apparel. The Rev. R. E. Brown opened the services by reading several chapters of the epistle of John. A lamb, which had been tied to a tree, was led to an altar and slain by the Rev. Mr. Brown. A white pigeon was dipped in the lamb's blood and set free. The lamb was then roasted, and the eating of the Passover occurred. After this the lamb's bones were burned. In the centre of the grove a large wheel was erected. It was turned by sixteen negroes, representing Christian faith in olden times. After this the washing of the feet occurred.

18 Years'

Accumulated Science and Skill

The great factories at Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., where Columbias, the famous American bicycles, are made, are building such matchless machines today because for 18 years they have profited by every mistake and have carried on their investigations in the broadest scientific spirit.

Columbia Bicycles

are recognized all over Europe and America as unequalled, unapproached.

STANDARD OF THE WORLD

Columbia Art Catalogue, telling fully of all Columbias, and of Hartford Bicycles, trustworthy machines of lower price, is free from any Columbia agent; by mail for two 2-cent stamps.

POPE MFG. CO., Hartford, Conn.

We appoint but one selling agent in a town, and do not sell to jobbers or middlemen. If Columbias are not properly represented in your vicinity, let us know.

WHAT THE LADY CARRIED.

[Detroit News.]

The maiden's plight was sad to see—
Full seven weary miles from town,
And all alone, when, lucklessly,
Her trusty wheel had broken down.

In deep dejection she was perched
Upon a mossy, wayside stone,
While at her feet the useless wheel
Among the waving grass was thrown.

Supposing she had stopped to rest,
I pedaled, swift and silent on,
And, but for her impulsive cry,
Full soon had I from hearing gone.

I turned, dismounted, asked to what
I owed the welcome pleasure rare
To serve in ne'er so small a way
A hapless maid so sweet and fair.

If I could loan a wrench, she said—
The accident she'd met was slight—
She'd soon be on her way again,
And freed at last from sorry plight.

The loosened nut was tightened, while
I could but wonder greatly why,
With tool bag buckled to her wheel,
She'd wait for aid from passers-by.

I know her better since that day;
The mystery at length is solved
That in my mind I carefully,
But vainly, at the time, revolved.

The reason she was forced to wait
Is made to me quite plain enough;
Her tool bag held a spirit lamp
And curling tongs and powder puff.

Feed the Nerves

Upon pure, rich blood, and you need not fear nervous prostration. Nerves are weak when they are improperly and insufficiently nourished. Pure blood is their proper food, and pure blood comes by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which is thus the greatest and best nerve tonic. It also builds up the whole system.

HOOD'S PILLS are the favorite family cathartic, easy to take, easy to operate.

Forty Carthage, Mo., girls have started a local fad by having a breakfast picnic and wading party, as exclusive as Diana's bath ing parties before Acteon's advent.
