NEW RECTOR OF TRINITY, MONTREAL.

The resignation of Archdeacon Mills, rector of Trinity Church, having been reluctantly accepted, His Lordship Bishop Bond has appointed Rev. T. H. Graham, B. A., of Brantford, to the charge of the congregation. The Archdeacon will preach his farewell sermon on October 4, and the new rector will enter upon his duties immediately after. Rev. Mr. Graham, who is a native of Liverpool, Eng., graduated from McGill College in 1894 and the Diocesan Theological College in the following year. He was ordained a deacon by His Lordship Bishop Bond on Trinity Sunday in 1895, and was invested with priest's orders at Advent of the same year by the Lord Bishop of Huron. At present he is associated with the Rev. Rural Dean Mackenzie in the pastorate of Grace Church, Brantford.

Trinity Church will also shortly lose the services of the assistant minister, Rural Dean Sanders, whose resignation has been forwarded to the Lord Bishop, by whom it has been accepted.

"The Deceased Wife's Sister Bill" is again to the fore in the English Parliament. This measure to legalize a class of marriages forbidden by Catholic law was first brought forward in 1849. It has made its appearance almost annually ever since. It has been read a second time on fourteen occasions in the House of Commons and three times in the House of Lords. It might be imagined that an army of deceased wives' sisters were burning with eagerness to marry their brothers in law. As a matter of fact, it has been pretty well known that the agitation is in the interest of certain persons of high rank who, having transgressed the law, desire to have their alliances legalized. Of course all such projects are secure of the favor of a large number of "liberal" people. Mr. Chamberlain, however, the leader of the Liberal-Unionist party, an impartial witness, says: "It has yet to be proved that public opinion is very much in favor of the alteration of the marriage law." The bishops are strongly opposed to it and a conference of the episcopal bench has been held, under the presidency of the Archbishop of Canterbury, to devise means effectually to defeat the bill when the final stages are reached.

Captain Cobham, of the Church Association, has had a brush with the Bishop of London, and has scarcely come off victorious. Bishop Wilkinson's visit to the Metropolitan of St. Petersburg last March was the casus belli, the Bishop having offended the Church Association by kissing a sacred icon of our Saviour. The Bishop of London replies that his coadjutor's act was no more superstitious "than when a witness kisses a Bible in a court of justice." Captain Cobham has rejoined with quotations from the Homilies and Articles, which seem, however, to refer to the abuses resulting from excess. If we might be allowed to intervene in the dispute, says the Church Times, we might refer Captain Cobham to some weighty words contained in the Prayer Book treatise "On Ceremonies." That document concludes thus: "And in these our doings" (i. e., in removing certain observances) "we condemn no other nations, nor proscribe anything but to our own people only. For we think it convenient that every country should use such ceremonies as they shall think best to the setting forth of God's honor and glory . . . . and that they should put away other things which from time to time they perceive to be most abused, as in men's ordinances it often chanceth diversely in divers countries." Having this liberal pronouncement of the Church of England in view Bishop Wilkinson might justify himself in seeking not to offend the feelings of his Russian hosts.

In his speech in support of the East London Church Fund Lord Salisbury put his finger on a bad flaw in our so-called Christian philanthropy. It is true enough, as it has been urged in newspaper comments on his lordship's remarks, that human nature is a queer compound, and that some people will not contribute to worthy objects without getting something for their money in the way of excitement, a dinner, a ball, or a garden party. But the question still remains whether it is legitimate to take advantage of such machinery when asking help for "some work of beneficence, dealing with the sorest maladies of humanity," to use Lord Salisbury's words. Is not the sense of duty of almsgiving blunted by the practice in question? Everyone knows that the old hospitable practice of giving dances in private houses is fast declining, and excuses have to be manufactured for bringing people together in public assemblies. The fashionable craze for "slumming" bred a spurious philanthropy, which is now used by caterers for public gaiety as a means of allurement. The sorrows of the poor, the sufferings of the sick, are adroitly made use of in a fin de siecle sense "to make a Roman holiday." But the saints who gave their lives for Christ's poor, what must they think of our latter-day Christians who make beneficence a mere pretext for indulging their thirst for mundane pleasures?

A private letter from London announces that the tour of Bishop Potter on the continent of Europe has been somewhat interrupted by a call to that city from the Archbishop of Canterbury, who requested the American prelate's attendance at a series of meetings convened by the Primate in connection with the approaching Lambeth Conference. The next Lambeth Conference will be held in May, 1897, and the questions which will come before it for discussion will be of a most important character, and of deep interest to Christianity throughout the world. The members of the committee to arrange the subjects comprise representatives of the Church of England, Scotland, Ireland, Canada and the United States, and are as follows: The Archbishops of Canterbury, York and Dublin; the Most Rev. Dr. Machray, Primate of Canada; Bishops Temple, of London, Westcott, of Durham, Morehouse, of Manchester; Ellicott, of Gloucester and Bristol; Wilkinson, of St. Andrews, and Potter, of New York.

The debates in the Southern Convocation have been of unusual interest. The Reform of Convocation, Church Trusts, the Additional Services and Rubrics Bill, Secondary Education, Evangelist Brotherhoods, and the Marriage Laws were among the subjects discussed. The Lower House so far assented to the suggestions of the Episcopate as to give their assent to the principle that the church should have power to regulate her services in the manner indicated in the Rubrics Bill, and also to provide special and additional services for particular occasions. But the preponderance of argument was distinctly adverse to any plan of altering the existing rubrics, though some are obscure in their meaning and some obsolete. Those who held the view that it is inexpedient at present to make alterations were told that they regard every existing rubric as being unalterable like the laws of the Medes and Persians. With creditable courage they repeated that the desired changes ought not to be made "at present." That, we take it, is the gist of the whole matter. If changes were proposed, they would certainly relate to matters on which there is much disagreement —Reservation of the Blessed Sacrament, evening Communion, non-communicating attendance, and the like. To begin tampering with the rubrics now would be to open the flood-gates to a furious controversy. With the rubrics as they are we have steadily advanced, and the time may come when the progress we have made may fitly be registered in amended Church rules. But the time is not yet.

Athletic.

Tommy Conneff, the champion mile runner of the United States, says that he concealed his intention before leaving the United States of visiting England because the New York Athletic Club opposed his becoming a professional. "I was displeased," he continued, "at the manner in which the New York Athletic Club treated me, and furthermore, I sympathize with Bacon and the others who have been expelled from the amateur ranks. My experience of amateur athletics in America was such that I would not hesitate to join the professionals."

Confident Haligonians.

The Halifax Mail says: "When the managers of the Halifax crew learned that Elijah Ross had said that the St. John four rowed the best race and would have won had it not been for their boat they smiled. The St. John crew were thirty lengths behind Halifax at the finish. Ross says he is going to build another boat and row the Halifax crew. Let him come along and the Halifax crew will arrange to make a match for $1,000 a side. The Halifax crew will likely row in the race to be held exhibition week in St. John."

The Wheel.

John S. Johnson is once more prepared to go against the crack riders of America. He has been abroad with the Eck aggregation all summer and returns with one bare victory over his rivals in France and England. Johnson says he does not think, however, that the riders on the other side are any better than American racing men, and he predicts that should any of them venture over this side they would find it hard work to defeat our crack men.

"Those men are fast riders," said he, "but they are not speedy enough to beat our fast riders in contests on this side of the water. They are up to all the tricks of the trade and can make it very uncomfortable for a stranger if they try, and they generally try. I hope some of them will come over this season, but I doubt if arrangements could be made to get them here, for there is plenty of money in racing where they are."

Tom Eck, Johnson's manager, did not return with the Minneapolis lad, but remained abroad to secure the American rights for an electric tandem, to be used in pacing. Johnson has left New York for Chicago, and from there he will go to Louisville to get into shape for the national championship next week.

Parsons, the Australian, came over with Johnson, and intends to go after some of the big purses put up in America. Parsons became widely known in this country because of his defeat of Zimmerman when the latter visited Australia.

At Toronto on Tuesday R. Thompson rode a half with flying start in 56 seconds, making a new record for this distance in competition.

The Halifax Ramblers hold their sports next Saturday. St. John, Moncton, Truro, Lunenburg, Windsor, Summerside and Charlottetown, P. E. I., will be represented. The committee are trying to get as a special attraction the Brantford racing team, Harley Davidson, Mackintosh and McLeod.

HARLEY DAVIDSON WINS.

Harley Davidson defeated Cecil Elliott at Toronto on Tuesday in a series of match races. The first was a quarter, unpaced, which he won in 34 4-5 sec. Elliott won the mile in 2.13. The deciding heat was a half mile paced. The finish was almost a dead heat, but Davidson won in 57 2-5.

Aquatic.

The Halifax crew will not be sent to the regatta at Belleville, Ont. An effort will be made to keep the crew together, although there might be one or two changes.

A race will be rowed in the harbor tonight, the contestants being six four-oared crews composed of fishermen and millmen of Carleton. The first prize will be $10 and the second a box of cigars.

Among the Fighters.

Stanton Abbott and "Kid" McPartland will box at New York Aug. 17.

Jerry Marshall, the Australian, has been matched to box Sam Eaton at Cleveland Aug. 27.

"Steve" O'Donnell hopes that his meeting with "Jim" Hall at the Academy of Music Aug. 10 will be the means of reinstating him in the good graces of local followers of the ring. It will be O'Donnell's first important engagement in New York since his unfortunate contest with Peter Maher. O'Donnell will find Hall a much cleverer boxer than Maher, and a man who is not deficient in hitting ability, and the latter's science and strength will be thoroughly tested. Should O'Donnell get the decision over Hall, the former will next try to defeat Slavin, his ultimate object being another match with Maher.

A meeting between the representatives of Tom Sharkey and Jim Corbett will take place in the latter part of the week, for the purpose of arranging details regarding the proposed battle between the ex-sailor and the ex-champion.

It is said that Dan Stuart will be present at the conference, and that he will advance a proposition to have the encounter settled before his club in Mexico. Corbett has stated that he will fight in Mexico, provided he is assured that the fight can be held there without molestation. At any rate Corbett will continue training.

For Dyspepsia and Bad Blood Humors Manley's Celery-Nerve Compound is unexcelled.

Mr. Geo. Reid, G.T.R. Operator, New Hamburg, Ont., under date of March 3rd, 1896, writes as follows: "I was troubled for two years with Boils and Dyspepsia of the worst kind. Tried several medicines, but none gave much relief. Until I tried Manley's Celery-Nerve Compound my blood was in a dreadful state, but I am happy to say your medicine cured me."

THE NEW IN LINEN COSTUMES.

Plaid Silks for Sleeves and Yellow Lace a-Plenty.

The ordinary linen color is not becoming to most people. The linen costumes this season have a yellowish tinge, however, and the purchaser of a suit should be careful to avoid the ugly slate color; besides, Fashion admits of the use of so many bright ribbons that a linen suit may be made becoming to anyone.

For use in trimming, linen batiste embroidered pieces, or those embroidered in ficelle, are very effective. The latter come in very delicate colorings. and are greatly enhanced by cutting the batiste from beneath them, allowing the lining silk to show through.

A new idea is to have the sleeves made of plaid silk. The effect is very striking, though hardly pretty. It seems, however, to have found favor, just as many another ugly mode.

Black velvet ribbon is introduced largely in the bodices of linen dresses, where rows of it are alternated with tiny horizontal tucks of the material. On other gowns yellow lace mingles freely with the material. One model has three rows of narrow yellow Valenciennes lace running down each seam of the skirt, while the bodice and sleeves are trimmed to match.

A charming creation, if one except the sleeves, has a full skirt on which are placed, at regular intervals, ornaments of embroidered batiste, and two rows of tiny lace about the bottom.

The loose bodice is striped with rows of the lace, in clusters of two, while a drapery of brocade lace falls over the sleeve and forms a simulated yoke. Plaid silk is puffed over the elbow and outlines the waist.

Blue is the color of the plaid, bluies and lace trim the blue hat.

THE LATEST.

DUBLIN CONVENTION.

MR. DILLON MAKES A STATEMENT CONCERNING ITS PURPOSE.

To Settle All Disputes—An Effort is to be Made to Agree upon a Leader—The Factions will All Agree.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.

The Sun's London correspondent says: I have been authorized to make an announcement, which contains the only hope of the revival of the cause of self-government for Ireland. It is welcome news that a genuine, earnest effort will be made at Dublin, a month hence, to harmonize all factions in the ranks of the Irish Nationalists. Messrs. Dillon, Healy, Redmond, and all their followers are willing to admit that there is no hope of the accomplishment of the object for which all are supposed to be striving until the disputes which have divided them since the death of Mr. Parnell are abandoned and their forces are united under a single leadership once more. It is, of course, impossible to gain this fusion without important personal and other concessions on all sides. These concessions the great majority of the Irish Nationalists are not only ready, but anxious to make. They will make them at the convention to be held next month in Dublin. Meantime the preliminary announcement of their purpose is contained in the following statement, prepared by Mr. John Dillon after consultation with his associates and handed to me for publication in the United States and Canada:

"The National Convention, which is to meet at Dublin on September 1, was summoned with a view of affording an opportunity to all who desire unity restored among the Irish Nationalists to come together and lay down a platform in support of which Irish Nationalists throughout the world might act together. With that object in view the proposals for the Convention were made so wide as to embrace all Irish Nationalists who desire to give a fair trial to the constitutional methods. It is now manifest, so far as Ireland and the Irishmen in Great Britain are concerned, the convention will be the most representative which has assembled since the split of 1891, and it will have, as compared with previous conventions, the advantage of the presence at its deliberations of many representative Irishmen from other parts of the world. Its decisions must, therefore, have great weight with the Irish race and lasting influence on the future of the Irish movement.

NOT A SECTIONAL GATHERING.

"The convention was not summoned in the interest of any section or of any individual, as is plainly shown by the rules which have been laid down for the admission of delegates, under which every organized body of Irishmen, who are sympathizers with the home rule movement, have a right to be represented. Clergymen of all denominations and all representative Nationalists, delegated by the votes of their fellow-citizens, are entitled to attend. The Parnellite party have also been invited to take part in making arrangements for the convention. For my own part, if, at the convention or subsequently as a result of its readings, any man can be agreed upon under whose chairmanship all the Irish Nationalist members of Parliament would unite, I should, as I have always stated, be most willing to support him in the office. It seems to me that if any section of Irish Nationalists decline to take part in this convention the duty will be thrown upon them of stating to their countrymen how, in their judgment, can be effected that reunion in the national ranks which is of the first importance to the progress of the national cause."

"I shall not undertake the prophecy what the result of the overtures from the most numerous section of the Irish Nationalists in Parliament will do. I wish to emphasize the fact that this peace movement is genuine and sincere, and that any faction which resists it will assume a grave responsibility before the Irish race. It may, perhaps, resolve itself into a question of personal leadership, and it must be admitted that the difficulties will be great, because there exists no commanding figure, in or out of Parliament, to which all factions can turn. There is some talk of inducing Mr. Sexton to return to politics as a compromise leader of the consolidated forces, but the so-called Dillon party, who are in the van of the peace movement, have no candidate to propose."

Lovely woman, wherever she is, knows that she is still more lovely when her gowns are stylish and graceful in their folds and curves, and this is why Fibre Chamois is so deservedly popular. It gives a stylish chic effect to skirts, sleeves or wraps, which is not only graceful but lasting. Neither crushing, moisture or long wear will spoil its splendid stiffness, and it is so light in weight that it suits equally well your filmy summer gowns or heavy outing suits—never adding a burden to oppress you in hot weather.

You may wear out the dress, but you can't wear out the style when you use the genuine Fibre Chamois with the Red Star label on each yard.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne

IS THE GREAT SPECIFIC FOR Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Cholera.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE—Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE (late Army Medical Staff) DISCOVERED a REMEDY, to denote which he coined the word CHLORODYNE. Dr. Browne is the SOLE INVENTOR, and as the composition of Chlorodyne cannot possibly be discovered by Analysis (organic substances defying elimination) and since the formula has never been published, it is evident that any statement to the effect that a compound is identical with Dr. Browne's Chlorodyne must be false.

This caution is necessary, as many persons deceive purchasers by false representations.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE—Vice Chancellor Sir W. PAGE WOOD stated publicly in Court that Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE was undoubtedly the INVENTOR of CHLORODYNE, that the whole story of the defendant Freeman was deliberately untrue, and he regretted to say it had been sworn to.—See The Times, July 13, 1864.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE Is the TRUE PALLIATIVE in Neuralgia, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Rheumatism.

GENERAL BOARD of HEALTH, London REPORT that it ACTS as a CHARM, one dose generally sufficient.

Dr. GIBBON, Army Medical Staff, Calcutta, states: "TWO DOSES COMPLETELY CURED ME OF DIARRHŒA."

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE Is a liquid medicine which assuages PAIN of EVERY KIND, affords a calm, refreshing sleep, WITHOUT HEADACHE, and invigorates the nervous system when exhausted.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE Rapidly cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Spasms, Colic, Palpitation, Hysteria.

IMPORTANT CAUTION.—The IMMENSE SALE of this REMEDY has given rise to many UNSCRUPULOUS IMITATIONS. Be careful to observe Trade Mark. Of all Chemists. 1s. 1½d., 2s. 9d. and 4s. 6d.
